RYAN & CO.'S CINCH.

One Clause That Gave Them Every Soo Contract,

A QUEER BRIDGE VENTURE.

The Fredericton Bridge Scandal Only Just Opening Up—Vigorous Protests Made Against the Excessive Funeral Expenses — Two Divisions in the House.

Ottawa, Ont., June 15.—In the Public Accounts Committee yesterday morning a most interesting discovery was brought out in connection with the Sault Ste Marie Canal.

The morning's revelations were made while Deputy-Minister Schreiber was under examination. Mr. Gibson was questioning him upon the contract for the power pipes, which was one of the several additional contracts which Ryan & Co. received on top of the contract for the main work. Tenders were called for, Mr. Schreiber said, and three were received. The Central Bridge and Engineering Co., Peterboro, $42,000; Robert Weddell, Trenton, $51,000; Ryan & Co., $55,000; and Doty, Toronto, $57,000. Then when the contract came to be awarded a clause not in the specifications was inserted that the contractor must be responsible for any unwatering of the pit which might be necessary. This scared all the tenderers off except Ryan & Co. Mr. Schreiber admitted that by reason of the clause in their 1888 contract no other contractors than Mr. Ryan could have gone upon the ground to put in the power pipes.

Replying to Mr. Haggart the Deputy-Minister explained that when the 1888 contract was made it was with the expectation that Messrs. Ryan & Co. would have completed their construction before the contracts for these additional parts of the canal should be let. It was therefore the hurrying on of the work to an earlier completion which gave Ryan & Co. their "cinch."

Then, as to the contract for the lock gates, tenders were asked for and again three was the number received: Ryan & Co., $67,000; Hamilton Bridge Co., $54,000 and Toms $58,000. The $54,000 tender was accepted, but again the clause about unwatering which had been left out of the specifications was inserted into the contract and the tenderer backed out, giving that as the reason. New tenders were called for and Ryan & Co. and Toms simply repeated their former offers. In reply to Mr. Davies, Mr. Schreiber explicitly repeated that "no one could have gone upon the ground to build the gates except he made an arrangement with Ryan & Co."

The examination of Mr. Hugh Ryan will be held at the next meeting of the committee.

When the committee met, Secretary Van Wart of Fredericton Bridge Co. was called to state the circumstances of the formation and conduct of that corporation and the position that it at present occupies. Mr. Van Wart, who was questioned by Sir Richard Cartwright, said that the capital stock amounted to $200,000, divided into 2000 shares of $100 each; that Mr. Thomas Temple, Gibson, 985 shares, and Mr. Alexander M.P., held 985 shares, Mr. Alexander Gibson, jr., Mr. Rowley and Mr. F. S. Hillyard 10 shares each. No stock or transfer books were kept, and the shares remained as they had originally apportioned. No calls had been made on the stock, though $90,000 had been paid by the shareholders in cash. A contract was entered into by the Bridge Company for the construction of the foundation piers and steel superstructure for $850,000, of which amount the company received $287,000 by way of a loan from the Government. Besides the loan there was an issue of $50,000 in bonds, payable in six years, with interest at six per cent., bearing a personal guarantee of Alexander Gibson and Thomas Temple. These bonds were paid in August, 1893, and cancelled. In addition to the amount mentioned, $119,000 had been paid for tracks at either end of the bridge, land damages and riprapping of cribs. Of this amount the company got $15,000 from the Government by way of subsidy. The total subsidy was $50,000, but $15,000 was retained by the Government for arrears of interest on the loan of $300,000. The bridge had cost altogether about $419,000. The present liability of the company consisted of the Government loan of $300,000, a floating debt of $19,000 and the unpaid interest of $72,000.

Mr. McMullen called the attention of the witness to the fact that the returns showed the earnings of the Bridge Company to have been $17,000, and the operating expenses $11,000. What was done with balance of profit Van Wart could not say. In fact Mr. Van Wart displayed an extraordinary ignorance of the affairs of the company, being unable to tell what men were employed on the bridge, what tolls were collected by the company from the Canada Eastern and Canadian Pacific Railway Companies for the use of the bridge. The evidence of the witness was so unsatisfactory because of Mr. Van Wart's astonishing lapses of memory that Mr. Mulock moved for the production of the company's books.

IN THE HOUSE.

In the House there was not a member of the Opposition but who felt regret at the necessity which the Government's extravagance imposed upon it of objecting to the payment of $25,000 to defray the funeral expenses of the late Sir John Thompson. The Liberals found no fault with the Government for having honored the memory of the departed statesman by a public funeral, but that there should have been such a riot of extravagance was a matter that they could not allow to pass without a protest. Three considerations weighed strongly with the Liberals in the course that they pursued. In the first place the funeral of their late Sir George Carier cost the country but $10,000; in the second place only $6900 was expended upon the funeral of the late Sir John Macdonald, and in the third place the Minister of Public Works had stated last night that the tradesmen who had supplied wares for the occasion had charged the Government from 50 to 75 per cent. more than the market prices for such things. Col. Tyrwhitt and Mr. McCarthy voted with the Opposition upon an amendment cutting down the appropriation to $10,000. It was rejected by a vote of 68 to 48.

Mr. Davies, who moved the amendment, did not object to the public funeral which the Government had given the late Premier, but he expressed the opinion that gross extravagance had marked the expenditure. He could not consent to give a silent vote for an expenditure of $25,000, and he therefore moved that the amount be reduced by $15,000.

Mr. Laurier said that this was a motion that ought to be adopted by the House. There would be no desire to find fault with the Government for having given a state funeral to the late Sir John Thompson, but in view of the language used by the Minister of Public Works he could not conceive how it was possible not to cut down the expenditure. It had been stated yesterday that, though a special warrant had been obtained from the Governor-General to cover the expenditure, the warrant had remained in abeyance and no expenditure had been made. Mr. Ouimet had said last night, "I, there has been extortion and fraud, it is altogether on the part of the traders and purveyors. I do not say that in some cases they have not taken advantage of the occasion to extort to the extent of 50 per cent. and often 75 per cent. more than the ordinary prices they should have asked, but the Government could not be blamed for the fact that some traders have taken advantage and have endeavored to obtain more than the market prices for their wares."

Mr. Laurier held that the Government should be blamed if it had allowed traders to take more than the market prices for the goods they had supplied. He did not know whether the charge was sound or not, but under the circumstances the amendment of Mr. Davies was quite proper.

Mr. Foster said that if the Opposition wished to make an attack upon the Government it should do it, but an attack should not be made upon the traders and merchants who had supplied their goods and who expected to be paid for them. They had supplied them on the order of the Government and the House and the Government were responsible. The Opposition might hold the Government responsible, but it should not repudiate honest debts for honest goods and honest services rendered.

Mr. McMullen held that the House was justified in adopting the course suggested by Mr. Davies' resolution. If frauds had been committed to the extent mentioned by the Minister of Public Works $10,000 would be sufficient to meet the honest debt incurred.

Mr. Ouimet said that the accounts originally amounted to about $32,000, but they had been reduced to about $28,000, of which $6000 was due the Intercolonial Railway, so that only about $17,000 would be required to pay the claims of tradesmen.

Mr. Casey had no objection to the public funeral, but he thought the provision which it was proposed to make was excessive.

Mr. Campbell saw no reason why the House should be asked to vote such a large sum of money to bury the late Premier. It was an outrageous charge.

Mr. Flint blamed the Minister of Public Works for having given his deputy carte blanche when he sent him to Halifax. Every canon of good taste had been violated by the extravagant display that had been made.

Then followed another division on the proposal to contribute $25,000 to the fund for the benefit of Lady Thompson and her family. Dr. Macdonald moved to strike out the item and the vote was take nwithout discussion. The grant was sustained by a vote of 76 to 39.

Mr. Brodeur reminds dthe leader of the House of his promise that the post-office inspector's report, which recommended the dismissal of Postmaster Loiselle of St. Angele de Monnoir would be brought down in spite of the declaration of the Postmaster-General, that it would not be brought down.

Mr. Foster: I promised that it would be brought down. I will see to it.

Mr. Brodeur: When may we expect it? May we expect it on Monday?

Mr. Foster: Yes, or later.

Mr. Laurier: Rather later than sooner.

Killed by a Hayrack Pairing.

Brussels, June 15.—Three children of John McClure were playing on a hay rack when it upset and pinned Myrtle, a 6-year-old girl, to the floor by her neck. The spine was so terribly injured that death ensued in six hours.

A REMEDIAL LAW

Will Be Pressed For in the Ottawa House.

FRENCH-CANADIAN M. P.'S A UNIT.

Archbishop Langevin on Greenway's Decision D'Alton McCarthy Doubts the Power of Parliament to Exempt Catholics From Public School Taxation.

Ottawa, June 15.—Not many members of the House venture to express themselves publicly in regard to the Manitoba school question, although there seems to be no doubt that some hard thinking has been done to-day. As was naturally to be expected, the French-Canadian press are a unit in demanding Remedial Legislation this session. It would not, however, be a matter of surprise if the Government, as suggested last evening, appointed a commission to enquire into the condition of the Manitoba schools.

Mr. D'Alton McCarthy has been hoarding up a number of petitions against interference with the Manitoba school system, and to-day, the first opportunity afforded him since the decision of the Manitoba Government was announced, he presented them to the House. They are supposed to be signed by about 10,000 people.

In the course of conversation to-day, Mr. McCarthy spoke as follows: "The action of the Manitoba Government is exactly on the lines it has pursued all through. I was asked to oppose the question of a remedial order on its merits before the Privy Council, on the ground that the present system worked well.'"

"It is a fact that the Remedial Order was passed without a knowledge of the circumstances which led to the abolition of Separate Schools.'"

"Premier Greenway shows by what he says as to a commission, that there has been no oppression or bigoted action on the part of the Government, and that he was only actuated by motives of consideration for the province's welfare. He thus challenges the fullest investigation."

"Can the Federal Parliament exempt the Roman Catholics from taxation for Public School purposes in Manitoba?"

That is a grave and doubtful question," said Mr. McCarthy, "no Federal action can be effective unless it is supplemented by local legislation. I consider there is no possibility of the Dominion Government subsidizing Catholic schools. The sentiment of the people of Ontario on this issue is more pronounced than on the trade question. I cannot imagine any circumstance which would justify, on the grounds of public policy, any remedial interference with the Manitoba schools."

War, Langevin's Sorrow and Sarcasm.

Montreal, June 14.—The following despatch was received to-day from the Archbishop of St, Boniface: I am sorry for the local Government's bad will. Rather strange that after five years of public discussion their memorial should blandly charge the Ottawa Government with ignorance, and claim for themselves the monopoly of knowledge. I trust the Government and Parliament of Canada will sustain the judgment of the Privy Council of England, and stand by the constitution of the country. (Signed) Archbishop Langevin.

Winnipeg, June 14, 1895.

Greenway's Decision Popular.

From The Winnipeg Free Press.

The Winnipeg Free Press says concerning the Manitoba Government's reply to the Remedial Order: "We believe the reply will meet with the approval of the people of this province, and of thinking men throughout the Dominion. With sufficient delicacy, but plainly enough, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and his colleagues are told they do not understand the condition of public education in Manitoba, with the necessary inference that they would not have issued the order had they been more fully informed, and that if they desire knowledge the Provincial Government will give all the assistance in its power towards enlightening them. The answer is dignified, logical and convincing, and in effect shows that, while the present Legislature of Manitoba is in no wise obstinate, but willing to prove its assertions and support its position, any change that may be found possible can only be made after the disappearance of the existing Remedial Order, and in response to a more reasonable and friendly proposal."

Cannot Coerce Manitoba.

Hamilton Spectator.

It is quite clear that Manitoba means to defend her school laws from attack and interference, and it now remains to be seen whether Quebec can force the Dominion Government into further blunder. The Remedial Order was a grave mistake; to attempt to enforce that order would be suicidal. Manitoba cannot be coerced, and it is better to acknowledge that fact now than after futile attempts at coercion.

XVII.

AN ENGLISH VIEW OF CANADA.

Young countries are naturally sensitive to the opinions of old countries, for young countries have no reputation based upon bygone achievements, whether of war or peace, upon which to fall back, when the present position is a subject of criticism, or the brightness of future prospects is called in question. Canada is no exception to this rule. We are perhaps unduly elated by praise, and too easily irritated by censure. We have had a good deal to contend against in the past. Our climate has been abused, and our natural resources doubted. It is pleasant, therefore, to read such an article as appeared a few weeks ago in that excellent weekly paper—The Spectator.

The writer is reviewing two books, one by Mr. Parkin, entitled "The Great Dominion; studies of Canada," the other by Mr. Douglas Sladin, "On the Cars and Off: being the journal of a pilgrimage along the Queen's Highway to the East from Halifax to Victoria."

Of Canada the reviewer says:

"Truly it is a great country, and destined to a great future. Physically it possesses everything which should belong to a noble nation. To raise the finest breed of men there is wanted, a climate cold enough to brace their bodies, and not so cold as to make life a dark and dreamy struggle. But the habitable Canada, the belt of country some five hundred miles north from the American frontiers has just such a climate. The summer is warm and blest with flowers and fruits, and the winter, though keen and hard, is full of sunshine and brightness. It has the thrilling air which makes men hardy and yet not dull and lethargic. But more than a healthful climate is wanted to grow a noble race. The element of natural beauty should be there. The sea beating on high cliffs, the sweep and pomp of rivers and lakes, the solemnity and stillness of the mountains and the forest; all these are influences that tend to build up a great people Canada as to admiration the element of natural beauty.

Lastly, Canada possesses to an extraordinary degree that natural wealth which man wants, if he is to develop a high and permanent civilization. The soil through enormous districts is the richest in the world, and grows to perfection the crop which forms, and must always form, the staple of human food. There is nothing grown which can touch the best Canadian wheat. The mineral resources of the Dominion are only known in part, but enough has been discovered to make it certain that there are coal and iron and copper and all the metals used in the arts,

IN INEXHAUSTIBLE QUANTITIES.

Again, Canada has in the forests a precious store of the most useful of all building materials. Canada has another source of wealth, which is of incalculable value, and all her own. Her natural inland waterways supply her with the cheapest and easiest forms of transport imaginable. Not only does the mighty St. Lawrence enable ocean—going steamers to be alongside the warehouses of her inland cities, but the great lakes and rivers that flow into them confer on vast tracts of country set deep in the heart of the American continent the inestimable blessings of cheap carriage. Unquestionably Canada is the land of the coming generation. The land is of the twentieth century; for in Canada alone can now be found an abundance of good, unoccupied land, suitable to tillage by Europeans. In the United States the best land is gone—the cream has been skimmed. In Canada there is still plenty of room for the hungriest of land-hungry men—the western farmer."

And what of the Canadians themselves?

"It is a good omen that a land so noble, 'a fortress framed for freedom's hands,' and for the growth of a great and noble community, should have for its inhabitants so hardy, so independent, and so wholesome a race as the Canadians. They are the English Swiss of the American continent. Than the French Canadians none of hearth and home. The English Canadians are in every sense a picked stock. Theirs is the best and most adventurous blood of the old land, and they drew from America a worthy addition in the Loyalists. The men who owa Canada, who direct its fortunes, and who hold out the hand to emigrants, both from the Old World and the New, are worthy of the land they live in."

We make no apology for giving to the readers of our column these lengthy extracts from a highly interesting article. Assuming the accuracy both of the writer's statements and of his prognostications, one or two reflections will probably occur to the minds of thoughtful readers. Of how great importance is it that the governments of our country and of our province and of our cities and towns, should steadfastly remember that wealth is something more than riches. Our lands, our forests, our quarries, our rivers, our waterways are sources of riches, but only MEANS of wealth or well-being. Rich countries have over and over again been ruined by their riches. The indulgence in luxury has enervated the energies and depraved the character of rich communities. Babylon, Persia and Rome are standing warnings, and with them before our eyes, there is no reason why history should repeat itself in Canada. But Governments of all kinds are what the people make them. Individually and collectively there must be the sincere desire, the honest intention, and the ardent effort, to promote the

WELL-BEING OF THE WHOLE COMMUNITY.

Above all let us avoid the desire to emulate the vulgar and silly ostentation too freely indulged by our neighbours to the south, which prompts the rivalry in spending vast sums of money upon "the the biggest house in the country," or "the largest diamond in the town." How little do such misspent gains contribute to the real happiness of anyone! "The greatest good of the greatest number," is only another way of putting the Christian motto. "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." To place within the reach of every worthy citizen the opportunity of enjoying a moderate share of the necessaries AND luxuries of life—the treasures of literature, art and music, is the goal of all worthy effort, and should be most easily secured in the present and for the future in a young, vigorous and prosperous country like Canada."

The Story of an Old Man Now Nearing Foot of Life's Hill—How Relief Came to Him after Repeated Failures and Disappointments.

From the Kemptville Advance.

"I am now almost at the foot of the hill of life having attained the 76th year of my age, and never during that time have I made a statement more willingly and conscientiously than now. My body has been tortured by pain for upwards of thirty years, caused by rheumatism, and there are thousands enduring a like affliction that need not if they would but heed my experience and avail themselves of the proper means of relief. The disease first affected my hip, and then spread to my legs and arms. Like many sufferers I spared neither trouble nor expense in seeking something to alleviate the pain. The disease had made me so helpless that I was unable to put on my coat and my hands and fingers were becoming twisted out of shape. There seemed not the shadow of a hope of relief, and very naturally I became discouraged and disheartened, and time after time have I given up in despair. While in Arizona three years ago I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I sent for six boxes in order to give them a fair trial. I followed the directions closely, and by the time the fourth box was finished the pain had greatly lessened, and I was very much improved. My friends having witnessed the wonderful effect upon my body could not help admiring the Pink Pills, and being about to leave for the east, I gave the remaining two boxes to them. Unfortunately I neglected getting another supply for nearly a year after returning to this part and I felt that to me Pink Pills were one of the necessaries of life. Last spring I procured a few boxes and have been taking them since with a satisfactory effect am glad to say. Now I feel like a new man entirely free from pain or stiffness of joint. I have a slight numbness of feet and half way to the knee, but am confident that these pills will relieve this feeling. Although well advanced in years, I am able and do walk many miles a day. For rheumatism Dr. Williams' Pink Pills stand preeminently above all other medicines according to my experience and I urge a trial on all suffering from this painful malady."

I was unable to put on my coat.

The above is an unvarnished statement of facts as told the Advance recently by Mr. George Selleck, an esteemed resident of Miller's Corners, and no one hearing the earnest manner of its recital could fail to be convinced of Mr. Selleck's sincerity. But if this were not enough hundreds of witnesses could be summoned, to prove the truth of every word stated. Mr. Angus Buchanan, the well known druggist and popular reeve of Kemptville, speaks of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as one of the most popular remedies known, having a great sale among his customers and giving general satisfaction.

Rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous headache, nervous prostration and diseases depending on humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc., all disappear before a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They give a healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions and build up and renew the entire system. Sold by all dealers or sent postpaid at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Don't be persuaded to take some substitute.

HER MAJESTY AT A FIRE.

Mar Lodge, the Duke of Fife's Highland Seat, Burned to the Ground.

Edinburgr, June 15.—Mar Lodge, Braemar, Aberdeenshire, the Highland residence of the Duke of Fife, son-in-law of the Prince of Wales, was burned to-day. The fire broke out in the Duke's private room. Owing to the scarcity of water, the efforts made to extinguish the flames were unavailing The fire spread to an adjacent wood, which is still burning. Men cut down trees to prevent the fire communicating to the great ball-room and tenis court in the vicinity.

Among those who witnessed the destruction of the ducal residence, was Queen Victoria, who, as soon as she heard of the fire, drove to the srene from Balmoral. The felling of the trees stopped the spread of the fire, but not until all the buildings, exdept the tenis court and dairy had been burned. Most of the furniture and pictures in the lodge were saved. The property was insured.

THE WORLD'S DEBT TO CONGREGATIONALISM.

This Church Gave to the World a Beecher—Hear Also What the Rev. S. Nicholls, a Prominent Toronto Congregational Minister, has to say on an Important Subject.

Henry Ward Beecher believed man's religious faith was coloured largely by the condition of his health. He had said from the pulpit that no man could hold right views on religion when his stomach was out of order. It is quite certain that no preacher can preach with effect if his head is stuffed up with cold, or if he is a sufferer from catarrh. It is not surprising, therefore, that we find the leading clergymen of Canada speaking so highly of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, for cold in the head or catarrh. They know the necessity better than anyone else of being relieved of this trouble. Rev. S. Nicholls, of Olivet Congregational church, Toronto, is one who has used this medicine, and over his own signature has borne testimony to its beneficial character.

One short puff of the breath through the Blower, supplied with each bottle of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, diffuses this powder over the surface of the nasal passages. Painless and delightful to use, it relieves in ten minutes and permanently cures catarrh, hay fever, colds, headache, tonsilitis and deafness. Sixty cents. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

The Balmoral Cranks Committed

Edinburgh, June 14.—Thomas Don, the crank who was arrested on the Balmoral road on June 7, was to-day committed to a lunatic asylum upon a Crown warrant. When Don was arrested he was practising with a revolver, and informed his captors that he was on his way to Balmoral to obtain an interview with the Queen.

A NOTABLE EXCEPTION.

A Strong Feeling in Favour of a Canadian Product in the State of New York.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 10.—In spite of a strong sentiment prevailing throughout this state that nothing good can come out of Canada, a feeling is beginning to grow that there are certain notable exceptions and among them is classed the new specific remedy for all diseases of the kidneys, and all complaints arising from a derangement of those organs, known as Dodd's Kidney Pills. The medicine has received a thorough test and is being prescribed not only by druggists but by physicians, whose well known reluctance to admit any virtue in a proprietary medicine make their testimony to its merits still more remarkable.

DAVID DOIG

"I Am Permanently Cured."

The Joyful Exclamation of Mr. Alexander Moffatt, of Millbrook, Ont.

Paine's Celery Compound Victorious After the Doctors Failed.

Mr. Moffatt is of opinion that all his sufferings and troubles had their origin in liver complaint, a terribly dangerous malady that is dragging many a man and woman to the grave. This disease may be acute or chronic. In the acute form, there are violent burning pains conveyed to the shoulder and right arm, short cough, fever, irregular bowels and constipation. In the chronic form of liver complaint, there are many morbid conditions, such as enlargement, softening, abscesses and degeneration. The symptoms are, weight in stomach, flatulence, nausea, bilious vomiting, loss of appetite, thirst, white and dry tongue, bitter taste, and a host of other miserable conditions.

Long experience has fully proved, that Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can successfully grapple with the dread disease of liver complaint. Honest and able doctors are advising their patients to make use of Paine's Celery Compound, for the great reason, that they know of no other medicine that gives such prompt and effective results. The cure of Mr. Moffatt amply proves every statement made in favour of Paine's Celery Compound, and clearly demonstrates the fact, that when physicians fail to cure, nature's medicine is sure to do the good work. Mr. Moffatt writes thus:

"Having been a sufferer for years from severe pains in the side, back and breast, caused, I firmly believe, by sluggish liver, I received the treatment of eminent physicians, and was compelled to wear a fur coat summer and winter; I was also advised to wear a chamois vest, but nothing seemed to do me good.

"At last I was advised by kind friends to try Paine's Celery Compound: and after using six bottles, I find that I am permanently cured. Paine's Celery Compound has indeed done wonders for me. You may publish this for the benefit of suffering humanity."

STATUE TO CROMWELL

Vigorously Objected To By the Irish Members.

THE IMPERIAL SEALING BILL

Objected to in the Commons as Not Affording Protection to British Subjects on the Sea—The Irish Members' Opinion of Oliver Cromwell.

London, June 15.—In the House of Commons to-day A. C. Morton, Liberal, moved to reduce the annual grant for the maintenance of Buckingham Palace and Marlborough House, respectively, residences of the Queen and Prince of Wales in London, and divert £100,000 towards repairing Holyrood House, the royal residence in Edinburgh.

Mr. Labouchere said he was delighted to hear that Holyrood House was going to wreck and ruin, and hoped that nothing would be done to save it.

Herbert Gladstone, First Commissioner of Works, said Holyrood House was in excellent condition, and did not need any grant for repairs.

Mr. Morton's motion, upon the strength of Mr. Gladstone's statement, was withdrawn.

P. Hayden, member for Roscommon, moved to reduce the estimates £500 as a protest against the expenditure of public money upon the construction of a statue of Oliver Cromwell within the precincts of Parliament.

William Redmond, member for East Clare, protested against the glorification of the memory of a man whom nine-tenths of the people of Ireland regarded as a murderer.

Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said the House ought to be governed by the fact that the record of famous men in English history must not be determined by individual sympathies, and they must also remember the place that statesmen occupied in the life of the nation and look upon the matter in a broad spirit. The Commonwealth, he said, was a great epoch and Cromwell was a great ruler with a great policy at home and abroad.

Robert Everett, Liberal, said Cromwell played the part of a man of greatness, a fact which everyone admitted.

John P. Nolan, Parnellite, declared that Cromwell had played the part of a treacherous brute, and that Sir William Harcourt had identified himself with many of his (Cromwell's) actions. (Conservative and Parnellite laughter.)

The motion introduced by Mr. Hayden was rejected, 152 to 137.

The bill introduced by Sir Edward Grey, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, for the prohibition of sealing in Behring Sea during certain seasons and the regulation of the seal fisheries came up on its second reading.

Mr George Baden-Powell, who was British Commissioner in the Behring Sea case said he approved the general principle of the bill, but it did not go far enough in effect from the declarations of the Behring Sea tribunal of arbitration.

Thomas Gibson Bowles offered an amendment declaring that no bill would be satisfactory that withdrew British protection from British subjects on the high seas and that rendered British vessels liable to search and seisure by foreign naval officers. Mr. Bowles said he doubted whether Canada's objections to the bill had been removed. At any rate the measure would render British subjects, engaged in lawful pursuits, liable to humiliating treatment at the hands of foreigners.

Sir Edward Grey said that the bill was only intended to affect the existing agreement with Russia. It contained no clauses for other purposes. Canada's consent to the measure had not been expressly given, but every endeavor consistent with fulfilling the agreement with Russia has been made to satisfy the Dominion. He believed that the restrictions imposed were reasonable even in the interests of Canadian seamen.

Mr Bowles' amendment was rejected by a vote of 87 to 11. The House then adjourned.

Cromwell's Statue Again on Monday.

London, June 14.—The Daily News says that the Irish members of Parliament will again raise the question of expending public money for a statue of Oliver Cromwell on the report on supply which will probably be submitted on Monday. They expect to defeat the project with the help of the Opposition

UNIONISTS AND TORIES.

The Alliance Must Be Maintained Until Danger of Disruption Is Past.

London, June 15.—The National Union of Conservative Associations gave a banquet in this city last evening. Among the guests were the Duke of Devonshire and Joseph Chamberlain, Liberal-Unionist. The Duke of Devonshire made a speech, in the course of which he said this was the first occasion on which the Liberal-Unionists had been guests of the National Union of Conservative Associations. He connected the fact with the recent unfair attacks on Mr. Chamberlain, and declared that the leaders of both sections of the Unionists always had absolute mutual confidence. He dilated upon the progressive change in the attitude of the Conservatives, ascribing it to the influence of A. J. Balfour, the late Lord Randolph Churchill and men like them, and to closer contact with public feeling. The Unionist Alliance, he added, must be strenuously maintained until the danger of disruption of the Empire shall have passed. Meanwhile the Unionists would try to effect social reforms upon which they were agreed. The time was nearing when a new Government would have to be formed, and power shared by the two sections of the Unionists. Whether it would be a Union fusion or coalition was of small importance, for difficulties would be incurred anyway. The Conservatives could not be expected to call themselves Liberal, while the opinions of many Liberal-Unionists prevented them from adopting the name of Conservatives, but there was a growing disposition on the part of both to adopt the name Unionist to the exclusion of the older and narower party term. Most of them were prepared to merge Conservatism, Liberalism and Radicalism into the nobler title of Unionism. This might result in the alliance becoming permanent, and the formation of a party to be called a national one.

Mr Chamberlain said he concurred in the remarks of the Duke of Devonshire. He added that the occasion marked the advance to completeness of their Union. He hoped that both sections would endeavor to make the alliance permanent. The Conservatives had proved that they were not opposed to reasonable reform, and were not reactionary. The Liberal-Unionists looked forward to cooperation with them in useful constructive legislation.

MONTREAL'S MURDER MYSTERY.

Detectives Have No Clue—Shortis to Be Tried in October—Unlicensed Insurance.

Montreal, July 15.—The inquest began yesterday on the body of Mrs. Demers, who was murdered in cold blood yesterday while alone with her child at 3426 Notre Dame-street. The whole case is shrouded in deepest mystery. The most affectionate relations appear to have existed between husband and wife. Her 3-year-old baby was in its cradle when the dreadful deed was accomplished, and although scores of families live all around, no one was seen entering or leaving the house. Detective Carpenter is working up the case.

Some time since John A. Grose brought an action against J. B. Wood, who is sued for having issued, on behalf of a company, an insurance policy without a license. Judge Dugas fined Wood today $50 and costs or two months in prison.

The Hudson Bay Co. will despatch the schooner Eugene to Ungava Bay with supplies during the month of July.

Judge Belanger has granted a commission to proceed to Ireland to enquire into the insanity plea of Shortis' family. The trial of the Valleyfield murderer will take place in October.

Heart Disease of Five Years' Standing Absolutely Cured by Dr Agnew's Cure for the Heart—The Great Life-Saving Remedy Gives Relief in 30 Minutes.

Thos. Batry, Esq., Aylmer, Que: "I have been troubled for about five years with severe heart complaint. At times the pain was so severe that I was unable to attend to business. The slightest exertion proved very fatiguing and necessitated taking rest. I tried Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, and obtained immediate relief. I have now taken four bottles, and am entirely free from every symptom of heart disease. I hope this statement may induce others troubled as I was to give this most valuable remedy a trial." WHO WILL PROSECUTE MR. ST. LOUIS?

Quebec's Attorney-General Objects to Federal Prosecution—No Change of Venue For Shortis

Montreal, June 14.—A murder took place in Notre Dame-street, St. Henri. The wife of Napoleon Demois was found at 2.30 p. m., with her throat cut from ear to ear. Her husband was away at his work when the tragedy was enacted. No arrests have been made, and some allege suicide, but the police scout such a theory, and pretend that they are in the presence of another Jack the Ripper case. The victim was 30 years of age. Her two little children were beside the bleeding body when found.

As predicted by your correspondent the other day, Judge Belanger has refused a change of venue in the Shortis case, so the Valleyfield murderer will be tried at Beauharnois. The unfortunate man's mother was in the office of Mr. Geo. G. Foster as the news of the refusal reached her.

The big Minister of Justice at Ottawa and the little Minister of Justice at Quebec are coming to close quarters and it might be a good idea for these gentlemen to discharge contractor St. Louis and follow the single-handed suggestion of Harold the day before Hastings.

Here is what the Attorney-General writes to the Crown prosecutors: "I most energetically protest against the Attorney for the Federal Government appearing before the Grand Jury to explain the case or examine witnesses. This is an unheard of proceeding. The Grand Jury should be left to do its duty untrammeled by any outside influence. If it desires any information or guidance it should apply to the Court. I am constituted with the administration of criminal justice and you alone are my representatives. It would be a serious infringement on provincial rights to allow the representatives of the Minister of Justice to assume the part which the law assigns to the Provincial Attorney-General. (Signed.) T. Chase Casgrain, Attorney-General."

Mr. Evan F. Ames of the old boot and shoe firm of Ames, Holden & Co. died to-day.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc.,

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Battalion Notes.

Lt.-Col. Bell and Adjutant Mason returned from Picton, last evening, to which place they made an official trip for the purpose of arranging the preliminaries for the annual outing of the Peterborough Rangers. The two officers were very much pleased by the manner in which the citizens of Picton were taking up the matter of the outing. Electric lights have already been placed in position on the camp grounds, and every provision is being made for the accommodation of the volunteers. On Thursday evening the officers were serenaded at their hotel by the Picton band, which heard they were in town.

Off the Track.

A new car, No. 27, made for the Galt, Heapler and Preston Street Railway at the works of the Canadian General Electric Company, was taken out for a trial trip over the local line this afternoon. At the corner of George and Brock streets the wheels jumped the track, caused, it is supposed, by a small stone. The car was got upon the metals after about half an hour. The new car is beautifully finished and has a fine exterior. The head and rear lights are placed at the forward and rear ends of the deck respectively and are electric. The car is resplendent with gilding and tasteful painting. The interior finish is of cherry in tasteful design, and the whole outfit is a credit to the company.

A BAD ACCIDENT IN THE MARKET BUILDING.

Mrs Charles Harrington, of Enniskmore, Falls Headlong Down the Stairs.

This morning Mrs. Charles Harrington, of Enniskmore, met with a serious accident at the market building. She had disposed of a basket of butter to a man who had left before she had taken his name. She made a quick run after him and in some way tripped at the head of the stairs, and fell headlong the whole length of the flight. The injuries received were bad bruises about the face, but the most serious was the breaking of both arms, near the wrist. The surgical name for this injury is Colle's fracture, and the difficulty is to keep the parts in apposition after the arm has been properly set. Mrs. Harrington was removed to the residence of Mrs. Spencer, 639 Downie street, where the necessary surgical attention was given.

Accident at the Electric Works.

Yesterday afternoon Wm. Lannin, an employee of the armature department of the Canadian General Electric Company's Works, met with a painful accident. He was assisting in setting up a machine when a part weighing about 300 lbs. fell upon his leg, fortunately, however, breaking no bones but making a nasty tear in the flesh that required several surgeon's stitches to be used.

A Beautiful Ensign.

J. J. Turner & Sons have just made a beautiful Dominion Ensign for the town of Pembroke, which they have shipped there to-day. The flag is made of the very best English bunting. The sails were made of the finest duck and were all centre seamed and made in the best possible manner in which this firm excel. 1d Fell From the Horse.

One day last week a young lady who resides in Smith went out for a little exercise on horseback, and met with a severe accident. It appears something went wrong with the saddle, which caused her to fall off the horse, spraining her ankle, tearing her riding dress and stunning her. When she recovered sufficiently to get up she managed to get on her horse again, and started, as she thought, for home, but she was so dazed that she rode in an opposite direction, and landed in a neighbour's yard, from which she was sent on her right road home.

A Man's Full Tweed Suit for $4.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good." Occasionally the manufacturer miscalculates. H. LeBrun & Co. have just found one who had done so by making up too many men's tweed suits. He needed money, came with a tempting offer, and we promptly closed with him, taking one hundred suits. To-morrow we will place the whole 100 on our bargain tables to sell at $4 the suit—only $4 for the tweed coat, tweed pants and tweed vest. Men of Peterborough! you have a chance now that can't last long. Every suit is as good as a "bank cheque." Strictly custom-made, well trimmed, well lined, well buttoned, well sewed. All good patterns, all pleasing colours, to fit men of any ordinary size. Don't want anything better for a good all-round wearing suit. The price we ask represents about the cost of the cloth. Come early, the earlier the better, and pick your choice to suit yourself. H. LEBRUN & Co, City Clothing Store. 2d

THE GOOD WORK OF THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

It Brings a Case Into Court Which Was Sadly in Need of Investigation.

The Children's Aid Society had a case up before Police Magistrate Dumble, yesterday, which amply exemplified the fact that the Society has a sphere of its own to work in, from which all others not having its power would be debarred.

The case was one in which the mother of four children, residing in the southern portion of the town, was charged with neglecting her little ones, while gratifying her appetite for liquor.

Mr. E. B. Edwards took the case for the Society, and Mr. E. B. Stone appeared for the defendant.

The first witness called by the Society stated that the children were four in number, and in age were graded from eight years down to two. The father of the little ones was a river driver and away from home nearly all the time. The mother was given to drinking intoxicating liquors to excess. On the 10th of June she

WAS VERY DRUNK.

A man had gone into the house and came out intoxicated. He had visited the house twice that day and came out with his face bleeding. The children were running around crying all day and were neglected. The second witness had also seen the man visit the house and had thought him "full." The accused often went on a spree for a week at a time, when she could not look after her children.

Another witness testified that the drunken habits of the defendant interfered with the proper care of the children. On being cross-examined by Mr. Stone the witness stated that to her knowledge there was nothing immoral about the woman other than her love for drink.

The third witness averred that the accused had been drinking heavily of late, which fact caused the children to be neglected. The little ones would be subjected to bad influences when she was drunk.

The agent of the Society on being put in the box stated that he had heard of the state of affairs in this particular household and had sent a notice to the woman to appear at his office, which she had done, and acknowledged that she was given to drinking and promised to do better. Since that time her husband had been in town for a day or so, and had called on the agent. On finding him not in the man had left word that he wished the little ones taken away from their mother immediately, as she was so drunk he was afraid to leave them with her.

The man who had been seen going into the house on the 10th inst was then called and stated that feeling ill he had dropped in, knowing the defendant and she had given him a glass of whiskey. She had afterwards given a NUMBER OF OTHER GLASSES.

He only remembered going to the house once, and had no immoral purpose in view. On being asked how his face was caused to bleed, he denied all knowledge of this fact, but Mr. Stone stated that it was caused, he learned, through the defendant striking the witness when he attempted to kiss her.

The next witness came down hard on the accused, stating that her conduct had been most scandalous. When drunk she would go out into the street, jumping up and down and swearing in a a manner which gave the whole locality a bad name. In consequence of the many sprees indulged in the children were often neglected.

Another witness, who was the wife of an Italian, complained that when drunk the defendant had entered her house at 11 o'clock at night, and created a disturbance until she had made her leave the premises. A man was going by at the time, and the woman had run out, taken him by the arm and led him to her own house.

Other witnesses testified that the accused was drunk nearly every day, and the children were frequently found crying in the streets and suffering from neglect. Sometimes the little ones were clean, and often they were very, verry dirty. The woman used very bad language when she was drunk.

The case was a sad one, but at times the testimony was brought out in a manner so ludricous as to convulse the Court with laughter.

The only witness the defence brought forward was a man, whilst the prosecution had eight women and two men.

When this witness for the defence stated positively that the accused

WAS NOT DRUNK ON THE 10TH,

he was interrupted by a whole chorus of Oh! Oh! Oh! pitched in every imaginable key, from the batch of witnesses for the prosecution, and while his evidence was being taken he was subjected to a running fire of questions which were enough to turn any ordinary man's hair gray.

In conducting the defence Mr. Stone had often to ask some very personal questions of the witnesses regarding their own habits, which so enraged several of them that it is perhaps as well it is not the South Ward he is representing.

The magistrate called the accused up before him and in the course of a few remarks, commented sorrowfully on the pitifulness of a case in which a mother and wife forgets herself so much, as in order to gratify her thirst for drink she neglected her own offspring.

The secretary of the society stated that a suspensory judgment would be satisfactory, and, as the woman promised to do better by her little ones in the future, she was allowed to retain them, but was warned of what would inevitably ensue if further complaint was made.

DOES ITS WORK IN SIX HOURS.

A Medicine That Will Relieve Distressing Kidney and Bladder Disease in Six Hours Deserves Your Attention

Those who suffer from kidney trouble suffer acutely. Where some kinds of sickness can be borne with fortitude, it is no easy matter to exercise this virtue when one is a sufferer from kidney trouble. Hope may sustain a person when a medicine is being used that doctors say will eventually effect a cure. But who wants to continue an agonizing course of treatment when a medicine like South American Kidney Cure is within the reach of everyone and that is so speedy as well as certain in its effects? This new remedy has been thoroughly tested by learned physicians, and stands to-day ahead of any medicine used for this purpose. It does not pretend to cure anything else, but it does cure kidney disease. For sale by H. S. Macdonald.

As Well as Ever

After Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cured of a Serious Disease.

"I was suffering from what is known as Bright's disease for five years, and for days at a time I have been unable to straighten myself up. I was in bed for three weeks; during that time I had leeches applied and derived no benefit. Seeing Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised in the papers I decided to try a bottle. I found relief before I had finished taking half of a bottle. I got so much help from taking the first bottle that I decided to try another, and since taking the second bottle I feel as well as ever I did in my life." GEO. MERRETT, Toronto, Ont.

—Rev. W. R. Young will talk to men only on "Temperance," to-morrow at 4.15 in the Y. M. C. A. hall. Men cannot afford to miss this talk.

—A large party of our American cousins, accompanied by a great quantity of baggage, passed through this morning for Chemong, where they will spend several weeks fishing.

—Murder will out, but the man that smokes good 10 cent Sir Robert Peel Cigars for 5 cents will never be caught. The only place in town where they can be got is at Billy Morgan's.

—Gravel is being spread on the market square to the depth of six or eight inches, and on rainy days the water will no longer be in huge pools on the square and almost cut off communication. Market Clerk Green has been asking to have this step taken for many moons past.

—Between two and three o'clock yesterday morning the stables and sheds of Scott's hotel, Kinmount, were discovered to be on fire, and despite the strenuous efforts of the citizens, who quickly gathered and gave all the aid possible, the buildings were destroyed, with a portion of their contents. At one time it was feared the hotel would go also, but the danger was averted. The fire is believed to have been set by some evil-disposed person.

Mr. Moloney, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on

as follows:

The Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report:

1. Your committee recommend that the report of the County Engineer be received and adopted.

2. Your committee recommend that a special grant of $75 be given towards repairing the Squaw River B idge; your committee being of the opinion that the river which this bridge spans is not naturally of sufficient breadth to come within the bylaw of the County assuming bridges over 100 feet in width, but this grant shall not be construed as creating any liability on the County for future maintenance or repairs. Your committee would recommend that the reeve of Harvey be commissioner for the expenditure of the same, he to furnish to this Council a certified statement in detail of the manner in which such moneys are expended.

3. Your committee recommend that the County Engineer be instructed to make such repairs to the Young's Point bridge as he may deem desirable, and that the matter of repairs to the Lakefield bridge be left in the hands of the County Engineer and the Reeve of Lakefield with power to act.

4. Your committee recommend that the matter of repairing and repainting the Locks' bridge be referred to the County Engineer with power to act.

5. Your committee recommend that the matter of repairing the floors and strengthening Comstock's bridge be referred to the Reeve of Asphodel, with power to act.

6. Your committee recommend that the matter of erecting piers and glance booms at the entrances to the Locks and Wallace Point bridges, be left in the hands of the Standing Committee on Roads and Bridges with power to act.

7. Your committee recommend that the Deputy Reeve of Dummer be commissioner for expenditure of the special grant made by paragraph 9, of the report of this committee in January last, to be furnished to this council a certified statement in detail of the manner in which such moneys are expended.

8. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with reference to the Carveth bridge in the township of Douro.

9. Your committee recommend that the matter of the Kinmount bridge be left in the hands of the Warden with full power to take such action as he may see fit with respect thereto.

10. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with reference to the request of South Monaghan for a special grant towards building the Benefort bridge.

11. Your committee recommend that no action be taken upon the request of the Reeve of Belmont, for a special grant towards building the ninth concession road in the township of Belmont.

12. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with reference to the communication of the secretary of the Ontario Good Roads Association.

13. Your committee recommend that the Reeves of Douro, Smith, Otonabee and Dummer be a special committee to inquire into and inspect the system and work of the Hastings county council with respect to roads.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN MOLONEY, Chairman.

County Council Chambers, Peterborough, June 15th, 1895.

SCHOOLS,

as under:—

The Committee on Schools beg leave to report as follows:—

1. That the report of Mr. J. C. Brown, County School Inspector, be received.

2. Your committee recommend that a by-law be prepared to raise the county equivalent for for the government school grant.

3. Your committee recommend that this Council take no action with reference to the communication from the Norwood Board of Education, complaining of the action of the County School Inspector as to departmental examinations.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. BUCK, Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, June 15th, 1895.

TURF.

The Globe says of Harry B, formerly owned by Mr. Harry LeBrun, of town, that,—"At Port Huron, on Thursday, Mr. J. J. Burns, of Toronto, won the 2.45 trot in straight heats with Harry B., making four races this fine young horse has landed in two weeks. The best heat yesterday was 2.33¼. Cora Wilkes got second money and the Parkhill horse Rodney third. The other starters were Jennie W., Queen Gertrude, Basil Wilkes, J. B. and Jardine. The last named, owned by Geo. S. James, of London, was disabled in the first heat and may be laid up for the season."

CRICKET.

The second eleven of Trinity College School, Port Hope, arrived in town by the morning train and play was commenced at eleven o'clock on the P.A.A.A. grounds, visitors going to the bat and piling up 69 runs before they were retired.

One of the features of the game so far has been tha neat catching of young Sheridan and the sharp fielding of the home team. Some of the visitors were very hard hitters and more than once the ball travelled over the fence.

Hal. Burnham took three wickets in one over at the last of the innings, and retired the visitors. One of the balls was batted to Sheridan, Drope gathered in another, and the third man was bowled.

The home team were not all on the field in the morning and the places of some of the best men were supplied by substitutes, who turned up in the afternoon.

At the last report four of Peterborough's wickets had fallen for thirty runs.

LACROSSE.

The following are the names of the Athletic Lacrosse team of Peterborough that goes to Madoc on Monday to play an exhibition game with the Madocs: Goal, Dobbin; point, Bolin; cover, Brown; 1st defence, McDonough; 2nd defence, Hughes; 3rd defence, Hickey; centre, J. McDonough; 3rd home, P. Rubidge; 2nd home, W. Galley; 1st home, Borland; outside home, Lipsett; inside home, McNamara.

THE WHEEL.

Sanction has been granted for bicycle races to be held at the C. P. R. employees' picnic here on June 27th.

Some races were held amongst the local men on the Nicholls' Park track the other evening. Messrs. Alex. Gibson, Gus Hay and H. R. H. Kenner were the track officials, and several races were run off in fast time. In a mile handicap Walker took first, Andrews second, Lush third and Lytle fourth. Hall won the three mile event.

MONDAY'S BYLAWS VOTE.

On Monday the qualified electors will be called upon to vote upon two money bylaws—one to authorize the raising of $6,500 to build an addition to the South Ward Public School, and the other for $3,000 to construct a bridge at Auburn.

As to the school addition bylaw, it is one that should receive the support of the ratepayers. Increased accommodation is urgently needed in the educational interest of the children of the South Ward. School work is hampered by lack of accommodation, and under such circumstances the whole school suffers, and, to a certain extent, the full value is not received for the money expended.

The South Ward is deserving on grounds of equity to the expenditure represented by the passing of the bylaw. When the North Ward required a new school building, the South Ward ratepayers supported them and voted for the necessary funds without any sectional feeling, but with a desire to advance the general educational interests of the town, and now the northern portion of the town is in duty bound to assist the South Ward residents. When the bylaw, a couple of years ago, was submitted to the ratepayers for the building of a new school—on the Lundy property—it was the North Ward vote that settled the bylaw, in conjunction with the apathy of the South Ward people themselves, who felt too certain of the bylaw carrying. Ratepayers who are in favour of the proposed increase in accommodation—and every ratepayer should be in favour of supplying the growing needs of the town in this respect—must express their opinion in order to give it effect. They cannot expect the School Board, which has taken action and selected the most economical plan of supplying the needed accommodation, to draw them out to the polls. It is hoped that the school bylaw will pass, and that on the opening of the school in September, the children of the South Ward will have the accommodation which they have so urgently and so long required.

As to the bridge bylaw, it is one whose merits the ratepayers fully understand. The friends and opponents of the scheme of bridging the Otonabee at Auburn have presented their views pretty fully in the press. Every ratepayer whether in favour or opposed to the by-law should poll his vote, so that whatever result follows will be a full expression of public opinion. The bridge will be no doubt a convenience to those residing its vicinity. Whether it will be for the general benefit of the town is for the ratepayers to decide. The town now has the Locks bridge, the Hunter street bridge and the Smith street bridge crossing the river, and crossing the creek are the bridges at Spaulding's Bay, Dalhousie street, Sherbrooke, King, Charlotte, Hunter, Brock and Park streets. Now it is for the electors to decide whether the people of the north ward shall have a bridge at Auburn or not. Let us have a big vote on both bylaws.

THE CAVANAGH CASE.

The Prisoner is Only Charged With a First Offence and Subjected to a Fine.

Mr. Timothy Cavanagh, whose sensational arrest was the subject of considerable comment on the street all day yesterday, was brought before the magistrate at 4 o'clock, charged with selling liquor without a license between the 16th of March, 1895, and the 14th of April, 1895.

Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q. C., appeared for Mr. Cavanagh and through him the prisoner denied having been previously fined.

The magistrate turned to the Chief for evidence in proof of these previous convictions and was handed a certified copy of the following resolution, passed by the town council on the evening of June 5th: "Moved by Mr. Dawson, seconded by Mr. Cahill, 'That the Chief of Police be requested by the council to allow the charge now pending against T. Cavanagh for selling liquor without a license, to be tried as for a first offence and to not offer evidence of any previous conviction."

The magistrate said that he was very much surprised at the course pursued by the council in this matter, being fully aware, as they were, of the penalty for interference and placing themselves within reach of the law. The act regarding interference with an officer in the discharge of his duty was very plain and this very wrong step had been taken with their eyes open. It was a very wrong course to adopt, he hoped the matter would be brought to the notice of the Attorney General.

As no evidence relating to previous convictions was submitted the magistrate announced that he would only be able to treat with the matter as a first offence and gave the following judgment:

"The prisoner, Timothy Cavanagh, appeared before me, having been arrested by Chief of Police Rogers, on a warrant issued by me, he, the said Timothy Cavanagh, having refused to attend on a summons which was duly served upon him.

"Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q. C., appears for the prisoner, and in reference to the charge of selling liquor between the 16th March, 1895, and the 14th April, 1895, admits the truth of the charge as alleged in the information.

"At that stage I ask the prisoner if he admits the allegations contained in the information alleging the convictions against him of the 14th of August, 1894, and of the 18th of August, 1894, when through his counsel he denies the convictions and will not admit them.

"The Chief of Police then hands me a certified copy of a resolution of the Town Council of Peterborough, requesting him to allow the charge now pending against T. Cavanagh for selling liquor without a license to be tried as for a first offence, and Mr. E. B. Edwards, the town solicitor, who appears on behalf of the prosecution declining to give any evidence of such prior convictions, I find the prisoner guilty of the first offence, and I adjudge that he pay a fine of $50 and $3.65 costs, to be paid forthwith, and in default of payment imprisonment for three months with hard labour in the county gaol.

"D. W. DUMBLE, Police Magistrate."

Mr. Edwards objected to the phrase which stated that he declined on the part of the town to give any evidence of prior convictions. He was simply proving the evidence offered by the Chief of Police.

The Magistrate—You appear on behalf of your client, the council, and should handle your case.

Mr. Edwards—I beg your pardon; I have nothing to do with it and desire to withdraw my name from any connection with the matter.

The Magistrate—You withdraw from the case?

Mr. Edwards—I do.

The Magistrate then changed that portion of the judgment to read "and Mr. E. B. Edwards, the town solicitor, who appears on behalf of the prosecution, withdrawing from the case and no further evidence being offered to prove the convictions of the 14th and 18th of August," etc.

The fine was immediately paid and Mr. Cavanagh allowed his freedom.

Speaking from over twenty years' experience, I can sum up in a few words some of the results of indiscriminate use of glasses. In the case of odd eyes—gradual weakening of the good eye and making it much more susceptible to disease, such as glaucoma, iritis, etc. In cases of astigmatism unsuitable glasses will cause neuralgic pains in the eyes, frontal headache, nausea, paralysis of the accommodation, resulting in permanently impaired vision which no skill can restore. Very truly,

GOUGH BROS

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

375 and 577 George Street, June 14.

The Month Of Roses!

JUNE, the month of Roses, inaugurates the season for light-weight Clothing, at Reduced prices for Men, Youths and Boys. Before the June roses are all gone we expect that most of our present stock of Summer Clothing will have gone also, if sales keep on as they are doing the past two weeks. As the mercury in the thermometer ascends, the sales of our Cool Clothing ascends correspondingly, and unless you prepare for summer heat now, half your time will be spent in trying to keep cool. Every corner of our two big stores has a summer-like, hot-weather appearance. But, figuratively speaking, Gough Bros. is the coolest Clothing House in Canada during the hot days of June—because Gough Bros. prices are always below zero.

Perhaps We're Wrong.

We're sometimes blamed for selling things too cheap—but just now we're not making any apologies. We're working for "the greatest good to the greatest number"—and the way customers crowd the store every day shows that the public is abundantly satisfied with good things being cheap and cheap things being good.

What Counts.

What counts in purchasing is the comfort of knowing you made a good bargain. Look back a few years ago and compare the store of to-day with the business as you knew it then. Study the trend of values during the same period. Prices have been gradually reduced in proportion as facilities were enlarged.

Every now and then we are accused of underselling, when we merely do our duty—by you, and sell as low as we can. Dollars and cents—cents and dollars—with a leaning towards the store that gives the best values, and a disposition to trade where prices are lowest—that's the yard stick to measure by.

Summer Suits.

Men are apt to feel the summer heat more now than later on in the season. They need thin, comfortable Clothing now, and nobody wants to pay more than is necessary. Don't put off coming until late in the day if you can help it. Saturdays are our crowd days, when everybody's in a hurry. Better come now.

When the mercury is simmering, remember that we have the comfort you need. Very many bargains are here for people of narrow means, and values are generally good all along the line.

—American Iceberg Coats, at 75c and $1.25.
—Lustre Coats and Vests, at $2.00.
—Lightweight Serge Suits, $2.95, $3.50, $10.00.
—Lightweight Tweed Suits, $3.90, $5.00, $7.50.
—Lightweight Skeleton Coats, 50c, $1.00 to $2.50.
—Blazer Coats, all colours, $2.00.
—White and Coloured Vests, from 69c to $2.00.
—Silk Coats and Vests, plain and striped, $2.00, $3.00, $5.00.
—Sporting Trousers, $2.00 to $4.00.

We sell about everything that men and boys wear, and many things they buy for personal gratification. In this respect the store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

Gent's Furnishing.

—French Balbriggan Suits $1.50.
—Natural Wool Suits $1.50.
—Outing Shirts 40c.
—Coloured Shirts, fast colours, all sizes 50c.
—Fine Elastic Braces 15c.
—Merino Socks, seamless, double heel and toe, 3 pairs for 50c.
—Silk Knot Ties, 2 for 25c.
—Plain and Coloured Merino 25c each.
—Striped Underwear 15c each.
—Flannelette Shirts 18c, 23c.
—Collars and Cuffs 10c, 15c, 18c a pair.

A great thing for a man who aims to succeed is to look well. Everybody is judged, more or less, by appearance. It doesn't cost much to possess stylish furnishings if you buy at Gough Bros.

Not Much of a Trick.

It's not much of a trick to sell Straw Hats at this season of the year, although some of the regular hat dealers may have to hustle to do it and get their fancy prices. If we had to sell Hats alone, we might have to hustle, too, but we don't have to. It's as easy as looking down a well. The Hat maker usually loads up the regular Hat dealers at good, plump figures, and when he finds he has an immovable load left he calls in the live general retail clothier and bids him take them at his own price—but take them. That's one of the ways we get in our best work. GOUGH BROS. have helped several such hat manufacturers out of a hole, and it accounts for the special price festival we have been holding in Hats the past few weeks. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade; but were the SELLERS and that suits us just as well.

—Gents' Fine Straw Hats 25c, worth 40 cents.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 50c, worth $1.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 75c, worth $1.50.
—Men's Straw Hats in lightweight, wide and narrow rims, 50c to $1.50.
—Boys' Hats, in every style, from 15c to 75c.
—Children's Sailors 10c, 25c.
—Tweed Hats 20c, 25c.
—Men's Tourists, 75c.
—Men's Christy Hats, all sizes 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $2 and $3.
—Fedoras, all popular shades, qualities and sizes, for Men and Boys, as low as 70c, as high as $3.

That's enough to prove our interest in your welfare. We have a complete assortment, and prices are low enough to capture your trade.

Tan Shoes.

A discussion is just now bothering some people as to whether or no, Tan Shoes are cooler than black in hot weather. The question is easily answered: Nothing is fashionable long that does not combine comfort with style of late years no two things have added more to a mitigation of hot-weather discomfort than the brown shoe and the outing shirt.

We have tan shoes in all sizes, for men, women and children, and seem to have no difficulty in disposing of all we can get.

There's no jobbers' 25 per cent. on boots in this store—you pay no intermediate profit here. We sell as we buy.

—First quality Canvas Oxfords, kid-faced, white, tans and greys.
—Russian Tan Oxfords, in dark and light colours, hand-turned soles and welts; tan overgaiters to match.
—Nobby street shoe in patent leather vamp, kid quarter, opera and Philadelphia toe.
—Tennis shoes, all sorts and sizes.
—Men's Tan Shoes, kid lined $1.15.
—Misses' Tan Balmorals and Button Boots $1.
—Woman's Tan Balmorals $1 a pair.
—Ladies' hand-made Tan Oxfords $1.25.
—Hand-made Button Boots $2.
—Finest American White Canvas $2, $2.50.
—Oxford, hand-made $1.25, $1.50.
—Finest Russian Leather (city made) Oxford, $2.

Our prices may be ruining the shoe trade—we can't help it. We're sorry to injure the shoe trade, but we must look after your interests and keep you posted in right prices.

GLADSTONE IN RETIREMENT.

His Views as to the New Woman and Other Matters of Interest.

"I should like so much," I implored, "to hear how Mr. Gladstone passes his days—just the programme of one of the days which telleth another." The Grand Old Man smiled. And it is something to have lived for to, have seen him smile. It is as though a rare porcelain lamp were suddenly illuminated with a clear radiance within, so white is the livid face, so brilliant the deep set eyes.

"If you are really good enough to be interested in so small a thing," he said, "it is easily told, and in a few words. During our trip abroad the physician's orders were merciless. Breakfast was to be taken in bed, at the latest hour of half-past eight. All necessity for such a lazy habit of life has now passed away, however. We rise about half-past seven, attend morning service at the village church, to which, as it is scarcely a mile away, we usually walk. After that we breakfast, although, I am ashamed to say, I have sometimes of late felt the necessity for a cup of tea or coffee, which is kindly given me at the rectory if I require it. I do not know that I would recommend the habit, but I am myself very fond of reading a book as I dress in the morning. It was thus that I read, a couple of months ago, the life of Prof. Owen, with extreme enjoyment and profit. I have found my pleasure in some attempts at literary labor, and therefore I can scarcely refer to it as work when I say that I spend some hours before luncheon in writing. I am at present engaged upon a new edition of Bishop Butler, who, to my mind, was one of the noblest men and wisest writers who ever blessed the earth with his influence. This work, if I must call it so, has brightened my few holidays for the past ten years. I have heard that another book on much the same lines will soon be ready for publication, probably before my own can possibly see the light, but I do not for this reason allow myself to be discouraged. I shall persevere until the end is reached.

"You sometimes read novels, do you not, Mr. Gladstone ?" one of us asked.

"Yes. I allow myself some light reading, usually each day after dinner. I think the two, perhaps, which have seemed to me the most worthy of reflection during the past year have been 'Esther Waters' and 'The Year of Jubilee.' Both seemed to me strong and able works, which ought to live when many of their contemporaries are forgotten."

"It is wonderful that you find time to do so much," I said, amazed.

"Perhaps it is because he is so punctual, and expects everybody else to be so," smiled Mrs. Gladstone. He is always ready for everything, and does everything very quickly. For instance, he can dress for dinner, quite fully, in less than five minutes. I cannot myself conceive how he does it, though I am not one to waste much time, or encourage others to waste it, on personal adornment."

"I wonder if we might dare to ask whether you ever glance at any of the—er—pictorial representations of yourself in the newspapers and magazines ?" I asked, trembling.

"Caricatures, you mean," he said, smiling again. "Well, you see, one cannot do everything, especially so old a man as I, and so, I must give up something, I have of late years given up the newspapers almost entirely. Even when I do make an exception to my general rule by reading one, I find other subjects far more interesting than what may have chanced to be said of me. But I fear that Mrs. Gladstone does sometimes look to see how the journals have represented me. I think, at one time, she had even gone so far as to make a small collection of sketches with what object I am somewhat divided in opinion. However, I am quite sure that she has ceased so to amuse herself, long ago."

"Do you ever go to the theatre, Mr. Gladstone ?" I asked.

"I seldom find myself equal to or inclined for theatregoing of late, but I cannot go so far as to say that I have given it up. I confess, however, that a quiet game of backgammon in the evening, when I have laid aside a book, has for me a great charm. It is a game which can scarcely be excelled by any modern invention—assuredly not superceded."

"Will you tell me what is your favorite study ?" I inquired, emboldened by his good nature.

"There are many answers which I might be tempted to give to such a question," replied Mr. Gladstone. "Yet the one which I would regard afterward with the most satisfaction would be—theology. It has been the study of my life, though I am at eighty-five but on the threshhold, as a learner. Over that threshold, I may only pass with death."

I was wondering, knowing what a linguist Mr. Gladstone is, whether he would not mention the study of languages. But evidently he did not care to rank it with theology. And so, without questioning him further on that subject, I ventured hastily to ask what was his opinion of the "New Woman" and the stir she is creating in the world.

"I am too old a man," he returned, "to have an opinion of any kind on the 'New Woman,' as I consider that the exponent of certain doctrines is erroneously styled. My ideal woman has not altered in the past threescore years and ten, and I may affirm positively that it is not probable she will do so in the time that is left."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Simian Familiarity.

A very pretty girl had an experience with three of the monkeys in Schmidt's bird store on the avenue yesterday that has given her a better insight into monkey nature than she possessed before.

In her left hand she was holding a fifty-cent bunch of violets and her pocketbook, and on her head she wore a dashing Gainsboro hat with ostrich plumes. Two of the monkeys were in a cage on a line with the top of the hat, and the third was in a cage by himself, below, where she had only to reach out her right hand to touch him. This girl loves monkeys, and all three of the monkeys seemed to take to her as naturally as though they had known her a long time. Just as the monkey in the cage by himself clutched the bunch of violets and the pocketbook, the couple in the upper story snatched the hat. It came off, hat-pins, veil and all, and came off with such remarkable suddenness that she grabbed her jacket for fear that would go the same way.

When the monkeys surrendered the millinery the hatpins were bente double and the inside of the cage was so strewn with feathers that it looked as though the inmates had been moulting. And now the young lady declares a monkey is a nasty thing.—Washington Post.

AYER'S Hair VIGOR

Restores natural color to the hair, and also prevents it falling out. Mrs. H. W. Fenwick, of Digby, N. S., says:

"A little more than two years ago my hair began to turn gray and fall out. After the use of one bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was restored to its original color and ceased falling out. An occasional application has since kept the hair in good condition."—Mrs. H. F. Fenwick, Digby, N. S.

Growth of Hair.

"Eight years ago, I had the varioloid, and lost my hair, which previously was quite abundant. I tried a variety of preparations, but without beneficial result, till I began to fear I should be permanently bald. About six months ago, my husband brought home a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began at once to use it. In a short time, new hair began to appear, and there is now every prospect of as thick a growth of hair as before my illness."—Mrs. A. Weber, Polymnia St., New Orleans, La.

THE NEAREST STAR.

A PROBLEM THE STAR SHARPS ARE TRYING TO SOLVE.

The Distance Billions of Miles—So Far Away Its Location Can Be Appreciated Only by Comparison With Known Distances.

An interesting discussion took place recently in Paris at a meeting of scientists as to the distance of the nearest fixed star. A number of astronomers had been asked to make observations of a certain star and then report the result of these observations to the meeting.

It was discovered that no two calculations agreed; but the astronomers departed with feelings of great satisfaction, for in no case was the difference between any two results greater than twenty billion miles.

There are eight planets moving about the sun, of which the earth is one, and astronomers have calculated, with very little chances of error, the distance of these bodies from each other, and from the sun. The various results can be conveniently recorded in miles.

But when we come to the fixed stars, which are themselves suns, many of them far larger and brighter and hotter than our own sun, and around every one of which it is not improbable that a family of planets is moving, the task of computing distance is far more difficult. The abyss of space that separates us from our nearest stellar neighbor is so enormous that the human mind cannot even form the slightest conception of it. Even astronomers, who are suspected by some of possessing minds of more than human capabilities, confess that this distance cannot be adequately represented in terms of miles.

Nor is the ordinary astronomical unit, or distance of the sun from the earth, sufficiently large to be convenient in expressing the distance of the stars. That is, if we attempt to denote the distance of the nearest fixed star by stating that it is "so many times the distance of the earth from the sun," it is found that this unit is entirely too small to be used with convenience, though it measures ninety-three million miles.

Experience has shown that it is more satisfactory to take as a unit the distance that light travels in a year, which is about 63,000 times the distance of the earth from the sun. Thus, if we say a particular star is at a distance of ten light-years, we mean that it is so far away that it will take ten years for its light to reach us, supposing it to have just sprung into existence.

It is curious to think that such comparatively insignificant creatures as human beings, inhabiting a fifth-rate planet, revolving around a third-rate sun, should be able to compute with any degree of accuracy the enormous distance of any one of these stars. The magnitudes are so great that any ordinary mind can comprehend them only when they are represented by some illustrative comparison. This may be done as follows:

If we select any flat surface, such as a level field, and place it on a globe 2 feet in diameter, we may consider this the sun. Mercury, which is the nearest planet to the sun as well as the smallest of all the planets, will be represented by a grain of mustard seed at a distance of eighty-two feet. Venus will be indicated by a small pea at a distance of 142 feet from the aforesaid globe. The earth will be a slightly larger pea 215 feet from the globe. Mars will become a rather large pinhead at a distance of 327 feet from the central body. Jupiter, the largest of all the planets—in fact, larger than all the others put together—will assume the respectable dimensions of a moderate-sized orange nearly a quarter of a mile from the globe. Saturn, the beautiful ringed planet, will be represented by a small orange, two-fifths of a mile from the mock sun. Uranus will be a full-sized cherry, or a small plum three-fourths of a mile from the same object. Neptune, the most remote of all the planets, so far as known, will be fairly indicated by a good-sized plum at a distance of one mile and a quarter.

If, however, we attempt, on the same scale to indicate the distance of the nearest fixed star, we impose a heavy task on our power of imagination. For such a star would be represented by another globe about two feet in diameter, at a distance of 8,000 miles—in other words, at the antipodes, at the other side of the earth, on the end of a line drawn through the earth's centre from the globe representing the sun.

In 1838 Bessel succeeded in demonstrating and measuring the parallax of the star known as 61 Cygni, and then, by a protracted series of calculations, in determining the distance of this star as sixty billion miles. This announcement created a great sensation in the scientific world, and the fortunate Bessel was loaded with congratulations and medals of honor. Then Struve published the results of his observations of the same star, in which he located it at not less than forty billion miles. Curiously enough this announcement was received as a confirmation of Bessel's discovery. A matter of twenty billion miles was a trifle.

However, one star is known to be nearer than 61 Cygni. This is the star known as Alpha Centauri which is situated in the foot of the constellation of the Centaur in the southern heavens. It is never visible in northern latitudes, and its distance is about thirty-five billion miles. This distance is represented in terms of light-years, as explained above, by 3.6; that is to say, if this star should suddenly spring into existence from nothingness we should know nothing about it until nearly four years had passed.

A PENSION FOR LIFE.

"I cannot understand" said a capitalist to a friend, "why men are so imprudent as to allow themselves to sink into money embarrassments. There is a simple rule that I follow myself, and that I have always found a great safeguard—it is never to let one's balance at the bankers fall below five thousand. By strictly adhering to this rule, one is sure to be able to meet any unexpected and immediate necessity."

The rich man's rule is golden, but his prescription not only lacks practicability but common sense. It reminds one of the advice given poor Joe, whom Dickens has immortalized; but underneath it there lies this thought: Live within your income. The difficulty of having a balance at one's bankers has increased during the last few years, for competion is greater, the margin of profit has lessened and the chances of retiring upon a fortune are not so numerous as they were. Under these circumstances, it becomes necessary to adopt other means of providing for the inevitable rainy day which comes to most men, whether professional or commercial

The only available method of providing a pension for life is that of life assurance, the original object of which was to indemnify the family for the loss of its bread-winner; but the endowment plan has now become the most popular form of insurance. Under this system, a man may receive his money at a given time, the age being fixed when effecting the insurance. "But I want to retire before I am an old man," remarks an objector. Very well, if you can afford to retire when you reach middle age, nobody will object. Your determination is praiseworthy. May you be able to carry it out! Most business men remain in harness until the end. The anxiety to become rich is one of the curses of civilization. It robs a man of all the pleasures of life; it prevents him enjoying the good things placed before him by a bountiful Providence, and from acting the part of the good Samaritan. It is not to such a man that we appeal, but rather to the man who wants to live on the sunny side of the hedge.

"Gather ye rose-buds as ye may,"

was the advice of the Poet Herrick, and no better advice could be given. We knew a man who was afraid of having a holiday, for fear his family would need the money if anything happened to himself. Now, if he had insured his life, he could have gone away with an easy mind; for a policy-holder, though not justified in living up to his income, may indulge himself with more comforts than the man whose life is not protected by insurance. While an insurance policy tends to alleviate the wants of the future, it also enables the holder to accept more fully the advantages to be enjoyed while he is yet living. He can secure to himself and family many little luxuries that otherwise he would feel called upon to deny, in order to leave something behind to provide for them. The policy is the protecting shield, which, while guarding his loved ones, gives confidence meanwhile to its possessor in fighting the battle of life.

A pension for life is something to look forward to, even if it does not become payable until middle life has been passed. The sweets of life are not monopolized by youth. There are a few, green sunny spots in the desert of life even in old age. "Life is so very pleasant," declared Crabb Robinson, when he had turned three score years and ten, "that I do not like to think how old I am." Some men never do grow old. They seem to have discovered the secret of perpetual youth; they retain both vigor of body and strength of mind. But whether a man be strong or weak there comes a time in his life when he would like to relax, to sever his connection with business pursuits and to follow his own inclinations. With the aid of the money derived from his insurance policy, this laudable desire may easily be carried into effect, and the afternoon and evening of life spent in comfort and peace. In short, an endowment policy in the Confederation Life Association gives absolute protection to your family during the existence of the policy and secures to yourself a sum of money at a given age, which may, if desired, be applied in any of the following ways:—

First.—The policy may be surrendered and the entire value taken in (1) cash, (2) paid-up policy, payable at death; (3) life annuity, an annual payment to the insured till death.

Second.—Or, the policy may be exchanged for a paid-up policy of assurance, payable at death, without profits, for an equal amount of insurance, and, in addition, there will be paid an annuity for life of $45 per $1,000, applying the accumulated surplus either in (4) cash, (5) bonus addition to the sum assured, (6) life annuity.

HORSELESS CARRIAGES RACE.

750 Miles Covered By the Winner in 48 Hours.

Paris, June 14.—The race of horseless carriages, vehicles propelled by either electric or steam power, from Paris to Bordeaux and back, a distance of 750 miles, which was started at noon on Monday, was finished to-day, and won by Carriage No. 5, which arrived at the starting point in the Place d'Armes at 12.57 p.m., having covered the distance in a little over 48 hours. The winning carriage is constructed on the Pachare-Levasseur system.

ALMOST CRAZY

Suffering from Constipation.

Expected to be in the Asylum—After all Other Remedies Failed B. B. B. made a Perfect Cure, Restoring Robust Health.

Gentlemen—To say all I ought to in favour of B.B.B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man now to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind. I tried various doctors both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to name, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters, however, it succeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure me. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. is the real cure for Constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more, and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any return of the disease. I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever, but a sure and certain cure, as I can certify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort.

Yours truly,
C. L. Kilmer.

FREE TRADE, DIRECT TAXATION.

Change in the Fiscal Policy of New South Wales.

Sydney, N.S.W., June 15.—The vote on the Customs bill yesterday stood 64 in favor of the measure to 38 against it. When he introduced the bill in May last, the Prime Minister said that the Government was pledged to abolish the customs duties imposed four years ago, and to establish a tariff on a free trade basis. The Government was determined to take this occasion to impose a direct tax at once.

There would be a land tax of 1d on the pound, and an income of 5d on the pound, with exemptions. There would be a permanent tariff only on wines, spirits, beer, tobacco and opium. The old duties would be retained for the present, and a duty on sugar for ten years would be imposed.

Protection and Currency.

Brussels, June 15.—Alphonso Allard, who was one of the Belgian delegates to the International Monetary Conference, held in Brussels in 1892, read a notable economic paper before the Brussels Conservative Union last evening. M. Allard aimed to prove that the present policy of protection was the direct result of the currency difficulty. Protection of commodities, he declared, was merely the outcome of perfection of gold, and the movement in favor of prohibitive customs duties was the direct result of monometallism. In conclusion, he said the only remedy for the existing depression of trade was the rehabilitation of silver and return to bimetallism, a movement toward which had made progress in every country.

Lay Dead on the Road All Night.

Dundalk, June 14.—Mrs. W. Arnott dropped dead on the roadside while returning from a visit to her son. Her family, supposing she was remaining with her son, made no search, and the body lay on the roadside 16 hours before being discovered.

Violent Exercise Proved Fatal.

Fergus, June 14.—Henry Moriarty, aged 22, was found dead in his bed after a long evening's hard practice at football. Weakness of the heart is attributed as the cause of death.

MORE GARBAGE DUMPERS.

Two American Mud Scows Captured Near Fort Erie

Fort Erie, Ont., June 14.—A tug and two scows from uBffalo, in the act of dumping their debris in the Niagara River on the Canadian side, was seized by a yacht sent by the Canadian Government to watch their proceedings. The tug, along with the two scows were towed down to the Int rnational Bridge and tied up there, and the crew sent to the lock-up.

ITS VALUE PROVED.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys, through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been of not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensusof opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

WIMAN DEFENDS A FRIEND.

An Old Canadian Who Was a Boy With Erastus

New York, June 15.—Erastus Wiman, the impoverished king of Staten Island, went to the Harlem Police Court yesterday and defended William Polly, an old man whom he had known since boyhood, and whom he had frequently befriended in his prosperous days. Polly was arrested in West Chester last Monday on the complaint of a State detective from New Jersey, and since then has been lodged in the Harlem jail. He wrote to Mr. Wiman a few hours after his arrest, and the latter told Justice Welde in the Harlem Court yesterday how his old friend had come to grief.

"We were boys together in Canada," said Mr. Wiman. "He was wealthy and lost his all. He went to New Jersey and began peddling with a team of horses which I gave him, but on which, to satisfy his pride, I took a mortgage. After my failure this mortgage fell into the hands of Joseph Liddell of New Brunswick, Mr. Polly had left New Jersey, and now they arrested him in West Chester."

Polly said that he had left New Jersey and gone to West Chester with the full knowledge of Liddell, and that he regarded his arrest as illegal and an outrage.

Justice Welde said that he believed an injustice had been done. He adjourned the case until to-day. He refused to hold Mr. Polly ten days longer to allow the Jersey detective to get extradition papers.

GLADSTONE'S VISIT TO KIEL.

Ovation to the G.O.M.—He and Bismarck May Meet.

London, June 15.—The Daily News today describes the passage of the River Elbe by the Tantallon Castle. Everybody, it says, seemed to be aware of the steamer's coming. Outward-bound vessels steered close to her, and their crews and passengers thronged the decks to get a glimpse of Mr. Gladstone. Among the vessels that passed the Tantallon Castle was the Hamburg-American liner Fuerst Bismarck. As she passed, her band playing the British national anthem, Mr. Gladstone, who was on the hurricane deck of the Tantallon Castle, took off his hat when he heard the familiar strains of "God Save the Queen." The passengers on the Fuerst Bismarck greeted him with ringing cheers. The Tantallon Castle was moored off Hamburg at 7 o'clock last evening. The piers and embankments were densely crowded with people, who watched the arrival of the steamer. There is some idea of arranging a meeting between Prince Bismarck and Mr. Gladstone, but it is improbable that it will be effected.

A NEW HAMBURG CITIZEN.

Released From Four Months' Imprisonment.

Mr. John Koch, hotelkeeper, New Hamburg, Ont.: "I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism. The last attack commenced last October, and kept me in the house for four months, when two bottles of South American Rheumatic Cure completely cured me. Had I secured the remedy when I first contracted rheumatism, it would have saved me months of pain and suffering."

If you suffer from rheumatism or neuralgia do not delay, but try South American Rheumatic Cure now. It will relieve in a few hours and cure radically in a few days. For sale by L. F. Stelleck. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

BURIED IN THE RUINS.

Four Killed in the Wreck of a Factory by a Boiler Explosion.

Fall River, Mass., June 15.—The worst catastrophe that has visited the city since the Granite Mills fire occurred this morning at the Langley loom harness shop in County-street. A new boiler of the Kendall make exploded in the basement of the two-story wooden building, blowing out the entire end of the building, knocking the supports from the side and allowing the upper floor to settle into a mass of ruins.

There were about fifty persons employed in the shop, the greater portion of this number being women. Four persons were killed, three are missing and four were seriously injured.

The killed were: Lelia Horton, aged 17; Adele Dube, aged 18; Robert Murray, aged 21; Adolph Bellefeuille, aged 39.

Powerful saline and other drastic purgatives should be strictly avoided, except in extreme cases. When an aperient is called for, take Ayer's Pills. They restore natural action by imparting strength and tone to the bowels, and their use is always attended with good results.

WEDDING BELLS.

Celebration of the Frise-Madill Nuptials on Wednesday.

(Lakefield News.)

A very pleasant event took place on Wednesday evening last, when the Rev. W. Limbert united in the holy bonds of matrimony Mr. Richard James Frise, of North Monaghan, formerly of Lakefield and Miss Annie Madill, of Lakefield.

The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. W. Edwards, in the presence of the relatives of the contracting parties.

Miss Lillie Thompson acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. J. Harry Frise, of Brighton.

After the ceremony had been performed a sumptuous wedding repast was served. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents. The happy couple will reside in North Monaghan.

Date of General Election.

When is it to be? This quesion is disturbing the souls of politicians. In view of the material alteration in the commercial policy of the country which would be involved in a change of government it is a matter which concerns the general public. Meanwhile the aching corns of the populace cry for a remedy and the government give no heed to the demand. Look here! don't suffer this neglect to delay the use of means open to all and which removes the most painful and obstinate corns in two days. Painless sure-acting corn cure, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor.

Drowned Fording a Stream.

Sterling, June 15.—W. F. Edwards, while fording the Trent River, was drowned. Several people witnessed the accident, but none could get to him in time to save him.

Saved Himself and His Companion's Body

Collingwood, June 15.—Louis Tuckett and William Brown of Sunnidale were sailing near Lone Tree Island when a squall capsized the boat. For eight hours the men clung to the upturned craft, when Tuckett gave up and Brown tied him to the bowsprit. Twelve hours after the accident Mr. Albion Lavers came upon the men, Brown being alive, but Tuckett had succumbed.

One Fact Counts

For more than a thousand insinuations, inspired by jealousy and defeat.

It is an ADMITTED FACT that Fairweather & Co. ARE the leaders in the Hat trade in Peterborough and Lindsay. The manufacturers recognized this as fully as do our numerous patrons, as well as our "side line" competitors; and therefore do not think of offering us the off-scourings—the "rag-tag and bobtail or commonly called "seconds" of their stocks at any price. These are disposed of to the general country merchants and clothing houses. It would not suit our trade. We must have the most correct styles and qualities.

We got those "Straw Hat" samples, 1100 of them, to clear, worth from

$1.00 to $2.00, our price 75c.
75c to $1.00, our price 50c.
35c to 50c, our price 25c.

A good name is better than riches, even if it be only in a Stiff Hat, and especially if you control it.

Christy & Co. of London, England, are admitted to be the best makers of Stiff Hats the world over. No other house in Peterborough have their goods, as we are their SOLE agents here. The name "Christy Hat" is given by people who do not know the difference between a Stiff Hat of any kind. But this is a misnomer, and only goes to show how much the ordinary clothier knows about the hot weather.

Our prices for genuine Christy & Co's Hats are 99c, for all wool grades, and $1.99 for all fur qualities. This offer is made to clear.

The moral is: Come where you get the best Hats made by standard makers at the price of ordinary qualities. Do not be "bamboozled," but come to

JOBBERY AND WASTE

Unparalled in Any Civilized Country.

THIS THE CONSERVATIVE RECORD

Not Only Is the Government Wilfully Wasteful of the Overburdened Taxpayers' Money, But Has Been a Party to a Series of Jobs and Steals.

Ottawa, June 17.—As if an annual expenditure of $40,000,000, a public debt of $250,000,000, a deficit, actual and anticipated, of $6,000,000 and a yearly tax bill of $60,000,000, of which but $20,000,000 goes into the Treasury were not sufficiently appalling, the Government goes on with the riot of extravagance that has characterised its administration since it assumed the reins of power sixteen years ago. The Minister of Finance has a habit when addressing public audiences of challenging his critics to point to any particular item in the accounts that will sustain the charge, knowing that on a partisan platform he is safe for the time being in making the boastful assertions with which his public utterances are filled. He never issues such a challenge on the floor of the House of Commons, for he knows well that there is an abundance of evidence available to convict the Government of the most reckless extravagance, and no end of able critics to present it. What is the use of Mr. Foster talking about economy, when his every word is contradicted by facts now on record? A few instances of the manner in which the people have been robbed will show that not only has the Government been extravagant, but that it has been a party to a series of jobs for which it would be difficult to find a parallel in any civilised country.

The Government has thrown away on Tupper's "Dear Onderdonk," $1,118,000; on the Tay Canal, familiarly known as "Haggart's Ditch," $476,000; on the Caraquet Railway $240,000; on Little Rapids Lock—a useless work which has no traffic and yields no revenue, $124,000; on the Galops Rapids Channel, which shipping men will not use because of its danger, $800,000; dredging wet basin—contrary to terms of contract, $22,500; allowed to be stolen in connection with the Quebec Harbor Commission, over $1,000,000; in connection with the Levis Graving Dock, $139,000; the Cross Wall contract, $92,000; Esquimalt Graving Dock, $207,000; Curran Bridge, over $280,000; paid the "Hard Pan" claimants, to which they had no legal right, $272,000; Harris Land Job at St. John's, $100,000; Sheik's Island Dam, $125,000; St. Mary's Bridge, Fredericton, $372,000; Langevin Block, cost less than $500,000, and for which over $781,000 was paid—$281,000, and there is an outstanding claim of about $250,000; wasted, stolen or boodled on the St. Charles Branch of the Intercolonial Railway, $1,500,000. These items, not adding up standing claims on the Langevin Block, amount to over $7,000,000. Then there was the liquor commissioner, $90,000, for the purpose of shirking and putting to one side the prohibition question.

In the face of this amount of money wasted, boodled or stolen, Mr. Foster dares to tell the people that their affairs have been economically managed. The week in Parliament has afforded additional evidence of the fact that the Government is absolutely careless of the interests of the people in the expenditure of their hard-earned moneys. No one finds fault with the Government for having given the late Sir John Thompson a state funeral, for whatever differences of opinion there may have been as to the political views of the late Premier, as a distinguished Canadian statesman he was honored and respected. But that the Government should have taken advantage of the occasion to throw away thousands of dollars needlessly and recklessly is a matter that cannot but be deplored by every good citizen. The British Government bore the expense of transporting the remains of the dead Premier to Halifax, and all that remained for the Canadian Government to do was to prepare for the funeral ceremony and the interment at Halifax. Yet for this the Government spent the enormous sum of $25,000. The funeral of the late Sir John Macdonald only cost $9000, while that of the late Sir George Cartier cost but $10,000, and no one will say that either of these statesmen was less sincerely mourned by the people of Canada than he whose life went out so tragically midst the glories of Windsor Castle. The Opposition members would have much preferred to have allowed the vote for the funeral expenses to pass in silence, but, in view of the utter disregard of the public interest that had marked the occasion, they could not consent to the passage of the item without protest. Some of the charges in the accounts are nothing short of scandalous. Over 35,000 yards of black cloth, with which the streets of Halifax were draped—equal to over 20 miles in length—were charged against the country. The decoration of St. Mary's Mary's Cathedral, Halifax, cost $8771. Another item is $533 for lighting the provincial building for a few nights. The flowers cost $1925. The undertaker and his assistants for simply opening the casket got $10. For removing the casket from the provincial buildings to the residence of John Pugh, in Halifax, and returning it to the provincial buildings the undertaker and his 10 assistants charged $100. The charge for remodelling two wagons for conveying flowers and wreaths was $125, which is considerably more than the wagons themselves would be worth. For repainting one wagon a charge of $80 is made. The state funeral car cost $1500. Here are some sample items: Fourteen pairs of new knee boots for the untertakers, $49; 14 black cloth overcoats, $280; 14 black hats, $56. The chief undertaker got $25 a day, and his assistants $10 each a day. The Opposition was justified in dividing the House on this item, particularly in view of the statement of the Minister of Public Works, that the tradesmen who had supplied wares and services had extorted from 50 to 75 per cent. more from the Government than market prices.

Another evidence of the manner in which the money of the taxpayers is thrown away, if indeed any more evidence were required to sustain the charge which Mr. Foster has time and again denied, is the bill of Mr. George R. R. Cockburn, M.P., who went to Chicago as the Commissioner of the Canadian Government. If any one doubts that he had a pleasant summer at the expense of the Canadian people, let him read his account of personal expenses, which has been brought down in detail before the Public Accounts Committee. Below the total expenditure is given, with a few extracts from the bill:

World's Columbian Exhibition, Chicago.
George R. R. Cockburn, Commissioner, 1893:

April 28 and 29, expenses from Toronto to Ottawa and return	$ 20 00
May 22 and 29, expenses, Toronto to Chicago, and while there and return, hotel bill $80.70	79 74
May 31, June 2, expenses Toronto to Ottawa, thence to Montreal to meet Hon. Mr. Angers and Mr. Tasse	47 40
June 10, Nov. 4, 148 days, including extra supplies for Canadian Pavilion, cabs, railway fares, porterage, exhibition entrances, extra dinners, etc., express charges, cigars for pavilion, etc.	957 06
	$ 1,104 22
Hotel bills, as vouchers	$ 3,320 78
Total	$ 3,320 00

I hereby certify that the item of expenditure of $957.08, for which I have no vouchers, was wholly for the service of the Commissioner in connection with the pavilion during the Columbian Exposition, in the particulars stated.

THE KHAN'S SON IS INSOLENT.

Preferred Lying in Bed to Keeping a Public Engagement

Glasgow, June 15.—All arrangements were made for the Afghan Prince, Nazrulla Khan, to visit and inspect the thread works of J. & P. Coats & Co., at Paisley, and the shipbuilding yards in the Clyde to-day, but this morning Nazrulla positively refused to leave his bed in his hotel when he was aroused and informed that everything was in readiness for his coming. An elaborate luncheon had been prepared, and a large number of notable persons who had been invited, with the corporation officials, were awaiting the arrival of the Prince, when they were notified that he was still in bed. A deputation of guests and officials proceeded to the hotel, and finally induced his barbaric highness to get up and keep his engagement to inspect the shipbuilding yards, which he did. The hour being so late the visit to the thread works was not made.

Nazrulla acted in a similar manner in Liverpool, when he kept the guests waiting two hours on the occasion of his inspection of the electric railway in that city. The visit of the Afghan Prince has cost the English and Indian taxpayers £50,000, but Nazrulla's only generosity since his arrival in Great Britain has been a donation of £5,000 to the Moslem mosque in Liverpool.

FATALITY AT A FUNERAL.

Eleven People Killed by Collapse of a Platform

Rome, Mich., June 14.—At a funeral in the town of Rovigo to-day about 100 persons were standing upon a platform upon which the body had been placed, pending the religious services, when the structure gave way, throwing everybody to the ground, with the coffin. Eleven men and women were killed, and 20 others were injured.

FINED $50 AND COSTS.

Buffalo Garbage Dumpers Get the Same Dose as the Detroit Men.

International Bridge, Ont., June 15.—The three men arrested for dumping filth in Niagara River were brought before John T. James, Reeve, and John Bethune, J.P., charged with an infraction of the Public Health Act and pleaded guilty and were fined $50 and costs each and the fines and costs were paid by Mr. F. C. Hibbard, one of the owners of the scows. F.C. Hibbard was also fined for an infraction of the same act and his fine was forthwith paid. A bond was entered into by the offending dredging company, binding themselves under a heavy penalty not to commit the offence again. The tug and scows were seized by the collector of customs for breaking bulk in Canadian waters and he is awaiting instructions from Ottawa.

The Ottawa authorities have imposed a fine of $4500, being half the value of the tug and scows.

TURKEY CAVES IN.

An Amended and Satisfactory Reply Handed to the Powers.

Constantinople, June 16.—The Sultan, learning that the British Cabinet had met to consider Turkey's reply to the plan of reform in Armenia, submitted by Great Britain, France and Russia yesterday, telegraphed to Rustem Pasha, the Turkish Ambassador in London, instructing him to ask the Earl of Kimberley, British Foreign Minister, to postpone a decision in the matter. The Earl of Kimberley acceded to the request. In the meanwhile it is stated that the Porte yesterday handed to the British, French and Russian ambassadors a fresh and satisfactory reply acceding to the principle of control by the powers, but asking that the period be limited to three years.

ST. LOUIS A FREE MAN.

The Grand Jury Returns "No Bill" in His Case.

Montreal, June 15.—Emanuel St. Louis is perhaps the happiest man in this city to-day, the grand jury having, after examining a large number of witnesses in the Curran bridge case, decided that it was not one wherein the contractor in question could be indicted. Consequently "no bill" was the finding of the grand jury.

Liberals Lose Inverness.

London, June 16.—The result of the bye-election in Inverneshire, held to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the resignation of Mr. Donald McGregor, Liberal, was announced late yesterday. The Liberals have lost the constituency, the vote standing: Mr. Baillie, Unionist, 3164; Mr. Macrae, Liberal, 2514.

William O'Brien's martyrdom is complete. He has ceased to be a member of Parliament, and in due course of law his seat for Cork will be declared vacant. The prospect is far from pleasing to the Government, because a hot election fight in Cork means the absence of a few of their Nationalist allies from Westminster, with consequent loss of votes, because the Tories refuse to pair with them. It is presumed, therefore, that the issue of the writ will be delayed as long as possible, thus postponing the most interesting electoral struggle in Ireland since Parnell contested Kilkenny in this respect. Its honest citizens are spoiling for a fight, and it seems a pit to defer their happiness in deference to paltry considerations of political expediency.

In Memoriam Frederick III.

Berlin, June 15.—To-day, the seventh anniversary of the death of the Emperor's father, Frederick III., the Kaiser paid a visit to the dead monarch's tomb and laid upon it a huge wreath of white roses. The Emperor, who was alone, knelt by the side of his dead father's tomb and spent a quarter of an hour in prayer. After his departure an almost countless number of floral offerings were received and placed upon the dead Emperor's grave.

Tragic Ending of a Playful Duel.

Philadelphia, June 17.—A duel with rifles between two young members of the Third Regiment National Guard of Pennsylvania occurred Saturday, with playful intentions, but had tragic ending, for one rifle proved to be loaded with ball cartridge, and its discharge blew out the brains of Robert Cummings, aged 19 years.

Took Carbolic Acid in Ice Cream.

Buffalo, June 16.—George Hettrich, a 20-year-old son of Leonard Hettrich, a paving contractor, attempted suicide in a room at the Tift House to-da. He took half an ounce of carbolic acid in a glass of ice cream. The cream acted as an antidote, and the man will recover. A lovers' quarrel was the cause.

A Mount Forest Planing Mill.

Mount Forest, Ont., June 16.—Fire in the planing mill owned by G. Scott, destroyed the building together with lumber and machinery. Loss $3000.

$15000 Loss at Kohler.

Cayuga, June 15.—The planing mill and machine shop belonging to Mr. Joseph Shurr of the village of Kohler was completely destroyed by fire yesterday. Total loss about $5000. No insurance.

Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, JUNE 17, 1895.

THE Toronto Evening News points out that while Laurier, Mills and Cartwright voted for Mulock's anti-pass bill, not a single member of the Government did the same.

THE Pan-American Congress of Religion and Education will be held in Toronto July 18th to 25th. The programme embraces addresses and discussions upon almost every possible general topic of religious, social and educational affairs by the most distinguished theologians, educationalists and thinkers of the continent. Every religious denomination and cult will be represented.

UNDER the head of legislation the people of Canada last year were billed for $52.50 for glasses, $5.50 for table covers, $2.40 for pillow cases, $130 for attendance at dinners, $19.57 for soup tureens, $12 for ice cream, $838.59 for pearl knives, $4.25 for nail brushes, and $8.74 for one crumb tray and saucer. After running over these and hundreds of similar items in the report of the Auditor-General one is led, the News thinks, to wonder if members of Parliament ever by chance pay for anything out of their own pockets while at Ottawa.

THE public is anxious, says the Toronto Star, to know and should immediately be informed of the Government's explanation of the cause of the enormous increase in the contracts on the Soo Canal.

The evidence at the Public Accounts Committee gives all the transactions a suspicious appearance and it looks as though the Dominion Government could undertake no enterprise in the form of Public Works which was not accompanied with corruption and dishonesty.

If the transactions in connection with this enterprise are not as corrupt as those in connection with some other of the Government's works, then the appearances so far are exceedingly misleading.

THE CHEESE MARKETS.

(Globe of Saturday.)

The tone of the cheese markets this week is easier and some are looking for slightly lower prices. Buyers and sellers are apart. There was an advance in the price of old cheese in Liverpool this week. The stocks in London amount to some 80,000 boxes, so that English buyers are not very anxious to purchase. Reports from Utica are that such buyers as have been through the country at all back up the statements of salesmen to the effect that grass is thin, pasture is poor, cows are getting short rations, with no extra feed in the barn and there is bound to be a short hay crop this season. Cows have already done their best and are going back instead of improving or holding their own. It is understood that some buyers are taking cheese to hold in the belief that it has seen its lowest notch and must advance before a great while. In New York receipts are large and in generally better condition than last week, and with the higher cost in the country most holders are firm in their views, and some indifferent to hold until later in hopes of doing better, and some lots have gone into cold storage.

CROP REPORTS.

The Toronto Globe has been collecting collecting crop reports from the various counties. Concerning Peterborough the report is that the general impression from this district is the crops have escaped the recent frost very well, and little or no damage has been done. For the want of rain hay will be light, and on old meadows very thin. Fall wheat looks well and is shot out, and will be a good average. Very little spring wheat has been sown, but what has is looking well. The principal grains sown appear to be oats, peas and barley, which all from present prospects promise a good yield. Straw will be short. Alsike clover will be short but good. Fruits appear to be coming up well, and will be a good if not a little better than an average crop.

The Victoria farmers say that the crops in that vicinity promise a very large yield. Wheat, oats, peas, rye and barley will be large crops, but hay will be light. The late frost does not appear to have done any damage, and farmers are jubilant over the prospects. Fruits are doing well, and, with the exception of plums, will yield well.

Byron used a great deal of hairdressing, but was very particular to have only the best to be found in the market. If Ayer's Hair Vigor had been obtainable then, doubtless he would have tested its merits, as so many distinguished and fashionable people are doing now-a-days.

THE SUBURBAN HANDICAP.

Won by Lazarone With Sir Walter Second —Domino Also Ran.

Sheepshead Bay, June 15.—The 12th Suburban Handicap was won by Lazarone at Sheepshead Bay to-day in the presence of 15,000 spectators. As a matter of course, the victory was not a popular one. An outsider seldom gets the goodwill of the spectators. Domino, the 10 to 1 favorite, failed at the distance, and finished fourth. Lazarone's victory was too thrilling a reversal of form to gain popular approval. Summaries: First race, sweepstakes, for 3-year-olds and upwards five furlongs—The Butterflies, 109, Griffin, 9 to 5, 1; Rey Del Carceres, 114, Doggett, 4 to 1, 2; Ridicule, 109, Penn, 8 to 1, 3. Time 59 4-5. Gotham, Jack of Spades and Gold Dollar also ran.

Second race, sweepstakes, for 3-year-olds, 1 mile—Monaco, 105, Hamilton, 8 to 5, 1; Doggett, 105, Doggett, 15 to 1, 2. The Swain, 105, Penn, 15 to 1, 3. Time 1.42. Savilla, Manchester, April Fool, Hailstone, Lonsdale, King Michael and El Capitan also ran.

Third race, the double event, sweepstakes, for 2-year-olds, 5 1-2 furlongs—Handspring, 125, Doggett, 5 to 1, 1; Applegate, 125, McCafferty, 6 to 5, 2; Haslet, 118, Griffin, 2 to 1, 3. Time 1.06 2-5. Jefferson, Lavienta, Defender and Refuge also ran.

Fourth race, the Suburban Handicap, handicap sweepstakes of $100 each, with $5000 added, 1 1-4 miles—Lazarone, 115, Hamilton, 10 to 1, 1; Sir Walter, 126, Doggett, 6 to 1, 2; Song and Dance, 103, Griffin, 10 to 1, 3. Time 2.07 4-5. Domino, Declare and Rubicon also ran.

Fifth race, maiden race, No. 1, sweepstakes, for 2-year-old maidens, 1-2 mile—Hastings, 118, Griffin, 5 to 2, 1; Honolulu, 115, McClain, 6 to 1, 2; Radnor, 115, Lamley, 20 to 1, 3. Time 48. Diaka, Tenderness, Yankee Doodle, Lorania, Forun, Nantucket, Horace, Davis, Castleton, Gismonda and Rehan also ran.

Sixth race, for 3-year-olds and upwards, selling, 1 1-16, on turf—Long Beach, 109, Doggett, 4 to 1, 1; Captain T., 105, Sheedy, 2 to 1, 2; Chiswick, 103, Penn, 5 to 1, 3. Time 1.47 1-5. Assignee, Ajar, Tom Skidmore and Salonica also ran.

The Canadian Jockey Club.

Montreal, June 15.—The newly formed Canadian Jockey Club met here this morning, Mr. William Hendrie of Hamilton presiding. The other gentlemen present were: Messrs. H. Montagu Allan, J. O'Brien, J. H. Warlow, J. White and Dr. A. Smith, Toronto. The meeting approved of the committee's decision to apply for incorporation, and the arrangements of the bylaws were left to a committee composed of members of the Toronto, Hamilton and Windsor Jockey Clubs, which rules will be finally approved of by Bel-Air, Montreal Hunt and Quebec Turf Clubs and adopted.

Brooklyn Jockey Club Cleared Over $15,000

New York, June 15.—When the trial balance of the Brooklyn Jockey Club was struck on Saturday night it showed that in gate receipts the association was $15,000 to the good on the current meeting. This was exclusive of all revenues from privileges, such as restaurant, bar, cigars, programs, etc., "which," President Dwyer said, "amount to practically nothing at all this year." This nothing is about $7000 for the meetiug, and there is no less than $10,000 coming from the telegraph privilege. From all sources, then, the club was ahead at least $30,000 on Saturday night. Yesterday it gave away in purses about $2400. Mr. Dwyer figured it out that the state will receive about $3000 in taxes from the spring meeting. Last year it received over $18,000.

"I am very glad to get out so well," Mr. Dwyer said to the writer. "I expected to lose money on the meeting. But we shall make a few dollars, or at least break even. I should always be content to get 20 per cent. for my stockholders, as we did in former years. In the fall I intend to reduce purses considerably. We are going to have a hard game, and must economise in every direction in order to survive the famine."

Caps Defeats the Shamrocks

Ottawa, Ont., June 15.—The Capitals won their first game here to-day in the Senior League by seven games, the Shamrocks 4. The game was well contested throughout, and some brilliant lacrosse was put up by both teams. The Capitals had all their best men, while the Shamrocks were short of Wall on the home and had to replace him by Hinton.

18,000 Wheelmen on Parade.

Brooklyn, June 15.—The greatest bicycle parade the world has ever seen will start this afternoon at Bedford-avenue and Eastern Parkway. The Good Roads Association of Brooklyn will have charge of the affair, assisted by the New York State Division, L.A.W. The clubs entered for this ride represent 18,000 wheelmen in the state, most of whom live in New York and this city, and fully 12,000 riders, men and women, will be in line.

Lole Fuller Pumped Out.

Edinburgh, June 16.—Miss Lole Fuller, who is performing in this city, had a narrow escape from death esterday. Her mother gave her a dose of what she thought was spirits of nitre. In a short time Miss Fuller became insensible, and a doctor was summoned. Investigation showed that instead of spirits of nitre Miss Fuller had been given cocaine. She was taken to an infirmary where a stomach pump was applied. She recovered.

BOTH MEN TO HANG

Hendershott and Welter Must Pay the Penalty.

WELTER CONFESSES THE CRIME

The Decision Reached at the Cabinet Meeting on Saturday—The Information Conveyed to the Condemned Men by Their Counsel—How They Received the News.

Ottawa, June 17.—At the Cabinet meeting on Saturday morning the case of Hendershott and Welter, convicted of the murder of W. H. Hendershott at St. Thomas, on Dec. 14, 1894, was under its consideration. All the facts and evidence were thoroughly reviewed by the Minister of Justice, and the decision reached was that the law must take its course, so that next Tuesday the two men will be hanged at St. Thomas.

Since Miss Hendershott and Mrs. Boughner were here, a statement alleging to throw new light on the case was sent to the Department, but it was mere hearsay and did not affect the evidence one iota.

The chief point upon which the case has turned and which undoubtedly largely contributed to send the two men to the gallows is the fact that on the very day the murder took place, and when the elder Hendershott was 20 miles away from the scene, when news reached him of the death of young Hendershott, he used the same language as Welter did, as to the cause of death, viz.: That when the tree fell, young Hendershott was endeavoring to save his watch, and the tree struck him. Both prisoners advancing the same reason, although they were many miles apart, and had no opportunity to communicate with each other, is held to point conclusively to the guilt of the prisoners.

The minute of Council embodying the decision of the Cabinet was forwarded to Quebec by the afternoon mail. It is expected that His Excellency's Secretary will telegraph to Ottawa Monday morning, signifying that the minute has been signed, whereupon the State Department will formally notify the Sheriff of Elgin County. A preliminary message went to that officer Saturday notifing him to continue the preparations for the double execution.

St. Thomas, June 17.—The first person to apprise the condemned men Hendershott and Welter of the decision of the Cabinet was their legal adviser, Norman Macdonald, who has worked so faithfully in their behalf since their arrest. The first intimation to Mr. Macdonald, who has all along stoutly maintained that sentences of accused would be commuted, was the special despatch published in The Times at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Welter apparently received the information with stolid indifference, and except for the cold perspiration which moistened his hands as he grasped that of his friend and adviser, and a short gasp, which escaped in spite of his efforts to maintain a calm composure, he in no way gave evidence of the terrible struggle which must have been going on with him. After a moment he asked to be allowed to see his sisters, Mrs. Boughner of St. Thomas and Mrs. Lamont of Buffalo, who were afterwards admitted. Welter asked his lawyer if it was true that Mary Hendershott and Charlie Welter had been arrested in connection with the murder, and if Detective Murray was in the city. Being informed that this rumor had probably been placed in circulation with the object of extorting a confession from him or Hendershott, Welter replied that if that was the case "they have got hold of the wrong nigger." Mr. Macdonald pressed upon the condemned man to consider his position and make preparation for the end. In talking with him he said, "Be brave, and if you have to die, die like a man." Welter replied, "You can trust me for that."

Hendershott was deeply absorbed in his Bible as Mr. Macdonald skipped across the corridor and confided to him the fatal information. Although he was not unprepared for the news, having in part heard the conversation between Welter and the lawyer, he was much more overcome. "My God," he said, "it's an awful position to be placed in." "Yes," answered Mr. Macdonald, "death is awful in any form, but there is little material difference whether we die to-day, or twenty years hence," and jocularly, "There are many people to-day who would gladly exchange positions with you." Hendershott tried to smile, as he said, "I would like you to produce some of them, and I would trade positions with them mighty quick." After a moment the condemned man recovered his composure and listened attentively to the words of his counsel, and promised to bear up at the last moment. He asked to be allowed to see his daughter, but his request was refused by the jail authorities.

After a few parting words Mr. Macdonald left him, and drove to Mrs. Boughner's, where he informed the relatives of the newspaper despatches which had been received, and although he had not received any official notice himself he feared that any further hope must be banished. The news came to Mrs. Boughner with a crushing force. She at once fell into a swoon, from which she could not be revived until a physician was summoned. Other members of the family, Mrs. Hendershott, Mrs. Welter and Mrs. Lamonte, were not so deeply affected.

Radclive has completed the erection of the scaffold, and spent Sunday at Port Stanley.

An Alleged Confession.

St. Thomas, Ont., June 17.—For some time past rumors of confessions from Hendershott and Welter have been current, but the climax was reached this morning, when William David Welter made a confession or statement to Crown Attorney Donahue and Rev. D. Spencer.

Welter stated that the deed was committed by a prominent farmer in West Elgin, and he, Welter, was present, but that Hendershott was not and did not know anything of the crime.

Welter says the reason why he did not tell this before was that the man who committed the murder threatened to kill him if he told. Your correspondent saw Mr. Donahue at 2 a.m., but he declined to state the name of the third party implicated, or for what motives the crime was committed. Mr. Donahue will send the statement to Ottawa this morning but no reliance is placed on it here.

EXHUMED THE BODY.

Suspicious Circumstances Connected With the Death of a Colborne Woman Who May Have Been Poisoned.

Toronto, June 17.—Chief Detective Murray has returned from Colborne, where he investigated a suspicious case. A man named Foote, aged about 30, was a farm laborer for a Mr. Ainsley, in Camby Township, half way between Colborne and Brighton. Living as Foote's wife for 12 years was a Mrs. Nelson, 15 years his senior. In the same locality lived one Pilkey and Wife. Pilkey disappeared last spring and the woman, who was aged 26, went to keep house for a man named Spencer. Foote met her at Trenton on May 10, and it was arranged between them that she should go to Foote's home and take up her residence there—a proceeding which was carried out, and which did not contribute to the peace of mind of Mrs. Nelson.

Mrs. Pilkey arrived at the Foote house on May 17. Next day word was sent to Foote where he was working that his wife was ill, but he, it is said, remarked that he could do her no good, and refused to go home. Finally he was persuaded, and Mr. Ainsley went to the house subsequently. Mrs. Nelson was in great agony, retching and moaning with pains in her stomach. Foote declined to go for a doctor, but Ainsley finally persuaded him to go. Just then, it is said, the Pilkey woman urged him not to go and he did not. Later in the day they borrowed straps from a neighbor to tie the suffering woman to her bed. On Sunday she died, and Dr. Richard Thorburn, who was called in to grant a certificate, but as the coroner and Crown Attorney were away from home, and no one troubled further, there was no inquest, and the township officials buried the body.

Foote attended the funeral and borrowed a pair of boots from a young man named Simpson to wear at it. The same night he boarded up the house and he and the Pilkey woman moved away. While Detective Murray was at Cobourg in connection with an incendiary case, the facts were laid before him by County Crown Attorney Kerr. Murray had the body of the Nelson woman exhumed, and a postmortem conducted by Drs. Thorburn and Stinson, after which the officer brought the viscera to Toronto and left it with Prof. Ellis to be analysed. A package of sugar lead was found in the house, and it is suspected some of this may have been given the woman. Foote is under arrest.

BOILED HER BABY.

A Montreal Woman's Peculiar Remedy for Epileptic Fits.

Montreal, June 16.—Yesterday a woman living on Lagauchetiere-street brought her little 1-year-old child to the hospital suffering from severe burns about the body. She said that the child had taken a fit, and she understood that hot water was a cure. She filled a tin pail with cold water, put the child in it and set it on the stove to heat. The bottom of the tin became hot before the water started to heat, and the child was very badly burned. The infant will recover.

POISONED BY PILLS.

Death of a Baby at Three Rivers From Eating Quinine Pills.

Three Rivers, Que., June 16.—Some two years ago a Trifluvian doctor prescribed some compound quinine pills for a sick lady named Mrs. Landry. The lady, dying shortly after, left some of the pills in the box, which, apparently, was left lying around. Friday morning a 2-year-old child of the house found the box of pills and took some of them. A doctor was called in, but the boy died.

In Avoiding One Death Met Another.

Brantford, Ont., June 17.—Richard Rice, a 10-year-old boy, was on the Grand Trunk Railway bridge Saturday when a train crossed. In stepping off the track to avoid the train he slipped into the river and was drowned.

From His Schooner to Death.

Kingston, June 17.—Robert Rankin of Port Hope, captain of the schooner Fleetwing, while engaged hauling a bucket of water from the lake Saturday, fell overboard and was drowned.

Drowned in the Rideau.

Ottawa, June 16.—E. H. Lauthier, assistant at the swing bridge of the C.P.R. over the Rideau Canal, near the Experimental Farm, was drowned last evening.

CROPS PROMISE WELL.

But Fruits Will Be Poor Owing to the Frost.

Toronto, Ont., June 15.—Crop report received from all parts of in Ontario yesterday show that grain on the whole is well advanced, and was not materially affected by the frost. The want of rain has greatly affected the hay crop, which will be light, except on low-lying land. The pastures are dried up. Fall wheat is heading out well and promises an average crop. Spring grains are suffering from want of moisture, and straw will be short, and unless rain comes soon crops will not be up to the average. Rye is generally good, oats better than the average, corn looks promising, except in a few sections, and barley will be barely an average crop. From all points comes the statement: "Fruits badly damaged by frosts." The crop of early apples will be light. Plums are killed in many sections, while grapes and small fruits will amount to practically nothing, except in odd sections.

The Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Appplied to Married Life.

Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure The Wonderful Little Book Called

"COMPLETE MANHOOD And How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would no bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the KRIK MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

EYES TO SEE AND SEE NOT

That is the case with many people. They need spectacles, and the strange part of it is the same folks never know how bad their eyes are until they have them tested. Have been going through life without seeing as much as they ought to see—perhaps suffering from headaches and tired eyes.

If you will call at Sanderson's Jewellery Store, George street, your eyes will be examined free of charge. If you need Glasses they will be supplied at a reasonable price. Do not neglect this matter and so be like those who have EARS TO HEAR AND HEAR NOT.

The Steamer "Golden City."

The steamer "Golden City" has commenced regular summer trips from Lakefield to the back lakes. Mr. Reynolds has put his popular steamboat in good running order for the season. During the winter she received a thorough overhauling and stiffening, a new coat of paint and other improvements. The management will be the same as last season, and cottagers, campers and excursionists may rely on prompt and obliging accommodation. The "Golden City" has already been booked for a number of private and public excursions, and the outlook for a successful season is good.

Sudden Death of Mr. John W. Flannery

The funeral of Mr. John W. Flannery took place from his late residence this afternoon to the Little Lake cemetery, under the auspices of the local courts of the Canadian Order of Foresters. Mr. Flannery leaves a wife and five children to mourn his sudden death, after an illness of only a few days. The deceased has been a member of the C. O. F. for but two months, having joined Court Littlejohn upon the occasion of the visit of the High Chief Ranger here recently, yet his widow and children will receive his insurance, amounting to $1,000, and the entire expenses of the funeral will also be paid by the Order.

Badly Kicked by a Horse

Mr. William Calvert, of Ennismore, is going around limping to-day, with his arm done up in a sling and his face ornamented with sticking plaster. He was the victim of an accident yesterday which very nearly cost him his life. He was driving in the vicinity of Jackson Park, when for some unknown reason his horse began to kick with such energy that the bottom of the buggy soon fell out and its occupant becoming tangled up in the reins was subjected to several severe kicks, before the spectators succeeded in subduing the horse. The injuries received rendered Mr. Calvert insensible for a time, but with the exception of a badly wrenched arm and a number of nasty flesh wounds, he fortunately escaped any very serious injury

THE BRITISH WHIG.

The Finest Special Edition Ever Issued in Canada.

The Kingston Whig, one of the oldest, yet one of the most vigorous, of the newspapers of Canada, signalized the occupancy of splendid new buildings as well as its sixty first anniversary, by issuing a magnificent souvenir edition, which is without doubt the best ever issued in Canada. It is 20-page royal size and is a masterpiece of design, scope, typography and press work, illustration and all that goes to make, what the EXAMINER is glad to describe the finest special edition of any journal either news or class—that has ever entered this sanctum. From the title page, a comprehensive and patriotic design, to the last page, it bears the impression of first-class brain work and mechanical skill. The Whig was established in 1834, and, as one of our oldest newspapers, has a fitting home in one of the oldest and most historically interesting cities of the Dominion. And this fact is brought out in the issue before us; we have pictures and descriptive letterpress of buildings upon whose walls and roofs have beaten the storms of over a century; we have pictures of Kingston from its early days—from Abbe Foillion's map of Fort Frontenac 208 years ago, and at later but even hoary stages—down to the present day. The present day pictures of Kingston represent the chief features of her industrial, commercial, religious, educational and military activity. The most charming of the illustrations are those pertaining to the scenery in and around Kingston, which one beautiful allegorical picture designates as "The Gateway to the St. Lawrence, Thousand Islands, the Bay of Quinte, the Rideau and the Upper Ottawa —Canada's picturesque resorts and commercial avenues." All these illustrations are beautifully printed with the perfection of a photograph; they are about 250 in number, not including the individual parts of group scenes, and are the finest collection of pictures ever presented in any edition of a Canadian newspaper, and might, without undue assurance, challenge world-wide competition. This is strong language, but it is a pleasure to speak well of a good thing, and the Special Anniversary Number of the Whig is a good thing. It is not only a gem, but a cluster of gems, and Mr. Pense, the proprietor, and his staff, the city of Kingston, the Canadian art typographical and Canada have just reason to be proud of it. The EXAMINER gives its most cordial congratulations on this interesting occasion.

—Livery turnouts were at a premium yesterday.

—Mr. Ford is laying a new water main from the chapel south to section "Q," in the cemetery.

—Canoeists are enjoying the Little Lake and river these evenings. Scores of them are out every evening.

—The country roads are inches deep in dust, which the breeze of yesterday blew in every direction.

—The road to Chemong has been newly gravelled, but a path on either side has been left for the wheelsmen.

—Some of the citizens availed themselves of the fine weather yesteaday and drove to Lakefield or Chemong in the afternoon or evening.

—In the year ending June 15th, 1894, there were 99 interments in the Little Lake Cemetery, and the following year there were 72 interments.

—The grass at the Little Lake Cemetery is in a somewhat parched condition, showing plainly the need of a better system of waterworks on the premises.

—The Canadian General Electric Co. shipped to-day two fine open trolleys to Kingston, for the street railway of that city. Both had four-wheeled trucks at each end.

—The Queen's Hotel, Lakefield, has had new floors laid, and other internal improvements made to the premises. Mr. Munro prides himself in always keeping a well-regulated house.

—Murder will out, but the man that smokes good 10 cent Sir Robert Peel Cigars for 5 cents will never be caught. The only place in town where they can be got is at Billy Morgan's.

"WALKERFIELD" IS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

MR. GEO. W. HATTON'S BEAUTIFUL RESIDENCE IN RUINS.

The Handsome Property a Sacrifice to the Flames—Good Work of the Fire Brigade—Lack of Water on the Premises—A Defective Chimney the Probable Cause.

The alarm of fire called the brigade to "Walkerfield," the residence of Mr. Geo. W. Hatton, in the extreme west end of the town at half past eleven this morning.

When the hose waggon arrived on the scene a small spiral of smoke was curling up from the eaves of the rear portion of the house and the fire looked very insignificant, but though it had not acquired any great headway, it was nevertheless an awkward one to cope with, being situated over the kitchen between the ceilings of the upper story and the roof.

Asst. Chief Craig quickly chopped a couple of great gaping holes in the roof and a bucket brigade being formed water was in pailfuls, but the flames bursting out in different places through the eaves were soon beyond control. A steady stream from the hose would have checked further damage, but the water as dashed on the fire by bucketfuls appeared only to feed the flames, which were fanned by a stiff south-west breeze.

It was very soon apparent that the magnificent residence was doomed and the firemen and citizens who had gathered were passed the word to carry out the furniture. The work was done most systematically and everything movable was carried out with the greatest despatch. In an hour from the sounding of the alarm the furniture had been cleared out of the house from top to bottom. Everything was taken out, not even the carpets, steam fittings or window blinds being left. Great difficulty was experienced in the removal of the billiard table. Weighing almost half a ton, it took a whole bevy of men to even move it from its position in a room on the second storey. At the top of the staircase the legs were removed and the massive concern ploughed its way unguided down the stairs, carrying away the balusters in its descent. It was then safely gotten out.

In the meantime the fire had been

and from the garret of the kitchen wing had worked its way up the roof of the main building, and, as the last of the furniture was removed, the upper stories of the house began to get uncomfortably warm and in places the fire worked its way through the ceilings and sparks dropped through into the rooms below, which were soon enveloped in flames, sending out long tongues of living fire in every direction.

The firemen and citizens are deserving of the greatest credit for the way in which they worked to keep the flames in check, in order to prevent the ignition of the valuable stables. They were fortunately assisted by the wind blowing from the stables.

The ruins were still blazing late in the afternoon.

Although the origin of the fire is somewhat a mystery, it is in generally attributed to a defective chimney in the rear portion of the house, as the flames most certainly originated in the interior. Had the water works been available the house could have been saved, but the nearest hydrant for connection and one of the handsomest residences in the county was sacrificed.

The house was erected about 30 or 35 years ago by the late Rev. John Gilmour and is known as "Walkerfield," and was worth about $5,000 or probably more and was insured in the North British and Mechantile through Messrs. Cox & Davis, to the amount $3,350.

The contents of the house were insured in the Liverpool, London & Globe Co., through Mr. W. H. Cluxton for $1,500. The loss is hard to estimate as the furniture and fittings were all damaged to a considerable extent in their hasty removal.

A most unfortunate accident occurred just as the hose waggon swept up the avenue with the horses at full gallop, whereby driver Ernest Lawrence was knocked from his seat by the low-hanging branches of a tree. He was picked up in a dazed condition by several of the firemen, and placed in the shade, while medical aid was summoned. Dr. Boucher on arriving found that the branch had torn the skin from Laurence's neck in such a manner as to cause a most painful though not a dangerous wound. It is also feared that some internal injuries may result from the heavy fall and further developments are anxiously awaited by the many friends Ernie has made through his geniality. He was conveyed to the fire hall in the hose wagon which then returned to the scene of the fire, though another accident was narrowly averted on the trip back, as the horses, being excited and unaccustomed to the handling of the new driver, made an effort to get away from him, and were only brought to a standstill when they ran up against a heavy farmer's wagon.

Still Another Blaze.

Fire broke out at about 10 o'clock this morning in the building owned by Mr. Thos. McGrath, on Aylmer street, which is occupied bo the firm of Sharpe & Tebb, and operated as the I.X.L. Laundry. A defective chimney is the alleged cause and considerable damage was done the roof before the flames were put under control. The damage to the building will be covered by a couple of hundred dollars, and is covered by insurance. The machinery belonging to Sharpe & Tebb was not insured, but the loss will be small as no great damage was inflicted.

VANDALS AND HOODLUMS.

Their Shameful Treatment of East Nicholls Park.

The organ of destructiveness is abnormally developed in some depraved specimens of the human form—human form, for that seems to be all that distinguishes some persons from the lower animals. One would think that a park fitted up for the public enjoyment at a great expense, not one cent of which is borne or contributed by the people, would be safe from even the most hardened hoodlum.

Yesterday serious depredations were committed at the East Nicholls Park. Some persons with carriages entered the Park, and drove around the bicycle track, very seriously injuring it, seeing that it is only intended for bicycles, for which it was specially fitted up. The bicyclists have been using the track for some time, and are greatly pleased with it. It is suitable for cycling only, and the persons who scarred and furrowed the track yesterday, with horses' hoof marks and the deep grooves of wheels were very ignorant or to the rights of property and the convenience of others. Not content with spoiling the track, some, careless or reckless, drove violently into the side of a newly-made terrace bordering the track and shaved off huge slices of soil, completely spoiling the symmetry of the bank at that point.

This is by no means the worst of the hoodlumism that was committed at the park yesterday. On Saturday the employees of the Water Works Company finished the work of placing the hydrants for watering the cricket grounds and the park workmen had tidied up the grounds after they had completed the work. The hydrant keys were left in the tool box. This was broken open and the water turned on in a dozen or more hydrants that encircle the cricket lawn. The consequence, besides the waste of water, was that the water, pouring out at a high pressure, furrowed and worked deep holes in the ground that will require considerable labour and expense to repair. Such conduct as this is simply a disgrace to civilization. It is incredible that wretches capable of such wanton damage to a beauty spot intended for the public use and enjoyment, should be produced in an ostensibly Christian community. It would appear after all that CIVILIZATION IS ONLY SKIN DEEP.

Such vandalism might have been expected in Rome when the northern barbarians descended upon it, or might have been expected from the savage Iroquois a century ago. It seems necessary to have a park constable constantly on duty. He was not on duty yesterday, because the residence intended for him on the borders of the park is occupied by a tenant whose lease has not yet expired. But he will be on duty next Sunday, and any attempt to repeat in the most modified form the shameful acts of Sunday last, will be severely dealt with —and woe to the wretch guilty of such an act who comes under the judgment of Police Magistrate Dumble, whose sentiments in regard to beautifying the town and preserving its beauty are well known. Within the limits of the law no punishment can be too severe for outrages against the public interests like those mentioned. The driving upon the bicycle track is the more inexcusable and wanton because there is abundance of other drives in the parks intended for carriages, which, however, are yet hardly in a condition for use, the gravel not yet being fully placed nor the rolling completed, but certainly no person is so cornered for a place to drive as to destroy a track intended for other purposes.

The Jackson Park has also been VISITED BY THE HOODLUMS.

Last season several of the seats placed at the cliff near the entrance were tumbled down the precipice and destroyed, and this year not long ago a shingle was thrust into a crevice in the sheeting of the bath house at the upper bridge, and a fire lighted upon it, but fortunately no harm was done except the disfigurement of the side of the building.

A severe example should be made, and will be made, in case of detection. Persons that have no inherent respect for the rights of property, and for the general good, must be taught in the school for reprobates presided over by Principal Nesbitt.

CRICKET.

There was a large attendance of both ladies and gentlemen at the cricket match on Saturday, between the second elevens of Trinity College School and Peterborough on the P. A. A. A. grounds.

The Peterborough men had the game well in hand at the close of the first innings, leading the visitors by a score of 21 runs, but the second innings the school boys braced up and piled up the big score of 129. As the Peterborough eleven could only manage to bat out 87, the visitors had the pleasure of winning the match by 21 runs. The scores were as follows:

The Peterborough team batted every whit as well as the visitors, but in fielding were far inferior to the School team, which accepted every chance to stop a grounder in a manner which allowed few of them to afford runs, whereas the home eleven fumbled the hot ones or missed them altogether. It was the poor fielding which was entirely responsible for the defeat received. Seven catches were missed which should have been gathered in and the team lost heart by the display of lack of judgment in sizing up the balls and did not field up with the alacrity and snap necessary to win a game.

The heavy batting of Burnham was the feature of the day and his two scores of 33 and 37 were put together very quickly, a number of drives for four helping to swell the total, while threes were of frequent occurrence.

Sheridan proved himself a crack fielder, catching four men out in the first innings.

Burnham did the "hat trick" in the first innings taking the wickets of three men in one over.

Mac. and Court Poussette made a nice stand, making 31 before they were separated.

Lionel King made one of the most difficult catches of the day.

The return match will be played on Saturday next.

The first eleven of Ottawa will be here on Friday next for a match. The local team will be an exceptionally strong one on this occasion and the game will be one worth witnessing.

LACROSSE.

The Millbrook lacrosse team went to Cobourg on Thursday and defeated the team of that town by five straights. The result was a great surprise to the home twelve, who were sure of winning, and to some of the visitors, who were sure of defeat by their heavy opponents. The Cobourg twelve are all heavy men, good runners, but sadly lack in stick handling, team play and shooting. It was owing to the sharp shooting of Nattrass that Millbrook scored so many goals, he having taken four. The teams lined up before Referee W. T. Wood as follows:

MILLBROOK.		COBOURG.
J Richards	goal	H Rooney
T McMahon	point	T York
S Carveth	cover point	J Rombough

The Millbrook team arrived home on the local, and were met at the station by the band and a large number of citizens. A procession was formed, and headed by the band, marched through the village.

Millbrook will likely play the Ontarios of Port Hope an July 1st. They have also receives challenges from Madoc and Uxbridge.

BASEBALL.

Concerning the game of baseball played on Friday in Lindsay, between the Peterborough and Lindsay teams, which was won by the former, the Post says:—"Paxman, of Peterborough, makes a 'dandy' first baseman. McCabe did good work for the Peterboroughs. If the team was composed of McCabes they would meet with better success. The return match will likely be played in Peterborough next Friday."

THE WHEEL.

During the last few weeks there has been a good deal of talk relative to holding of a road race from Peterborough to Lakefield and return amongst the local wheelmen. The idea is a good one and a meeting of the bicycle club should be called immediately to talk the matter over. The handicap would assuredly have at least twenty entries and the race would be one of great interest, testing as it would the relative merits of Peterborough's many speedy riders.

Mr. Alex. Gibson has offered to give a medal for the best time made and Mr. G. A. Hopkins will give another. There should be at least six prizes offered in order to make the entry list a long one.

The route would probably be from the postoffice straight away to Lakefield, turning around the fire hall and back over the same route.

The bicycle club officials should lose no time in calling this meeting and making the necessary arrangements for the taking up of subscriptions for the prizes.

EASTERN ONTARIO CHORUSES.

Mr. Winter in Town Saturday Arranging the Preliminaries.

Mr. Winter, who is doing so much towards the forwarding of the movement for the formation of great choir choruses in Eastern and Western Ontario, was in town on Saturday last as the guest of Mr. G. W. Mulligan, who visited the principal points of interest in the town with him.

Although an open air concert will be given in the Driving Park, the place Mr. Winter thinks is not sufficiently sheltered for the rendition of the entire two days' programme. The drill shed is spoken of as more nearly suiting the requirements of the choruses.

Mr. Mulligan is now in receipt of the music required for the programme and expresses the opinion that it is of an exceptionally high order and its rendition will have a most beautiful effect.

As the choirs in the other cities, towns and villages in Eastern Ontario have not responded to the call as promptly as might be wished, Mr Mulligan will take a trip to Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville and other places with the object of awakening interest in the matter.

Mr. Winter is making arrangements for a four-day trip for the Waterloo band. The western choruses amalgamate on July 23th and as the Peterborough concerts do not begin until the first or second of August, the band will spend the intervening time in touring.

AN ILLINOIS SENSATION.

A Lady of Union County Recovers Her Health in a Marvellous Manner.

Anna, Illinois, June 17—A very interesting case of recovery from a very complicated form of kidney trouble has taken place here, and the details are gradually being made public. The sufferer was Miss M. T. Loomis, who for a long time has been a victim of severe pains in all parts of the body. She consulted a number of doctors and was treated for a great variety of complaints, the diagnosis all proving faulty. At length she determined to try Dood's Kidney Pills, having read and heard much of their efficacy and found her expectations justified in a complete cure.

THE GRAYS ARRESTED

For the Murder of David Scollie at Peterboro.

THE HEAD CUT OFF, NOT BURNED OFF

This Discovery Made by the Surgeons Who Conducted the Postmortem—Prisoners to Be Extradited at Once—Depositions of Witnesses to Be Forwarded to Washington.

Toronto, June 7.—Thomas Gray and his wife, Hessie Gray, charged with the murder of David Scollie in Otonabee Township, County of Peterboro, on Feb. 23, 1893, were arrested at Ocala, Florida, on Saturday and Government Detective Murray will leave for the Bayou State to-night to bring back the accused.

The prisoners conducted a 10 1-2 acre orange grove in Marion County, adjoining the town of Ocala, and it was there the sheriff took them into custody.

Whether or not the Grays will return without fighting extradition is of course unknown, but it is thought they will voluntarily agree to accompany the officer to Canada. Whether they do or not, there is little doubt of their surrender, as the officer will take with him the depositions of the various witnesses examined by County Magistrate Edmison at Peterboro, supplemented by that of Dr. John Caven of this city, who made a postmortem examination of the headless trunk of the alleged victim of the Grays, and who is satisfied from his examination that the head of Scollie was cut off by a sharp instrument and not burned off in the fire which destroyed the house in which Scollie and the Grays lived. The deposition of Dr. Caven will be taken before County Magistrate Edmison at the Attorney-General's office this morning.

If the Crown's theory as to the death of Scollie is correct, the crime of the Grays was one of the most ingenious, and at the same time one of the most appalling, ever committed in Canada. The grounds upon which the Washington authorities will be asked to surrender the accused are briefly these:

1. The Grays went to live with Scollie under an agreement that they were to keep the old man as long as he lived. In consideration of this Scollie deeded to them his farm.

2. Mrs. Gray told her sister, Mrs. W. J. McGregor, that she intended to get rid of the old man, that she purposed having Tom (meaning her husband) away from home at the time, and by using fire no person would suspect her.

3. The night the dwelling of the Grays was burned, Gray was absent and Mrs. Gray passed a number of houses before giving the alarm at her sister's. Had the nearer neighbors been notified, the fire could have been extinguished.

4. When the body of Scollie, who slept in a bedroom upstairs, was found in the ruins the head was missing, and is still. The body was lying on its back, with arms folded in front, while the quilts seemed to be tucked in around the body, and the straw of the mattrass remained underneath. Neither the quilts nor the underclothes of Scollie were burned. As the body was found on the ground, it is claimed he could not have fallen with the collapsed flooring without the position of the body changing.

5. A day or two after the fire, when suspicions had become aroused, Mrs. Gray visited her sister and asked her not to say anything respecting the threats she had made.

6. As soon as possible after Scollie's death Gray and his wife collected the insurance, sold the farm and left quietly for Florida.

7. An examination of the spinal vertebrae of the dead man leads the surgeons to the belief that the head was not burned off, but cut off with a sharp instrument.

Shortly after the fire a young son of Gray's was riding to town with a farmer named Nurse. The boy had a jawbone in his hand, and Nurse asked him what it was and he replied, "A piece of Red Davie's jawbone." The ghastly object was afterwards turned over to the coroner.

The Crown's contention is that Mrs. Gray stupefied the old man with some decoction, cut of his head with an axe, and then set fire to the house.

The Grays have five children. What disposition will be made of these is not known but it is possible they may be brought back with their parents.

CHURCH CHIMES.

There was a very large attendance at St. John's church last evening to hear Rev. C. B. Kenrick's farewell sermon. Contrary to expectation he did not mention the fact that he would take his leave of the congregation this week and assume his new duties in Port Hope. As his text, he took the words, "Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden," etc., Matt. xi, 28, and preached a sermon of much power, in which he made most touching appeals to his listeners to lay their burdens at the foot of the Throne.

Instead of a sermon, yesterday morning, Rev. J. C. Davidson gave a brief resume of the work of the recent session of the Synod. Amongst the chief points mentioned was the necessary curtailment of expense in the mission fields, as last year the floating debt of the Synod had been increased from $3,000 to $4,000. It was hoped, however, through the help of the Woman's Auxiliary, which had undertaken to look after the collections for missions hereafter, that the church work would soon be much strengthened in this department. Another important point was that of a motion to the effect that all church appointments be considered vacant at the expiry of five years. Although such an action was directly opposed to the policy of the Church of England, Mr. Davidson thought it would have many beneficial effects. The motion had been referred to to a most sympathetic committee. The creation of a new diocese in the west was another important action which the Synod had taken.

Cleveland for Third Term.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—The possibility of his party uniting on Mr. Cleveland for third term attracts increased attention here, and his nomination, despite its exceptional character, is not an impossibility. Reciprocal trade relations with Canada and the admission into the United States free of duty of that celebrated Canadian product, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, on account of its painless action and certainty, would be a plank in his platform. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sure! safe! painless!

GOUGH BROS

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

375 and 577 George Street, June 14.

The Month Of Roses!

JUNE, the month of Roses, inaugurates the season for light-weight Clothing, at Reduced prices for Men, Youths and Boys. Before the June roses are all gone we expect that most of our present stock of Summer Clothing will have gone also, if sales keep on as they are doing the past two weeks. As the mercury in the thermometer ascends, the sales of our Cool Clothing ascends correspondingly, and unless you prepare for summer heat now, half your time will be spent in trying to keep cool. Every corner of our two big stores has a summer-like, hot-weather appearance. But, figuratively speaking, Gough Bros. is the coolest Clothing House in Canada during the hot days of June—because Gough Bros. prices are always below zero.

Perhaps We're Wrong.

We're sometimes blamed for selling things too cheap—but just now we're not making any apologies. We're working for "the greatest good to the greatest number"—and the way customers crowd the store every day shows that the public is abundantly satisfied with good things being cheap and cheap things being good.

What Counts.

What counts in purchasing is the comfort of knowing you made a good bargain. Look back a few years ago and compare the store of to-day with the business as you knew it then. Study the trend of values during the same period. Prices have been gradually reduced in proportion as facilities were enlarged.

Every now and then we are accused of underselling, when we merely do our duty—by you, and sell as low as we can. Dollars and cents—cents and dollars—with a leaning towards the store that gives the best values, and a disposition to trade where prices are lowest—that's the yard stick to measure by.

Summer Suits.

Men are apt to feel the summer heat more now than later on in the season. They need thin, comfortable Clothing now, and nobody wants to pay more than is necessary. Don't put off coming until late in the day if you can help it. Saturdays are our crowd days, when everybody's in a hurry. Better come now.

When the mercury is simmering, remember that we have the comfort you need. Very many bargains are here for people of narrow means, and values are generally good all along the line.

—American Iceberg Coats, at 75c and $1.25.
—Lustre Coats and Vests, at $2.00.
—Lightweight Serge Suits, $2.95, $3.50, $10.00.
—Lightweight Tweed Suits, $3.90, $5.00, $7.50.
—Lightweight Skeleton Coats, 50c, $1.00 to $2.50.
—Blazer Coats, all colours, $2.00.
—White and Coloured Vests, from 69c to $2.00.
—Silk Coats and Vests, plain and striped, $2.00, $3.00, $5.00.
—Sporting Trousers, $2.00 to $4.00.

We sell about everything that men and boys wear, and many things they buy for personal gratification. In this respect the store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

Gent's Furnishing.

—French Balbriggan Suits $1.50.
—Natural Wool Suits $1.50.
—Outing Shirts 40c.
—Coloured Shirts, fast colours, all sizes 50c.
—Fine Elastic Braces 15c.
—Merino Socks, seamless, double heel and toe, 3 pairs for 50c.
—Silk Knot Ties, 2 for 25c.
—Plain and Coloured Merino 25c each.
—Striped Underwear 15c each.
—Flannelette Shirts 18c, 23c.
—Collars and Cuffs 10c, 15c, 18c a pair.

A great thing for a man who aims to succeed is to look well. Everybody is judged, more or less, by appearance. It doesn't cost much to possess stylish furnishings if you buy at Gough Bros.

Not Much of a Trick.

It's not much of a trick to sell Straw Hats at this season of the year, although some of the regular hat dealers may have to hustle to do it and get their fancy prices. If we had to sell Hats alone, we might have to hustle, too, but we don't have to. It's as easy as looking down a well. The Hat maker usually loads up the regular Hat dealers at good, plump figures, and when he finds he has an immovable load left he calls in the live general retail clothier and bids him take them at his own price—but take them. That's one of the ways we get in our best work. GOUGH BROS. have helped several such hat manufacturers out of a hole, and it accounts for the special price festival we have been holding in Hats the past few weeks. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade; but were the SELLERS and that suits us just as well.

—Gents' Fine Straw Hats 25c, worth 40 cents.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 50c, worth $1.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 75c, worth $1.50.
—Men's Straw Hats in lightweight, wide and narrow rims, 50c to $1.50.
—Boys' Hats, in every style, from 15c to 75c.
—Children's Sailors 10c, 25c.
—Tweed Hats 20c, 25c.
—Men's Tourists, 75c.
—Men's Christy Hats, all sizes 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $2 and $3.
—Fedoras, all popular shades, qualities and sizes, for Men and Boys, as low as 70c, as high as $3.

That's enough to prove our interest in your welfare. We have a complete assortment, and prices are low enough to capture your trade.

Tan Shoes.

A discussion is just now bothering some people as to whether or no, Tan Shoes are cooler than black in hot weather. The question is easily answered: Nothing is fashionable long that does not combine comfort with style of late years no two things have added more to a mitigation of hot-weather discomfort than the brown shoe and the outing shirt.

We have tan shoes in all sizes, for men, women and children, and seem to have no difficulty in disposing of all we can get.

There's no jobbers' 25 per cent. on boots in this store—you pay no intermediate profit here. We sell as we buy.

—First quality Canvas Oxfords, kid-faced, white, tans and greys.
—Russian Tan Oxfords, in dark and light colours, hand-turned soles and welts; tan overgaiters to match.
—Nobby street shoe in patent leather vamp, kid quarter, opera and Philadelphia toe.
—Tennis shoes, all sorts and sizes.
—Men's Tan Shoes, kid lined $1.15.
—Misses' Tan Balmorals and Button Boots $1.
—Woman's Tan Balmorals $1 a pair.
—Ladies' hand-made Tan Oxfords $1.25.
—Hand-made Button Boots $2.
—Finest American White Canvas $2, $2.50.
—Oxford, hand-made $1.25, $1.50.
—Finest Russian Leather (city made) Oxford, $2.

Our prices may be ruining the shoe trade—we can't help it. We're sorry to injure the shoe trade, but we must look after your interests and keep you posted in right prices.

CANADA'S SINGERS.

Women Who Have Made a Name as Writers of Verse.

The following is the concluding portion of an article that appeared in Munsey's Magazine :

E. Pauline Johnson is another Canadian verse writer, interesting because of her origin. She was born on the Grand River, near Brantford, Ontario, and is the daughter of Chief Johnson, a full-blooded Mohawk Indian. She has recited her poetry before American and English audiences, heightening the effect by donning aboriginal costumes. I confess, however, that her Indian pieces are to me the least attractive of her compositions. I like best "The Song My Paddle Sings," in which words and music admirably fit the theme.

Though most of her work has been done in the fields of fiction and journalism. Miss Ethelwyn Wetherald has shown a high and undoubted capacity for song. Born in Canada, of English Quaker parentage, and educated at Friends' schools in New York and Ontario, her first literary venture was a poem sent to St. Nicholas. For a time she was an editorial writer on the Toronto Globe, and for three years she did almost all the editorial work on Wives and Daughters, a monthly published in London, Ontario. She has contributed to other periodicals, and has written a novel, "The Algonquin Maiden," in collaboration. Her best verses, probably, are a series of sonnets contributed to the Toronto Week.

Another female singer, too early passed away, was Isabel Valancy Crawford, author of some scattered pieces of rare poetic merit. Miss Crawford was born in Dublin, Ireland, and died in Canada nine years ago. Of her vivid verse, and of its verbal beauty, these highly imaginative landscape pictures may serve as examples:

High grew the snow beneath the low hung sky,
And all was silent in the wilderness;
In trance of stillness nature heard her God
Rebuilding her spent fires, and veiled her face.

The land had put his ruddy gauntlet on,
Of harvest gold to dash in famine's face;
And like a vintage wain, deep dyed with juice,
The great moon falter'd up the ripe, blue sky,
And drawn by silver stars—like oxen white
And horned with rays of light.

Mrs. S. Francis Harrison has published a volume of poems, dealing chiefly with French subjects, entitled "Pine

E. PAULINE JOHNSON.

Rose and Fleur de Lis." Her chief faults are a labored gorgeousness of phrase and a cold artificiality; but she has a facile style, a good vocabularly and is capable of better work than she has yet done. It is but just to say that her poems are much admired in Canada.

Agnes Maule Machar, though better known as a novelist, has written some creditable verse. So has R. W. Lighthall, to whom is due the thanks of all lovers of poetry for his admirable collection of "Songs of the Great Dominion"; and so too, has Peter McArthur, a young verse maker of promise, now resident in New York.

Here we must bring this brief and necessarily inadequate study of a rare harvest of song to a close. Canada is in herself an inspiration for the poet. And while these singers have all imbibed something of the haunting spirit of her woods and inland seas, the variety of her folk lore, and the kaleidoscope lights and shades of her panorama, the poet who shall do in verse for the land and its history what Parkman, with a poet's warmth and imagination, has done in prose, has yet to inscribe his name on the scroll of Canadian literature. It may be that from this group will emerge the bard upon whose shoulders shall fall the mantle of the splendid destiny selecting him as the regal genius to carry forward the message of the Canadian world, the promise and the potency of all it holds. It is to the future rather than to the past that these true servants of song have turned.

A child of empire, and almost the latest born of Britain, Canada is yet neither British nor French. Though a Province of a world circling imperial system, her government is as free as ours, and her proximity to the Great Republic helps to make her aspirations republican. Her tendencies run in many rivers rather than in one broad stream, and her literature is sure to reflect this diversity, and to grow with the political growth of the country.

Getting All the Profit.

Shall we milk twice or three times a day? This is a live question and has not been much discussed, although it has been occasionally referred to. The answer to this may depend somewhat on whether the man is making a business of dairying, or is engaged in general farming, with dairying as one of the incidents. The Mercantile Exchange of New York gives an instance of an experiment in which the cow was milked three times a day for 11 days, and then twice a day for 11 more, the increase being 14 per cent. on the milking three times a day, with the following result as shown by analysis of the milk to ascertain the effect on quality, which, it will be seen, was very marked :

Milk from three milkings—Water, 87.6 per cent.; butter, 4.1; caseine, 4.5; sugar, 3.8. Milk from two milkings—Water, 87.9 per cent.; butter, 3.5; caseine, 4.4; sugar, 4.2.

In dairying on a large scale, this difference in both quantity and quality would amount to quite a little income. The milking should be done at intervals of as nearly eight hours as possible—say 5 o'clock in the morning, 1 p.m., and 9 in the evening.

"SUN" LIFE
Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

AYER'S Hair VIGOR

Restores natural color to the hair, and also prevents it falling out. Mrs. H. W. Fenwick, of Digby, N. S., says:

"A little more than two years ago my hair began to turn gray and fall out. After the use of one bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was restored to its original color and ceased falling out. An occasional application has since kept the hair in good condition."—Mrs. H. F. Fenwick, Digby, N. S.

Growth of Hair.

"Eight years ago, I had the varioloid, and lost my hair, which previously was quite abundant. I tried a variety of preparations, but without beneficial result, till I began to fear I should be permanently bald. About six months ago, my husband brought home a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and I began at once to use it. In a short time, new hair began to appear, and there is now every prospect of as thick a growth of hair as before my illness."—Mrs. A. Weber, Polymnia St., New Orleans, La.

THE SHETLAND PONY.

He is the Very Ideal of a Child's Horse—Rapidly Growing in Public Favor.

No class of equines in the United States has made such rapid growth in public favor as Shetland ponies. In their native islands they are the beasts of burden, and in some other parts of Britain are quite largely employed in coal mines, their diminutive size enabling them to move through galleries and drifts too low for taller animals. But here it is their happier lot to be kept almost exclusively as pets for the children. They are so small, so docile and intelligent, so strong for their size, so easily kept, and so readily trained to either harness or saddle, or both, that they are the very ideal of a child's horse. Breeding and rearing them is quite profitable. It costs less to raise a Shetland foal to its three-year-old form than to raise a steer to the same age, and in many instances the pony will sell for two or three times as much as an ordinary steer. Yet it is only within the last two or three decades that these ponies have been at all common in this country. Importers and breeders of horses regarded them as beneath their notice, or at best bred them sparingly. But within recent years the business has increased, and many quite large establishments in various parts of the country are devoted wholly to their importation and breeding.

Glasgow, Scotland, is a great mart for this clas of trade, but many American importers prefer to go to the islands and buy their stock from first hands. The increasing business with America naturally stimulated activity in the foreign market. Advantage was taken of this by a few unscrupulous men, who unloaded upon the American market ponies who could claim no kindred, near or remote, with any animal that ever saw the Shetland islands. They were mostly Icelandic, and some idea of the extent of this trade may be gathered from the statement of a British authority that not less than 1,000 Iceland ponies were landed in Glasgow within a single year. Some of these were doubtless shipped to America. Less than four years ago a number of ponies from Glasgow were landed at Montreal, conveyed in bond to Detroit, and an attempt was made to enter them free of duty as Shetland ponies for breeding purposes. But the United States collector very properly refused to allow the claim, and assessed duties upon them. These were paid under protest, and the case referred to the Department of Agriculture, and there reported Icelandic and not entitled to any rebate.

To maintain the purity of the breed and promote its interests, and incidentally to protect the public from fraud, the American Shetland Pony Club was organized about ten years ago, and is one of the most prosperous and efficient record associations in the country.

FIRST PRIZE SHETLAND STALLION "MAJOR TOT."

Its studbook is edited with great care and ability, and the membership has increased many fold. Some idea of the rapid increase in the Shetland pony business may be gathered from the numbers of certificates of registration issued. In '92 there were 89, the next year they had increased to 579, and in '94 the total number registered was 578. The officers for the current year are: President, L. W. Mitchell, Illinois; vice-president, Capt. J. Murray Hoag, Iowa; secretary, Mortimer Levering, Indiana; and treasurer, E. C. Pace, Illinois. At the American horse show at Chicago the Shetland ponies were out in full force, attracting much favorable attention. The first prize for aged stallions was won by Levi Doty of Illinois, with Major Tot, the subject of the illustration, whose registry number is 1042. Major Tot is from imported stock. He weighs 385 lbs., has fine head, short, level back, deep chest, muscular leg, flat bones and stands 41 inches high. The development of the Shetland pony industry is only another instance of the business that may be built up by those who diligently cater to the wants of the people. It is true that this thing may be overdone in time, but there is money in it for some years to come, and those who are now engaged in breeding Shetlands have no cause to complain.—American Agriculturist.

Feeding Turnips.

As regards the feeding of turnips to milch cows, of which there is considerable being said against of late on account of their characteristic flavor being imparted to the butter, I will say this much: I have fed out a great many turnips, particularly rutabagas, to milch stock, but have never noticed that they affected milk or butter flavor except when fed excessively or when cows have eaten heartily of the green tops. Have always rationed out the turnips in winter in conjunction with hay and corn fodder. I have noticed, however, that milk from cows that have broken into a growing field of these roots and gorged themselves on the green tops, had a pronounced foreign flavor. The reason of this is that the leaves are much more pungent than the mild, sweet-flavored roots that should be fed. It happens also that many of the turnips raised by being grown on improper soil, among weeds, or coming from poorly-selected seed, are tough in texture and strong in flavor. If your milk tastes of the roots that you are feeding, it is quite possible that it may be due to some of the causes I have enumerated. Such has been my personal experience at least. There are also many domestic makers who regularly produce a quality of butter that suits their own individual tastes. Because other people may not like their butter they imagine that its good points are not appreciated and endeavor to bring consumers to their tastes instead of catering to the tastes of consumers. —Geo. E. Newell, in Ohio Farmer.

Henry's Conundrum.

"Helen," said Mr. Whykins, who somehow never gets hold of an idea until it is old, "I have a good one for you. I think you'll appreciate it, only you must not let it make you angry."

"What is it, Henry?"

"What's the difference between a woman and an umbrella?"

"The difference," she answered, serenely, "is that a man isn't afraid to take an umbrella with him wherever he goes, and that he doesn't try to conceal the fact that it's above him when a real emergency arrives. That's the principal difference, Henry."—Washington Star.

China Cedes a Port to France.

Paris, June 11.—The Dix-Neuvieme Siecle asserts that the Chinese Government has ceded to France a port in the Pescadore Islands. The Siecle adds that France will probably acquire the whole Pescadore group as the result of her interference conjointly with Germany and Russia to prevent Japan from pursuing her policity of territorial rapacity in her negotiations with China for indemnity.

Russia Wants No Slice of Manchuria.

St. Petersburg, June 14.—There is the best authority for denying the reported negotiations with China forces the cession of a strip of Manchuria to enable Russia to lay an extensive trans-Siberian railway. Russia has recommended China to construct her own lines, which could be laid so as to join the Siberian route.

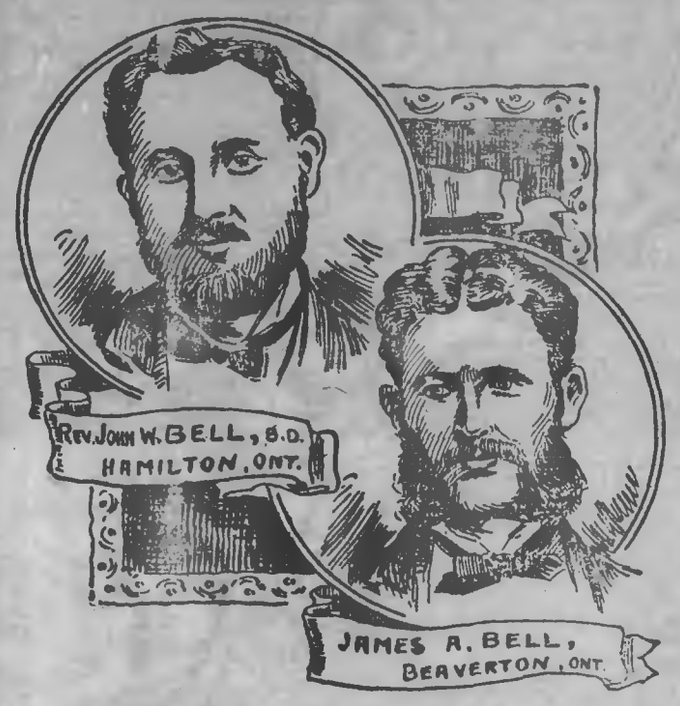
BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., Brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., Prostrated by Nervous Headaches--A Victim of the Trouble for Several Years --South American Nervine Effected a Complete Cure.



In their own particular field few men are better known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother, Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario, his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference, and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headaches, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them, and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell. The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

THE PETERBOROUGH COUNTY COUNCIL.

THE PROCEEDINGS AT THE JUNE SESSION.

The Concluding Sitting—Presentation of a Portrait—A Motion for Special Grants Negatived.

Below is the conclusion of the report of the proceedings of the June session of the county council held over from Saturday.

Mr. Casement, chairman, presented the report of the committee on

FINANCE,

as follows:—

The Finance Committee beg leave to report as follows:—

1. Your committee recommend that no action be taken upon the application of the Otonabee Agricultural Society for a special grant of $100.00.

2. Your committee recommend that the memorandum hereto attached of accounts and moneys paid by the Treasurer on authority of the Warden, etc., or under contract duly entered into, be confirmed.

3. Your committee recommend that no action be taken upon the application of the Agricultural Societies of East and West Peterborough for a special grant.

4. Your committee recommend that no action be taken upon the application of Mr. Joseph Redmond for a special grant towards a ploughing match.

5. The County Treasurer was instructed to purchase a copy of Dymond's Municipal Index for the use of the county.

6. That the special grant of $75.00 heretofore voted to the Peterborough Horticultural society be paid by the County Treasurer when requested.

7. That the special grant of $25.00 heretofore voted to East Peterborough Farmers' Institute be paid at once, the usual conditions being complied with.

8. That the account of George Airhart for wolf bounty, to the extent of $6.00, be paid, and that the balance of the account ($4.00) be paid to him so soon as the refund of that sum comes into the hands of th County Treasurer.

9. That the account of Mr. George Cochrane be paid when the County Clerk satisfies himself as to its correctness.

10. That the County Treasurer pay to such municipalities as appear to be entitled to same, the amount due to them for simple interest under bylaw No. 480 of this county, and that he send to municipalities in arrear a statement of interest due by them under said bylaw, and demand payment of same. In future the rate of interest shall be the same as this County pays for current discounts.

11. That the report of the auditors be received and printed with the minutes.

12. That the rate to pay current expenses and debenture rate be fixed at 1¼ mills on the dollar.

13 That the following accounts be paid:

W. H. CASEMENT, Chairman.

County Council Chambers, Peterborough, June 15th, 1895.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Anderson, chairman, presented the report of the committee on

as follows:

The Committee on Petitions beg leave to report as follows:—

1. Your committee would recommend that a memorial be forwarded to the Provincial Legislature praying that the jurisdiction of the Division Court be increased so as to be enabled to try all actions for damages up to $300 caused by non-repair of roads or bridges, your committee being of the opinion that this is cheaper and more satisfactory mode of trying such actions than by a court of arbitration. Your committee would recommend that the Clerk be instructed to forward a copy of such memorial to other county councils and ask their co-operation.

2. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with reference to the Single Tax Association petition asking for local option in taxation.

3. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with reference to the petition of Dr. William C. Cummings, asking for a reduction in peddle.s' license.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. ANDERSON, Chairman.

County Council Chambers, Peterborough, June 15th, 1895.

Report adopted.

By-laws confirmatory of the several reports were passed.

A by-law was passed to levy county rates which were apportioned to the several municipalities as below:

Ashburnham	$ 925 75

PRESENTATION.

Mr. Warden Pearce presented an oil portrait of his father, the late Peter Pearce, the first warden of the county after the separation of the counties of Peterborough and Victoria.

Mr. Burnham, in moving the grateful acceptance of the portrait to be hung upon the walls of the council chamber, paid a warm tribute to the long and effective services rendered for so many years by the late Mr. Pearce.

The portrait, which is a life-size oil, and an excellent likeness, as well as a creditable work of art, was painted by Miss Edmonds, grand daughter of the late Mr. Pearce, Peterborough.

Mr. Burnham presented the report of the county solicitor as requested by the council upon Mrs. Foley's will, which was received and ordered to be printed with the minutes.

On a motion to adjourn,

Mr. Mansfield moved, seconded by Mr. Peoples, that a special grant be given to the following municipalities for expenditure on roads and bridges:

Galway	$ 50 00
Harvey	50 00
Ennismore	75 00
Chandos	50 00
Burleigh	50 00
Dummer	100 00
Belmont	75 00
Asphodel	200 00
Havelock	50 00
North Monaghan	50 00

and that the reeves of the respective municipalities be commissioners for expenditure of the same.

The motion to adjourn prevailed on the casting vote of the Warden and the motion was therefore lost.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

THE BARNARDO HOMES.

Dr. Barnardo's issue of Night and Day for May is written in the minor key. The Homes, with their ever-open doors, are receiving without surcease or diminution a stream of Waifs and Strays for rescue and relief. They have already nearly 5,000 children under their care, and there are many special requirements which Dr. Barnardo particularizes, so that the needs of the work are as pressing as ever. But the the editor states that there has been recently a very serious falling off in the contributions, and, as he himself writes in feeble health, the outlook presents itself itself to him as a very gloomy one. In his opening article, "Passing Through Deep Waters," he presses the serious nature of the situation upon his readers in a way that ought to command their sympathies and their responses. The other contents of the number are full of interest; illustrated case histories of some recent rescues; a page of pathetic life-notes, under the heading of "Somebody's Bairns"; a well selected series of jottings about children, entitled "The World of Childhood"; a painful collection of "cruelty cases," aptly named "Delivered from Bondage," and many other items. We observe that the Twenty-ninth Anniversary of the Homes is announced to take place on 21st June next, in the Royal Albert. Many attractive features are set forth. "Personal Notes," with their widely-varied records of child rescue, and of help from all over the world to this remarkable Charity, are unique.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys, through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been of not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

ECONOMY IN LIGHTING!

Electric Lighting in residences is becoming more popular every week, as it should be when the cost is compared with either gas or oil, being 50 per cent. cheaper than the former and equally as cheap as the latter, to say nothing of the cleanliness safety or convenience. The best recommendation is obtained from those who are using it. The following are some of the residences fitted up during the last two months: Mr. A. L. Davis, Mr. T. G. Haslett, Miss Dickson, Mr. John Crane, Mr. W. E. Conway, Mr. F. J. Jamieson.

House wiring can be fitted up complete from $2.00 a lamp up.

One Fact Counts

For more than a thousand insinuations, especially if the insinuations are inspired by jealousy and defeat.

It is an ADMITTED FACT that Fairweather & Co. ARE the leaders in the Hat trade in Peterborough and Lindsay. The manufacturer recognize this as fully as do our numerous patrons and "side line" competitors; and therefore do not think of offering us the off-scourings—the "rag-tag and bobtail" or commonly called "seconds" of their stocks "at any price." These are disposed of to the general country merchants and clothing houses. It would not suit our trade. We must have the most correct styles and qualities.

"We got them"! Straw Hat samples! 1100 of them to clear. Worth from

$1.00 to $2.00, our price 75c.
75c to $1.00, our price 50c.
35c to 50c, our price 25c.

"A good name is better than riches," even if it be only in a Stiff Hat, and especially if you control it.

Christy & Co. of London, England, are admitted to be the best makers of Stiff Hats the world over. No other house in Peterborough have their goods, as we are their SOLE agents here. The name "Christy Hat" is given by people, who do not know the difference, to a Stiff Hat of any kind, but this is a misnomer, and only goes to show how much the ordinary clothier knows about the hat trade.

Our prices for genuine Christy & Co's Hats are 99c, for all wool grades, and $1.99 for all fur qualities. This offer is made to clear.

The moral is: Come where you get the best Hats made by standard makers at the price of ordinary qualities. Do not be "bamboozled," but come to

PROHIBITION SHELVED

The Commons Decline to Express an Opinion

PENDING JURISDICTION DECISION.

An Amendment to Mr. Flint's Motion Carried on a Close Vote—Few Speeches Made Before the Division—Prince Edward Island's Grievances.

Ottawa, June 18.—The growing practice of loading down the order paper with questions which have no present value and put on simply as a matter of record, was referred to in the House to-day, but Mr. Speaker had to candidly admit that he was powerless to stop the evil. The climax of absurdity was reached to-night, when Dr. Macdonald of Huron filed the entire list of accounts incurred in connection with Sir John Thompson's funeral. They make 65 pages, typewritten, and all that the Doctor wants to know is if the accounts have been paid, and if not, what is the cause of the delay.

The Prince Edward Islanders held their annual field day this afternoon, and this evening the prohibition question was disposed of.

None of the speeches were lengthy, except Mr. Flint's, and finally Mr. Guillett's motion, staving over a pronouncement, was adopted on a close vote.

Mr. Rider, at the opening of the House, asked: Have the accounts and vouchers been received covering all expenses authorised by the Government in connection with the funeral of the late Sir John Thompson. If so, what is the amount?

Mr. Ouimet: Yes; $33,779.

Mr. Rider asked: Have any claims been presented for expenses of any kind in connection therewith which were not authorised by the Government?

Mr. Ouimet: No; All the work for which accounts were presented were authorised, but the prices were not in all cases acceptable, and reductions have in some cases been made, which will bring the total to the amount of the vote, $25,000.

Mr. Choquette asked whether the Government had the accounts current of George R. R. Cockburn, M.P., Canadian Commissioner at the Chicago Exhibition, examined, and if so, were they found correct, and have they been paid in full, that is to say, $4425. The accounts followed in extenso, and occupied half a dozen pages of the order paper.

Hon. Mr. Montague: Mr. George R. R. Cockburn was appointed Canadian Commissioner at the World's Fair by order in council. He was given no salary. He gave his time gratuitously, but the Dominion Government paid his living expenses. His bills were certified to by the Executive Commissioner and were properly examined by the department. There were some small items in the bill as at first made out which did not properly come under the head of living expenses, and these items were deducted from the main account by Mr. Cockburn himself and paid out of his own pocket before the bills were sent in by the executive commissioner. The accounts were not judged exorbitant, and were paid.

Mr. Foster called the attention of the Speaker of the House to the improper use of the order paper for partisan purposes.

Already two other questions of a similar character had been given notice of and there was no knowing where this sort of thing would end.

The Speaker said he had no power to prevent the question appearing on the paper.

Mr. Foster appealed to Mr. Laurier to support the Speaker or the Clerk of the House in preventing such displays of partisanship.

Mr. Laurier did not see how the Speaker could go beyond the powers with which he had been invested by the House.

Mr. Taylor asked were Hon. E. G. Penny, Hon. R. D. Wilmot, R. R. McDougall and the then Hon. Minister of Agriculture appointed commissioners in connection with the Canadian exhibit at the Centennial Exhibition held in the city of Philadelphia, U.S., in the year 1876? Was Joseph Perrault appointed secretary-treasurer May 14, 1875, at $250 per month? Were a number of other persons appointed in connection with the said exhibition? Were the following sums paid for the services of the said persons for their travelling expenses, hotel fares, and other expenses in connection with the said exhibition?

Dr. Montague's reply was "Yes" in each case. The accounts showed that Mr. Perrault received $9886, of which $6500 was salary. The Canadian Commission received $13,360 for living and travelling expenses.

Mr. Wallace, replying to Mr. Henderson, stated that 3365 self-binding harvesters were exported from Canada during 1894, all by the firm of the Massey, Harris Co. The average amount of drawback on account of duties paid on raw materials on each of these harvesters exported in Canada in 1894 was $10,083.

Mr. Macdonald (P.E.I.) moved for a return of all papers relative to the extension of the railway system in Prince Edward Island. He made a strong plea for the building of branch lines on the Island, contending that Prince Edward Island did not get its fair share of expenditure for public works. This opened up a lenghty discussion, in which several Prince Edward Island members spoke, and the talk was in progress at 6 o'clock.

After recess Mr. Flint moved the following resolution: That in the opinion of this House the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors in Canada, except for sacramental, scientific, manufacturing and medicinal purposes, shall be prohibited by law.

Speaking in support of his motion, Mr. Flint quoted the statement of the late Sir John Thompson, that if prohibition could be adopted and enforced, he would be in favor of it. Mr. Flint held that this was an endorsation by the late Premier, one of the deepest thinkers of the Conservative party, of the principle of his resolution. Sir John Schults, who boasted that he belonged to the Northwest Council, the first legislative body in Canada to adopt prohibition, was on record as having said that so satisfied was he with the benefits therefrom, to one-half of the Dominion, that he would would like to see the experiment tried in the other half.

Proceeding, the member for Yarmouth, N.S., cited the endorsation of prohibition implied in the report of the Senate Committee in 1875, and the subsequent indirect expression of the House and of individual members thereof, including the present Financial Minister. There was no record, he argued, of the exact standing of Parliament on this question, although one way or another the provinces had pronounced overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition. He excepted Quebec.

After citing further to show that crime had decreased and public welfare advanced wherever prohibition had been enforced, he asked the House to follow the lead of the country by pronouncing for the principles set forth in his resolution. That done, the working out of the details might be deferred. In urging this action upon the House, he reminded hon. members of the immense advantage they would confer upon the country by voting to strike off the great annual waste of twenty-five or thirty million dollars involved in the liquor traffic. He disclaimed all party motives in bringing his motion forward.

Mr. Craig seconded the resolution. Its object, he thought, was to let the people know what members were in favor of prohibition. Nobody expected the adoption of the motion to be followed by the passage of a prohibitory law this session. He declared himself in favor of compensation to those engaged in the trade. Prohibition, he held, would be a great saving to the country, would decrease pauperism, crime and accident and conduce to home comfort and religion. He had no doubt prohibition could be effectively enforced.

Dr. Christie also supported the resolution.

Mr. Guillett thought that a pronouncement in favor of prohibition would be injudicious, in view of the appeal now before the Judicial Committee to decide whether it be in the Provincial or Dominion jurisdiction to prohibit the liquor traffic. He concluded by moving, seconded by Mr. Bell, in amendment, that the further consideration of this question be deferred until the report of the Judicial Committee has been received.

Mr. Taylor favored the principal, but considered the motion inexpedient in the last days of an expiring Parliament, and in view of the present position of the question in law. He moved an amendment to the amendment affirming the principle of prohibition, but opposing any legislation until the court had decided the question of jurisdiction, and until the report of the Royal Commission was printed.

Mr. Taylor's amendment was lost by 51 to 70.

The House then divided on Mr. Guillet's amendment, which carried by 68 to 57.

In the Senate a long debate took place on a motion for the third reading of a bill to incorporate the Langeburg and Southern Railway Company, which carried upon a division of 41 to 10.

In the absence of Senator Kirchoffer, chairman of the Divorce Committee, Senator Primrose asked that the consideration of the report of the Divorce Committee, in which seven out of the nine members announced their intention of resigning, be allowed to stand over until Thursday.

Senator Miller said the report contained aspersions upon many of the members of the House. He was in a position to show that the statements made in the report were unjust and a tissue of inaccuracies. He protested against the matter being left over from day to day, and at his suggestion the consideration of the report was made the first order of business of Thursday.

Senator Wark gives notice of a resolution that overtures be made to the Imperial Government for joint action with Canada, whereby Newfoundland may enter the Dominion free from financial embarrassments.

The House then adjourned.

Toronto Markets

Flour—There is really no demand, and to effect sales much lower prices would have to be taken. Straight rollers are nominal at $4.50 to $4.70, Toronto freights.

Bran—Bran nominal at $12, Toronto freights. Shorts unchanged at $13.50.

Wheat—The feeling is unsettled and prices easy. White and red are quoted at 97c to 98c, north and west; No. 1 Manitoba hard is nominal at 98c, Fort William, and at $1.00 to $1.05, Toronto freights.

Peas—Trade is slow, with demand limited, prices being too high for export. Cars are quoted at 62c, west.

Barley—Trade dull and prices nominally unchanged.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices unchanged. Cars are quoted at 37c to 38c, west, and at 39c to 40c on track.

Rye—Trade dull, with prices nominal at 62c to 63c, outside.

MUST BE BROUGHT BACK.

The Alleged Murderers of David Scollie Must Be Extradited From Florida—An Officer Not Yet Sent

Toronto, Ont., June 18.—Detective Murray has not yet left for Ocsala, Florida, although the extradition papers for the return of Thomas Gray and his wife, Hessie Gray, have been made out. Pending the decision of Acting Premier Hardy, the officer will not start. A despatch was received last evening from the Sheriff of Marion County stating that he would only hold the accused 10 days from the date of their arrest, and unless Detective Murray leaves for Florida to-day he may lose his quarry, and his work of the past few weeks in unraveling the mystery connected with David Scollie's death may be for naught.

The depositions of Profs. Caven and Primrose, who made a post-mortem examination of the body of the deceased, were taken yesterday before County Magistrate Edmison of Peterboro, at the Attorney-General's office, and were of the strongest character. Both doctors expressed the opinion that the head could not have been completely burned off the old man without the hair on his chest being singed, the underclothing burned and the trunk of the body showing more signs of the fire than it did.

The condition of the spinal vertebrae also indicated that the head had been severed by a blow from a sharp instrument, several fractures being discovered.

ANOTHER UNSOLVED MYSTERY.

Peterboro Proposes if Possible to Have All Past Tragedies Investigated Right Away.

Toronto, June 18.—While in Toronto yesterday County Magistrate Admison of Peterboro laid before the Attorney-General the facts in connection with another mystery which has been revived by the Scollie case.

On the morning of March 28, 1892, the decomposed body of Richard Wigmore was found in the Little Lake by Ernest LePlant. The body was upright in the water, with only the head showing above the surface. The last seen of Wigmore alive was on the evening of the 31st of December, 1894, when he ate supper at the Croft House. It is supposed that he met his fate in the waters of the Little Lake on that night. When his body was taken from its rigid, upright position, and the clothes he wore were searched, the sum of $9 was found in the pockets, and some jewelry was also on his person. An inquest and investigation was held at the time by Detective Rogers, but nothing came out to indicate that he had been done away with. Suspicion, however, as to the means of death, has always surrounded the occurrence and it is now said that the crown is in possession of fresh evidence.

FEELING AGAINST WELTER.

Public Sympathy Was With Him Until He Made His Statement

St. Thomas, June 17.—Whatever sympathy the public may have heretofore entertained for William Welter, one of the murderers of W. H. Hendershott in Wardell's woods on Dec. 14 last, has been forfeited by the lying statement he made on the eve of his execution, the gist of which was published in this morning's World. It was generally thought that he was the dupe of the elder prisoner, John Hendershott, uncle of the young man who was so ruthlessly slaughtered for greed, and to whose daughter he was engaged to be married. Notification that Welter's sentence had been commuted would have been received with satisfaction until that statement was made. Now the universal opinion is that his death is deserved, and that he is equally guilty with his companion.

The scaffold, which was completed Saturday, is a very substantial affair, and is erected at the rear of the jail, in what is known as the woman's ward. The platform is eight feet square, and stands seven feet from the ground. There are two trap-doors, fastened by large hinges at one side, and these are held in place by two strong bars of iron, which extend underneath, and are fastened in a staple by a small iron pin. The two pins, or bolts, are attached to an iron lever, which extends three feet above the floor, and when the lever is pulled the bolts are pulled out of place, and the doors drop quickly, followed by the bodies. There are steps to be ascended to reach the platform, which commence at the door leading from the jail into the yard. The crossbeam upon which the rope will be attached extends from one side to the other, and is eight feet above the platform. Underneath an excavation of five feet has been made, and from the platform to the bottom of the excavation is 14 feet. Below the platform all has been enclosed, and when the bodies drop they cannot be afterwards seen by the spectators present.

Letters were received yesterday at the Attorney-General's office, purporting to be signed by the father of Welter and by Lillie Hendershott, the daughter of the elder prisoner, asking that the bodies of the executed men be surrendered to their relatives. No attention will, of course, be paid to these letters, and the bodies will be interred in the jail yard.

SIGNED BY HIS EXCELLENCY.

Not Until Late Last Night Was the Final Order Made.

Ottawa, June 17.—It was not until after 10 o'clock to-night that word was received from Quebec that His Excellency had signed the minutes of council recommending that the law be allowed to take its course in the case of Hendershott and Welter. The formal notification was immediately telegraphed to the Sheriff of Elgin County. The delay in receiving Lord Aberdeen's concurrence in the advice of his Ministers was due to the statement of Welter that another party had committed the deed. County Crown Attorney Donohue wired to the Minister of Justice that such a statement had been received by him, and like Mr. Donohue, the Minister attached no importance to it. It is currently reported, however, that parties in St. Thomas telegraphed directly to Quebec about the matter, which caused His Excellency to ask for further information from his advisers. Telegrams were passing to and fro between Ottawa and Quebec all day, until finally the Governor-General was satisfied that everything was all right, and the order was signed.

Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, JUNE 18, 1895.

RYAN & CO.'S ROYAL "CINCH."

Messrs. Ryan & Co. have a right royal "cinch" in their Soo Canal contract. A few days ago it was pointed out in the EXAMINER that this expensive pet firm of the Government got the contract at figures $119,000 higher than the lowest tender. This was a fairly good thing to begin with; but there were extras (and every builder knows what a fat thing there is in extras) that swell the contract figures $795,000 beyond the original contract. The details as to how some portions of the side contracts which are of local interest were manipulated were given in our despatches on Saturday. The contract for the power pipe was one of the several additional contracts which Ryan & Co. received on top of their contract for the main work. Tenders were called for, Mr. Schreiber, in his evidence before the Public Accounts Committee, said, and three were received: The Central Bridge and Engineering Co., Peterborough, $42,000; Robt. Weddell, Trenton, $51,000; Ryan & Co., $55,000, and Doty, Toronto, $57,000. Then when the contract came to be awarded the government devised a plan to give their favourites another profitable advantage; a clause, not in the specifications was inserted that the contractor must be responsible for any unwatering of the pit which might be necessary. This practically shut out the other tenderers, as doubtless it was intended to do. Thus we see that the Central Bridge and Engineering Company put in a tender at $13,000 less than that which Ryan & Co. put in and had accepted—a clean gain of $13,000—not a bad deal in a small transaction. Everybody knows that the Central Bridge and Engineering Company is perfectly responsible, and was perfectly able to satisfactorily perform any work of the kind it undertook to perform, yet we find its tender rejected for one over $13,000, or about 31 per cent. higher. This not only indicates reckless disregard of the first principles of honesty and economy in administration on the part of the Government, but of ingratitude to faithful supporters, who have made sacrifices for "the party." During the last Dominion elections, to show the benefit of a high tariff policy, the Bridge Works were kept open—at a loss it is to be fairly assumed—for, immediately after the election they closed down. That is, when there was no necessity of making a show of the beneficent results of the National Policy in promoting manufactures and giving employment to labour, there was no use in running the works at a loss. Under these circumstances, it seems like base ingratitude for the Government to take away the contract from the lowest tender and give it to a firm which had enjoyed the benefits of the profits involved in $795,000 of extras. That's the way the money goes. We have great difficulty in getting the government to give for a bridge over waters under its control and over a stream which is part of a canal system which with great flourish of trumpets it has fathered—the bridge over the Otonabee at Rose's, a grant equivalent to that given by the Ontario Government. In fact we don't know whether ever that will be given when at least double the amount should be put in the estimates for the bridge at Rose's. It is a significant fact that this bridge will cost just the amount that has been squandered by "counting out" the tender of the Bridge Works—$13,000—the difference between the latter's tender and the fancy figure allowed to Ryan & Co.

THE Mail and Empire in a lucid moment of liberality, asks why a statue of Hon. Alex. Mackenzie "should stand on Parliament Hill?" Why not, indeed, though the memory of an honest man, deeply shrined in the breast of honest Canadians, hardly needs the reminiscent suggestiveness of a statute to keep it green. If such a statue were erected the masonry of it would have to be of such solid work as the honest old stonecutter statesman himself would have put into it, for the statue of honest Alex. Mackenzie would be in a perpetual condition of shudder at the administrative iniquity that prevails in the departments, and at the scamp work employed in the building of a great nation.

THEY DIED TOGETHER

Tragic End of Two Toronto Characters.

TOOK POISON ON THE ROADSIDE.

Robert Hamilton and Nellie Why Start on a Tramp Together, the Latter Dressed in Man's Clothes Discovered in the Throes of Death—An Inquest Opened.

Toronto, Ont., June 18.—Memories of the Middle-road tragedy have been aroused in the little village of Port Credit by the mysterious death on the roadside three miles west of that place of Robert Hamilton and Nellie Why, two characters well-known to the city police.

The two were found on the roadside just west of Lorne Park Sunday evening by Dr Stuart, 197 Spadina-avenue, who was driving eastward from Oakville, where he had been spending the day.

Every circumstance pointed to death by poisoning. Both suffered intense agony before death, the man's tightly-clenched hands showing that his sufferings were especially severe. Besides the bodies were found, in addition to the bottle containing electric oil, a bottle, the previous contents of which could not be ascertained at the time, and a number of old umbrellas and umbrella fixings. On the body was found a paper on which were written a number of addresses, some of which are: 104 Albert-street, 245 Seaton-street, 36 Sully-crescent, 232 Chestnut-street, 188 River-street, 240 Sackville, 69 St. David, 279 Sumach, 24 Berkeley, and 140 Ossington-avenue. On a letter-head of A. A. Alexander, hatter and furrier, 486 Queen-street, Toronto, was written on this note:

"You miserable little cur; did you ever do any work for me that you did not get paid for? I will manage to get even with you for your action in this matter."

The name of William Garratt, 115 Palmerston-avenue, is attached. Twenty cents, which had been given him Saturday evening by a charitable villager remained unspent.

A flask which had contained water and a small bag containing a few scraps of bread and meat were also found.

A search of the clothing worn by the woman revealed nothing. The bodies were removed to port Credit, where a shed was turned into a temporary morgue.

A thorough enquiry in the neighborhood into the actions of the deceased during the 36 hours immediately preceding their death, leads to the belief that the unfortunates had became tired of existence, and, agreeing to die together, procured a quantity of poison and drank equally of it. Where they got the poison is a mystery. Their first appearance in the neighborhood was on Saturday evening, when they called at Hamilton's general store and asked for methylated spirits. Messrs. Hamilton did not keep it in stock, and on being so informed, the man asked to be directed to a druggtore. He was told that Cooksville was the nearest point at which he could procure the drug.

They called at several village houses, soliciting alms, and about 9.30 stopped at the house of Mrs. Miller, half a mile west of the general store, and were given a drink of water. Mrs. Miller also filled the flask which the man produced from his coat pocket.

They were not seen again until Sunday evening, about 7 o'clock, when the man called at the house of Samuel Brass, near where they died, and, complaining of severe cramps in the stomach, asked for something to relieve him.

"I have nothing but Eclectric oil," said Mr. Brass.

"That will do; I will be glad to take anything," said Hamilton.

Five minutes later Alexander Durie and his wife saw the man get over the fence just west of Lorne Park, and stooping over, take the head of the woman on his arm and endeavor to compel her to partake of the contents of a bottle which he held to her lips.

It is thought the poison had been previously taken, but the pain produced being greater than had been anticipated, brought the man too realisation of the consequences of their act, and sent him in search of a means of averting them.

That the woman feared death less than he, was shown in her struggles to prevent th eman from administering the medicine. Miss Bertie Albertson also passed a few moments later and saw them in the position in which they were when Mr. Durie drove by.

When the same lady returned from church they were then lying outside the fence, having since managed to climb over. She passed close enough to them hear the man say: "Emma, I am dying." "Oh, my God!" returned the woman, who then fell back as though she, too, were under the throes of death.

It was immediately after this Dr. Stuart arrived, as already described.

Dr. Heggie empanelled a jury at the Town Hall yesterday afternoon to hold an inquest. After taking the evidence of Constables Shaver and Shaver an adjournment was made until Thursday evening.

Dr. Heggie, Jr., of Brampton and Oldright of Toronto held a post mortem examination of the bodies last night.

The dead man is Robert Hamilton, and until recently he lived at 254 Victoria-street. He was a hatter by trade, but has been an umbrella mender and a general tinker. At one time he was employed by Strachan & Hay, hat manufacturers, Esplanade. He was known to the police, having been arrested several times for drunkenness. He formerly lived in Hamilton, where his brother William now resides. He has a sister, a Miss Hamilton, who lives in Black Rock, near Buffalo, N.Y. She is supposed to be in easy circumstances, as she frequently supplied deceased with funds. He also has a nephew residing at Toronto Junction. He has a wife supposed to be living in Rochester, N.Y. On Saturday last he told persons in Toronto that he was going away, that he would first go to Hamilton to see his brother William, from whom he expected to raise some money; that he was going to take a woman with him, and would dress her as a boy, as it would betoo much trouble for her to get along in men's clothes.

The woman is Nellie Why, who has been a source of trouble to the Toronto police for the past 15 years. She was arrested here about five weeks ago. She was once a mistress of the notorious Jim Daly, who is now serving a term in Kingston Penitentiary, and previous to taking up with him consorted with Charlie Why, a well-known character who died [illegible] pipe] last around Toronto [illegible] sons, her age was about 35, and the police state that she was one of the worst characters in Toronto. When last arrested she claimed to be an American by birth. She had been living with Hamilton for some time in different streets in the city.

BIGAMIST AS WELL AS FORGER.

The Reason Simon Pizer Tried to Commit Suicide to Avoid Arrest Now Made Plain.

Toronto, June 18.—Simon Pizer, who was arrested last week on a charge of forgery, and who is now in jail awainting trial will find it necessary to answer to a charge of bigamy as well. On March 27 last, Pizer, who went by the name of Jake Baker, was married by Rev. Isaac Tovell of Hamilton to Miss Kavanagh of 24 Wood-street west, Hamilton. Baker was trying to raise money by forgery with which to secure a divorce from his first wife, Rachel Cohen, to whom he was married in Rochester, N.Y., last December. Wife No. 2 was living with Baker in this city when he was arrested, and when Baker heard the officer's voice at the door he tried to end his own life by cutting his throat, but made a miserable failure of the attempt. Miss Kavanagh's relatives will prosecute Baker or Pizer for bigamy.

Thieves Fire, Then Loot a Town.

Greenville, Ohio, June 17.—Fire started at 10.30 last night in the rear of Mosart's store. The flames quickly spread to adjoining buildings and soon the heart of the business centre was ablaze. The fire was the work of incendiaries, and in the excitement thieves looted the town. Loss $225,000; insurance $50,000.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON

WAS ALMOST LOST.

A Lady Who Dreaded Insanity!

TERRIBLE SUFFERINGS FROM A COMPLICATION OF TROUBLES.

Paine's Celery Compound Effects a Complete Cure.

Note well the list of terrible troubles that brought Mrs. A. Legault, of St. Andre St., Montreal, to the verge of the grave; headache, sleeplessness, nervous prostration and loss of memory.

There are thousands of women in Canada who suffer every day from the same life-destroying troubles, who can be cured as completely as was Mrs. Legault. It matters not in how bad a broken-down a condition the nervous system may be, Paine's Celery Compound will quickly reach the seat of trouble and effect a cure. Nerve troubles and diseases of any form and character, yield at once to the virtues and power of nature's great medicine. When positive proof is produced regarding the efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound, it is suicidal and foolish to experiment with unknown and deceptive medicines.

Mrs. Legault, who particularly desires to benefit women, writes as follows:

"I cannot help telling all sufferers what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I would have been a lost woman had I continued six months longer in suffering. My case was a bad one. Headache, insomina, nervous prostration and loss of memory, made up my troubles, and I feared they would lead to insanity. I went to several doctors, who treated me with all their skill, but I did not get any better. As I am the mother of seven children I became disheartened with failures and being obliged to spend so much money. My friends advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle gave me little relief, but the second began to work miraculously on my nerves. I continued using the Compound, and after taking nine bottles I can positively say I am cured."

IMPERIAL COMMONS.

Sir Richard Webster Objects to the Sealing Bill.

NO STATUE TO OLIVER CROMWELL.

Justin McCarthy Characterized the Proposal as an Insult to Ireland—Mr. Morley Follows With an Apologetic Speech—The Grant Defeated by 220 to 83.

London, June 18.—In the House of Commons yesterday Sir Edward Grey, Under Foreign Secretary, stated that in January last United States Ambassador Bayard informed Lord Kimberley, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, that the United States Government would gladly lend its good offices to arbitrate the dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela. The position was explained to Mr. Bayard, and the British Government was ready to submit to arbitration within certain limits, but they could not agree in regard to the extensive references upon which Venezuela insisted.

The House resumed the debate on the sealing bill introduced by Sir Edward Grey.

Sir Richard Webster, ex-Attorney-General, and one of the British counsel before the Behring Sea tribunal of arbitations, contended that the Government ought to make some statement to show the necessity for a measure limiting the rights of British subjects.

The debate was adjourned.

The report of the Committee of Supply was then taken up. The question of striking out the appropriation of £500 for a statue of Cromwell was brought up again.

Justin McCarthy, leader of the anti-Parnellites, moved to reduce the estimate £500 as a protest against the expenditure of public money for a statue of Cromwell within the precincts of Parliament. The motion was identical with that offered by Mr. Hayden on Friday last. Mr. McCarthy said that Cromwell's place in Irish tradition was similar to that of the Duke of Alva in the traditions of the Netherlands. Cromwell, he added, was Ireland's most ruthless enemy. He could not understand how a Liberal Government, especially a Home Rule Government, found it in its mind and intelligence to insult the Irish people by proposing that they contribute out of the national resources money for the erection of such a statue.

John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, avowed the fullest sympathy with the emotions and yearnings of the Irish people. He admitted that he was surprised to learn that the ire which existed 256 years ago still burned with such intensity. Cromwell's Irish policy was stained dwith crime and was a great political blunder. It was the greatest blot on his illustrious name, but he was one of the greatest rulers who ever swayed the realm. He was the founder of England's naval greatness and kept her head higher than ever before or since among the powers of Europe, but in view of the attitude of the Irish and some English members it was clear that the statue could not be the testimony of a truly national sentiment. Mr. Morley added that he would not object to the withdrawal of the vote.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, spoke in a similar strain.

Mr. Edward Saunderson, Conservative member for North Armagh, said he would support the original intention of the Govment. He admired Cromwell. Some of his severities in Ireland might be excused in view of the massacres of Protestants that had preceded his going to that country.

A. J. Balfour, the Conservative leader, opposed the motion.

Mr. McCarthy's motion was carried by a vote of 220 to 83.

MANITOBA AND THE SCHOOLS.

Commencement of the Debate in the Legislature.

Winnipeg, Man., June 18.—Debate on the reply of the Manitoba Government to the Remedial School Order from Ottawa was begun in the Legislature late in the afternoon. Premier Greenway first introduced the matter by mosing a resolution setting forth Manitoba's position as contained in the notice given Thursday last. His speech was a defence of Manitoba's present school laws and an argument that the Dominion Government exceeded its power in demanding of Manitoba that a change should be made in her school laws. His Government had no desire to catch the popular vote on this question by appealing to the electore as had been done in such a case. Their desire was to keep the question clear of a political campaign. He considered the order from Ottawa was an arbitrary one and the Legislature could not do otherwise than reject it as Manitobans could not return to the wretched system of Catholic separate schools existing prior to 1890.

Mr. Armstrong, leader of the Opposition, one of the chief opponents of Manitoba's national school system, followed Premier Greenway in defence of the Separate schools. It was time that the present system was a popular one, he said, but that gave no reason for the oppression of the minority. The Catholics did not ask that the state of things existing five years ago, should be resorted to, but they did ask that they be allowed to give the children of their church proper religious training.

Attorney-General Sifton seconded Premier Greenway's motion, in reply to the Ottawa order. His speech was devoted to the constitutional side of the case, and the objects of the Ottawa order. His contention was the Imperial Privy Council of England had given no mandatory order that the Dominion Government should foist a parachoical school system on Manitoba. The province had the right to make her own educational laws.

AN ILLINOIS SENSATION.

A Lady of Union County Recovers Her Health in a Marvellous Manner.

Anna, Illinois, June 17—A very interesting case of recovery from a very complicated form of kidney trouble has taken place here, and the details are gradually being made public. The sufferer was Miss M. T. Loomis, who for a long time has been a victim of severe pains in all parts of the body. She consulted a number of doctors and was treated for a great variety of complaints, the diagnosis all proving faulty. At length she determined to try Dood's Kidney Pills, having read and heard much of their efficacy and found her expectations justified in a complete cure.

Consumption Was Feared.

DEAR SIRS,—Over three years ago I was troubled with a nasty cough and really thought I would go into consumption. A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Clean Your Pipes.

I have discovered a new method for cleaning pipes which have become foul. A shallow cork, through which a hole is bored large enough to enable it to fit tightly to the nozzle of a soda water siphon, is fitted into the bowl. The nozzle is inserted, the mouthpiece directed into a vessel, about a wine glass full of soda water forced through and the pipe is clean. This is not a scientific discovery, but it may be of use to those scientific men who are smokers. Rubber stoppers answer better than corks.

First Communion and Confirmation.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, arrived in town on Saturday, says the Lindsay Post and in the afternoon examined a large class of children as to their knowledge of the catechism and fitness to receive holy communion for the first time at early mass Sunday morning. A large number was confirmed by his Lordship, and the ceremonies were very interesting and impressive. On Monday evening the pupils of St. Joseph's convent tender a reception to his lordship, and an attractive programme was provided for the occasion.

THE VOTE ON THE MONEY BY-LAWS YESTERDAY.

The Ballots Cast Were Few and Far Between and Little Interest Was Manifested in the Result.

The result of yesterday's vote on the by-laws to raise funds for the erection of a bridge at Auburn and for an addition to the South Ward school resulted in the defeat of the Auburn bridge by-law and the passage of the one concerning the school.

The votes in the different wards were polled as appended:

THE AUBURN BRIDGE.

	For.	Against.
Ward One	37	101
Ward Two	21	42
Ward Three	33	53
Ward Four	75	24
	166	220

Majority against by-law.....54

THE SCHOOL BY-LAW.

	For.	Against.
Ward One	44	66
Ward Two	23	21
Ward Three	46	35
Ward Four	51	27
	169	151

Majority in favour of by-law.....18

[It is surprising the little interest that the ratepayers seem to manifest in matters of public concern. Here are two by-laws voted upon which involve an expenditure of about ten thousand dollars, and it is astonishing the smallness of the vote polled. What is still more remarkable is that No. 1 Ward should pronounce against the bylaw, in view of the fact that it was entirely in their interests that the expenditure of $6,500 was proposed. This amount should, and, doubtless, will make the South Ward building what it should have been made in the first place, and will for two or three years give ample accommodation, and then, if the population increases as in the past ratio, the question of building a new schoolhouse further south will be considered. Even then there will be no excess of school accommodation and it will doubtless be found that the present proposed addition was necessary.

As to the bridge bylaw, the result indicates a pretty general opinion on the part of the ratepayers that its erection is unnecessary; yet it cannot be denied that the structure would have been a public convenience, especially to the vicinity. In view of the slender vote on an expenditure of $10,000, is it any wonder that our civic affairs are peculiarly managed. The people themselves seem to be largely responsible.

OTONABEE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

It Will be Held in the River Road Union Sunday School Hall, on Tuesday Next.

As Tuesday, June 25, is to be decoration Day, the date of the Otonabee Sunday School convention has been changed to Wednesday, June 26. There will be an afternoon session at 2.30, and an evening session at 7.30, to both of which the public are cordially invited.

The members of River Road Union Sunday School, in whose hall opposite Stewart's school, the convention is to be held, have arranged to entertain the delegates who attend the afternoon session.

Among the topics to be discussed are Primary Work, Home Class Department, Normal Work, and the Relations of the Y. P.S.C.E. to S. S. Work. There will also be a report from each school, and a closing consecration service.

Rev. J. J. Rae, Dr. Harrison, Mrs. Duncan, the Provincial Primary Secretary, Rev. A. McWilliams and others have promised to assist.

It is hoped each school will be well represented at both sessions, and that there will be a report, oral or written, from each school.

Had No Gratitude.

An odd circumstance occurred on Friday last, when a young Englishman applied at Mr. Geo. Reid's Employment Bureau for work. As he appeared to be in very straightened circumstances Mr. Reid took him to his father's farm to work for a few days until he could find him more suitable employment. Two days later the young man disappeared at the same time as did a suit of clothes and a watch from the farm house. The Englishman was traced to Omemee, where Mr. Reid found him, to ride back into town with him and turn him over to the authorities. He will probably be given a hearing to-morrow before Mr. Edmison, County Police Magistrate.

LINKED IN CRIME THEY DIE TOGETHER.

HENDERSHOT AND WELTER ARE HANGED THIS MORNING.

This Morning the Death Sentence Against John Hendershot and William D. Welter, for the Murder of W. H. Hendershot, on Dec. 14th, 1894, was Carried Out at the Jail in St. Thomas.

The crime for which these two men were, it is to be assumed, justly condemned, was a most fiendish one in its cool deliberateness. A heavy insurance was placed upon the life of the young man Hendershot, and to secure on the policy made in favour of the uncle the young man was fiendishly murdered, and the body placed under a fallen tree to lead to the belief that death was the result of an accident. After patient investigation and full trial of the charges, Hendershot and Welter were condemned to be hanged, which, assuming their guilt, of which there is little doubt, most righteous sentence was carried into execution this morning.

Both men had a fair chance for their lives. Every effort was made to secure the interference of Executive clemency in prolonging their days, but without success. The law took its course.

The night preceding the execution both men slept well, and the Rev. Mr. Spencer, their spiritual adviser, was unremitting in his attentions. Radcliffe, the professional hangman, was in attendance and attended to the last dreadful toilet of the condemned men with his accustomed coolness. The actual death act passed off without any deviation from the programme of the grim executioner.

OFF TO THE WARS.

Embarkation of the Volunteer Troops for the Brigade Camp, Kingston.

This morning the Grand Trunk station and yards were a scene of unusual bustle. There was the blaze of scarlet coats; the sharp voice of command, the tramp of armed men, the clank of sabres, the jingle of accoutrements, the neigh of the war horse. This was between nine and ten o'clock, when all the bustle should have been over and the local warriors bowling along well on their way to the brigade camp Kingston. But there was the usual bungle in the militia department at Ottawa where it seems that the officials when they get beyond fuss and feathers and come to anything practical, get tangled up like a raw company on drill under a raw officer. The first route that was decided on was cancelled, and the Springville company that should have entrained at Fraserville, and be joined by B Troop of Cavalry at Millbrook, had to come to Peterborough, as well as B Troop, and till 10.10 the volunteers were kicking their heels on the station platform. Such treatment of the men and inconvenience of railway officials is inexcusable. If such bungles are made in the piping times of peace, what can be expected in time of war? An enemy could gain a pretty strong footing while soldiers and officers were dangling three hours around a railway station, figuratively praying for "night or Blucher."

THE LOCAL FORCES.

The volunteers that entrained at Peterborough consisted of,

No. 5 Company of the 46th Battalion, consisting of two officers and 42 non-commissioned officers and men, under command of Capt. T. J. Johnston, Lieut. J. D. Thornton, Omemee, second in command. Considering the fact that eight days ago the company had their drill hall at Springville and a large part of their accoutrements burned, the officers and men deserve great credit for turning out in such strong force and presenting so smart a military appearance. Our volunteers are all right if the militia authorities only halt backed them up and gave them decent treatment.

C Troop of the 3rd Regiment Prince of Wales Dragoons, turned out in good strength, 48 men and horses, under command of Capt. W. D. Johnston, Lieut. W. R. Bradburn and 2nd Lieut. Tate, Dr. Johnston, V.S., troop surgeon.

B Troop of Cavalry, Millbrook, turned out 39 horses and 42 officers and men; Capt. Sutton, commanding, Lt. Hutchinson, 2nd Lt. H. A. Lempriere, and Dr. Tanner, V.S., Troop Surgeon.

Col. Rogers commands the regiment in camp.

It was ten minutes after ten before the last of the troops were able to leave. The delay, caused by first fixing a route and then changing it without notifying the local railway authorities, was a source of great annoyance to both officers and men, and of derangement of the regular traffic of the railway.

A VOICE FROM TURKEY.

The Address of Mesrob Baghdasarian at the Baptist Church Last Night.

A fair congregation literally, as well as figuratively, considering it was composed almost entirely of ladies, assembled in the school room of the Murray Street Baptist Church, to listen to the address of an Armenian missionary, whose name being mentioned in the heading is on account of space omitted here. The chair was occupied by Mr. E. A. Stanley, and after devotions the speaker appeared. He prefaced his address on the social customs of Turkey by singing a hymn to the air of "God Save the Queen," in his native tongue—the Armenian, and also the hymn, "Shall we Gather at the River," as well as a hymn in the Turkish language. The speaker was attired in Armenian costume, consisting of a scarlet fez, which was worn during the address, and a flowing fawn coloured gown, wide sleeves with broad bars of white.

A brief sketch was given of Constantinople, which was declared to be distinguished on account of its beauty of site, the cosmopolitan nature of its population and and its dogs and beggars, the abundance of both being accounted for by reason of it being a merit, according to the Moslem religion, to feed a dog or feed a beggar. Armenia was also briefly described. It is watered by the rivers Euphrates and Tigris, its soil is fertile, the most luscious fruits abound and the country is rich in minerals of all kinds, yet in spite of all this wealth of soil and fruit and mineral the people are exceedingly poor, owing to the paralysing effect of Turkish oppression.

The wretched and degraded condition of the women under Mahomedanism was vividly depicted and an earnest appeal made to the women present to help to send the light of the Gospel to them.

The domestic and educational practices were described and illustrated. The illustration of school methods by means of a boy was very amusing. The bastinado was applied in the schools with cruel severity. Blackboard examples of Turkish writing, which reads from left to right were given and the speaker's address throughout was greatly enjoyed, especially by the youngesters present. The speaker at the conclusion of his remarks exhibited several Turkish utensils and articles of dress.

"Feed the Brute!"

Was the answer made by a dear little woman who had married a crusty old bachelor. She had been asked by some friends how she kept him in good humor—and there was a lot of force in her argument, for an appeal to a man's stomach never fails to bring him round. FAREWELL RECEPTION TO REV. C. B. KENRICK.

THE CONGREGATION EXPRESSES ITS SORROW AT LOSING HIM.

The Sunday School Crowded With His Friends Anxious to Wish him God Speed to his new Sphere of Work—A Number of Presentations and Addresses—Kind Words Spoken During the Evening.

The spirit which prompted the farewell reception to Rev. C. B. Kenrick on the eve of his departure to assume charge of St. Mark's church, Port Hope, was so very evident in the faces and actions of those present in St. John's school house last night as to necessarily be highly complimentary to the curate, who has so won the love and affection of those with whom he has been associated for the past six or seven years.

The school house was never so beautifully decorated on any previous occasion. Mr. Alf. Kingscote undertook to look after the draping of the walls and the work was done in a masterly manner. Flags and pennants were lavishly displayed on all sides, hanging from the ceiling, and being tastefully arranged around the platform and windows.

The ladies of the congregation looked after the floral decorations, and spared no trouble or expense in transforming the school house into a veritable bower of floral tributes. Marguerites, ferns and wild peonies abounded on all sides, being intermingled with costly orchids and other potted and cut flowers. Suspended over the platform was the curate's monogram, "C.B.K.," tastefully arranged in marguerites.

Butcher's fine orchestra was present and played a number of delightful selections during the evening. Misses Boucher and Lewis opened the musical programme with a brilliant instrumental duet, after which Miss Clara Clark and Mr. Maitland Boswell sang that particularly pretty vocal duet, "When the Wind Blows Over the Sea."

Miss Scheak's rendition of "Friends" was greatly appreciated. Her intonation and phrasing were particularly noticeable, while her clear pronounciation was a matter of general comment. The song was one particularly and Rev. Mr. Davidson referred to it later on in the evening. Miss Scheak also sang "Hosannah in Excelsis."

Mr. Lount's song "Wilt Thou Remember Me" was also chosen as one harmonizing with Mr. Kenrick's departure, and was sung with good effect.

Mrs. Stapleton also contributed a vocal solo to the programme, and her rich notes were heard to good advantage in the hall.

At the conclusion of the musical programme, Rev. Mr. Davidson ascended the platform and stated that he supposed all were aware that they had assembled together to do honour to the man who by his tender solicitude for others, and by his consistent life for the past six and a half years had won the love and esteem of the entire parish.

Mr. Davidson thought that occasions such as the present made the path of life much easier to tread. Encouragement was thereby shown of efforts made, and appreciation did much to buoy one up when the spirit was on the point of sinking.

He was perfectly well aware of how much Mr. Kenrick

WOULD BE MISSED,

but thought it wiser not to refer or direct attention to this aspect of the case, as it would put those present into a frame of mind too sad to contemplate. He would rather think of the matter in the way in which Miss Scheak's beautiful song had referred to a separation of friends:

A trembling grasp of loving hands,
A broken prayer, a whisper low,
And they are gone to other lands,
But they are ours where'er they go.
New lands and other skies,
New scenes and other ties,
But let them wander where they will
We know we have their old hearts still.

He thought the expression referring to the heart was particularly apt. Though Mr. Kenrick was gone from them, all would feel they had his heart with them yet, no matter where he wandered.

Mr. Kenrick, he said, had been the recipient of many touching mementoes within the last few days. One in particular had been accompanied by a card upon which was written, "To Mr. Kenrick with remembrances of many kindly and helpful words."

NO GREATER TRIBUTE

could be paid a man than to be reminded of helpful words spoken. Then again the monogram in flowers suspended from the ceiling spoke volumes of the love which had inspired its dainty manufacture. These little things all touched one.

All knew his feelings regarding the separation from one with whom he had worked so harmoniously for over six years, and he knew all experienced in different degrees the same feeling.

Mr. Davidson then called upon Mr. Kenrick to come forward to the platform, where he would be in a better position to hear a word or two which the churchwardens had to say to him.

Mr. R. Max Dennistoun, the rector's warden, was the next speaker. Turning to Mr. Kenrick, he stated that at the last meeting of the vestry it had heard with great sorrow of Mr. Kenrick's intention to leave Peterborough. The vestry, though learning of this decision with pain, considered it a pleasure to be able to record their feelings in the matter, and took further pleasure in being able to present the

FOLLOWING FRAMED RESOLUTION:

Resolved,—That this Vestry has learned with unfeigned regret of the resignation of the Rev. C. B. Kenrick, who, during the six years of his Curacy, has been indefatigable in the discharge of the important duties which have devolved upon him and who, by his lively interest in the boys and young men of the parish, and by his constant intercourse with and unceasing hospitality to them has, it is felt, been able to lead many of them in the path of rectitude, not only by the inculcation of manly virtues, but by an example of patience and amiability. This Vestry cannot permit Mr. Kenrick to depart from Peterborough without expressing its deep appreciation of his untiring devotion to his work, which, they believe, has in no small measure contributed to the present satisfactory condition of the parish. The excellence of the choir of St. John's has become a by-word throughout the diocese, and this is entirely due to Mr. Kenrick's skill and tact as a choirmaster. While congratulating him upon his well deserved promotion to the position of rector, although accepting much smaller emolument, the Vestry feel that Mr. Kenrick has again evinced, as he has throughout his residence among us, his complete unselfishness and disregard for pecuniary considerations when concerned with a call to his Master's service. The Vestry will long keep in affectionate remembrance the years that Mr. Kenrick has passed in this parish, and they unite in the prayer that God's richest blessings may rest upon the work in which he is about to engage."

The reading of the resolutio evoked great applause from those assembled.

Mr. Dennistoun proceeded with his remarks by expressing the opinion that the wardens in this resolution were conveying the exact intentions of the vestry.

There was another body connected with the church, termed the congregation, and he believed that they had entrusted their warden, Mr. Harry Long, with a wallet for presentation.

Mr. Long then stepped forward and, expressing the great pleasure it gave him to be the medium through whom the gift was made, presented Mr. Kenrick with a purse of one hundred dollars.

Rev. Mr. Kenrick then undertook to reply to the complimentary references which had had been made to him, but was so overcome at times as to have to cease his remarks.

In opening Mr. Kenrick stated that he supposed all sympathized with him in his present position, as one exceptionally hard to fill. He wished to express his thanks for the kindnesses which had been showered upon him lately which were utterly unintelligible and incomprehensible to him. He was sure of the many kind things which had been said of him and could only say he thought the members of the congregation must be very blind and very indulgent to think of him as they apparently did. He was not leaving Peterborough with any feeling of pride for the work he had done here, but rather with the thoughts of that which he had left undone. One of the principal reasons, indeed, which induced him to leave was the thought that he might make a fresh start and do better in a new sphere

The many, many tokens of love and sympathy which he had received had touched him unexpressibly. One present in particular had touched his heart, being a magnificently bound edition of Hymns Ancient and Modern, with the following words inscribed on the title page:

"I wish you good-bye in the good old sense, 'God be with you.'"

He wished to thank publicly

THOSE SPECIAL FRIENDS

who had given him such kind and thoughtful mementoes. He would value them as being given by those he loved to one they loved.

His many friends had often said to him that he would not be far away and that he could come up often, but this could not be for some time, as he had been so identified with and wrapt up in the church, that he never could bear to see a stranger in his place.

He had tried as well as he could to say good-bye to everyone in the parish, and if he failed to go around to all it was not through lack of effort to do so. He had been unable to see some of his dear friends in the South Ward, and also some living in the country, but was sure they would understand the circumstances.

In going away from Peterborough, it was not a matter of distance, but the thought of severing a tie

INEXPRESSIBLY PRECIOUS.

In coming back, he would feel that it was not to his own spiritual children, but to some one else's

He hoped many would write to him and come to see him in Port Hope. He did not know the number of the street he was going to live upon, not because the streets were not numbered as he heard someone intimate, but he had not inquired. He was a citizen of Port Hope now and he warned all against any attempt to poke fun at that town as he was there as a citizen to speak up for it.

Rev. Mr. Andrews was then called on for a few remarks. He observed that it would be quite out of place and against Mr. Kenrick's wishes to sing the praises which had already been done so well by those who knew him far better than he. He had been asked quite unexpectedly to be the spokesman for the congregation of the south ward and to make this presentation for them. He then handed to Mr. Kenrick a magnificent of the most beautiful design, He asked Mr. Kenrick not to value the gift for its intrinsic worth, but for the feelings which prompted it.

He had only been in town for four short months and his work had not lain with that of Mr. Kenrick to any great extent, but in the little he had seen of the man he had learned how much he was loved and esteemed by the congregation.

Mr. Kenrick stated that he particularly desired to express his appreciation to the mission people for their remembrance of him. Although there were many new faces in that congregation, yet many were still there to whom he had ministered in his earlier days in Peterborough, when the work of building the mission had been prosecuted so vigourously. All had his warmest affection and regard.

Mr. Alf. Kingscote then stepped upon the platform. He was sure the deep regret which the choir felt at parting with Mr. Kenrick. The congregation had appreciated him, as was amply evidenced by the reception which was being accorded him this evening, and perhaps when it was known what pains he had taken with the choir, some idea of the overflowing hearts which he left behind might be gathered. Mr. Kenrick had spared no pains to make the choir efficient, and in losing him all felt that one of the dearest of friends had gone from them.

ALL WOULD UNDERSTAND

Mr. Harry Varnes then stepped forward with a most handsome silver five o'clock tea set, and presented it to Mr. Kenrick, while Mr. Kingscote read the following address:

To Rev. C. B. Kenrick:

REVEREND AND DEAR SIR,—It is with genuine sorrow and regret that the members of the choir of St. John's view your approaching separation from us.

It is your untiring efforts and interest taken in the musical ritual of our church that have brought the choir to its present perfect condition; your kind loving care of the younger members will be a lasting remembrance, and a bright spot in memory's page for the boys to look back upon in years to come. By your kind, courteous manner you have endeared yourself to every member of the choir.

May He who turns not from the cry of the widow or the wail of the orphan, take you in His holy keeping, guide and assist you in your work in the new field upon which you are about to enter!

Accept, dear sir, this token of the esteem in which you are held by the choir, and when your eyes may rest upon it in the days to come, it will recall to memory many happy evenings passed with us.

Rest assured, dear sir, that you will take with you the loving remembrance of your choir.

We wish you a loving but sorrowful farewell.

On behalf of the choir.

(Signed) MRS. STAPLETON,
MRS. SEYMOUR,
H. VARNES,
A. KINGSCOTTE,
MAITLAND BOSWELL,
FRED SAWERS.

Peterborough, June 17th, 1896.

It was some minutes before Mr. Kenrick was able to respond, being so greatly affected by the kind words and magnificent gift.

As so much of his time had been spent with the choir, the members of it had grown very dear to him and he almost felt as though he couldn't tear himself away. He was painfully conscious of being at times impatient with the choir, but their beautiful gift was ample evidence that they had forgotten all this.

He was glad to be able to announce that Mr. Harry Varnes had agreed to look after the interests of the choir hereafter and he appealed to the members to carry on the work with the same zeal as heretofore. It would be the highest compliment the choir could pay him to remember what he had taught them and to take as great an interest in the future as they had in the past.

When Mr. Kenrick concluded his remarks, Mr. Davidson asked the question, "Does Mr. Kenrick go to Port Hope backed by the best wishes, prayers and sympathy of his friends here?" The spontaneous "Aye" which answered the question could almost have been heard in Port Hope, and doubtless as its echoes reverberate in that town they will prove an encouragement to Mr. Kenrick in his work amongst strangers.

Ample refreshments, which had been provided by the ladies of the congregation, were partaken of at this juncture, after which the reception was closed by the singing of "Son of My Soul," and the pronunciation of the benediction by Rev. Mr. Kenrick.

GOUGH BROS

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

375 and 377 George Street, June 14.

The Month Of Roses!

JUNE, the month of Roses, inaugurates the season for light-weight Clothing, at Reduced prices for Men, Youths and Boys. Before the June roses are all gone we expect that most of our present stock of Summer Clothing will have gone also, if sales keep on as they are doing the past two weeks. As the mercury in the thermometer ascends, the sales of our Cool Clothing ascends correspondingly, and unless you prepare for summer heat now, half your time will be spent in trying to keep cool. Every corner of our two big stores has a summer-like, hot-weather appearance. But, figuratively speaking, Gough Bros. is the coolest Clothing House in Canada during the hot days of June—because Gough Bros. prices are always below zero.

Perhaps We're Wrong.

We're sometimes blamed for selling things too cheap—but just now we're not making any apologies. We're working for "the greatest good to the greatest number"—and the way customers crowd the store every day shows that the public is abundantly satisfied with good things being cheap and cheap things being good.

What Counts.

What counts in purchasing is the comfort of knowing you made a good bargain. Look back a few years ago and compare the store of to-day with the business as you knew it then. Study the trend of values during the same period. Prices have been gradually reduced in proportion as facilities were enlarged.

Every now and then we are accused of underselling, when we merely do our duty—by you, and sell as low as we can. Dollars and cents—cents and dollars—with a leaning towards the store that gives the best values, and a disposition to trade where prices are lowest—that's the yard stick to measure by.

Summer Suits.

Men are apt to feel the summer heat more now than later on in the season. They need thin, comfortable Clothing now, and nobody wants to pay more than is necessary. Don't put off coming until late in the day if you can help it. Saturdays are our crowd days, when everybody's in a hurry. Better come now.

When the mercury is simmering, remember that we have the comfort you need. Very many bargains are here for people of narrow means, and values are generally good all along the line.

A great thing for a man who aims to succeed is to look well. Everybody is judged, more or less, by appearance. It doesn't cost much to possess stylish furnishings if you buy at Gough Bros.

Not Much of a Trick.

It's not much of a trick to sell Straw Hats at this season of the year, although some of the regular hat dealers may have to hustle to do it and get their fancy prices. If we had to sell Hats alone, we might have to hustle, too, but we don't have to. It's as easy as looking down a well. The Hat maker usually loads up the regular Hat dealers at good, plump figures, and when he finds he has an immovable load left he calls in the live general retail clothier and bids him take them at his own price—but take them. That's one of the ways we get in our best work. GOUGH BROS. have helped several such hat manufacturers out of a hole, and it accounts for the special price festival we have been holding in Hats the past few weeks. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade; but were the SELLERS and that suits us just as well.

—Gents' Fine Straw Hats 25c, worth 40 cents.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 50c, worth $1.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 75c, worth $1.50.
—Men's Straw Hats in lightweight, wide and narrow rims, 50c to $1.50.
—Boys' Hats, in every style, from 15c to 75c.
—Children's Sailors 10c, 25c.
—Tweed Hats 20c, 25c.
—Men's Tourists, 75c.
—Men's Christy Hats, all sizes 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $2 and $3.
—Fedoras, all popular shades, qualities and sizes, for Men and Boys, as low as 70c, as high as $3.

That's enough to prove our interest in your welfare. We have a complete assortment, and prices are low enough to capture your trade.

Tan Shoes.

A discussion is just now bothering some people as to whether or no, Tan Shoes are cooler than black in hot weather. The question is easily answered: Nothing is fashionable long that does not combine comfort with style of late years no two things have added more to a mitigation of hot-weather discomfort than the brown shoe and the outing shirt.

We have tan shoes in all sizes, for men, women and children, and seem to have no difficulty in disposing of all we can get.

There's no jobbers' 25 per cent. on boots in this store—you pay no intermediate profit here. We sell as we buy.

—First quality Canvas Oxfords, kid-faced, white, tans and greys.
—Russian Tan Oxfords, in dark and light colours, hand-turned soles and welts; tan overgaiters to match.
—Nobby street shoe in patent leather vamp, kid quarter, opera and Philadelphia toe.
—Tennis shoes, all sorts and sizes.
—Men's Tan Shoes, kid lined $1.15.
—Misses' Tan Balmorals and Button Boots $1.
—Woman's Tan Balmorals $1 a pair.
—Ladies' hand-made Tan Oxfords $1.25.
—Hand-made Button Boots $2.
—Finest American White Canvas $2, $2.50.
—Oxford, hand-made $1.25, $1.50.
—Finest Russian Leather (city made) Oxford, $2.

Our prices may be ruining the shoe trade—we can't help it. We're sorry to injure the shoe trade, but we must look after your interests and keep you posted in right prices.

THE NEW ILLUMINATING GAS.

It Will Soon be Offered for General Use by Householders in New York.

It is reported that acetylene, the new illuminating gas, will soon be offered for general use by householders in New York, arrangements for its manufacture being almost completed. The gas element consists of two molecules of carbon and two of hydrogen, being the lowest in the series of hydro-carbons which enter into many of the products of petroleum and coal tar. It is almost a pure carbon vapor. It can be changed into the liquid form by pressure, and confined in the same kind of cans that are used for the liquidation of carbonic acid gas. The plan for using is to connect these cans with the service pipes, and allow the contents to pass through them, a regulator permitting the liquid to change back to the gaseous form. It requires a specially constructed burner, the one ordinarily used for coal gas being too large. The burners permit the passage of about one cubic foot per hour for a light of fifty candle power. The resulting flame is about an inch wide, three-quarters of an inch high, very brilliant and pure white. It has but half the heating power of the ordinary illuminating gas, and does not vitiate the air so much, as it takes up a relatively small quantity of oxygen. It is claimed that with one foot per hour the new gas will give as much light as a twenty-five candle power gas burner using the ordinary illuminating gas. The cost to consumers is not definitely settled on, but it is stated that if the calcic carbide, which is used as a base, costs $50 per ton the cost of gas to consumers would be equal to about 50 cents per 1,000 feet of ordinary gas, and cheaper carbide would mean correspondingly cheaper illumination.

The discovery of the new gas was purely a matter of accident. The discoverer, Mr. T. L. Wilson, observed that when lime and powdered anthracite were mixed and placed under the influence of electricity a heavy semi-metallic mass was formed. He could see no use for this, and threw the mixture into a pail of water, the result being the formation of a heavy gas amid much effervescence, which burned with a smoky, luminous flame. The compound was found to be calcic carbide, and it was ascertained that the addition of water caused a double decomposition, with the formation of lime and acetylene. One pound of the carbide yields 5.3 cubic feet of acetylene. This is not vastly greater than the quantity of coal gas obtainable from coal by the old process of gas manufacture, but the difference in value may be more than made up for in the superiority of the product per unit of volume, as above indicated, the claim for which remains to be proved to the satisfaction of the general public, though it is said to be vouched for by the New York Society of Chemical Industry, which may be called the god-father of the newly-christened gas.—Chicago Tribune.

The Old Scot's Prayer.

The landing on St. Mary's Isle thoroughly alarmed the coasts, and the name and character of the vessel and her commander were well known. The Ranger being seen beating up the Solway towards the "lang town o' Kirkcaldy," the frightened people assembled on the shore, and presently down came their "meenister," the Rev. Mr. Shirra, lugging a huge arm-chair, which he flung down on the shore, and then plumped himself violently into it. He was short of breath, and very angry with the Deity for permitting such doings as Paul Jones'; and, puffing and blowing, he made the following prayer, which tradition has preserved:

"Now, Lord, dinna ye think it is a shame for ye to send this vile pirate to rob our folk o' Kirkcaldy? For ye ken thew are puir enough already, and hae naething to spare. They are all fairly guid, and it wad be a pity to serve them in sic a wa'. The wa' the wind blows, he'll be here in a jiffy, and wha kens what he may do? He is nane too guid for onything. Mickle's the mischief he has done already. Ony pocket gear they hae gathered thegither he will gang wi' the whole o't, and maybe burn their houses, tak' their claes, and strip them to their sarks! And wae's me! Wha kens but the bluidy villian may tak' their lives. The puir women are maist frightened out o' their wuts, and the bairns skreeking after them. I canna tho't it! I canna tho't it! I hae been long a faithfu' servant to ye, Lord, but gin ye dinna turn the wind about, and blow the scoundrel out o' our gate, I'll nae stir a foot, but just sit here until the tide comes in, and drowns me. Sae tak' your wull o't, Lord."

The prayer appears to have been effective for at that very moment the wind changed and blew "the scoundrel out o' our gate"—Molly Elliott Sewall, in the Century.

PUNISHMENT FOR INEBRIATES.

Drastic Measure Introduced into the Imperial Commons.

New York, June 17.—The Sun's special cable says: The Government has introduced into the House of Lords the promised bill dealing with inebriates, and the provisions of this measure are sufficiently drastic to make sinners tremble. Power is given, not only to the High Court of Justice, but to the County Courts, to commit a person to an Inebriate Licensed Retreat for a term of six months to two years upon the application of a relative or friend, supported by evidence, and the expression, "habitual drunkard" is extended to include any person who is rendered dangerous to himself or others or incapable of managing himself or his affairs through habitual use of opium or any other drug. Even these powers are not sufficient for extreme temperance reformers, who urge that the backslider should be dealt with earlier in his downward course. They propose, therefore, to extend the definition of "habitual drunkard" so as to include any man convicted of drunkenness thrice in two years. As this would hit hard a good many otherwise reputable people, it will be strenuously opposed, but the Government bill itself appears to receive general approval, and will almost certainly become a law at this session should time permit.

Fate of Mexican Negro Colonists.

New York, June 15.—A Recorder special from Mapime, Mexico, says: the bodies of 33 negroes have been found on the plains north of here. The bodies are those of colonists who were brought here from Alabama several months ago. They escaped from the colony, and in their attempt to reach the United States became lost in the desert and are supposed to have perished for lack of food and water.

San Domingo Counterfeits French Coins.

VITALS OF THE UP-TO-DATE OCEAN GREYHOUND.

Interesting Facts and Figures About the Great Ocean Flyers and the Men Who Make Them Go.

There is no one branch of industry in the mercantile marine about which so little is generally known, and the work in which, in proportion to its great importance, is so little understood or appreciated as the engineer's department on a great ocean liner, says a writer in the Brooklyn Eagle.

The engineer's department on each of the great Cunard steamers, Lucania and Campania, consists of 191 men, as follows One chief engineer, 21 engineers, 3 refrigerating engineers, 3 electricians, 3 storekeepers, 1 boilermaker, 3 "donkey" men, 20 greasers, 60 trimmers, and 80 firemen. The Majestic and Teutonic each require the services of from 160 to 170 men in their engine rooms. Of this number 20 are engineers and 60 are firemen. Each watch is made up of at least 6 engineers, 6 greasers, 20 firemen, 14 trimmers, and an electrician and two greasers under him.

DIVIDED INTO WATCHES.

The duties of a chief engineer are multifarious and oppressive, and, though he does not keep watch, his trained ear is kept listening to the beat of the engines, and at any time of the day or night, he receives reports from his subordinate officers and issues orders accordingly. The second engineer keeps watch 8 hours out of the 24, and has as his companion the seventh engineer. The third and fifth engineers keep another watch, and the fourth and sixth the other or third watch.

Under this arrangement there is not a single moment when every section of the engineer's department is not under the supervision of the engineers, and there is not a moment of the day or night when a controlling hand is not ready, in case of any irregularity, in the complicated mechanism of the giant engines that propel these great liners. At the big row of steam guages and other indicators where the telegraph dials connect with the bridge, an engineers is always standing, ready to answer the least signal.

ITS IMPORTANT WORK.

None but marine engineers know how absolutely important it is to have competent men in the stoke hole of their vessels. The work done in the stoke hole is of a very exhausting character, so much so that four hours at a stretch is the limit of time required for their labor. Sometimes the heat reaches 140 degrees, and any one not used to it would soon be prostrated. The stokers must be men of excellent bodily strength, and have the necessary skill required in their particular line of work.

In the working of, say 75 firemen, the number is divided, making three gangs of 25 each.

There are always two sets of men in the fo'castle and one set of men at work, though in an emergency they are liable to be called out at any time. About twelve men of each watch on duty are deputed to attend to the fires, the remaining number doing the trimming business, which consists of bringing coal from the bunkers ready for the stokers' shovels, and sending up the ashes to the deck. The trimmers' task is even worse than that of the others, as they have to make their way into stifling bunkers, situated around and often on top of the boilers, and from there fetch baskets of coal to the stoke hole. On an average the furnace doors have to be opened about every ten minutes to fire up, and between whiles the firemen are pretty constantly employed in slicing, raking or drawing the fire.

FURNACES AND BOILERS.

The pokers which these men use are long iron bars, weigning aoout forty pounds. After having buried the poker about eight feet deep in the coals, the men throw their full weight upon the end as levers and lift the whole bank of fire about a foot. When the poker is drawn a large black hole is left through the fire into which the draft is sucked with increasing roar. Three thrusts are made each time, one to the right, one to the left, and one down the centre. The furnaces are cleared at the end of each four hours, so that each new set of men commence work with clean fires.

There are on each of the two great Cunarders twelve large boilers and two others for auxiliary purposes, and 102 furnaces. The 12 main boilers are double ended, 18 feet in diameter and 17 feet long. These are fitted longitudinally, three in a row, separated from each other by a large coal bunker occupying the full width of the ship, and 65 feet of its length. For each set of boilers there is a funnel which has a double casing, the inside diameter exceeds 19 feet, while the top is 130 feet from the bottom of the ship. To give some idea of their enormous size, it may be stated that were they tunnels instead of funnels, two railwa trains could easily pass through abreast, with room to spare.

HIS WORK NEVER DONE.

When a steamer arrives at her destination neither the engineer's nor the fireman's work ceases. Engines have to be overhauled and cleaned, and sometimes the most delicate repairs to intricate and complicated machinery are executed, and this work, together with a multitude of other duties to be performed, keep the men in almost constant employment.

It is easier to talk about the power executed by engines of 18,000 or 20,000 horse power than to realize what it means. Assuming that the engines will require eighteen pounds of steam per horse power per hour, then 160 tons of water must be pumped into the boilers every hour, and 160 tons of steam will pass through the engines at the same time. In twenty-four hours the water will amount to 3,840 tons, which would fill a canal 493 feet long, 40 feet wide and 7 feet deep. Taking the condensing water at thirty times the feed water it will amount to 4,800 tons per hour, or 115,200 tons in twenty-four hours, or for a six-day run not less than 691,200 tons, or 24,883,000 cubic feet.

COAL CONSUMERS.

Few people realize the enormous increase required in the amount of coal burned to get a comparatively slight increase in a vessel's speed. The Paris and New York burn about 330 tons of coal per day, or about 30,800 pounds an hour, which is equivalent to a coal consumption of 1.71 pounds per hour per horse power. The average for all the fast ships with triple expansion engines, like the Paris, New York, Majestic, Teutonic and Furst Bismarck, is said to be about 1.75 pounds per horse power per hour. On the great Cunarders, Campania and Lucania, the consumption is much greater than the above. It is stated that when these two twin screw steamers are driven to their utmost capacity they consume 800 tons of coal a day. If this amount is used then nearly 4,000 tons of coal must be put aboard these ships at each end of the route.

When a steamer has broken the record by an hour or two, it must be remembered that the result was probably accomplished at the cost of many extra hundreds of tons of coal. It can easily be seen, therefore, that the coal bill is one of the very large items in the list of expenses of an "ocean greyhound." The coal for the Cunard company in 1893 cost nearly $2,000,000, and that for the Campagnie Generale Transatlantique, $1,884,066. In 1892 the steamers of the North German Lloyd Company consumed 760,066 tons of coal, which cost over $3,000,000.

WHAT THEY ARE PAID.

The wages of marine engineers and firemen vary according to the trade in which the steamer is engaged and the size of the vessel. On the North Atlantic route the wages are generally higher than on oth r routes. For vessels of over 2,000 tons the average monthly wages of first engineers is $87.48; second engineers, $51.03; third engineers, $51.03; fourth, fifth and sixth engineers, $43.74. Leading firemen get $24.30, and ordinary firemen, $20.65. Greasers receive from $29.16 to $24.30, according to grade, and trimmers from $21.87 to $24.30.

Little Girl's Muslin Hat.

Shirred hats of chambery or white lawn, are very popular for small girls, and are pretty and inexpensive. The only trimming is a lace-edged bow of the gingham or lawn, and a lace or embroidery edge for the brims. Some times two wide strings are added to tie under the chin, but they are apt to be hot and in the child's way, and a well-placed elastic band will be usually more suitable.

ITS VALUE PROVED.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys, through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been of not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensusof opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough t st and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

OPPOSES SECULAR SCHOOLS

Toronto Methodist Conference Very Emphatic on the Subject.

Toronto, June 18.—Rev. Dr. Parker, one of the committee on Manitoba schools, occupied the chair at last night's session of the Methodist Conference, when it was moved that:

This conference desires to place its position on record as follows:

1. Warm approval of the position taken by the Manitoba Government in opposition to sectarian public schools.

2. Strong disapproval of the Federal authority imposing upon the people of that growing province educational conditions which are obnoxious to the great majority.

3. The earnest hope that calm and careful consideration of this important question by the Goverments concerned will yet lead to a satisfactory solution of the difficulty, in justice to all and with favor to none.

4. This conference would deplore any attempt to make this great question the instrument of political or party advantage, but would commend the earnest efforts of a united and patriotic people and of loyal parliaments to secure a Public school system based upon a morality as wide as our common Christianity and possessing a nationality as broad as the Dominion.

Mr. John T. Moore, who read the report, moved its reception and Rev. Dr. Potts seconded it, and it was at once adopted.

FELL FROM A TREE.

Thomas Poole's Injuries Will Probably Result Fatally.

Toronto, June 18. — Thomas E. Poole, a married man, twenty-nine years of age, who resides in West Gravenhurst, was brought to the city yesterday and taken in the ambulance to the Toronto General Hospital, suffering from a terrible wound in the abdomen, caused by falling from a tree.

Poole had been working in the bush last Saturday procuring tanbark. He had cut some saplings and was barking a tree when he slipped and fell upon the saplings, one of them penetrating his body. His injuries will, in all probability, result fatally.

Disembowelled by a Grindstone.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., June 18.—While driving home from Stanhope Sunday evening, where he preached, Henry Smith, local Methodist minister, expired in his carriage.

Dropped Dead in His Fiancee Presence

Trenton, Ont., June 18.—John O'Rell, 28, died in presence of his betrothed last evening. The couple were to be married next month.

His Fall at Niagara Was Fatal

St. Catharines, June 18.—William Jones, the young colored man who was found below the bank near the Cantilever Bridge, Niagara Falls, a week ago in an unconscious condition, died on Saturday night

At the inquest to-day evidence was taken that during the time Jones lay suffering from his injuries, he frequently remarked: "Oh, those knuckles did hurt!" "Don't push me over." From these arises a suspicion of foul play, and the enquiry was adjourned for a week for fuller investigation.

Alleged Embezzlement by a Veteran.

Hamilton, June 17.—John Horton, president of the Army and Navy Veterans, has disappeared, having in his possession $105 or $110 belonging to the society. Horton was a member of the 8th Hussars. He has been president of the society since January. A warrant has been sworn out for his arrest.

LACROSSE.

The Atheletics went to Madoc yesterday and scored a great victory over the crack team of that place by winning three out of four games.

The Madocs were strengthened for the occasion by the presence of Cross and Lynd, of the Varsity team, but they were never in it with the Athletics, whose superb defence was almost impassable.

The two teams lined up in the following order:

Athletics.		Madoc.
F Dobbin	goal	Stoneberg
F Bolin	point	F Kirk
J Brown	cover point	R Collins
Joe McDonough	1st defence	Jas Kirk
H Hughes	2nd "	Chas Whytock
E Hickey	3rd "	A Gullin
P Rubidge	centre	C Lynd
Jno McDonough	3rd home	A B Collins
W Galley	2nd home	J Sutton
W Borland	1st home	C Cross
F Lynch	outside	W Sinclair
F McNamara	inside	C Kirk
P J Doris	field captain	J Burns
E Cross	umpire	J Irwin

Referee—F Hatch.

Good clean lacrosse was played from start to finish, and it is confidently asserted that the Peterborough defence was the best sent out of the town for years. The home field played a good combination game, and when Phelan, Lipsett and McCabe are added to it, the team will make a bold bid for championship honours in the C. L. A. series. Rubidge, Hickey and Hughes all played a good game out in the field.

The first game was secured for the Athletics in seventeen minutes by Lynch, who made a remarkably good shot on the posts. Borland scored the next in ten minutes, and McNamara shot the ball between the flags in eight minutes. Cross then scored the first and only game for the Madocs in seventeen minutes.

For the Madoc team Cross and Lind played star games, and their defence was also strong, but was clearly overmatched in the game.

The residents of the village turned out en masse to see the game. The stores were closed for the afternoon and the band was in attendance. Scores of visitors were in attendance from Stirling, Havelock and other places in the vicinity, and the attendance in consequence was very large.

The members of the Peterborough team wish to return their heartiest thanks to Mrs. Moor, of Moor's hotel, for her kindness to the boys, and also wish to express their appreciation of the manner in which they were treated by the Madoc team, which apparently could not do too much for them, both on the grounds and after the game, having provided a splendid supper at the Windsor Hotel for the members of the team at 11.30 p. m., just before the train left.

The Athletics would also like to thank Mr. McDonald, secretary of the Madocs, for his kind actions exercised in their behalf.

The decisions of Referee Hatch were most satisfactory all during the game and the local men were much pleased with his judgment.

The trip was altogether one of the most enjoyable the club ever took part in and the return match here on July 4th will be eagerly looked forward to as an opportunity to return the many kindnesses extended.

JAILBREAKING AT WOODSTOCK.

Two Prisoners Scale the Wall and Are at Liberty.

Woodstock, Ont., June 18.—McNeil and Henderson, two men sentenced, one to three years and the latter to 18 months for robbing an Ingersoll store, and confined here in jail awaiting removal to Central and Kingston Penitentiary, escaped yesterday. A boy prisoner secured the corridor keys and let the men out through the rotunda and kitchen into the jail yard, where they scaled the walls. Although their escape was discovered almost immediately, no trace of them has yet been found.

Man and Wife Lashed.

South McAlester, I.T., June 17.—At the Eufala Court House, Thomas Chichasaw, a Creek Indian, received 50 lashes on his bare back to-day for violating the Creek Nation law by marrying a woman closely related to him. The woman also received 50 lashes in like manner. The laws of the Creek Nation prohibit relations from marrying.

Farmer's Wife Murdered For Sake.

Richmond, Va., June 17.—Mrs. Lucy Jane Pollard, 50 years old, wife of a farmer in Charlotte County, was murdered Saturday, the murderers using an ax. The perpetrators secured $860 in cash that was in a trunk. Pollard and a number of field hands were working within 300 yards of the house at the time. Suspicion points to two colored women.

A VILLAGE WIPED OFF THE MAP.

Kenilworth, Wellington County, Falls a Victim to Fire

Mount Forest, Ont., June 18.—Sunday morning about 10 o'clock, Kenilworth, a village seven miles south of here, was swept out by fire. The fire originated in the hotel stables of David Kenny, spreading to the hotel and store, sweeping everything in its course. The store and dwelling were owned by T. O'Donnell, was insured for $1300, the contents of the store for $800. No insurance on hotel stables. Loss estimated at $12,000.

H. R. Jacobs' New York Theatre Burned

New York, June 18.—Shortly after midnight H. R. Jacobs' Third-avenue Theatre was gutted by fire. The loss is estimated at $100,000. The theatre was built in 1877 by McKee Rankin. Its present owner, H. R. Jacobs, is now in Chicago. Among the property lost was scenery belonging to Mr. James R. Mackaye's "Wages of Sin" and "Cellar Door" companies and the Flora Bindley "Pay Train" combination. There was no watchman in the building, which was condemned as unsafe some weeks ago.

There was not a dollar of insurance on the theatre building.

One Fact Counts

For more than a thousand insinuations, especially if the insinuations are inspired by jealousy and defeat.

It is an ADMITTED FACT that Fairweather & Co. ARE the leaders in the Hat trade in Peterborough and Lindsay. The manufacturer recognize this as fully as do our numerous patrons and "side line" competitors; and therefore do not think of offering us the off-scourings—the "rag-tag and bobtail" or commonly called "seconds" of their stocks "at any price." These are disposed of to the general country merchants and clothing houses. It would not suit our trade. We must have the most correct styles and qualities.

"We got them"! Straw Hat samples! 1100 of them to clear. Worth from

$1.00 to $2.00, our price 75c.
75c to $1.00, our price 50c.
35c to 50c, our price 25c.

"A good name is better than riches," even if it be only in a Stiff Hat, and especially if you control it.

Christy & Co. of London, England, are admitted to be the best makers of Stiff Hats the world over. No other house in Peterborough have their goods, as we are their SOLE agents here. The name "Christy Hat" is given by people, who do not know the difference, to a Stiff Hat of any kind, but this is a misnomer, and only goes to show how much the ordinary clothier knows about the hat trade.

Our prices for genuine Christy & Co's Hats are 99c, for all wool grades, and $1.99 for all fur qualities. This offer is made to clear.

The moral is: Come where you get the best Hats made by standard makers at the price of ordinary qualities. Do not be "bamboozled," but come to

PAID THE PENALTY.

Hendershott and Welter Hanged at St. Thomas.

CONFESSED TO THEIR CLERGYMAN

No Sensational Features Save That It Was a Double Hanging — Instantaneous Death by Dislocation - The Second Double Execution in Canada's History.

St. Thomas, June 18.—The County of Elgin has never had an execution, save on goods and chattels. It was not till to-day that the services of the public executioner for the capital offence, wilful murder, were called into requisition, and, as if to make amends for long immunity, Hangman Radcliffe had a double event.

No double execution has taken place in Canada except that of Lount and Matthews in Toronto for participation in the Rebellion of 1837.

At 8.13 o'clock in the woman's yard of the county jail, on as fine a summer morn as e'er the sun shone on, in the presence of the outraged law's officials, a score representatives of the press, a dozen jurymen, and a baker's dozen of favored burgesses, John Hendershott and William D. Welter paid the penalty of the brutal murder committed at Middlemarch on Dec. 14 last.

The execution was prosaic, expeditious and effective. No harrowing details can be appended, no sensational incident chronicled, no last dying speeches reported.

The prisoners were weak and nervous, but bore up better than the majority of culprits in their last hour. Hendershott had slept fairly well, but Welter was very restless. Both partook moderately of a good breakfast. Bible reading and prayer filled up the time till the officials arrived.

Business-like, as the summing up of a case by a lawyer, expert or perspicacious statement to a jury was Rev. D. Spencer's recital of "What I know" to the newspaper men gathered in one of the large cells. Rather the speech might be more aptly entitled, "What I Will Not Tell," for beyond the very important fact that William D. Welter had, with the gallows before his face and the hangman's noose in view, deliberately perjured himself, though professing to have "made his peace with God," when he sought to throw the guilt of grim fell murder on an innocent farmer, and, finding his fiendish duplicity of no avail to save his neck, had taken everything back, there was no sensation in Mr. Spencer's recital.

Certainly, he said that Hendershott and Welter had "confessed," but for reasons best known to himself the reverend gentleman did not divulge the nature of the confession, nor, said he to The World, will I ever divulge it.

Well, here endeth another chapter to the Secrets of the Confessional, an ecclesiastical institution which Mr. Spencer does not love.

Subsequently Mr. Spencer said he had made an omission in his statement: Deceased had assured him that Charles Welter had not, nor had any other man, anything whatever to do with the murder, and had no knowledge whatever of the facts.

Rev. Mr. Spencer was urged to make public the confession of the deceased. His reply was even stronger than his refusal in the jail: "I will never divulge that confession to any living soul, not even to the Minister of Justice."

Two hours before the time of execution the morbid curiosity inherent in fallen humanity prompted early risers to wend their steps toward the grim old court house. None of these restless ones had the hope of admission, but all had garrulous tongues, and in knots they gathered on the parched sward and gossiped of the tragedy shortly to be expiated in the rear of the prison, meanwhile smoking their morning pipes.

As the hour approached their numbers swelled, and the crowd waited in the shade for the approach of the fatal hour and the hoisting of the black flag to tell the inevitable tale of the flight of two guilty souls to the bar of eternal justice. Even women with children in arms and in perambulators went out as though a pageant time should pass, and young men and old men jostled together with as much animation as though it were a rehearsal of Moore's pathetic if unorthodox poetry of "The Peri at the Gate of Paradise," and not the guarded gate of a county prison.

Among those who witnessed the execution were Sheriff Jackson, Simcoe; Jailer Butler, Simcoe; Dr. Kains, Dr. Laurence, Dr. Van Buskirk, Dr. Smith, Rev. Dr. Hanson and the [illegible] St. Thomas and Toronto.

[illegible] presentiment, did not arrive [illegible] Five minutes later [illegible] of the prison yard were [illegible] was ample time to gaze [illegible] gazing of death described [illegible] World. It was 8.06 a.m. [illegible] officials repaired to the [illegible] cell and announced that the [illegible] had arrived.

[illegible] a few minutes later [illegible] from the prison door [illegible] the 11 steps of the scaffold. [illegible] Brown, Inspector [illegible] Sheriff Skinner, McIntyre and [illegible] came Jailer Moore, Deputy [illegible] Turnbey Langan, jr., [illegible] Langan, sr., prisoner [illegible], Jail Surgeon Van Buskirk, who had endured the [illegible] torment in the condemned cell [illegible] fortitude, were each [illegible] and trembled greatly. [illegible] were moist with tears and [illegible] into the prison yard till [illegible] had covered their pallid [illegible] glanced furtively at the spectators [illegible] upturned faces towards [illegible].

[illegible] the more disengaged of the [illegible] and said with quivering [illegible] "Friends, good-by." There was [illegible] silence and no reply save un[illegible].

[illegible] quickly strapped the knees, [illegible] then each calm, first to Welter, [illegible] Hendershott, and then scientifically [illegible] the noose. Welter was [illegible] to murmur, "Too tight."

[illegible] stage the prisoners trembled [illegible], their fingers twitched convulsively and general trepidation was [illegible]. Their elbows touched, seeing [illegible] Radcliffe moved them a little [illegible].

[illegible] Mr. Spencer said a few opening sentences from the burial service, and the response was heard from both prisoners, "Lord, have mercy upon us."

The recitation of the Lord's Prayer followed, and this the men so soon to die, recited after the minister. When the words, "Deliver us from evil" were uttered, further petition was shut off by Radcliffe, who had been awaiting these words as a signal, pulling the bolt supporting the floor of the scaffold.

Then the trap door fell down on its hinges with a great crash against the back of the under part of the scaffold, the prisoners' bodies disappeared and only two twirling, swinging ropes could be seen aloft, with sheriff, ministers and hangman peering down.

It was now 8.14 o'clock, and after watching the suspended bodies for a minute or two the officials descended the scaffold, unlocked the door and with one or two medical men who were present, entered what was really the sepulchre of the men.

The hearts were still beating, the pulses perceptible, and the bodies swinging round. With this exception all muscular twitchings had ceased and it was given as the concurrent medical opinion that their necks had been broken. Not one of the doctors believed that death had resulted from strangulation.

Radcliffe was the first to emerge from the wooden recess. A spectator said: "I think that was cleverly done." Quoth the hangman, "I am not complaining."

Dr. Van Buskirk, jail surgeon, and the other doctors were of opinion that death was well nigh instantaneous, though pulsation went on for 14 minutes. The oscillation of the ropes continued a quarter of an hour.

the lapse of half an hour the bodies were cut down. The straps were removed and knees and wrists showed no marks of the pinioning.

Welter lay with eyes open, but not protruding. Hendershott's eyes were closed, but his mouth was open. It was the neck and throat where the punishment showed. There was a deep livid band on each throat, and the skin was abraised. There was blood on Welter's neck, and in a lesser degree on that of Hendershott. There the lifeless bodies, on which the law had spent its full force, lay, mutely preaching a stronger lesson than they had done with the dangling ropes above their living heads 30 minutes before. The same clothes were on the men that they wore at the inquest, the preliminary examination and at their trial. In fact they were their "Sunday best," the only alteration being that each wore carpet slippers to die in.

There is a difference of 18 years in the ages of the executed men. Hendershott was 43, Welter 25. Hendershott was four inches taller than his companion in iniquity, and this accounts for the difference in the length of the drop allowed by the halters, 2ft. 8in. and 3ft.

The young men of St. Thomas are not easily daunted. Three climbed the nearest telephone pole at the rear of the prison and had a good view of the execution. Others, perhaps a dozen, managed to clamber up the outside wall and furtively peep into the forbidden realm. This aroused the righteous ire of Sheriff Brown, who peremptorily, though futilely, bade them decamp.

"You have no business," shouted the Queen's representative, "on that wall. Get down, or I'll have you brought in here."

"I have no control over the telephone pole," said the sheriff, regretfully, "but I have over the county property. Get down." But they didn't, and nobody was one penny the worse for the shrievalty order.

As soon as the execution was over, Rev. D. Spencer broke the stillness of the death presence by the stentorian announcement that he desired to see the representatives of the press in a room in the prison.

"Well, gentlemen, I think it is my duty to say to you that the confession made by William D. Welter respecting the West Elgin farmer is not true in any particular whatever, and that it was made, in my opinion, in a sort of paroxysm of grief and disappointment and despair—and I think also of temporary insanity—with the hope that the neck of one, if not both, might be saved.

"The particulars of that statement have not been made public. The items that did appear are but few, and it is not necessary for me to say anything more about that.

"The prisoner, Welter, has assured me that the story was false.

"With regard to anything else that the prisoners said to me, I can say nothing beyond this, that I believe that they have confessed themselves to God and made their peace with Him.

"I am not at liberty to say anything more, but think that the country should have the contradiction in respect to the story told to some of us on Saturday and Sunday.

"I want to say also that Mary Lily Hendershott is not deserving of any aspersions with respect to the matter for which these men were hanged.

"Her statement is true, and her conduct not worthy of reproach or censure, in fact, above reproach. The prisoners both assured me that she said all she knew and that she spoke the truth.

"A fact or two like this might be said. William Welter was desperately fond of her and she of him; and there was no bad feeling of any kind between the two prisoners. They had always been friends and died in that state.

"They made their confession to me sincerely and honestly, the particulars of which I give to no one."

In the southeast corner of the men's yard the remains of Hendershott and Welter were interred at 2 o'clock, in the presence of the jail officials. Revs. D. Spencer and Dr. Hannon conducted the service, which consisted of prayer and a brief exhortation to those present to beware of sin and its punishment.

The death sentence includes burial in the grounds of the prison where the trial occured. This accounts for the fact that no answer was received from the Attorney-General to the request of the relatives of Hendershott and Welter, who wished the remains for private interment.

There was another strange request on the part of Welter. Late on Monday night the Inspector of Prisons granted permission, which had previously been denied, for Mary Lily Hendershott, the daughter of the elder prisoner and the sweetheart of Welter, to have an interview with the condemned men. This was of a most heart-rending nature. At the close Welter begged that the portrait of his sweetheart be buried with him.

RAIN AND WIND.

Heavy Damage Reported From Iowa, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Kenwood, Ia., June 18.—A terrific storm struck Kenwood yesterday. The house of John Rose was demolished and Mrs Rose has died from injuries received.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 18.—A cyclone struck seven miles east of Humboldt yesterday. It demolished several houses, killed many head of live stock and did great damage to crops.

THE HENDERSHOT-WELTER HANGING.

THE conviction and capital punishment of Hendershot and Welter, will doubtless have a tendency to break the mania of criminal cupidity that does not hesitate at the shedding of human blood to satisfy its longings. There can be little doubt, in fact, there can be little more certain than proof of eye witnesses that the two men, Hendershot and Welter, who met the death penalty at St. Thomas, Tuesday morning, were guilty of the act charged—one of the most deliberately conceived and cruelly carried out conspiracies that has stained the annals of Canadian crime. An innocent young man—too guileless to see what would have been palpably plain to a more sophisticated person—consents to having an insurance policy for $11,000, whose premium is far beyond his total earnings, placed upon his life in favour of his uncle, a man whom in the course of nature he is sure to outlive. The victim being thus made worth the killing, a plan is concocted with Welter to make the insurance policy payable, and as young Hendershot's death was the only possible condition of payment, his death was accomplished. What a thrilling story the detailed history of the plot between Hendershot and Welter would be! The midnight broodings of the elder in evolving his Satanic scheme, his involving Welter in the plot, the secret whisperings, the specious arguments adduced to overcome the reluctance of the younger man, the discussion of the gruesome details of the plan of slaughtering their victim, and covering their bloody tracks, the sitting at meat with the victim day after day by the culprits with the common guilty knowledge that his days were numbered, the covert glances, full of baleful significance, exchanged with each other, and at the unconscious victim stolidly devouring his food, the terrible tension of nerve when every faculty was bent up to the point of committal, and the day, means and manner of death decided upon, all this if detailed, say by the pen of a Dickens, would be the unfolding of a tale that would be as provocative of horror as that suggested by the half-mad Danish prince.

One surprising feature in this terrible tragedy is the spontaneous nature of the utter depravity that wrought it. Both the elder Hendershot and Welter were persons of good repute in the neighbourhood where they had lived. They had spent their lives in peaceful rural scenes whose character was such as to make men better. They had not been hardened by life-long contact with vicious environments; they had not consorted with the depraved or vicious; they were in no special need of money for their daily and legitimate wants; they were not made desperate by hunger or the pressure of debt. But the demon of avarice entered the heart of Hendershot, and being cherished, filled his whole being and directed all the powers of his mind to the guilty course upon which he entered, taking young Welter with him. The world will breathe more freely now, that two men capable of the foul deed of which they were doubtless guilty, are put forever under the earth. The sacredness of human life has been vindicated in a manner, which, it is hoped, will be an enduring lesson to all like-minded who contemplate the "short cut" to wealth, even though it lie through human blood.

THE Manitoba June crop bulletin gives the amount of wheat in farmers' hands on June 1st, at 84,000 bushels, It is evident that the farmers of that Province have not been in a position to profit much by the recent advance in prices.

STATIONING METHODIST MINISTERS.

The Globe.

Methodists at Ottawa and London are having difficulty over the settlement of pastors. At Ottawa a compromise seems to have been reached by which the pastor recommended by the Stationing Committee and the one "called" by the Dominion Church are both to minister to the one congregation. The Queen's Avenue church of London gave a call to Rev. George Daniels of Manitoba. Mr. Daniels is a young man, and the action of the London church in inviting him to occupy its pulpit was a signal recognition of his ability. In consequence of this call Rev. Mr. Daniels was transferred from the Manitoba to the London Conference. The Stationing Committee of the London Conference, however, despite the very urgent representations of the Queen's Avenue Church, stationed Mr. Daniels at Dresden, a much less important charge, and gave the London church to Mr. Cunningham.

It is quite likely that Mr. Cunningham is equal in pulpit ability to Mr. Daniels, and a not less acceptable pastor. But here is the position: Mr. Daniels probably would not have entertained a proposal to leave the Manitoba Conference except on the expectation that he would be settled in London. Ministers are human like the rest of us; and it seems a grevious disappointment that after moving from Manitoba to Ontario Mr. Daniels should be refused the church which desired his services.

The truth seems to be that a Stationing Committee is always unwise in forcing an unwelcome pastor upon a congregation. A minister so stationed is subjected to indignity to which he ought not to be exposed, and forced to deal with a congregation which is not in a mood to properly estimate his character or abilities. A congregation cannot very profitably receive instruction from an unwelcome pastor; the cause of religion is likely to be scandalized and put in contempt, and only harm results all round. If, as we know, a minister cannot profitably retain a charge after a congregation, properly or improperly, has concluded that his usefulness is gone, is it not likely to be just as true that a minister cannot do his best work with a congregation upon which he is forced by a stationing committee?

HIS BAD AIM SAVED TWO LIVES.

A Discarded Lover Attempts Murder—The Shortis Commission—General News From Montreal.

Montreal, June 18.—Some weeks ago Messrs. Meredith & O'Brien, brokers of this city, were in business difficulties with the Quebec Bank, and in the end Mr James O'Brien, jr., was charged with procuring $20,000 under false pretences. Witnesses were heard during a careful preliminary investigation, and today Judge Desnoyers honorably acquitted the young man.

A remarkable story comes from the north of Terrebonne County, and it is more by good luck than good conduct that a young man named Jalibut, who was paying court to a Miss Proulx, is not now in jail, charged with cold-blooded murder. The young lady's father objected to the match, and the lover was given his conge. Jalibut swore he would kill the first man who approached his ex-fiancee. On Sunday evening, when Miss Proulx, her sister and a young gentleman were sitting on the verandah, Jalibut came along with a gun and opened fire upon the party. The ball passed through the sister's arm and lodged in the side of the house. The crazy young man was locked up, but as the wound is not dangerous and to prevent a scandal, it was agreed that if he would go to the States and not return for five years no action would be taken against him. Jalibut jumped at the conditions and is now in Troy, N.Y.

It was learned to-day that the Crown and defence would probably agree upon a gentleman to go to Ireland to look into the mental state of the Shortis family. Mr. George G. Foster, advocate of this city, will also go in the interests of the defence.

HAGGART CENSURED.

For Flagrant, Impudent Corruption Re Curran Bridge.

WINCED UNDER LAURIER'S LASHING

Mr. Davies Moves a Vote of Censure and Indicted the Minister for Having Knowledge of the Frauds, Yet Wilfully Allowing Them to Go On.

Ottawa, June 19.—The Curran Bridge scandalous job was thoroughly ventilated in the House yesterday by the Opposition. Mr. Davies, who is daily increasing his reputation as one of the strong Liberal leaders, led off in a speech outlining the main facts of the case and dwelling particularly on the direct responsibility of the Department of Railways and Canals, which opened the door for fraud at the outset by violating the statute requiring public tenders to be called for respecting all public works. Mr. St. Louis was given the contract for day labor by Mr. Haggart. At first it was to be only skilled labor, but this was afterwards extended to common labor, even when they had direct evidence that frauds were being practised. The knowledge that the pulbic were being robbed preceded this extension of St. Louis' contract. Mr. Davies had no trouble in showing that Mr. Haggart was cognisant of everything going on. The evidence of the special political influence brought to bear was clear. Mr. St. Louis was a cousin of the Minister of Public Works, Mr. Emard, to whom St. Louis gave a contribution to Conservative campaign in Vaudreuil, was a partner of the Minister of Public Works. The Solicitor-General had shown a warm interest in the work and took Superintendent Kennedy's protest against the extravagance, which he saw going on, to Mr. Haggart, the Minister. Mr. Haggart was therefore consulted by the Solicitor-General upon the complaint of Mr Kennedy and the Minister clearly knew of the extravagance at an early period, but took no steps to stop it. Even after Mr Douglas, one of Mr. Haggart's own engineers, reported and when Mr. Schrieber, the deputy minister, was urging the minister for a commission of enquiry, Mr. Haggart allowed heavy cheques to issue to this contractor, St. Louis,, and even after a commission had issued to investigate the glaring frauds, payments of $66,000 were allowed and altogether $99,000 were paid out after the minister had ordered an investigation.

Mr. Davies denounced the minister for failing to exercise ordinary vigilance or to prosecute and punish the thieves. He moved in amendment to the motion to go into supply a resolution setting forth the above facts and declaring that "Under these circumstances the Minister of Railways and Canals is responsible and deserves the severest censure of this House for negligence, inefficiency and gross mismanagement in connection with this work and the loss which the country has sustained."

There was a burst of Liberal applause when Mr. Laurier arose. He opened fire on the Government without waste of words and presented a strong arraignment of the Minister of Railways and Canals. Mr. McLennan, he said, had told the House that the Minister of Railways was able to take care of himself. So the House would have supposed, but upon this occasion he quailed before the attempt. In fact the indictment of scandal which had been presented by Mr Davies was so strong that neither the Minister who was implicated nor any of his colleagues had dared to open their mouths in his defence. They did not deny the wrong of which he was guilty, and for which he was responsible, but they had called upon their followers to come to his rescue, and the language which the House had heard from their followers was quite in keeping with the attitude which had been maintained by the men in office, who on all occasions had been profuse of exuberant declaration that they would spurn corruption from their ranks, but who had turned their backs upon the task. The House had not forgotten the pledge given to the people of Canada by the late Prime Minister, when with solemn words and upon a solemn occasion, as the corner of the veil had been lifted from the secrecy which had hitherto hidden the transactions of the great spending of Canada, and the people of Canada had stood aghast at the revelations which had been made. He had promised that all offences would be investigated and that all offenders would be punished. This was the pledge given at the time, and the conduct of the Government was the latest evidence that the pledge was given simply to reassure disquieted public opinion, but was not intended to disturb those who had perpetrated these offences, and still less to disturb the party that had profited by these offences. Before that pledge the Government had given upon the floor of the House the measure of what was to be expected from it when Mr. Lister impeached the Minister of Railways, charging him with gross offences in connection with the C.P.R., and when the Government invoked—no did not invoke, but invented—the statute of limitations in order to prevent the light of day from ever penetrating into that dark record, and so it had been ever afterwards, when in the session of 1893 Mr. Edgar had charged the Postmaster-General with having fraudulently appropriated $100,000 of the moneys voted by Parliament to the Lake St. John and Temiscouata Railway, the Government stepped to the front, notwithstanding the pledge given by Sir John Thompson that all offences would be ventilated, in order to burk an effective investigation by Parliament. Later on in the session of 1894, when Mr. Edgar, even with an imperfect investigation, was able to show that the Postmaster-General had appropriated $25,000 of those moneys, though not of course taking them out of the treasury, but in a circuitous way, and had distributed them for the aid of two fellow-members of the House; when Mr. Edgar showed also that, in this very city, two men had been indicted before the assizes for a similar offence, convicted and sentenced; when Mr. Edgar pointed out the fact that the presiding judge and the prosecuting counsel had stated that there were men high in office who had profited by their offences, and when Mr. Edgar asked Parliament to mete out to them, though in a minor degree, some measure of the same justice which had been meted out to these lesser offenders, the Government came to the rescue of the accused, who was enabled to state on the floor of Parliament that in a similar situation he would do the same thing again. And now at this day, when it was proved that a similar transaction had taken place in the Department of Railways, one of these transactions with which, unfortunately, the people of Canada had become too familiar, one of those transactions which invariably resulted disastrously to the treasury, but beneficially to the Government and to their friends, the Government had not the courage to stand up, but it put up its friends to say that there had been no wrong for which the Government was responsible. The indictment was so strong that the members of the Government did not meet it, and those sat behind them met it in a circuitous way. The House had been told by Mr. McLennan that there were motives behind the attack. It had not been denied by any of the Ministerial members who had spoken, that a great wrong had been committed in the construction of these bridges, to the detriment of the people of Canada, that there had been pillage most impudent corruption, open, flagrant and shameless, it was not denied that the country had been deprived and defrauded to the amount of nearly $200,000, but the defence was that though this was true, the Minister fo Railways was not responsible. He was the victim, not sinning, but sinned against. He took issue with that statement: he charged the hon. gentlemen, not one of whom dared to speak, that if there had been corruption, open, flagrant and shameless, if the country had been defrauded of nearly $200,000, it was due altogether to the fact that the Minister of Railways had openly and designedly violated the law of his Department. The House knew something of the methods which were employed in the good old times in order to replenish the party treasury at the expense of the Dominion Treasury. It was ascertained at a famous investigation how it was that plans, tenders and specifications were altered, arranged, re-arranged, figured up and figured down, so that the contract might fall into the hands of a favored firm of friends, who paid dear for the privilege of contributing handsomely for "charitable purposes," as was the pious expression invented for the occasion.

Mr. Laurier then discussed the evidence which had been adduced at the investigations of the scandal and showed that Mr Haggart had dispensed with public tenders altogether in contravention of the law; that he had been guilty of a lamentable error of judgment; that there had been no proper supervision of the work; that exorbitant charges had been paid the contractor, and that Mr. Haggart was aware of what was going on. He chaffed the Minister of Railways and the Government about their professed anxiety to punish evil-doers, reminding the Ministers that prison was not a healthful place, and that they would be under the necessity of releasing the prisoner. Alluding to the failure of the prosecution against St. Louis for reasons that he stated, he said that the Government very properly had attempted to present an indictment before the grand jury, but the virtuous Government of Quebec had come to the rescue of St. Louis, and he could understand it. St. Louis was at this very day a contractor of the Quebec Government. At the present moment St. Louis was building the Montreal Court House, which was like Penelope's shroud—what was done during the day was undone during the night. It was never finished, and the Attorney-General of Quebec had actually asked that the Dominion of Canada, before presenting the indictment to the court should give security for the costs. The more a person looked at this transaction the more he was convinced that it was fraudulent from the first line to the last. The fact was fraud was oozing from every detail of it. It was conceived in iniquity and carried out in iniquity. There had not been a work of any magnitude since the present Government had been in office that had not cost from 25 to 100 per cent. more than the estimate. Mr. Haggart followed with a personal defence and the debate was adjourned by Mr. Martin at midnight.

AN ILLINOIS SENSATION.

A Lady of Union County Recovers Her Health in a Marvellous Manner.

Anna, Illinois, June 17—A very interesting case of recovery from a very complicated form of kidney trouble has taken place here, and the details are gradually being made public. The sufferer was Miss M. T. Loomis, who for a long time has been a victim of severe pains in all parts of the body. She consulted a number of doctors and was treated for a great variety of complaints, the diagnosis all proving faulty. At length she determined to try Dood's Kidney Pills, having read and heard much of their efficacy and found her expectations justified in a complete cure.

Severe Diarrhoea Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—I was in a very low condition with diarrhoea when Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry was given me. One bottle cured me, and I cannot praise it too highly. ISAAC TAYLOR, Rothsay, Ont.

Beyrout, June 18.—The British squadron lying here has received orders to proceed to Tripoli, thence to Syria.

Toronto Markets.

Toronto, June 19.—Trade very flat and prices are heavy. Straight rollers are nominal at $4.20 to $4.55, Toronto freights.

Bran — Bran nominal at $12, Toronto freights. Shorts easier at $16.

Wheat—The feeling is unsettled and prices easy, owing to the weakness of foreign markets. White and red are quoted at 95c, north and west. No. 1 Manitoba hard is nominal at 98c, Fort William, and at $1.04, Toronto freights.

Wheat—There is a very limited demand on the part of millers and prices are unchanged. White and red are still quoted at 95c north and west. No. 1 Manitoba hard is dull at 95c to 96c Fort William and at $1.03, Toronto freights.

Peas—Trade is quiet, with demand limited. Cars are quoted at 62c, west.

Barley—Trade dull and prices nominally unchanged.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices unchanged. Car lots of white are quoted at 37c to 38c west, and at 39c to 40c on track here.

Rye—Trade dull, with prices nominal at 53c to 55c outside.

Oatmeal—Market is dull, with prices unchanged at $4 to $4.25 on track for ordinary qualities.

"COMPLETE MANHOOD And How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc,

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc,

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Accident at the Locks.

Mr. Roland Tivey, of Ashburnham, met with a very serious accident this morning when putting in a stop-log at the Locks dam. A lever which he was using suddenly slipped and, springing up, dealt him a stunning blow across the forehead, inflicting an ugly cut and partially stunning him. Bandaging up the wound, Mr. Tivey walked to his home, where medical aid was summoned, when it was found necessary to put ten stitches in the cut. Mr. Tivey will be confined to the house for some days in consequence of the accident.

A Cobourg Girl Honoured.

The degree of Ph. D. (Doctor of Philosophy) has just been conferred by Cornell University upon Miss Minnie E. Higbet, of Cobourg. This is the highest degree conferred by one of the foremost universities of America. We are inclined to the opinion that Miss Higbet is the first Canadian young lady to take this degree. She received her early training at the Cobourg Collegiate Institute; thence she went to Victoria University, from which she graduated in 1891 as B.A., being silver medalist in modern languages. After teaching for two years she went to Cornell, where she continued her work in the same subjects. Canadians take high rank in their work in the universities of the United States, and the young men do not monopolize the honours.

The Canadian General Secure a Contract.

The Canadian General Electric Company have secured the contract for the motors, generators and rolling stock of the Belleville street railway, and the Westinghouse Electric Company have been given the contract for overhead construction. Nine carloads of rails are on the ground, as are the ties. To-morrow morning 50 men will be at work on the construction of the road, which will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. The entire system will be put in under the supervision of Mr. J. M. Campbell, one of the best electrical engineers in the country, under whose supervision the Kingston street railway was constructed. The construction work will be looked after by Mr. J. Marshall, formerly of the G. T. R.

Three Big Drives of Logs.

The first of the Dickson Co.'s drive of logs, 32,000 in number, are expected to pass through town this afternoon. The foreman states that this drive made the fastest run from Lakefield to town on record for the number of pieces, the run being made in one and a half days. The second drive is at Young's Point, being some 45,000 in all. Messrs. Rathbun have also 45,000 at this point. The third drive is at Eels' creek, where it is being sorted. There are in this lot 125,000 logs, one-half of which are Gilmour & Co.'s. The old drivers state that this is the largest number of logs taken out of Eels' creek for the last twenty-five years. The tail end of the lot will pass through here in a month's time. The steamer Golden City left yesterday morning for the creek to commence towing.

An Unfortunate Accident.

Mrs. Thos. Dunn met with a most serious accident last evening, when she stepped unexpectedly through the sidewalk on George street just below the Custom House. The sidewalk is raised to a considerable height from the ground just along here and the edge of the walk in many places does not run out to the fence. Mrs. Dunn, while turning her baby carriage, stepped on one of the short planks with the result that her foot slipped down between its jagged edge and the fence breaking the small bone of the leg and snapping the ligaments of the ankle joint. The unfortunate accident will confine Mrs. Dunn to her room for some time. The defective plank in the walk is accountable for the accident. To what extent the corporation is responsible it is impossible to say, but it is certain that many of our walks are in places in a most dangerous condition. It is enough for ratepayers to pay big bills for good walks without paying big doctor's bills and suffering pain and inconvenience besides. Mr. Jack Mervin kindly drove Mrs. Dunn home.

DEVELOPMENTS IN THE SCOLLIE CASE.

THE GRAY'S WILL BE RELEASED ON A HABEAS CORPUS

Unless Detective Murray Reaches Ocala by Monday Next—Mrs. Gray Writes a Letter to the Examiner in Reference to the Matter—The Case Will be an Intricate One.

New developments in the Scollie case are coming to hand daily, and if it is brought to trial it will be an interesting case indeed.

As will be seen by the appended letter, Mrs. Gray makes serious charges against Mr. Wm. McGregor and Mr. Graham Weir. She asserts that the three Indians pried the head off of Scollie's body with a pole, whilst at present it is alleged the Indians thought the head was detached at the time of their investigations:

OCALA, June 14th.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Please give me space in your first issue for this note. Sir, I saw in the Review last week a great many false statements concerning the burning of our place. Well, I must say they know little that give themselves so much trouble over Bill McGregor's lies. Don't all the neighbours know the kind of a liar he is. Can't W. M. Higley, my neighbour, let you all know how many lies he told on us before this ever happened? And for Graham Weir I expect nothing else of him because him and us has been on bad terms this last 12 years. Hundreds of things he told on us. He said to Bill McGregor if he had a chance he would chop off my head, but McGregor and him can talk all they please, as long as they get no one to mind them. They would like to see me persecuted, but I don't mind them. If medical aid ain't smart enough to know that his head fell off by burning, the three Indians from Hiawatha that first got his body in the debries (sic) can let them know that the head was on when they pried it up where it lay on the top of the "debries" and the head fell to pieces. Why don't Mr. Murray go to these three Indians, Willie Cow and his brother and Madam Howard, for information, and he will hear the truth from these poor Indians. They are not like the high flow in lieing affairs. I think if Scollie's friends heard these liars they will go crazy. If they fetch any of us back from the States we will sue the township for damages when they are blinded so much by liars. We never done anything to fly to the States, but to get living in peace. We never fought nor was quarrelsome. We always was peaceable. Except we would fight we had got to leave. We think it was best to leave. When we came to Canada, we had our papers from our minister and from our employer to show good conduct, but when other parties came they had to leave for being quarrelsome and being up at court every other week for fighting and lying with their neighbours. The first time ever we were in court was at the inquest. Print this in you paper.

Florida. MRS. T. GRAY.

Can't the constables find that Mr. Gray was at his brother's at time of accident?

OFF FOR FLORIDA.

Chief Government Detective John Murray left for Ocala, Florida, last evening to bring back Thomas Gray and his wife Hessie Gray, charged with the murder of David Scollie of Otonabee.

The officers had all the depositions prepared and was ready to leave on Monday, but could not get away. Last evening a despatch was received from the Sheriff of Marion County to the effect that the Grays had engaged counsel, and that application had been made for their release on a habeas corpus. The telegram intimated that they would be held until Monday next but no longer. Notwithstanding his delay in starting it is expected that Mr. Murray will arrive in Ocala before the release of the prisoners, and that their release will then be prevented.

County Magistrate Edmison returned from Toronto last evening, and stated to a reporter this morning that the evidence of Drs. Cavan and Primrose in their depositions is very strong on the point of the head of Mr. Scollie being removed independent of fire.

A BICYCLE RAILWAY.

It is Intended for Summer Resorts and Such Like.

Mr. Wm. Rudkins has secured the right of sale and manufacture of the Hotchkiss Bicycle and Elevated Railway for Canada. The patent is certainly a most ingenious one, being designed more especially to meet the needs of summer resorts, in which places a constant demand exists for novelties.

The bicycle runs on an elevated single track, and the high gearing, combined with the fact of there being hardly any friction to contend against, will permit the machine to be driven along with little effort at a rate of speed equal to that of an express train. The sample machine which Mr. Rudkins had on exhibition at the lock works on Simcoe street, is of the full size, mounted on the regulation track and is in fact the identical machine which was exhibited at the World's Fair.

By a simple arrangement two extra seats can be attached to the bicycle or a couple of trailers can be attached behind. The motive power is provided by two pedals, which on being pressed down drive the machine forward and are drawn up again to their original position by means of powerful springs acting in conjunction with a rachet wheel.

Mr. Rudkins will try and induce the authorities at the Toronto Island and Sohmer Park, Montreal, to give the machine a test, and it is altogether probable that serious consideration will be given the scheme of running a line out to Chemohg Park or around one of the town parks.

The invention is on view at the Lock Works, and Mr. Rudkins will be pleased to show the ingenious concern to any sufficiently interested in modern mechanism to call.

PERSONAL.

Mr. N. St. C. Gard is in Toronto trying certain of his law examinations.

Mrs. T. McMahon, of Rochester, N. Y., is in town visiting her mother, Mrs. D. Costello.

Miss Mabel and Mr. Harry Vennor, of Montreal, are the guests of Mrs. A. H. Stratton, Water street.

The Lindsay Post says: Miss Hall, of Peterborough, is at present the guest of Miss Spier, Russell street.

Mr. W. A. Kindred is representing Court Zion, C.O.F., at the meeting of the High Court in Hamilton this week.

The death of Mrs. Tassie, relict of the late Principal Tassie, is expected momentarily. Mrs. Tassie has been ill for some time, and was thought to be recovering, but took a turn for the worse this morning.

The General Assembly now in session at London, granted yesterday Mr. W. H. Murray's application to be allowed to take a special course in his preparation for the ministry. Mr. Murray will commence his studies in Kingston next October.

A SCRAP BETWEEN BOYS.

An Irishman and a Frenchman Come Together, but are Separated.

Three boys were up before the Police Magistrate this morning, charged with being disorderly last Friday. They were Joseph and Thomas Guerin and John O'Brien. The former was also charged with assaulting O'Brien.

It appears that Thomas Guerin and O'Brien have for some time been waiting for an opportunity to test their prowess in combat, and they came together in battle last Friday. The younger Guerin also took a hand in the fray.

The combatants were separated before any great harm was done, but the same evening one of the witnesses detected the younger Guerin lying in wait for O'Brien with an axe-handle. Guerin did not deny the axe-handle incident, but averred that he only carried it for self-defence.

The Magistrate thought he was altogether too eager for strife, and assessed him $5 and the other lads $2 each.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

"Feed the Brute!"

Was the answer made by a dear little woman who had married a crusty old bachelor. She had been asked by some friends how she kept him in good humor—and there was a lot of force in her argument, for an appeal to a man's stomach never fails to bring him round. Pastry plays a great part in the everyday food and it must be made right or it had better not be made at all. You'll never go wrong in using

Baking Powder.

WHERE IS CHEMONG NOW?

A Fishing Yarn Which Places Stoney Lake in the Lead.

On Monday last quite a party of the local disciples of the venerated Izaak hied them back to Stoney Lake to try their luck on the opening day of the fishing season.

Mr. Frank Matthews was one of the party, and was sitting in the stern of Inspector Breeze's little steam yacht in the morning and of course he had his trolling line out. The day was an ideal one and the water like glass. Frank was on the verge of dreamland when his reel gave a whiz and the line ran out like mad, nearly pulling him off the boat. As the line was all out in a minute he shouted to the Inspector to as he had caught a log, but the boat kept on going and the line tightening to an extent, which led Frank to believe that it was just a question whether he should drop the line or go overboard with it. The latter course he thought would be preferable and he let the line slip from his hands much to the Inspector's disgust, who exclaimed in answer to the explanation about a snag, that there were no logs in the lake and that it must have been a fish.

His supposition was verified by a glance at the float on the line, which was moving away at the rate of about forty miles an hour. Sometimes it was under the water, and then again it was on top. "Dave" turned the yacht around and chased the float at top speed; when within reasonable distance of it, Mr. Matthews took the canoe and paddled off after his line.

At first he doubted whether it was safe to lay hold of a float which seemed possessed of a spirit so active, but having been often told that he was not born to be drowned, he boldly laid hold of the line.

At the instant he seized the float

THE FUN COMMENCED.

A vigourous pull roused up the submarine monster at the other end of the line, which straightened out like whip cord. Down went the bow of the canoe and off it moved, the yacht in close attendance in case of accident. Frank committed himself to Providence, and gamely held on to his line, pulling firmly all the time, and gathering in what slack he could. The canoe was dragged here, there and everywhere. The strain on the fisherman was a hard one, but by the "win or die" look on his face his companions knew that if the fish got away it would have its work cut out for it from start to finish. Suddenly the water flew in every direction, as a monster lunge threw itself into the air, clear of the water in the frantic endeavour to shake itself free from the barbed minnow which had taken such a firm hold of its gills.

The sight was a strain on the nerves to be sure, but the idea of strengthened Mr. Matthews resolve to stay with it to the end. Again he made an endeavour to gather in some line, with the effect of causing the great fish to lash the water into foam in its rage and fright.

Another pull caused it to dart under the canoe and for a minute or two the position of Mr. Matthews was not an enviable one, as the frail bark gyrated in a manner which made all prepare for a capsize. But with innate courage Frank never lost his presence of mind and still hung gamely on and ever and anon pulled in on his line.

After an hour of the most violent gymnastics a shout announced that the victory had been won and the monster fish lay quietly alongside the canoe.

Balancing himself in his craft he made an effort to lift the whale into the canoe, but couldn't accomplish his purpose by reason of the great weight of his capture. Another effort resulted in his getting part of it in, and in another moment the fish slid into the canoe. Frank fell on top of it and it was not long before it was safely secured.

That was a fish. It measured [illegible] feet, two inches, but as yet its weight has not been ascertained. With the exception of one this is thought to be the largest lunge hooked in Stoney Lake in many years. It is now on ice at Ballyragged and will be brought down to town as soon as the Golden City can attach a scow of sufficient size to transport it.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Items of Interest to Local Sportsmen Aquatic and Field Sports.

CRICKET.

"Cricketers should not forget the fact that good fielding is just as essential a quality in a member of a first class team as good batting or bowling. One of the most promising young batsmen of Toronto lost considerable more runs than he made in a recent match, and there are number of others among the rising generation who would do well to take the lesson to heart and make a big effort to improve themselves in handling the ball in the field."—Toronto Globe.

The above remarks are very timely, and if match committees would put men on elevens for a change for their fielding in place of their batting, a great improvement would be seen in this important part of the game before many more matches have been played. The man in an average game who cannot save as many runs as he makes off his own bat, has accomplished very little indeed.

Although Mr. C. Absolom is within a week or two of being 78 years old, he has begun this season—his sixty-fourth—with two very fine performances. On Wednesday, May 8th, for the Smithfield Rovers, he disposed of six of the Falcon Cricket Club, at Raynes Park, for 15 runs, and on the following day, playing for the same club against Packington, at Finsbury Park, he took 8 wickets for 33. With his last three balls he did the hat trick, bowling his man on each occasion.

Young Tucker, of the Trinity College School eleven, is spoken of as being good enough for the Canadian eleven this year.

Owing to the fact that the C.P.R. authorities refuse to allow them to stop over on their return to Ottawa from their tour, the Ottawa cricketers will not be able to give the Peterborough eleven a game on Friday next. The local men are greatly disappointed at missing the match. A later wire from Brisiow, captain, states that the team will play here if the C.P.R. at Toronto can be worked.

The second eleven of the Peterborough club goes to Port Hope Saturday to play a return match with the Trinity College School II.

QUOITS.

Mr. George Giroux, this morning, received a letter asking him to become a member of the famous Heather Quoiting Club, of Toronto, and to participate in the international matches which are being arranged. The Heather Club would like to send some of their men down here for a game, and promise a return match if Peterborough sends up a team to the Queen City.

THE TURF.

The Prince of Wales won the Coventry Stakes and the gold vase at the Ascot races yesterday, with Persimmon and Florizel II. Capt. Machell's Ravensbury won the Ascot stakes.

BASEBALL.

The Young Atlantas Baseball Club, Toronto, average age thirteen, desires to arrange a match with an outside club, Niagara, Peterborough and Hamilton preferred, for Dominion Day. Address all communications to W. Good, 11 Anne street, Toronto.

Second League and Monthly Match.

The second league and monthly match took place at the range on Thursday last. The light was bright and the wind variable, being a rear fish-tail, which made the shooting difficult, and the high scores few in number though the average was fair. The following are the individual scores:

THE BOYS IN RED MARCHED OUT LAST NIGHT.

The Ranks are Swelling Daily and Great Preparations are Being Made for the Trip.

There was a large turnout of the Rangers last evening, and the battalion indulged in a march out through the principal streets of the town.

The ranks are rapidly swelling and in the course of a day or so it is hoped that each and every company will have its full complement of men in order that by having a few thorough drills together they may make a good appearance in Picton, where great things are expected of them.

Two drills a week are being given and there will be only about ten days intervening between now and the day of embarkation.

Men are being sworn in after every drill and those who are not attending parades, after swearing fealty, will be looked after by a corporal's guard and have an unpleasant experience.

BATTALION ORDERS.

HEADQUARTERS,
PETERBOROUGH, June 18th, 1895.

Orders by Lieut. Col. R. W. Bell, Commanding the 57th Battalion of Infantry, Peterborough Rangers.

1. Sergt. W. J. Lloyd is transferred from No 3 Company to Quartermaster's stores to act as assistant to Quartermaster.

2. There will be a lecture by Sergt.-Major Peters to non-commissioned officers after parade on Thursday evening, June 20th, 1895.

3. Men of the various companies who have not been sworn in will attend with their captains at the Orderly Room, after parade this evening, when they will be sworn in.

4. Captains of companies will hand in to the Adjt. the names of all men who have been sworn in and have not served their allotted time and are not attending parade.

5. To be acting Corporals in No. 4 Company:—Privates D. Evans and G. Tremain.

By order,
E. F. MASON, Capt.,
Adj. 57th Battalion.

THE AUBURN BRIDGE BYLAW.

The defeat of the bylaw for the erection of a bridge at Auburn has been somewhat of a surprise to many who were looking to an opposite result. It is thought that the council will submit the bylaw to the popular vote again. If the Town Engineer and the Mayor will assure the ratepayers that the cost of the entire bridge (extras barred) will not exceed $3,000 or $3,500, the bylaw will likely be carried on another vote. It was the public conviction of the insufficiency of the amount asked to be authorized by the bylaw, that was largely responsible for the defeat of the bylaw. If the ratepayers were convinced that the $3,000, or even $3,500 asked for would be sufficient to complete the bridge, and that business principles and reasonable economy would be applied to its construction, another vote would perhaps result in the adoption of the bylaw. The large bills for extras on the Smith street bridge assisted to defeat the by-law on Monday. It would be much better if the council would take the ratepayers into their confidence and inform them of the exact cost to which they are expected to commit themselves in sactioning any large expenditure. When the people have been deceived once as to the cost of a work it is only natural that they should put a lack of confidence in the estimate of their civic rulers.

The EXAMINER has been asked to call attention to the impropriety of returning officers and their clerks interfering with the ratepayers who go to the polls to record their vote. The chief weight of this complaint refers to No. 1 Ward particularly, where it was said that active interference was employed by officials who should observe the strictest neutrality in opposition to the passage of both the bridge and school bylaws. These gentlemen have a perfect right to the enjoyment of their opinions on such subjects, and if they wish to give expression to such opinions and impress them upon others, they should not accept a position which imposes silence upon them while they are exercising their official functions.

INFLUENCE OF DEPUTY RETURNING OFFICERS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I wish to call the attention of the public and the town council especially to the manner in which the returning officers and clerks discharged their duties in the voting on the bylaws on Monday. I am informed and have good reason to believe that the deputy returning officer and his assistant were guilty of actively canvassing voters in opposition to both bylaws. If this is the case—and the council should inquire into the matter—it is a serious offence on the part of these officials. They were employed to do certain specific work, requiring the strictest impartiality. They are paid by the ratepayers, and it strikes me as grossly improper that they should neglect their proper duties and work against the opinions of ratepayers, by whom (in part at least) their wages are paid. Deputy returning officers and clerks were paid to record votes and not to canvass voters. The council should see that these officials are kept in their proper place.

Yours truly,
No. 1 WARD.

DIAMONDS LOST AND RECOVERED.

Mrs. Geo. A. Cox Loses and Recovers Her Purse.

Mrs. F. G. Cox, wife of the Manager of the Central Canada Loan & Savings Co., was in the office of her husband Monday morning and was called to the telephone. While there a little girl known in all business houses, where she offers bouquets of roses and other flowers for sale, entered the room. When Mrs. Cox returned she missed her purse, which had been left on the table. As it contained several valuable diamond rings, as well as some gold and paper money, a search was at once made for the little girl by employees in the office. She was eventually located in the market, confessed the crime and volunteered to go with the men to recover the jewellry. They were all found secreted in a radiator in the hall of the Union Loan building. Detective Burrows was put on the case, and with the girl's guidance found the balance of the money except two dollars. The girl was subsequently arrested. She is aged sixteen, and named Florence Beadle, 157 De Grassi street.—Globe.

GOUGH BROS

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

375 and 377 George Street, June 14.

The Month Of Roses!

JUNE, the month of Roses, inaugurates the season for light-weight Clothing, at Reduced prices for Men, Youths and Boys. Before the June roses are all gone we expect that most of our present stock of Summer Clothing will have gone also, if sales keep on as they are doing the past two weeks. As the mercury in the thermometer ascends, the sales of our Cool Clothing ascends correspondingly, and unless you prepare for summer heat now, half your time will be spent in trying to keep cool. Every corner of our two big stores has a summer-like, hot-weather appearance. But, figuratively speaking, Gough Bros. is the coolest Clothing House in Canada during the hot days of June—because Gough Bros. prices are always below zero.

Perhaps We're Wrong.

We're sometimes blamed for selling things too cheap—but just now we're not making any apologies. We're working for "the greatest good to the greatest number"—and the way customers crowd the store every day shows that the public is abundantly satisfied with good things being cheap and cheap things being good.

What Counts.

What counts in purchasing is the comfort of knowing you made a good bargain. Look back a few years ago and compare the store of to-day with the business as you knew it then. Study the trend of values during the same period. Prices have been gradually reduced in proportion as facilities were enlarged.

Every now and then we are accused of underselling, when we merely do our duty—by you, and sell as low as we can. Dollars and cents—cents and dollars—with a leaning towards the store that gives the best values, and a disposition to trade where prices are lowest—that's the yard stick to measure by.

Summer Suits.

Men are apt to feel the summer heat more now than later on in the season. They need thin, comfortable Clothing now, and nobody wants to pay more than is necessary. Don't put off coming until late in the day if you can help it. Saturdays are our crowd days, when everybody's in a hurry. Better come now.

When the mercury is simmering, remember that we have the comfort you need. Very many bargains are here for people of narrow means, and values are generally good all along the line.

—American Iceberg Coats, at 75c and $1.25.
—Lustre Coats and Vests, at $2.00.
—Lightweight Serge Suits, $2.95, $3.50, $10.00.
—Lightweight Tweed Suits, $3.90, $5.00, $7.50.
—Lightweight Skeleton Coats, 50c, $1.00 to $2.50.
—Blazer Coats, all colours, $2.00.
—White and Coloured Vests, from 69c to $2.00.
—Silk Coats and Vests, plain and striped, $2.00, $3.00, $5.00.
—Sporting Trousers, $2.00 to $4.00.

We sell about everything that men and boys wear, and many things they buy for personal gratification. In this respect the store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

Gent's Furnishing.

—French Balbriggan Suits $1.50.
—Natural Wool Suits $1.50.
—Outing Shirts 40c.
—Coloured Shirts, fast colours, all sizes 50c.
—Fine Elastic Braces 15c.
—Merino Socks, seamless, double heel and toe, 3 pairs for 50c.
—Silk Knot Ties, 2 for 25c.
—Plain and Coloured Merino 25c each.
—Striped Underwear 15c each.
—Flannelette Shirts 18c, 23c.
—Collars and Cuffs 10c, 15c, 18c a pair.

A great thing for a man who aims to succeed is to look well. Everybody is judged, more or less, by appearance. It dosen't cost much to possess stylish furnishings if you buy at Gough Bros.

Not Much of a Trick.

It's not much of a trick to sell Straw Hats at this season of the year, although some of the regular hat dealers may have to hustle to do it and get their fancy prices. If we had to sell Hats alone, we might have to hustle, too, but we don't have to. It's as easy as looking down a well. The Hat maker usually loads up the regular Hat dealers at good, plump figures, and when he finds he has an immovable load left he calls in the live general retail clothier and bids him take them at his own price - but take them. That's one of the ways we get in our best work. GOUGH BROS. have helped several such hat manufacturers out of a hole, and it accounts for the special price festival we have been holding in Hats the past few weeks. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade; but were the SELLERS and that suits us just as well.

—Gents' Fine Straw Hats 25c, worth 40 cents.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 50c, worth $1.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 75c, worth $1.50.
—Men's Straw Hats in lightweight, wide and narrow rims, 50c to $1.50.
—Boys' Hats, in every style, from 15c to 75c.
—Children's Sailors 10c, 25c.
—Tweed Hats 20c, 25c.
—Men's Tourists, 75c.
—Men's Christy Hats, all sizes 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $2 and $3.
—Fedoras, all popular shades, qualities and sizes, for Men and Boys, as low as 70c, as high as $3.

That's enough to prove our interest in your welfare. We have a complete assortment, and prices are low enough to capture your trade.

Tan Shoes.

A discussion is just now bothering some people as to whether or no, Tan Shoes are cooler than black in hot weather. The question is easily answered: Nothing is fashionable long that does not combine comfort with style of late years no two things have added more to a mitigation of hot-weather discomfort than the brown shoe and the outing shirt.

We have tan shoes in all sizes, for men, women and children, and seem to have no difficulty in disposing of all we can get.

There's no jobbers' 25 per cent. on boots in this store—you pay no intermediate profit here. We sell as we buy.

—First quality Canvas Oxfords, kid-faced, white, tans and greys.
—Russian Tan Oxfords, in dark and light colours, hand-turned soles and welts; tan overgaiters to match.
—Nobby street shoe in patent leather vamp, kid quarter, opera and Philadelphia toe.
—Tennis shoes, all sorts and sizes.
—Men's Tan Shoes, kid lined $1.15.
—Misses' Tan Balmorals and Button Boots $1.
—Woman's Tan Balmorals $1 a pair.
—Ladies' hand-made Tan Oxfords $1.25.
—Hand-made Button Boots $2.
—Finest American White Canvas $2, $2.50.
—Oxford, hand-made $1.25, $1.50.
—Finest Russian Leather (city made) Oxford, $2.

Our prices may be ruining the shoe trade—we can't help it. We're sorry to injure the shoe trade, but we must look after your interests and keep you posted in right prices.

TOBACCO'S DIVINE QUALITIES.

Col. Ingersoll's Eloquent Eulogy of the Narcotic Plant is Worth Printing.

At the banquet which closed the fourth National Convention of Cigar Manufacturers in New York a few years ago, Robert G. Ingersoll eloquently extolled the virtues of tobacco as follows:

"Now, then, it is a delight to speak on a subject everyone understands. We all understand the divine plant. I have loved it all my life, since I was ten years old. At that time a man named Wyooff, the greatest liar I ever met, gave me a chew of his Cavendish pigtail. Strangely enough, I liked it at once, and five minutes after my first taste I had a plug of my own. I use it now and I defend its use against the moral advice of parsons and the physical advice of medical men.

"Something in the human brain craves the leaf. If you want to awaken the mind of the savage, who has no clothes except climate, increase his wants. Give him a taste of tobacco and he will hunt for iron and dig for jewels and gold to get more of the plant.

"There's too much hypocrisy about the use of tobacco; thousands use it and lie about it. I want you to use it and defend its use, because it adds something to the value and happiness of life. In spite of the thunders of the pulpit and the anathemas of physicians its use is increasing, and this is because the brain of man craves it.

"What would we do without it? Think of waiting for a train without tobacco! Think of crouching in the deadly rifle pit without tobacco! What would those do who add value to life by spanning the world with the rainbows of fancy without tobacco? All use tobacco and are the better for it. Have the courage of your happiness and defend its use.

"There is another point I want to make. Tobacco is a luxury. Let us cheapen all luxuries. Labor pays all the tax in the world. Then let labor reap some of the benefit. Give the workingman tobacco as cheap as possible! The idea is to let the poor devil work now and smoke in the world to come. We want him to smoke now.

"No luxury should be produced by suffering. The men and women who make cigars should be well paid. I hope you manufacturers in these days of trusts will organize a trust for the sole purpose of paying your working people well. Then there will be an added flavor to every cigar.

"Tobacco is, and always will be, an emblem of peace. When tobacco tastes good to a man he may be sure he is well. For my part, I would rather go without corn than without tobacco. Now, let me finally exhort you to make the best cigars you can. Give us good goods!"—New York Herald.

Chinese Wheelbarrows.

In this picture we are introduced to one of the commonest forms of conveyances met with in China.

The wheelbarrow is used in most parts of east, central and southern China, whilst in the north it is replaced by carts and mule litters, and in the west by ponies and mules carrying riders or loads of merchandise.

These barrows are pushed by one man, and are the most usual kind. Here two ladies are seated on one barrow, and a farmer is balanced on the second by a live pig which he is taking to market. The comfort of the poor beast receives but scant consideration in making up the load.

Another form of barrow was used on Mr. Hudson Taylor's journey. In this case two men are required to each barrow, and a large quantity of baggage is carried. In some parts of the great plain barrows are to be seen to which a donkey or pony is yoked in front, whilst a man guides and pushes from behind. If the wind is favorable, a sail is sometimes hoisted to assist in propelling the barrows.—China's Millions.

LEGGINS AT $25 A PAIR.

In Great Demand by Women Who Ride Bicycles.

"I have made sixty pairs of bicycle leggins already this season, costing from $12 to $35. I have an order now for six pairs for ladies who are going soon to Europe in a party," said a dealer in such wares, who makes a specialty of women's footgear. "I make boots and slippers for professional people," he went on. "I made a wonderful pair of leggins for an actress to wear in 'The Amasons.' Soon afterward a lady came to me and said she wanted a pair of leggins just like those she had seen on the stage to wear with her bicycle suit. I took her measure and I made them to fit like a glove, from ankle to knee. She was delighted with them, and since then I have had more orders for fine leggins than I have been able to fill."

The leggins in question are made of ooze calf or Russian leather; are russet color, rich and velvety in appearance, soft and pliable. They are laced at the side and are made with a degree of accuracy and finish that insure perfect satisfaction.

"These will outlast a dozen ordinary leggins," said the maker, smoothing them admiringly. "They can be washed, just like a piece of cloth, if necessary, and will always look well and fit well. New laces will have to be put in, and that is all the freshening up they need."

They are bringing out bicycle leggins now with an elastic reaching from each button hole to the button that they may stretch to fit the shape," said a lady customer, "and they are said to be waterproof also."

"Yes, I know; clumsy, awkward things," said the leggin maker, with an expression of disgust on his face; "they disguise the pretty contour of a woman's ankle. If they were well-shaped they would not need any elastic. A perfect-fitting leggin must be laced and not buttoned, and the greatest care must be exercised in the making. If the slightest mistake is made in the measuring and cutting, the leggin is ruined."—New York Sun.

"SUN" LIFE

Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

THE LONDON CROWD.

Often Unruly When Waiting for the Theatre Doors to Open.

Exceedingly comical for the waiting crowd, but decidedly unpleasant for the subject of its hilarity, was an incident which happened on a holiday recently. Two men were conversing as comfortably as the crowded circumstances would permit, on the merits and demerits of the actors in the new pantomime; but failing to agree on some particular point, an appeal to the crowd was made, the opinion given being in favor of one exclusively, which so exasperated the other that he gave a vigorous dig in the ribs of his companion, who, turning sharply around, knocked off the man's hat and brought with it the wig he was wearing, revealing a shining bald pate, while the hat and hirsute covering were passed boisterously from hand to hand until lost sight of. Had not the cause of this accident slipped aside it would have fared badly with him, for the exasperated man behaved so violently as to be quite dangerous to those near him.

An uproar was created not long ago outside a provincial theatre, and several policemen were necessary to restore and maintain discipline. The original cause of the disturbance was the efforts of a party of youths to push through the crowd towards the doors—a proceeding almost impossible, owing to the dense mass of humanity collected there. What could not be effected by elbowing and scrimmaging was managed by somersaulting, the young rioters actually climbing on the backs of the patient waiters and precipitating themselves head-formost in front. A lamp suspended from an alcove was knocked down by coming in contact with the heels of these unruly acrobats, its glass scattering in dangerous fragments among the people, and a gilded pane in the theatre doors was shattered with a loud crash, falling inward on the tiled floor of the entrance hall. Gentlemen's hats were scattered in wild confusion, umbrellas were flourished, and for a time many a one stood in danger of his life.

The lads were arrested and conveyed to the police station, and the theatre doors were opened half an hour before time to avoid a calamity. Luckily no serious accidents occurred, though the damage done to clothing was a grievous sight to see, one man having suffered the loss of a cape, while a silk muffler had been torn to shreds. A woman, equally unfortunate, entered the hall with the remnants of a beaded mantle hanging in strings down to her knees.

LACE AND LACE-MAKING.

Source of Wealth to the Belgian Government—Lace Schools in Brussels.

Brussels was the favorite lace at the court of the first empire, and when Napoleon and the Empress Marie Louise made their first entry into the Belgic capital, they gave large orders for lace of the richest point. The city gave to the Empress a collection of its finest laces, also a curtain of Brussels point for draping the cradle of the King of Rome.

Lace making is the great source of national wealth to the Belgians, over 300,000 women being thus employed. Lace making forms a part of female education since the mandate of Charles V. to that effect, and there are 1,500 lace school in Brussels. The thread used in Brussels lace is of extraordinary fineness. The finest quality is spun in dark underground rooms, for contact with air causes the thread to break.

A fragment of lace in the collection at the World's Fair was worked with the needle upon muslin, leaving a few meshes unfinished. It is an heirloom of the Bonapare family of Baltimore. Napoleon III. was a great lover of lace. The flounce in the trousseau of Eugenie, Empress of the French, was valued at [illegible] francs, and took forty women eighteen months to complete. The Duchess of York is a great admirer and connoisseur of lace, using the pillow herself. One notable piece sent by her belonged to a descendant of Lord Anne Hamilton, who was the grandson of Queen Anne. Another specimen of historic interest was an apron given by Queen Elizabeth to Lord Fairfax; still others, a gown manufactured for Queen Adelaide, and Princess Charlotte's christening robe.

In the year of the great famine in Ireland, 1847, when thousands of children were left orphans, the hands of the landed proprietors, the Irish ladies at once bethought themselves of occupations whereby they could be made to gain their livelihoods, Lady de Vere was first to teach the mistress of a school on her own estate the art of lace making. Irish point and Carlskmacross, Limerick and Honiton laces are great favorites with Queen Victoria and her daughters.—New York Churchman.

$7,500 for a Set of Teeth.

A well-known firm of bankers in London have just made a profitable investment. Some time ago a man who had defrauded them of a large sum of money was taken into custody, convicted and sentenced to a long term of imprisonment.

As may be imagined, the prison fare did not agree with a man who had by means of fraud lived on the fat of the land. The change affected him in many ways, but he complained more particularly of the effect of the food upon his teeth. They were not numerous or in good condition when he was sentenced, and as they rapidly became worse, he applied to the governor of the prison for a new set.

He was told that the government did not supply prisoners with artificial teeth, and at the first opportunity he wrote to the banking firm in question offering, if they would send him a new set, to give them some valuable information.

Thereupon the bankers, thinking the offer might be a genuine one, sent the governor of the prison a check for £5, and asked him to provide the convict with a set of artificial teeth.

In due course the convict kept his promise and sent the bankers certain information by the means of which they were enabled to recover no less than £1,500 of which they had been defrauded. They naturally regarded this as the best investment they had ever made, but it proved even better than anticipated, for they have just received from the prison authorities a remittance of £1, the teeth having cost only £4.—London Tit-Bits.

DON'T'S FOR BICYCLISTS.

Don't take everybody's advice as to the very best country roads.

Don't go on a journey without route mapped out. Remember Livingstone in Africa.

Don't enter a village with the air of one about to confer a great favor.

Don't talk bicycle at table d'hote. Even the weather as a topic is preferable.

Don't loan your wheel, even to your uncle. It has the disappearing trick of the umbrella.

Don't think every girl sitting on the piazza has never before seen a man on a wheel.

Don't ride to church on the wheel, unless in need of the prayers of the congregation.

Don't have too many ribbons on the handle. It is regarded as rather effeminate.

Don't disparage makers of all wheels except your own. There is good in Israel.

Don't ride at night without a lantern, unless you have an accident policy.

Don't imbibe on the eve of a journey. There is no sympathy for whisky on wheels.

Don't exhaust yourself trying to ride up hill. A little walking is a relief to the legs.

Don't expect every country tavern keeper to cash a check on some remote bank.

Don't lose your railway release check. The officials dislike to give duplicates.

Don't ride in a crowded thoroughfare unless you are fully competent to do so.

Don't undertake to teach others until you know how to ride yourself.

Don't ride over railway crossings. It is easier and safer to walk.

Don't imagine it adds to your appearance to be smoking a pipe while riding.

Don't stoop to much. It is an affliction to be called a "regular rounder."

Don't tell fairy stories about your runs. Remember George Washington.

Don't go too far from home without money or facilities for securing it.

Don't ridicule those who are trying to learn. Had you immunity from falls?

Don't take general advice as to the care of your wheel. If you do it will be ruined.

Don't be prejudiced against a man who has a more expensive wheel than yours.

Don't undertake to doff your cap to a girl unless you can do it without falling off.

Don't be dissatisfied with your wheel every time you hear about a new one.

Don't leave any but good impressions behind you when you depart from a town.

Don't ask geographical questions that even local school masters cannot answer.

ITS VALUE PROVED.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys, through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been of not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

Biliousness and Liver Complaint, Headache, etc., are cured by Burdock Pills.

Loss of a Jap Torpedo Boat.

San Francisco, June 14.—A private letter gives the intelligence of the wreck of torpedo boat No. 16 of the Japanese Navy off Pang Hung Island, in the Pescadores. All of the vessel's crew but one man were drowned. Among the lost were two English and two American seamen.

The Draining of Land.

Early crops cannot be secured on cold, damp land, and no matter how well such land may have been plowed, nor how dry and friable it may appear, the first rain that comes will cause the soil to become cold clammy and hard.

Drains or ditches are essential, and a large ditch must be used to conduct the surplus water off. Tile drainage is the best method in such cases.

Byron used a great deal of hairdressing, but was very particular to have only the best to be fonnd in the market. If Ayer's Hair Vigor had been obtainable then, doubtless he would have tested its merits, as so many distinguished and fashionable people are doing now-a-days.

NO SUCH THING AS OLD AGE

To those who use South American Nervine

A Lady of 80 Years Permanently Cured by this Wonderful Medicine.

Three Doctors said "Old Age was Her Complaint" and Gave Her Up—Three Bottles of Nervine Gave Relief—Twelve Bottles Cured Absolutely.

MRS. JOHN DINWOODY, Flesherton, Ont.

Wordsworth speaks of "An old age serene and bright, and lovely as a Lapland night." And elsewhere this same writer talks of "An old age, beautiful and free." These are conditions that come to the man or woman, though their years may border close on to a century, when in the enjoyment of good health. In fact it is difficult to think of some of the old men and women on the stage of life to-day as old people, there seems to be such a perennial youthfulness about their every movement and act.

Does someone tell us that cases like this must be the exception and not the rule with those who have approached to or gone beyond the allotted three score years and ten? Not so, if they have become acquainted with the virtues contained in South American Nervine. Before us in this sketch is the picture of Mrs. John Dinwoody, of Flesherton, Ont., a resident of that town for forty years. No person in the town and country side around is perhaps better known than this lady, and none more highly esteemed. Three years ago it was her sad lot to loose a daughter who had been all the world to her. The shock sustained by this event completely broke up the system of Mrs. Dinwoody. She supposed her end had come. She doctored for one year with three doctors, and they gave her case up, saying that it was one of old age and no one, nor any medicine could do her good. Made of the kind of stuff that gives beauty to age at any time she did not despair. She was influenced to try Nervine. She took three bottles, and this was sufficient to show her that her end was not yet. From these she obtained relief. She persevered, and in all took twelve bottles of the medicine, with the result that she is to-day completely cured of that breaking-up of the system that threatened her three years ago.

There is nothing wonderful in the fact that Mrs. Dinwoody would proclaim, to the thousands of old people throughout this broad land, that with old age does not necessarily come decline, decrepitude and disease. Why should we not live into the eighties and nineties, and cross the border of the century?

South American Nervine, whether the person be young or old, gets at the nerve centers, and when they are kept in proper condition the system is as well able to withstand disease at eighty as at thirty. With this prospect in view who would not live to an old age and enjoy the pleasures of family, friends and society, and take a part in watching the marvelous progress and developments of these closing days of a wonderful century, which marks as not the least of its wonderful discoveries, the discovery of South American Nervine.

EYES TO SEE AND SEE NOT

That is the case with many people. They need spectacles, and the strange part of it is the some folks never know how bad their eyes are until they have them tested. Have been going through life without seeing as much as they ought to see—perhaps suffering from headaches and tired eyes.

If you will call at Sanderson's Jewellery Store, George street, your eyes will be examined free of charge. If you need Glasses they will be supplied at a reasonable price. Do not neglect this matter and so be like those who have EARS TO HEAR AND HEAR NOT.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

THE C. E. PLEDGE.

The following is part of a paper on "The Pledge," written by Miss Mann, of Smith. The whole paper is excellent, but we can only give parts of it here.

"What is a pledge? A pledge is something given as security, and should be carefully thought about before being given. In our C. E. work the pledge is one of the 'essentials.' So important do the founders of the movement regard it, that Dr. Clark has said: "The prayer meeting pledge, honestly interpreted, is a necessity to the continuation of C. E. societies.' Moreover, it is one feature of our work which, perhaps, more than any other, is taken exception to by those who are not favourable to this movement. We should, therefore, be fully convinced of the validity and helpfulness of the pledge, and ever ready to uphold and recommend its adoption. We have often wondered at the ephemeral existence in the past of young people's societies. Now, we understand the cause of failure in many cases—that is, the want of the pledges, thus lacking cohesion. A pledge which commits members to daily study of the Bible, to daily prayer, attendance upon church service, and participation in every meeting, means considerable sacrifice. But sacrifice always strengthens—this is one reason for the continued success of Christian Endeavour. Regarding our pledge as a "vow," or consecration by promise, have we Scriptural endorsement? Our answer is Yes. Vows were entered into by nations and by individuals with God. For example, Joshua and the tribes at Shechem, where the people said, "Nay, but we will serve the Lord," their leader answered, "Ye are now witnesses against yourselves as to this thing." The people solemnly answered, "We are witnesses."

Then as to individuals: We all recall Jacob's vow at Bethel, Gen. xxviii, 20-22. This pledge parallels our own in many ways. Then again in Deut. xxii, 21, we find vows are sanctioned—"When thou shalt vow a vow unto the Lord," etc., in Eccl. v, 4, and when the Psalmist speaks of "Paying his vows unto the Lord." We thus find that if pledges are for a right purpose they are approved of God.

In the ordinances of Baptism and the Lord's Supper vows are entered into. True nothing is signed, but none the less we vow to God a pledged service. Our C. E. pledge opens thus—"Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him that I will strive to do whatever He would like to have me do; that I will make it the rule of my life to pray and to read the Bible every day." Have you or I promised less than this when we sat down at the communion table? With the above thought in mind, think carefully what you are doing, when you object to the C.E. pledge. Some good people say: "I won't take the pledge for fear I will break it." Think of the opening clause and remember that "God knoweth our frame; He remembereth that we are dust."

Now comes the question, "Is our pledge helpful?" We answer, yes.

1st. It teaches us regularity in Christian duties. More method and less spasmodic service. System and method are among the first requisites for success in business life and also in the spiritual life.

2nd. It is helpful if God has approved it and that is made clear in the Word.

3rd. It gives enlarged power of witnessing for Christ; it develops some natures that would otherwise remain dormant. We must use our gifts if we wish them to grow. A stammering tongue may become eloquent in the Master's cause, but only by use.

It is unfortunate that any should be kept out of the society by reason of the pledge. If they are unwilling to take it, they will be of very little use to the society. There must be some test. Our pledge is that test. To have successful societies it is necessary to apply the pledge. In conclusion let us look up for grace and strength, look around to bless and help others. In blessing others we will be blessed, growing stronger and stronger as witnesses for our blessed Master.

BOSTON '95.

In this column, next week, we will give railroad rates and other particulars pertaining to the convention to be held at Boston, during July 10th to 15th.

Miss Mary Eaton, of the Presbyterian church, Norwood, has been appointed delegate to represent the County Union. All intending going to the convention should send word to the county secretary, so that some arrangement might be made that all could go together.

MARK STREET SOCIETY.

Monday evening we held our regular meeting. After opening exercises, Miss Pearce, a member of the Endeavour Society at Welcome, took the topic and afterwards all were given an opportunity to show their personal allegiance to God, as a good lively fellowship meeting was held for a short time. There was one active member added to our list, and the attendance was encouraging. The Executive met before the meeting and are considering the matter of starting a junior Endeavour in connection with our society.

ST. PAUL'S SOCIETY.

At the second last meeting of the society Mr. Sheriff Hall gave a very practical address on "How to Study the Bible." The last meeting was conducted by the social committee. The attendance was large. A number of visitors being present, a very profitable hour this was. The junior portion of this society held a picnic at West Nicholls Park on Saturday afternoon, June 8th. The mothers provided refreshments, games were indulged in, committee work was discussed. The parents, the children and the workers spent a pleasant few hours together with benefical results, all becoming better acquainted with each other and with the junior work. The next meeting of the senior executive will be held in the open air at one of the parks.

SALEM SOCIETY.

Last Wednesday evening we made our meeting an open discussion. The President, after making a few remarks, threw the meeting open, asking anyone who had a thought upon the subject to give it. We find this a good plan, as it sometimes encourages the more timid ones to take an active part when otherwise they would remain silent. If it is only a passage of Scripture read which bears upon the subject or the simplest thought given, it helps both, the one who gives it and makes the meeting livelier and better.

SELWYN SOCIETY

Continue to hold their meetings on Thursday evening at eight o'clock. The meeting for June 13th was led by Miss M. Preston, the topic being "The Proof of our Allegiance to Christ." A paper on the topic, which had been prepared by Mrs. Graham, was read by Mr. A. Preston, in Mrs. Graham's absence. Bible proofs of loyalty were read by the Endeavourers, and were briefly and ably explained by the President, Miss E. Blewett. Mr. Reeves then explained the Sabbath school lesson for the following Sabbath, emphasizing Peter's loyalty to Christ. The meeting closed by singing "Stand up for Jesus," and the Mizpah.

The regular missionary meeting will be held on June 27th. A good programme is in course of preparation. A talk on "Our Denominational Missionary work" will be given by the pastor; also, a "Brief Account of Some Heroic Missionaries," will be given by one of the members. We hope for a good attendance at our missionary meeting.

GEORGE STREET SOCIETY.

The regular meeting of this society was held last evening, with a very good attendance. Miss Stevens, one of the vice-presidents, occupied the chair. The topic was taken up by our pastor, Mr. Young, and his interesting and helpful address was listened to with both interest and profit by all.

CHARLOTTE STREET SOCIETY.

The chair was taken by the president. The meeting opened by singing and prayer, then the entire lesson was read by each one present reading a verse.

The topic was divided into three parts, first, "Loyal Service," second, "Loyal Obedience," and third, "Loyal Testimony." These three subjects were taken up by three different members, then the meeting was thrown open for anyone to take part, which made us all feel that it was good to wait upon the Lord.

The president then announced that next Monday evening would be the regular business meeting and the executive would meet at 7.30. The meeting was then closed by prayer.

On Monday evening, June 10th, the juniors held a memorial service to the late Herbie Sanderson, who was an active member, and the expressions given by the young Endeavourers with regard to the loss of their little friend showed clearly he had endeared himself to all.

The meeting was led by Master Walter Brooks and was one of profit and interest.

LAID LOWLY BY FIRE

Half of Tottenham Village Burned Down.

EIGHTY BUILDINGS DESTROYED

Despite Help From Neighboring Towns and the Militia Camp the Flames Could Not Be Checked—The Loss Will Reach Fully $125,000.

Tottenham, Ont., June 18.—This village has been to-day swept by a terrible fire. About 2 o'clock this afternoon a fire broke out in McKinney's foundry in the southwesterly part of the village, and as strong southwesterly wind was blowing at the time the flames spread rapidly towards the east and north.

Everything being so dry, fires started simultaneously in dozens of places, so that while the fire engine was doing good work in one direction, scores of places elsewhere were in flames, which spread so rapidly that citizens could do little more than helplessly look on.

Albert, Richmond, Victoria and Mill-streets east, were swept on both sides, together with a considerable portion of Queen-street south.

About 80 buildings were burned, including the foundry, Mercer's store, Potter's block, Lyon's shop, Verney & Co.'s furniture rooms, Sanford's drug store and the Methodist Church.

The loss is estimated at $125,000; amount of insurance not yet known.

Allandale sent down a fire engine which did good work. A large number of Beeton and Alliston citizens came over with a quantity of hose, which was badly needed, also some three hundred volunteers from the camp in Beeton came on a special train, and to their unsparing efforts may be attributed the fact that even so much of the town was saved.

One Fact Counts

For more than a thousand insinuations, especially if the insinuations are inspired by jealousy and defeat.

It is an ADMITTED FACT that Fairweather & Co. ARE the leaders in the Hat trade in Peterborough and Lindsay. The manufacturer recognize this as fully as do our numerous patrons and "side line" competitors; and therefore do not think of offering us the off-scourings—the "rag-tag and bobtail" or commonly called "seconds" of their stocks "at any price." These are disposed of to the general country merchants and clothing houses. It would not suit our trade. We must have the most correct styles and qualities.

"A good name is better than riches," even if it be only in a Stiff Hat, and especially if you control it.

Christy & Co. of London, England, are admitted to be the best makers of Stiff Hats the world over. No other house in Peterborough have their goods, as we are their SOLE agents here. The name "Christy Hat" is given by people, who do not know the difference, to a Stiff Hat of any kind, but this is a misnomer, and only goes to show how much the ordinary clothier knows about the hat trade.

Our prices for genuine Christy & Co's Hats are 99c, for all wool grades, and $1.99 for all fur qualities. This offer is made to clear.

The moral is: Come where you get the best Hats made by standard makers at the price of ordinary qualities. Do not be "bamboozled," but come to

CURRAN BRIDGE JOB.

Haggart Admits the Steals, But Denies Responsibility.

MR. TARTE PROVES HIM CULPABLE.

Messrs. Martin, Tarte, Casey, Mulock, Cartwright and McCarthy Arraign the Minister and the Government—Leader Foster and Sir Tupper Make Weak Replies.

Ottawa, June 20.—The Curran bridge debate was continued in the House yesterday and occupied the entire sitting, the vote not being reached until 3.20 this a.m. The discussion went against the Government and the ministers realised it, and after midnight the Minister of Justice and leader of the Government made an effort to retrieve the day. The speakers during the afternoon and evening were Messrs. Tarte, Martin, Casey, Mulock and Cartwright on the Opposition side and Mr. McCarthy, while on the Government side the only speeches besides those of two ministers above, was that by Solicitor-General Curran and Mr. Davin.

Mr. Tarte took up a feature of the discussion which had not received as much yet lies at the very root of the matter. The Minister of Railways had disclaimed responsibility. Who then was responsible? Mr. Tarte asked. Where was the doctrine of ministerial responsibility? The well-established doctrine was that Parliament must hold the minister to account for the administration of his department, and not the minister only, but the Government also. There could be no other doctrine. The plea set up by the Minister in this case was a new and strange one in this House. It was not heard about in 1891, when an important enquiry took place into the administration of the Public Works Department. The report of the majority of the Privileges and Elections Committee had reported that Sir Hector Langevin had no knowledge of the conspiracy against his department, but in spite of this exoneration he had to leave office. Mr. Haggart claimed that he had dismissed officials who had done wrong so did Sir Hector Langevin dismiss certain high officials, but that did not relieve him from his responsibility as the head of the department. Where was the difference between the positions of the two Ministers? And if in 1891 frauds upon a department called for the retirement of a Minister in charge, notwithstanding that the House exculpated him from all knowledge of them, how could the Minister evade responsibility in 1895 upon that plea? This was the position which Mr. Haggart occupied, and what was the House going to say about it. In 1891 guilty men were discovered and they were prosecuted in the city of Ottawa. Where was St. Louis prosecuted? When it was announced in the press that St. Louis was to be prosecuted some of his friends came to Ottawa and protested against bringing him here. It would not be safe. It would be safer to prosecute him in Montreal, and he was prosecuted in Montreal. The Government knew that in Ottawa the Ontario Government could interfere and that there was no danger of that in Montreal. But why had St. Louis been singled out for prosecution when there were other guilty parties. Edward Kennedy had a post. He had had dealings with the Department of Railways and Canals and he had been guilty of fraud to a pretty large extent before he became connected with the Curran bridge. The men who had in 1891 been shown to have obtained $1,000,000 had escaped with three months' imprisonment. The men who had been unanimously declared guilty of these fraudulent transactions by the House were deep in the councils of the Conservative party. When it was rumored that an election would take place in Quebec West, the Postmaster-General went down and took advice with his friend Nicholas Connolly as to the best man to contest the seat. Mr. Tarte said that if there was an appeal to the country now the Government would be wiped out, because there must be an end to the defiance of public opinion.

It was after 1 o'clock when Mr. McCarthy rose to speak. He said he did not think the resolution impugned the honor or the integrity of the minister, although the attempt of the minister himself and the Minister of Justice had been to divert attention by referring to the attack as a personal one. The issue was, however, the minister's conduct of his department. That and that only. The facts were well established and about them there was no difference. The difficulty arose over the construction of work, which was estimated to cost $122,000. But to that amount to be perfectly fair, the commissions' report had added a further sum for unexpected difficulties bringing the reasonable cost of the work to $200,000. At the outset he exculpated the minister from the charge that he had connived at a plot to effect the steal. At the same time there were circumstances so extraordinary that the charge was not entirely unwarranted. As for the letting of the labor contract and the extension of it from skilled to unskilled labor. The minister had been weak enough to give way to the advice of his engineer.

In this connection it was noticeable that whenever a Minister made a mistake the responsibility was put upon the engineer, but when the returns of the I.C. Railway improved nothing was heard about Mr. Pottinger. (Laughter and hear, hear.)

rD. Montigue came to his patron's asgart had always given credit to Mr. sistance, and rising said that Mr. Haggart Pottinger. (Cries of "No.") Mr. McCarthy's quiet cutting rejoinder was that he would not contradict the Secretary of State, but that at any rate had been his the hon. Secretary's practise when he was blowing the Minister of Railway's horn on every platform. (Applause and laughter.). Continuing, Mr. McCarthy said, while relieving Mr. Haggart of responsibility down to a certain point, they came to a point on April 25, when by the report of Mr. Douglas it was plain that he knew that gross frauds and stealing were going on. For all that took place after that date the minister could not evade responsibility. For the payment of cheques to St. Louis after that date he must be held to account. Then, on the 10th May the deputy minister had reported to the minister that gross frauds had been perpetrated, and recommended the issuance of a commission of enquiry. What, then, could be said for the minister when it was seen that after the 10th of May money to the amount of over $100,000 was paid between the 10th of May and 6th of June to the man against whom a commission had been issued to see whether he had defrauded the department? Why, the fact was that it was this money which was being stolen, according to the deputy minister's report. Nor was this all. These accounts were not even certified to by the Engineer nor by the check clerk, and yet the money was paid to the man against whom a commission had been issued. He agreed with the Minister of Justice that a minister must not be held to account for the carrying out of the details of his department. But the House should hold him to account for all that had transpired after the circumstances came to his attention. And applying that rule he found that he must vote that the Minister of Railways had been grossly negligent of his duty. In substantiation of the doctrine of ministerial responsibility he quoted constitutional authorities. But he did not need to present that doctrine to the length to which it was sometimes extended to base his censure of the Minister of Railway's conduct. As to the prosecution of the offenders, he challenged the Minister of Justice to show a case in the history of British jurisprudence where a case before a police magistrate was allowed to drag along for seven months. He challenged him, too, to find a case where a magistrate found that the Crown had been defrauded and yet that there was not even a prima facie case against the man who had obtained the money. What could a judge think when the money had been paid after the alleged fraud had been brought to the knowledge of the minister. He could vote for every word of the resolution moved by the member for Queen's. (Cheers.)

After speeches by Mr. Foster and Sir Richard, the vote was reached at 3.15 a.m. The amendment was rejected by a majority of 37, the vote being 65 to 102.

Mr. Girouard of Two Mountains was the only Conservative to vote against the Government.

The expenses of the Royal Commission on Prohibition were presented in a return to Parliament to-night. The expenses and pay of the different commissioners are as follows: Sir Joseph Hickson, 194 days at $10 per day, $1940; 49 days' living allowance at $4, $196, and traveling expenses, $60.75, or a total of $2196.75. E. F. Clarke, 139 days at $10, $1390; 131 days' living expenses at $4, $524; traveling expenses $493, or a total of $2407. G. A. Gigault, 146 days, $1460; 142 days' living expenses, $568, and traveling expenses $344, or a total of $2372. Judge H. S. McDonald, 220 days at $10, $2200; living allowances $928 and traveling expenses $669, making a total of $3797. Rev. J. McLeod, 570 days at $10, $5700; living allowances $1556 and traveling expenses $1357, or a total of $8593.

The pay and expenses of the commissioners foot up $19,371.

The Soo Canal was again under discussion at the meting of the Public Accounts Committee in the morning. W. G. Thompson was resident engineer on the canal from the spring of 1889 to October, 1891; before he was resident engineer, William Crawford acted as such. During the time that he was on the canal Mr. Crawford acted as his assistant. The witness said that he made a report on the contemplated changes in the canal. A spat took place between Mr. Haggart and Mr. Davies on the examination of the witness on the question of changes.

"You have no right to that bullying style of yours," said the Minister of Railways to Mr. Davies.

"You are not going to get up and interrupt me in that fashion," replied Mr. Davies." I will just ask such questions as I like, and the Minister is not going to prevent me doing so."

After referring to the changes, Mr. Lister was proceeding to examine the witness on the reasons which actuated Mr. Thompson in reporting against the changes.

Mr. Haggart: I rise to a point of order. Mr. Lister has no right to go into the question of the policy of the Government.

In reply to Mr. Lister, the witness said, "that the Canadian tonnage on the upper lakes was only 3 1-2 per cent., the remainder being American." The witness said that he was removed to St. Catharines in 1891 from the "Soo" at his own request. There was friction between himself and Messrs. Ryan & Co., and the contractors made complaints to the chief engineer against him.

Mr. Thompson, in his examination, showed that as the reason for building the canal was for military purposes, the whole cost of deepening below 16 feet was virtually money thrown away, because vessels drawing more than 16 feet could not pass through St. Mary's River, and then the harbor at Owen Sound would also have to be deepened. Also if a harbor to permit of boats passing through Canadian territory, an expenditure of $2,000,000 would be necessary, and he reported against it.

Mr. Gibson then took the witness in hand in regard to stone cutting, which apparently was twice paid for. To Mr. Gibson witnes admitted that the curb work was imperfectly filled, and that the fault lay with the contractors and the resident engineer. About four-fifths of the crib work was bulging out and badly filled out. Of the whole crib work only 700 feet were good. A motion that the committee should meet to-morrow was lost, another motion that it should meet on Friday was also lost.

Saw the Battle of Waterloo

Alliance, Ohio, June 19.—At Mount Union College yesterday Jas. R. Green related to the students his personal reminiscences of the battle of Waterloo, which was fought June 18, 1815. Mr. Green is now 97 years old. As a midshipman in 1815 he was a witness of the battle.

RECOGNIZED BY HIS TEETH.

Walter Kennett of Toronto, Drowned at Buffalo, Found at the Falls.

Niagara Falls, June 20.—The body found below the Falls on the Canadian side on the 17th instant has been identified as that of Walter Kennett by his father, Arthur H. Kennett, a bookbinder, who formerly lived in Toronto, but now resides in Buffalo. The boy, who was 18 years of age, was drowned in the river near the waterworks, Buffalo, while bathing on the 9th inst. The father identified the boy by a new nail growing on the index finger and two prominent eye teeth.

The force of the water had so disfigured his face that it was unrecognizable. The remains will be taken to Toronto for interment.

COULTER WAS MURDERED.

Winfield Scott of Lewiston, N.Y., Held for the Crime

Lewiston, N.Y., June 20.—The coroner's inquest in the death of Samuel Coulter of Uxbridge, Ont., who was killed on the night of June 6, was concluded to-day. The verdict was that the blow was inflicted by Winfield Scott of Lewiston. The examination will take place June 19, when it is probable Scott will be charged with murder in the second degree.

Regrets the Government's Connection.

London, June 19.—The Canadian Gazette says, in connection with the Atlantic and Superior Railway: For the sake of the repute of Canada in Great Britain, we deeply regret that the Dominion Government is in any way associated in this issue, though there is little choice about the matter, as any one has the right to purchase an annuity, while there are precedents for undertaking to apply such an annuity in any way the buyer pleases. Does not this most recent experience show the importance of a new rule to prevent the use of the Government name in the promotion of individual schemes?

Severe Snowstorm in Scotland

Edinburgh, June 19.—A snowstorm prevailed to-day on Ben Nevis, Inverness-shire, the loftiest mountain in Great Britain. The storm was accompanied by lightning, and a bolt struck the telegraph observatory, disabling the instruments. The building was set on fire, but the officials and two tourists extinguished the flames. Little damage was done.

New Alpine Incline Railway.

Berne, June 19.—The financing of the scheme for the construction of a railway up the Jungfrau Mountain is assured, and the work will be begun in the latter part of the present year.

E. S. CLOUSTON, General Manager.

Bank of Montreal, Montreal, April 30, 1895.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Sir Donald Smith, then rose and said:—Before taking up the immediate business of this meeting, I would desire to say how deeply we all deplore the loss of our late colleague, Mr. W. H. Meredith. He was in the prime of his life, a gentleman of very great promise, who had endeared himself to all who had the privilege of knowing him, and I am sure that each and all of you here, in common with all who knew him, will join with us in this expression of deep regret at the loss we have sustained.

You will observe from the report just read that the net profits of the bank during the past year show a decline of $103,000.00 in round numbers, or of less than 1 per cent. upon the paid up capital as compared with the statement of the preceding year. While we would have desired a better result, under all the circumstances with which the bank has had to contend, we consider it very gratifying, and trust it may be so regarded by you. The causes which have produced this result will be given more in detail by the General Manager. I would, however, anticipate his remarks with the observation that the year has been marked by quiet trade at home and by dull trade abroad, by declining prices by keen competition among traders of all classes, by difficulty in finding remunerative employment for capital, and by the continued prevalence of singularly low rates of interest. The period through which we have passed has not been remarkable in new events. A wide-spread prostration of trade has occurred for now many years past and, looking back on the traces upon the track of industry, commerce, and finance made by that adverse wave, we are glad to believe that they will be found less deep in Canada than in most countries. In this connection let me draw your attention to the high rank which Canadian securities have maintained throughout the long depression. A leading English authority, writing recently upon the appreciation of high-class securities, remarked that "taken all round, it will be seen that, as compared with fifteen years ago, the yield upon first-class securities generally has declined upon an average of about .25 per cent., or, in other words, that capital values have risen to a corresponding extent, for one fact merely implies the other." In the table supplied by this authority it appears that Canadian 4 per cent. securities have risen 21½ per cent. since 1880, a higher rate than that of the bonds of any other British colony. The suggestion arises that, while a property like the Bank of Montreal is owned practically and exclusively in Canada, a comparison upon the lines indicated would not be without interest, and it would be satisfactory to the shareholders to learn that while since 1880 the value of the shares of the Bank of England has risen 25½ per cent., of the London & County Bank 24½ per cent., of the London & Westminster Bank 22 per cent., and of other principal British banks somewhat less, the value of the stock of the Bank of Montreal has advanced since 1880 by 59 per cent.

TRADE REVIVAL.

After referring to the encouraging indications of trade revival in England and the United States, the president said:

It is, however, more particularly to the reasons which seem to warrant a hopeful view being taken of the commercial outlook in our own country that I would draw attention, because, after all, our prosperity as a corporation must mainly rest upon the trade conditions in Canada. These reasons are neither few nor unimportant. If, for instance, we look at the clearing house returns of this City of Montreal during the past month of May, it will be found that the aggregate amount of the clearings has been $57,146,200 as compared with $49,294,200 in the corresponding month last year, and $54,325,000 in May of 1893, the figures showing an undoubted improvement in business, even as compared with two years ago.

WHEAT PROSPECTS.

Then as to railway earnings, you are doubtless aware that our two principal arteries of traffic have suffered a serious diminution in earnings since the continental depression set in, although, as compared with United States railways, those in Canada cannot be said to have done badly. The point upon which we have to congratulate ourselves, however, is that since the beginning of the present year the profits of the Canadian Pacific Railway show an improvement up to the close of April over those of the like period last year, the gain for the month of April alone being $86,940, and that in the case of the Grand Trunk Railway, the receipts have risen from $1,626,500 to $1,651,830 in the five weeks ending with May 25. From results of this kind we have, I think, fairly good reason to infer that the turn in the tide of business has come, in which view some confirmation may be found in the rising scale of prices both here and abroad. The advance in the price of wheat, whether permanent or not, has already given hope and inspired a more confident feeling among the agriculturists of Ontario and the Northwest, and if the promise of better prices for this important cereal should be realized during the ensuing year with even less than an average crop, and I am glad to see the indications from latest returns are that we shall have an abundant one, the effect cannot fail to be favourable to business generally in Canada.

* * * * * *

I cannot omit observing, however, that a leading staple of export, one which, indeed, figures next to lumber in point of importance, has this spring declined largely in value. I refer to cheese, from the sale of which abroad Canada has in recent years derived large returns, and the current price of which has undergone so marked a depreciation as to effect the profits of those engaged in the industry. Perhaps, as in the case of wheat, the cheese industry must have its ups and downs, and in any event we may hope the depression is merely temporary.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS.

Mr. E. S. Clouston, General Manager, after some introductory remarks, proceeded as follows:

Our actual losses through bad debts have been about normal, but in making our appropriations for doubtful paper we could not close our eyes to the fact that the past year has not been a prosperous one for the majority of our customers, and we were obliged to take a more than usually conservative view of our accounts in estimating anything that might be doubtful. On the whole, looking back over the past twelve months since I last met you, I am well satisfied that I am able to present you with the statement now before you. With reference to the other figures in the statement, the circulation shows a decrease of $370,000, which was to be expected owing to the stagnation of trade; the deposits not bearing interest, an increase of $3,000,000, almost altogether Government deposits and of a temporary character; the deposits bearing interest, an increase of $1,300,000—chiefly in our Savings Bank department. In the assets we hold less gold $270,000, and Dominion notes, $510,000, but have $3,000,000 more in foreign countries. The item of Government bonds, etc., has disappeared from the statement as they have been sold at a good profit. I may say it is our intention to replace them when the opportunity offers. Our discounts are $2,300,000 more, chiefly loans to municipal corporations—our commercial discounts being about stationary. The overdue debts have been decreased $115,000 by collections and appropriations.

As you all know, the year 1894 added another to the depressing business years we have had since the Baring failure in 1890.

After a reference to the trade depression in the United States, the results of strikes, floods, etc., and after scathing reference to the silver heresy, the General Manager then dealt with the subject of CANADA AND THE DEPRESSION.

Though the past year has not been a prosperous one it should be a source of great satisfaction to Canadians that the business community in Canada has come so well through the ordeal and with so few failures and disasters. In that we compare favourably with any other country. Indeed, it has been a great surprise to me how well we have stood it. It is too soon to say that we are out of the woods, but in the United States there seems to be no doubt that the corner has been turned, and as Canada must always be affected in no small measure by the condition of affairs in that country, it is reasonable to suppose that here also the depression has spent its force. There is undoubtedly a more hopeful feeling, and though the improvement may be to a certain extent sentimental, many must have benefitted by the rise in staples, which, with the exception of butter and cheese, has been general. Still, much depends on the coming crop, and until it is assured the danger is not over. The prosperity of the community will eventually inure to the banks, but in the meantime the same features with regard to the money still exist in England and the United States, and I am afraid the coming half year will be an extremely lean one for this bank at least.

The failure of the only two banks in the Island of Newfoundland, the knowledge of the valuable trade carried on in that island and its large natural resources, capable of great development in the future, seemed to afford an opening for an agency of the bank, and we accordingly commenced business there on the 9th of January last. We believe we have been of assistance in furnishing machinery for the transaction of business, which was practically at a standstill, and we have been of service to the Newfoundland Government by temporary loans, which have given them time to make permanent financial arrangements. The result so far has justified our expectations, and we are encouraged to believe that the future has a satisfactory and successful career in store for our St. John's branch.

GENERAL DISCUSSION.

In the course of a general discussion on the report, Mr. John Morrison spoke in favour of observing economy. Mr. John Crawford paid a tribute to the memory of Mr. Meredith, and to the ability of Mr. W. W. Ogilvie, his successor on the directorate. Continuing, he expressed regret that the circulation did not grow apace. He asked what proportion of the $33,000,000 set down in the statement of assets as "current loans and other securities" was other securities. The General Manager said a very small proportion, about $100,000, principally in real estate. This Mr. Crawford considered quite satisfactory. After some further discussion the report was on motion of the President, Sir Donald A. Smith, and Vice-President, Hon. George Drummond, adopted unanimously. Votes of thanks were then, on motion of Capt. Benyon, seconded by Mr. Hector MacKenzie, passed to the President and directors, and on motion of Mr. Ogilvie, seconded by Mr. R. B. Angus, to the General Manager and other officers.

The ballot resulted in the re-election of the old Board of Directors, as follows:—Mr. R. B. Angus, Hon. George A. Drummond, Mr. A. F. Gault, Mr. Edward B. Greenshields, Mr. Hugh McLennan, Mr. W. C. McDonald, Mr. W. W. Ogilvie, Mr. A. T. Patterson and Sir Donald A. Smith. The President and Vice-President were re-elected by the directors on Tuesday.

Welsh Disestablishment Bill Amended.

TO MEET THE EX-PREMIER'S VIEWS

The Measure Was Considered too Harsh—Mr. Gladstone Killed His Vote by Terminating the Pairing Agreement, But Made a New Arrangement.

London, June 20.—The House of Commons, in the course of the debate on the Welsh Disestablishment bill yesterday accepted the amendments offered by the Opposition, placing the church schools and public chapels under a representative body, instead of wholly disendowing them, as the bill originally proposed.

C. J. Darling, Unionist member for Deptford, asked whether the Government intended to proceed with the Welsh Church disestablishment bill in view of the fact that Mr. Gladstone had intimated that the measure did not have his approval.

The question was not answered.

GLADSTONE KILLS HIS VOTE

So The Times Avers, But the Man He Paired With Says Not.

London, June 20.—The Times says: "Mr. Gladstone has requested the whips to terminate his pair with Right Hon. Charles Pelham Villiers, which has been operative since he retired, and which has been regarded as permanent. The reason assigned is that Mr. Gladstone wishes to retain an open mind on the Welsh disestablishment question, but as the breaking of the pair will deprive the Ministers of his vote at all times, it is believed he really intends to signify his dissatisfaction with the methods of the Government generally."

The Times says editorially that Mr. Gladstone's withdrawal is a portent of the dissolution of Parliament that cannot be misconstrued.

The Westminster Gazette says that of the Government bills Mr. Gladstone is interested only in the Welsh Church disestablishment measure, upon which he is desirous of freedom to vote on one or two points.

It is learned that Mr. Gladstone asked the Liberal whips to break his pair with Mr. Villiers at the time of the Welsh Church Disestablishment bill entered the committee stage, because he thought that the proposals for dealing with the property of the church after disestablishment, had become a fact were somewhat harsh. As he had not wished to make his appearance in the House, he paired in favor of the bill. He does not now intend to appear in the House, either to speak or to vote.

The committee stage of the bill began to-day. The Government has further accepted two or three small amendments of similar nature to the ones placing schools and public chapels under a representative body, instead of disendowing them entirely. This was done with the object of obviating Mr. Gladstone's objection to the bill. Nevertheless the Welsh Radicals are displensed and declare that Mr. Gladstone is returning to the political faith of his youth and will die a Conservative.

Mr. Charles Villiers, member for the south division of Wolverhampton, declares that he has received no intimation, as reported, that Mr. Gladstone desires to withdraw from his agreement to pair with Mr. Villiers in Parliamentary voting.

Rt. Hon. Jacob Bright, M.P. for Southwest Manchester, a nephew of the late John Bright, succeeds Mr. Villiers as Mr. Gladstone's pair.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S LOAN BILL

It Was Drafted in Britain and is All Right

St. John's, Nfld., June 20.—It is learned that the Loan bill is all right. It was framed in and telegraphed from England. It is modeled in conformity with the English law, known as the Colonial Stock Act. This act provides that Colonies raising loans in England shall appoint an agent there, who registers certificates for such amounts as are received, issuing such certificates as inscribed stock, which is equivalent to debenture bonds. The Whiteway ministry received an answer from England late last night, explaining the matter.

To-day the Assembly was engaged in the consideration of ways and means. The revenue bill will probably be passed to-night. The Government is rushing business, desiring to close the House at the end of June.

KNOX COLLEGE VACANCIES.

General Assembly Decides Not to Make an Appointment for a Year.

London, June 20.—Dr. Ward of Montreal, the choice of the Assembly as the successor to Dr. Reid, the venerable clerk, and agent of the church, asked leave to give the matter mature and deliberate consideration, and the Assembly granted his request.

Overtures were read from the Presbyteries of London and Toronto respecting the appointment of a professor to the vacant chair of Old Testament exegesis and apologetics at Knox College. The former prayed for a re-arrangement of the chairs, so that only cognate subjects should constitute the several professional chairs, and the latter asked for a year's delay in the appointment.

Dr. Lyle, Hamilton, moved that the overture be set aside and that the Assembly confirm the selection of the College Board in naming Dr. MacIntosh, Philadelphia, for the position.

The matter was further discussed and several amendments proposed, when Principal Caven spoke. He took the first public opportunity of stating that the lecturers who had temporarily filled the chair for the past year, Messrs. Ramsay and Duncan, had done their work exceedingly well. He admitted that the staff would be strengthened by an additional professor, that he knew nothing unfavorable of Prof MacIntosh, but in the face of the opinion of six-sevenths of the alumni he would greatly hesitate to compete the appointment at the present time.

An amendment to Dr. Cochrane's allowing the College Senate to consider the matter of an advantageous re-arrangement of chairs and delaying the appointment until next Assembly was carried.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

The Tulip Tree.

Mr. Harry Long is known as an enthusiastic lover of flowers, as well as a successful culturist of them. He was in Port Hope yesterday, having, as people's churchwarden of St. John's, escorted Rev. Mr. Kenrick to his new parish. Mr. Long was, during his stay in Port Hope, the guest of Mayor H. A. Ward, and observed upon the lawn a magnificent tulip tree loaded with bloom. The tulip tree (Liriodendron Tulipifera) is very rare in these latitudes. It has a dark, glossy stem and a rich dark green leaf, not unlike the maple in shape, only with the tip scooped out. The flower from which the name of the tree is derived is in the form of the tulip, the petals being of a pale green, with an irregularly indented splash of orange at the base. The tulip tree requires patience. It takes from twelve to fifteen years after planting before it flowers. The tree in Port Hope from which the flower lying on the sanctum desk was taken, has been planted sixteen years, and this was the first year of full bloom. However, under favourable conditions and in a less deliberate air than Port Hope, the tulip tree would come to flower sooner than sixteen years. Mr. Long brought home a cluster of blossoms from Mr. Ward's tree, which the curious in flowers may see in his shop window, George street.

THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY TO THE RESCUE.

An Ill-Treated Little Orphan Removed From the Care of His Foster Parents.

The officers of the Children's Aid Society went to Havelock yesterday and brought back with them the little orphan boy, six years old, who had been so severely beaten that the constables took him out of the hands of his foster parents on the spot. The woman who has so persistently ill-treated the little fellow, adopted him some years ago, and has recently adopted an infant nine months old. An information will be laid against her and she will probably be deprived of this child also. She bears a very unenviable reputation, and the people of Havelock will be glad to see her punished. She lately moved out a few miles into the bush from the village, and it was here the whipping took place. She expressed herself very forcibly on the arrival of the constables, and made serious threats of further punishment. The boy is now in Peterborough in the Society's hands and is ready for adoption by any responsible party.

Plucking Park Flowers.

A lady was greatly admiring the peonies in the park this morning. Whilst bending down and smelling one bloom, she deftly broke off another flower and placed it under the lid of a black basket she carried. This is contrary to the rule—which is "hands off" in relation to flowers blooming in this and other parks. One flower plucked does not amount to much, but if one person is allowed to help himself or herself everybody will do the same, and the beds and borders would be stripped of bloom in a hour.

Tampering with Jurors.

A circular has been sent by the Attorney-General's Department to the various sheriffs of the province to be posted up in the corridors of the court houses, reciting the penalties imposed by the statute upon persons convicted of tampering with jurors, and upon jurors accepting bribes. The detectives of the department have also been detailed to investigate several alleged cases of tampering with jurors in the northerly and western sections of Ontario. A determined effort will be made by the committal of a few of the guilty parties to gaol, to put down this means of thwarting justice, which has grown to considerable proportions.

Obnoxious Weeds.

Weeds of luxuriant growth have sprung up along the streets of the town and highways of the country, and if they are left to remain standing, they will scatter seed for a greater crop next year. According to the statute governing the destruction of weeds the scythe should be brought into use in the removal of every weed that is detrimental to agriculture, and now when the seeds are appearing is the time to lay them low. Land owners who allow obnoxious weeds to flourish on their premises do an injury to their neighbour's lands; therefore, everyone should do all he can to remove them. If a complaint be made, anyone may be fined for neglecting to cut them down.

Sons of England Demonstration.

At the grand demonstration at the Driving Park on July 1st one of the sporting features will be a lacrosse match between the Elms, of Toronto, and the Athletics, of Peterborough. The Elms are the senior champions of Toronto, and should be able to give the local team hot work to win. Another attractive event will be a baseball match between the Dauntless nine and the first local baseball team. A novel and interesting contest will be that for the prize for the lady and gentleman making the best appearance—having the best seat, etc., in the saddle. In addition there will be an exciting list of standard sports and games run off. This demonstration will be a most excellent one, and will doubtless attract a large attendance in addition to the mammoth excursion from Toronto. 1d

Changes in the Fruit Business.

Messrs. J. B. Oke & Co., has leased the fruit store formerly occupied by Ostrom Bros., where they will continue to carry on the fruit, fish and general wholesale and retail commission business on a still larger scale than ever. These premises are admirably adapted for this business; and with the intimate practical knowledge the firm have of the fruit trade, this well-known stand will doubtless prove to be, in Mr. J. B. Oke & Co's hands, still more widely known and more popular. The fruit store carried on by Oke & Co. at No. 376 George street, (F. Mercer's old stand) has been disposed of to Messrs. R. R. Phelps & Co., who will continue the same business in future. Mr. Phelps has been associated with Mr. J. B. Oke for a number of years in Port Hope and in Peterborough since the establishment of his fruit business here. Both partners are thorough fruit men, under good repute, well-known and respected, and have long since learned how to handle fruit judiciously.

THE BANK OF MONTREAL.

The report of the annual meeting of the the Bank of Montreal, which appears elsewhere in this issue, must have special interest for the public generally, and especially for those concerned in commercial activities. The well digested remarks of the president and general manager, being statements based upon special knowledge and careful review of the business situation are worthy of the most respectful attention. From these we gain the information that the financial depression has borne more lightly upon Canada than upon other countries with which we are commercially connected, and we learn also that in the United States, whose commercial condition largely affects our own, an era of recovered prosperity has begun, and that the business depression in Canada has been at its worst and is now giving place to a more hopeful condition. The reports presented indicate that the affairs of this solid old Bank of Montreal, in truth a financial bulwark, have received the same careful and efficient management that has characterized the past which has resulted in building up a financial institution which may be regarded as the cisatlantic counterpart of the Bank of England, itself a synonym, par excellence, of financial stability.

NEWS NUGGETS

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald shipped four carloads of cheese to Montreal yesterday.

—A large number from town are out attending Father McColl's picnic at Ennismore to-day.

—The hotel business of Mr. T. Dunn is advertised for sale by auction, to take place to-morrow, Friday.

—The Court of Revision will meet this evening, when an effort will be made to finish up the year's business.

—The long continued dry weather is scorching up the grass on those lawns unprovided with waterworks.

—The entrance examinations to the Collegiate Institute from the Public and Separate Schools will commence on Friday morning.

—The officers of the Children's Aid Society, who were in Havelock, yesterday, describe the heat in that village as something intense.

—Sergt.-Major Peters will lecture to the non-commissioned officers this evening, at the drill shed, on "Military Law and Interior Economy."

—Timothy and clover are heading out and arriving at a state of maturity. It is not expected that the hay crop in this vicinity will come up to the average.

—Young Godfrey, who was charged with stealing a pair of boots from Mr. R. Neil's store last week, was allowed to go this morning by the magistrate, who decided to give the lad another chance to live a clean life.

—The many children who will take part in the May pole dance and choruses at the Sons of England celebration on Dominion Day are practising regularly in the local S. O. E. Hall.

—Mr. Black shipped at Campbellford station, on Tuesday, 180 hogs, 16 cattle, 22 sheep and four calves. One hundred and fifty of the hogs were sent to Hull, Que., and the remainder to Montreal.

—It is said by those who know whereof they speak that this year's huckleberry crop promises to be larger than that of last year. There is at present a good display of the green berry, and in about two weeks the pickers will flock to the plains to begin business.

—Another big batch of summonses for dog owners, who have neglected to take out tags, were issued this morning and will be served within the next few days. Owners who have as yet taken out no license, would do well to secure one immediately in order to save costs.

—An Ashburnham lady purchased some meat from peripatetic meat vendor. When cooking it she noticed that it emitted a peculiar smell which led her to condemn it as unfit to eat. The meat was divided between the cat and dog. The cat died the next day and the dog is in articulo mortes.

—During the launching of the new steamboat "North Star" yesterday, a horse attached to one of Calcutt's delivery wagons ran away in the ship yard. Mr. Jack Manice was driving at the time when the exhaust of the steamer Rob Roy scared the horse. In a moment the wagon was upset but "Jack" escaped with only a few scratches. No damage of any account happened the wagon or horse.

LAUNCH OF THE NORTH STAR.

The Model of the New Boat is a Beautiful one, Indeed.

The launch of the "North Star," the new excursion steamer of the Peterborough Navigation Company, was accomplished yesterday afternoon, at the Ashburnham shipyards, where she was built under the experienced eye of Boat-builder Hickey, of Port Hope.

The model is a beautiful one indeed and particularly suited for the shallow waters of the river and lake.

The North Star is 83 feet in length over all, with a 13½ foot beam and 5½ foot hold. She will have both a promenade and a hurricane deck and can accommodate probably about two hundred passengers.

The launch took place at about five o'clock, being somewhat delayed on account of the capricious North Star being apparently disinclined to wet her newly painted sides in the water. At intervals she would make a rush down the ways for a distance of six or eight inches and then comfortably settle down again until once more persuaded to move on by the persistent jack screw.

Finally, however, she slid gracefully down the ways, and a crash of broken glass announced that Miss Addie Calcutt, daughter of the president of the Company, had christened the new boat. The North Star did not enter the water with a splash, as do many of her kind, but slipped gently out on the bosom of the lake as though to the manner born.

The handsome new flag presented by the Guild of St. Luke's church, floated proudly from the mast head, and altogether the new boat looked very neat as she rode the water for the first time.

The boat is a propeller and will be driven by a 36-inch screw for the present, but if the power is not sufficient this will be replaced by a larger bladed screw.

"Feed the Brute!"

Was the answer made by a dear little woman who had married a crusty old bachelor. She had been asked by some friends how she kept him in good humor—and there was a lot of force in her argument, for an appeal to a man's stomach never fails to bring him round. Pastry plays a great part in the everyday food and it must be made right or it had better not be made at all. You'll never go wrong in using

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT OUT BACK OF MINDEN.

How the Body was Recovered by Means of Floating a Loaf of Bread at the Scene of the Accident.

On Friday last a telegram from Miles Henderson, of Dorset, to Mr. Noice, of this village, informed him of a rumour that Walter Kent, of Minden, had been drowned while working on one of Gilmour's drives on Ox Tongue river, nearly 100 miles north of Minden.

Mr. Henderson could not go himself, but sent up two men, Simon Redna and Joseph Wilson, to ascertain the facts, and, if true, to bring back the body. It appears that the men on the drive work in couples, and at the point on the river where Kent and his mate were stationed the logs stopped coming down, and Kent volunteered to go up stream and start them down.

This was the last seen of him alive. The men working below him heard a splash in the water and the logs started down, so that young Kent must have broken the jam and in doing so had fallen in. This was early on Saturday morning, and the body was found about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The spot, as nearly as possible where the splash was heard, was located and a loaf of bread placed in the water there, when the current carried it a short distance to an eddy, where it sank; this was supposed to indicate the direction the body would move in, and tying two pike poles together so that the bottom could be reached the body was found at the point where the loaf of bread sank, and brought to the surface, where it was put in a case and floated down the river about five miles, when it was found impossible to convey it further, the river being full of logs and the condition of the body being such as to preclude the possibility of moving it by land where no road existed.

After the news reached here on Friday last, Messrs. W. F. Kent, S.E. Lott and W. H. Steele started from here with Mr. Kent's team to ascertain the facts, and if possible, bring home the body, if found. They could only take the team north as far as Mr. Fuller's, owing to the impassable condition of the road, so sending Mr. Steele back with the team, Messrs. Lott and Kent proceeded on foot. The walked all night, reaching Dorset about 7 o'clock on Saturday morning, having walked over eighty miles; here they learned that the body had been found the preceding afternoon and towed down the river behind a punt five miles, so they followed down the river trail and caught up with the men in charge of the body at the point where they found it impossible to proceed any farther with it, the river being full of logs, and no road except a lumber trail along the Ox Tongue river. After consultation it was seen that under such circumstances and the condition of the body the only thing that could be done was to bury it there on the bank of the river about nine miles from the Tee Lake lumber depot and on the trail of the river bank, marking the trees around with the name and age of the dead boy, "Walter Kent, aged 10 years, drowned the third June, 1895." After interring the body the friends of the deceased from here returned on foot as far as Mr. Fuller's, where a team met them and they got back home about 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening last, after a sad and wearisome journey.—Minden Echo.

THE WHEEL.

A very neatly illustrated catalogue, containing the programme of the 13th annual C.W.A. bicycle meet, has just been received. The first thing which greets the eye on opening the cover are the words "Wellkommen Alle," and the motto, we are informed, applies particularly to Peterborough, from where a party of about a hundred are expected to go to the meet. The catalogue also contains the pictures of the C.W.A. officials and many others prominent in wheeling circles.

THE ROD.

That game fish commonly take the fly at night is, I take it, conceded. I personally know it to be a fact. I have taken with various flies both trout and bass at night on many different occasions, when too dark for me to see the fly strike the water thirty feet distant.

It is true, on the other hand, that I have, when a boy, often fished at night for catfish and eels with bait, and caught hundreds of them, fishing, of course, on or near the bottom, and never caught or knew to be caught, a scale fish in that way at night. I think the bass and trout when feeding at night, not only keep in shoal water, but swim at or near the surface. As long as there is any light no doubt they see the fly, and, when too dark for that, they see and probably hear the fly strike the water. After sunset, it is my experience, bass take the fly on the surface as gamely as trout.—Forest and Stream.

Very few bass have as yet been taken, because they have unlimited numbers of shad to feed upon.

A Toronto man caught a 70 pound turtle at Lake Couchiching.

CRICKET.

Great interest is being taken in England in the cricketing record of Frederick C. Holland, a youth of 19, who batted out 123 runs for Surrey in the recent match against Essex. It was a performance due more to genuine skill than to luck, and, added to his youth and his staying powers, it makes him a promising successor of the veteran Dr. Grace.

Hamilton cricketers defeated Ottawa by 6 to 49 on Toronto University lawn yesterday. There is not much hope of the Ottawas playing in Peterborough on Friday.

LACROSSE.

The first scheduled lacrosse match played at Orillia yesterday resulted in a victory for the home twelve over Midland by four straights in 6, 8¼, 9 and 4 minutes respectively. Orillia plays Bradford to-morrow.

At Brampton the Beaver Lacrosse Club, of Seaforth, won by 4 games to 3 from the Excelsiors, who had three colts on their team.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Harry LeBrun, left this morning to visit friends in Montreal.

Mrs. Harry Phelan is slowly recovering from her short but serious illness.

Mrs. Tassie is still very low, and all hope has been given up of her recovery.

Mr. Roland Tivey, who was injured at Locks, yesterday, is showing signs of improvement.

Messrs. T. Callaghan and Wm. Butler, of Campbellford, are in town to-day on Rathbun Co. business.

The Lindsay Post says: Mr. Gus Gough, of Peterborough, visited the firm's branch store here yesterday.

Mrs. and Miss Raymond, of New York, are in town for the summer, and are registered at the Grand Central.

Mrs. Thomas Dunn, the small bones of whose ankle were broken on Tuesday evening, is resting easier this morning.

Mr. J. J. G. Terrill who has been spending the last week in town as the guest of her son, left this morning for Kingston.

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Bank of Commerce held in Toronto on Tuesday, Mr. Geo. A. Cox was re-elected president.

Mr. Jas. Stubbs, P.G.C.T., and Miss Emmerson, delegates from City Lodge, I. O.G.T., are attending a temperance convention in Toronto.

Mr. Harry Long, who accompanied Rev. Mr. Kenrick to Port Hope on Tuesday last as the representative of St. John's, in the capacity of People's Warden, returned to town to-day, and reports leaving Mr. Kenrick most comfortably settled in his new home. Mr. Kenrick and Mr. Long were entertained for the first few days at the residence of Mayor Ward.

Mr. H. E. C. Wonham, of the Bank of Montreal, has just received official notification of his transfer to the Chicago branch of the bank. During his residence in town Mr. Wonham has made many friends and has always been a great favourite in society circles. As a hockey player it would be hard to find his superior and next year he will be greatly missed from the forward line of the champion Peterboroughs, where he always took such a conspicuous part in that famous combination. Mr. Wonham will leave on Monday or Tuesday for the west and will be replaced by Mr. McGann, of the Lindsay branch, who is well known in town, and has also quite a reputation as a hockey player.

THE SCHOOL BYLAW.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In reading your note on the Ashburn Bridge bylaw, I think it and the school bylaw should go to the people again and they would be both reversed. The people in the South Ward spoke most emphatically on Monday to the effect that they do not want the addition to the present school, but a school built further south, and it was by the good intentions of the people in the North Ward reciprocating the vote when the North Ward school bylaw was voted upon, that the bylaw for the addition was carried. The School Board should act a little in accordance with the wish of the people in whose ward the school accommodation is wanted, as was shown by the vote on Monday, and make a move to build the school further south. Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain

Yours truly,

GRATEFUL ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly allow me space to earnestly thank, on behalf of my family and for myself, our personal friends, the members of the Fire Brigade and others who so kindly aided us in the removal of our effects at the recent fire at Walkerfield. Ladies, especially, for their sympathetic attentions to my wife and children and for their personal efforts at great inconvenience during the heat of the day, have my most sincere thanks. Had it not been for the successful efforts made in the removal of our effects, the loss would have been severely felt. Words will not express our gratitude.

Yours sincerely,

THE FINAL REPLY.

Remedial Order Rejected by Manitoba.

GREENWAY HAD 15 MAJORITY.

Government Supporters Denounce the Action of the Ottawa Authorities—Excitement Concerning the Threatened Bolt of French Members.

Winnipeg, June 19.—Feeling over the school question is intensified as the debate progresses in the Legislature, and the battle promises to be as bitterly fought as in the previous sittings of the House. This feeling was imbittered today when word reached the city from Ottawa that the French-Canadian representatives from the Province of Quebec are going to press the Government to carry out the Remedial Order on the Manitoba school question and to ask that a remedial law be passed this session, failing which they bolt from the Government side. Members of the Opposition in the Legislature deny the report that an amendment is to come from them advocating a secular school system in place of the present. They say that a vote was taken on secular schools a year ago, and that nothing can be gained by reviving the proposition.

Mr. Meyers was the first speaker for the Government. He claimed that the House had always been conciliatory and open to reason. They had done justice and did not intend to back down. When Manitoba entered the Confederation separate schools were never discussed. Manitoba was within her constitutional rights in passing the act abolishing separate schools a sthe judicial court of the Privy Council in England had held.

He claimed that the political power of the Church of Rome was a standing menace to the freedom of Canada, and especially the Manitoba Government. The Ottawa Government had the right to hear the Catholic appeal, but the order issued by them had been from unworthy motives, and was brought about by the power of the Quebec members. He hoped that the Ottawa Government would delay action before passing any laws affecting the educational system of Manitoba.

Mr. Forsythe held that the question had been made a party one. One National school for the province was just and fair and honorable for all parties. He had known, under the old law, a Presbyterian, a Methodist and an Episcopalian who, to escape school taxation, had declared themselves to be Roman Catholics. The vast majority of the people of the province were opposed to giving way in connection with a National school system.

Mr. Cameron, Privincial Secretary, was the next speaker. He denied that the funds of the Catholic schools ihad been appropriated. Far from doing wrong, the Government had rather manifested throughout, a disposition to treat Roman Catholics fairly. The Ottawa Government was not a judicial body, rather than a political organization, and from this point he considered the

He said there was no analogy between the condition of affairs inManitoba and Quebec. The reply of the Manitoba Government, as expressed by Premier Greenway, should simply clarify the atmosphere and lead to calmer consideration of the question. The Manitoba Government were not guilty of disregarding the remedial order. Concluding, Mr. Cameron said even if the Dominion Parliament passed remedial legislation the Province House will have power to amend and repeal such act as the Legislature has absolute power in educational matters. The present system was superior to denominational schools and to restore the old system the Government would be recreant in its duty to the people, while it would be unfortunate for the province.

The final vote on Premier Greenway's motion refusing the Ottawa Government's order on Separate schools was reached to-night. It resulted in a majority of 15. The vote stood 25 for and 10 against.

A FASHIONABLE WEDDING AT COBOURG.

The Nuptials of Chief Justice Armour's Daughter.

Miss Nora Armour, fifth daughter of Chief Justice Armour, was married to Mr. John W. Drynan, in Cobourg on Wednesday by Rev. Rural Dean Spragge. The bride, who was led to the altar by her father, was attired in a dress of ivory white brocade, heavily embroidered with pearls and trimmed with orange blossoms. She wore a tulle veil and a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a huge bouquet of white bride roses. Among the guests were a number of the elite of Montreal and Ottawa and a large representation from Toronto society. Chief Justice Armour has many friends in Peterborough, who extend the cordial felicitations the occasion calls forth.

ARSENIC EATERS.

The Styrians Are Addicted to the Use of the Deadly Drug.

For many years the habit of arsenic eating by the people of Styria, a duchy of Austria, has been known to the scientific world. Travelers who have passed through Styria have come back with reports of this practice, saying that the people of that country were accustomed to taking a white mineral, which was arsenic.

That this was so was denied by many, who said that the mineral taken was nothing more or less than chalk. There was much discussion over the matter, and the subject proved itself of such interest and importance that scientific societies took the question up and investigated it, and it was pretty well proven that such a usage did exist, but not so widespread as it was generally supposed. Many physicians have gone there simply to investigate the practice of arsenic eating. While some of them have found out much about the custom, others have come away no wiser than they went, owing to the secrecy which exists among those addicted to the habit. As it is against the law to obtain arsenic without a prescription from a physician, of course those who do so are anxious to keep it quiet. There are also found among the peasants of Salzburg and Tyrol those who follow the same practice. In these regions several arsenic works are situated, and the only way the employes can stand the poisonous fumes is by taking the drug internally, at first in small doses and gradually increasing the dose until the system tolerates large quantities.

It is probably from these arsenic workers that the custom spread to others, principally the lower classes, as hunters, wood cleavers, stable grooms and charcoal burners. All forms of arsenic are taken—the pure arsenic, the red sulphide and the yellow sulphide, or orpiment.

The arsenic eaters begin with a dose about the size of a pinhead, and increase this amount gradually until they are taking a piece about the size of a pea.

The habit is generally begun at the age of fifteen and continued up to the ages of seventy and seventy-five. The users of hidri, as arsenic is known among the peasants, are generally long-lived people, but unless at the age of fifty they commence to gradually discontinue the use of it, they invariably die a sudden death, and the fact that death occasionally occurs from poisoning by hidri eating shows that even the Styrians are not invincible to the deadly effects of this drug.

The reason for this custom is asserted by some to be for their personal appearance, but the fact that the habit exists principally among the male sex disproves this. It is said by the peasants themselves that it is done to make them strong and healthy, and they really are a strong and healthy people.

Enormous quantities of the drug are taken by some of them. In one well-authenticated case the man, a manager of some arsenic works, took daily a dose of twenty-three grains, each dose large enough to kill several men unaccustomed to its use. Another strange thing about this case is, the man began it first by taking three grains, an amount which we would consider decidedly dangerous. On several occasions he attempted to leave off taking the drug, but was made violently ill, only to recover on resuming his usual allowance.—Washington Star.

Modern Warfare.

It is significant of the growing importance of electrical applications in modern warfare that an elaborate work has appeared on electrical advanced field illumination and its application in fortification work. In military movements by night various illuminating appliances have already been brought into partial use, such as fire-balls, illuminating rockets, preparations of magnesium, etc., which are to be set up and kindled on eminences, or thrown out by the artillery. But these agencies serve only for a short time, and for a very limited space. They are now to be supplanted and to a great extent superceded by the electrical projector. Powerful electric lamps may be placed either on the ground, on natural or artificial eminences, or may be fixed in captive balloons. A balloon can be sent up in the dark, and when it is at practically a safe height above the enemy's position, a flood of light can be projected downward, which will reveal the plan of hostile operations. It is found that in the illumination of arc lamps a tract of country and everything taking place therein assumes a very different aspect from what it might take by diffused daylight. For instance, troops in grey uniforms are very hard to distinguish, while on the other hand, the flashing of arms and of tools (when in use) comes out more distinctly than by day. The inequalities of the ground, if gentle, disappear entirely. Objects at sea are more readily perceived. Great attention is being paid to the protection of the lamp refilling tops from the enemy's fire. On fortresses, projectors are to be guarded by armour-plating, and arrangements will be made for suddenly obscuring the lights, during which, if portable, they may be removed to a short distance to perplex the enemy's aim.—New York Times.

Great Men Not Happy.

It has been the same as a rule with all men who have played a distinguished part in history. Caesar was in no sense a happy man; Alexander did not achieve contentment and enjoyment; Napoleon was never free from entangling perplexities and pleasure-denying apprehensions. The cases in which greatness and happiness have existed together can be counted on the fingers of one hand. Washington should have been happy, considering the measure of his success, but we know that his life was embittered by the malice of his enemies. Lincoln deserved happiness if ever any man did, but it is doubtful if he realized even as much as one day of it. The familiar aphorism, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," is applicable to conspicuous characters of every age. The things that seems to signify happiness are in reality a source of perpetual worry and difficulty. Wherever there is much power, there is corresponding danger and responsibility. The strain never relaxes, the time never comes when peace of mind is assured; the pack of trouble falls from the shoulders only in the last scene, as the curtain descends upon the completed tragedy, and history takes up the theme and calmly proceeds to specify its lessons of usefulness, either for emulation or for avoidance.

HOW TO MAKE ROADS

INSTRUCTIONS BY THE ONTARIO GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION.

Contained in a Special Bulletin Issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture —The Rules to be Observed for Making a Good Permanent Roadway.

In order to make and maintain a permanent roadway, two rules must be followed :

1—Take the water out.
2—Keep the water out.

UNDERDRAINING

Where a road is to be constructed on a wet and retentive soil, a perfect system of underdraining must be provided. This is best done by cutting ditches diagonally across the roadbed with discharge into side ditches. These diagonal ditches should have a good fall and good outlet, and should be from eighteen inches to two feet deep and about one foot wide at the bottom, with a slight slope outward. In these should be laid coarse, broken stone, broken bricks or other material suitable to form a drain, filling them up to the level of the sub-grade. Open ditches should be cut on each side of the roadbed at a distance of about twelve feet from the outsides of the metalling. They should be deep enough to drain the foundation; at least eighteen inches below the sub-grade. Where tile is cheap and a good outlet obtainable, tile side drains are preferable to open ditches. Shallow gutters should be made over the tiles to catch the surface water and conduct it to catch basins, placed at convenient distances apart. The catch basins should be made of durable materials of sufficient size to be freely cleaned and should be covered with iron gratings. The basins should extend at least two feet below the bottom of the tile to provide space for the deposit, and they should be cleaned at least twice a year.

THE ROADSIDES.

The strips of ground between the metalled road and the open ditch should be properly graded to conform with the crown and grade of the metalling and should be seeded and kept in sod. This will always be pleasing to the eye, and is cheap and very largely useful in preventing the carrying off of mud on to the metalling. Moreover, the uniformity of the grade facilitates the passing of meeting teams.

LOCATION OF SUB DRAINS.

In a soil that is gravelly and pervious to water, the open ditches on each side of the road, even of a 66-feet wide road, are sufficient for draining the roadbed. If there be any springs under the road, a sub-drain leading directly to the side ditch will be required. Should the road be on a side hill a deep open ditch on its upper side, to arrest the flow from the adjacent land, may be sufficient, the water being at intervals conducted across and under the road by an ordinary stone culvert. Mistakes are often made by giving insufficient outfalls to the drains. Under the Ditches and Watercourses Act a municipality has the same power as an individual to enforce the natural outlet for the drainage water of the land But municipal officers are apt to shrink from forcing an outlet through private lands, and to leave their road drains with insufficient outlets rather than incur the ill will of possibly influential constituents. This should not be so. Municipalities should insist upon their rights and the owners of lands interfered with should pay the same proportion of the cost of the work as if only private individuals were concerned.

BAD DRAINAGE AND FROST.

Imperfect drainage is the cause of the badness of our roads in nearly all cases. The inexperienced are not apt to appreciate the paramount necessity for the maintenance of a perfectly dry foundation of earth for their surface of broken stone, gravel, etc., to lie upon. A protracted rain will soften an undrained road and on the passing of a heavy load, injurious ruts are the consequence. In these latitudes the soil water freezes and the consequent expansions and contractions quickly ruin a roadbed. It matters not whether a road be earth or macadam if attention is not given to the preservation of the finished crown. If ruts are allowed to form water is admitted. Every depression is a centre of destruction. The power of resistance to the water becomes less and less until the roadway becomes actually impassable.

ROAD MACHINES.

In constructing earth roads a plow should not be used except where actually necessary, because a plowed surface is only with great difficult made hard and smooth, and the plow is likely to cut too deeply into the earth. A good road machine should be procured if possible, for by the use of a machine the natural foundation of the ground is not disturbed in rounding up the road as is done with common plows and scrapers. Every municipality should own a road machine and should have a man especially instructed and constantly in charge of it. With a road machine in skilled hands, there will be no question raised as to the economy of construction and repairs and the efficiency of the work done.

WIDTH OF ROADWAY.

The roadway should be twenty-six feet between the ditches and the metalling for ordinary roads eight feet wide; where more than a single line of travel is required the metalling should be sixteen feet wide. A roadway of this width should have a crown of at least ten inches and should always be maintained in this shape. After the road machine has completed its work, the whole grade should be rolled with a roller weighing about five tons. Rolling is essential in making the foundation and surfacing to form permanent or gravel roads. The roller should follow closely upon the grader or scraper so that the loose earth may be consolidated while it is still moist. The roller should pass many times over the softer portions of the road, and where the road is very dry and not inclined to pack, it may be slightly moistened to facilitate the consolidation of the earth. The railing should begin at the sides of the road and proceed gradually towards the centre; that is, the roller should be passed from end to end along the side of the road, and then in the second passage the roller should slightly lap the first passage until the centre of the road is reached.

METALLING.

After the formation of the road and the draining are completed, the mass of broken stone or gravel which is to form its wearing surface should be laid, packed and so consolidated that it will be practically water-tight. Such a road will be durable and easily maintained. It will shed water readily. Its hardness will prevent the formation of ruts, which is the first stage of destruction. If all wagons used in country roads could be provided with tires four inches wide, they would roll the surface more smoothly and more quickly and the road would be in fairly good condition all the year round.

NOXIOUS WEEDS.

Chapter 202, R. S. O., 1887.

(Sec. 9.)—"It shall be the duty of the overseers of highways in any municipality to see that the provisions of this Act relating to noxious weeds are carried out within their respective highway divisions by cutting down or destroying or causing to be cut down or destroyed at the proper times, to prevent the ripening of their seed, all the noxious weeds growing on the highways or road allowances within their rehpective divisions, such works to be performed as part of the ordinary statute labor, or to be paid for at a reasonable rate by the treasurer of the municipality, as the council of the municipality may direct."

(Sec. 10, sub-sec. 4.)—"Every overseer of highways who refuses or neglects to discharge the duties imposed upon him by this act shall, upon conviction, be liable to a fine of not less than $10 or more than $20."

Noxious weeds include Canada Thistles, Ox-eyed Daisy, Wild Oats, Ragweed and Burdock.

ITS VALUE PROVED.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys, through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been of not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensusof opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

Biliousness and Liver Complaint, Headache, etc., are cured by Burdock Pills.

Byron used a great deal of hairdressing, but was very particular to have only the best to be found in the market. If Ayer's Hair Vigor had been obtainable then, doubtless he would have tested its merits, as so many distinguished and fashionable people are doing now-a-days.

Court Lakefield No. 43, C.O.F., holds its next regular meeting Thursday evening, June 27th. An initiation will take place, election of officers and reports from delegates to High Court will be presented.

The Golden City commenced running regular trips for the season on Monday, and took up a great quantity of freight, as well as a number of passengers, who were the advance guard to Stoney Lake for the season. The steamer will leave daily on the arrival of the morning train, returning in time to connect with the evening train for Peterborough and points east.

A third train was put on on Monday last for the summer season, arriving here at 7.10 p.m. and leaving at 7.30 p.m.

Camping outfits—a full assortment—will be found with R. Graham & Son, Lakefield, at lowest prices.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Miss E. Waters and L. Lewis visited Mr. Jas. Fleming, Percy, on Saturday.

Miss Maggie Gallagher visited her home in Warkworth last week.

Mr. Geo. Rose, Warsaw, was in Norwood on Sunday.

Mr. Alex. Anderson, Keene, visited friends here on Sunday.

Mr. Jas. Anderson and family will remove from here next week.

Mr. Wm. Ebbs has removed his shoe shop to one of the fine stores in P. W. Reynolds' new block.

Mr. D. Booth visited his home in Percy Sunday.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams, Peterborough, was in Norwood last week.

Mrs. Robt. Leeper, Asphodel, is seriously ill.

We are pleased to learn that Mrs. J. Davidson is recovering from her late illness.

We learn that the Brooklin football team will play a match here on Friday, June 28th.

About twenty volunteers left here on Tuesday to attend the camp drill of the militia.

The lawn social held at the manse last Friday evening was a decided success. There was a large attendance and a most pleasant evening was spent by all.

The new fence surrounding the manse has been completed, and the appearance of the beautiful grounds are much improved thereby. The fence is built of wire; the posts are turned and at the top there is a string of gas pipe. The whole has been well painted and makes a very handsome fence.

Most of Norwood's sports were away on Monday angling for lunge and bass. We hear that Messrs. R. Scriver and A. R. Anderson hauled in a twelve-pounder.

The old Baskin block is being refitted. The front of the lower story has been moved back about six feet, letting the upper part hang over like a verandah. The interior is also being fitted up. It is said that the building will be used as a hotel.

Mr. P. W. Reynolds is having his block fixed up in first-class style. The store occupied by Mr. J. L. Squire is being extended to the rear. This will give Mr. Squire a large amount of additional room, which in present he is in much need of.

CHEESE MARKETS.

VALUABLE STAMPS.

A London Firm Buys Two of Them for Which it Pays £680.

Philately has scored one of those records which makes prosaic people open their eyes in wonder, for the well-known stamp dealers Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, (Limited) have just paid £680—the highest price ever given for any two stamps, for the penny (red) and two-penny (blue) Mauritius stamps, issued in 1847. They were first acquired by Madame Dubois, of Bordeaux, having been found in a merchant's office there. Madame Dubois sold them to M. E. Lalanne in 1867. The latter gentleman has just sold his collection for 60,000 francs (£2,400) to M. Piet Latauderie, a well known French collector, from whom Messrs. Stanley and Gibbons have purchased the two stamps mentioned. As far as is known, only two other copies of these rarities exist in England—namely, in the Nation's Stamp Collection, bequeathed by Mr. Tapling, at the British Museum. The penny in that collection is obliterated, and the two-penny unused is not so fine a copy as the present. In the whole world only thirteen or fourteen copies of these stamps are known.—St. James Gazette.

FIGHTING FOR THEIR SCHOOLS.

Cause of the Catholics Championed in the Manitoba Legislature.

Winnipeg, Man., June 18.—The Separate school advocates had their innings to-day in the Legislature. Mr. A. F. Martin, the member for Morris, championed the cause of the Catholics in an eloquent speech. Mr. Martin began his remarks early in the afternoon and spoke until a late hour to-night, bitterly attacking the Manitoba Government for what he termed the utter neglect of Catholics in the matter of education. The Catholics did not want superior schools, as their present schools, sustained by private subscription, were in every way equal to the Protestants, and in some cases far superior. At the present time some Catholic schools in Winnipeg and other parts of Manitoba were attended more than two-thirds by Protestants. Injustice had been done the Catholics by the abolition of grants to the separate schools in support of what he quoted from opinions expressed by Protestant clergymen.

Mr. Martin claimed that the present schools were really Protestant schools and read from the religious exercises used at the schools in support of his contention. In spite of this Catholics were not allowed to use their religious exercises in schools securing the Government grant. There appeared to be a horror of Catholic teaching. The opinions of prominent Protestant ministers in the United States were quoted, who held that public schools had sapped Christianity. The testimony given by girls, who had attended these schools was unfit to be read even to members of the Legislature. The Catholics of Manitoba could not secure a cent more than they were entitled to for support of their schools, and he denied that even now in their crippled state they were inefficient. Many leading citizens of Winnipeg were educated in these much-abused Separate schools. He gave several instances. Notice should have been given as to the Government's intention to abolish Separate schools, and the official use of the French language. In a similar case in one of the Southern States 20 years' notice was given. He denied that Catholics had even been told their Separate schools were inefficient until after they were wiped out of existence.

Cleveland for Third Term.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—The possibility of his party uniting on Mr. Cleveland for third term attracts increased attention here, and his nomination, despite its exceptional character, is not an impossibility. Reciprocal trade relations with Canada and the admission into the United States free of duty of that celebrated Canadian product, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, on account of its painless action and certainty, would be a plank in his platform. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sure! safe! painless!

One Fact Counts

For more than a thousand insinuations, especially if the insinuations are inspired by jealousy and defeat.

It is an ADMITTED FACT that Fairweather & Co. ARE the leaders in the Hat trade in Peterborough and Lindsay. The manufacturer recognize this as fully as do our numerous patrons and "side line" competitors; and therefore do not think of offering us the off-scourings—the "rag-tag and bobtail" or commonly called "seconds" of their stocks "at any price." These are disposed of to the general country merchants and clothing houses. It would not suit our trade. We must have the most correct styles and qualities.

"We got them"! Straw Hat samples! 1100 of them to clear. Worth from

$1.00 to $2.00, our price 75c.
75c to $1.00, our price 50c.
35c to 50c, our price 25c.

"A good name is better than riches," even if it be only in a Stiff Hat, and especially if you control it.

Christy & Co. of London, England, are admitted to be the best makers of Stiff Hats the world over. No other house in Peterborough have their goods, as we are their SOLE agents here. The name "Christy Hat" is given by people, who do not know the difference, to a Stiff Hat of any kind, but this is a misnomer, and only goes to show how much the ordinary clothier knows about the hat trade.

Our prices for genuine Christy & Co's Hats are 99c, for all wool grades, and $1.99 for all fur qualities. This offer is made to clear.

The moral is: Come where you get the best Hats made by standard makers at the price of ordinary qualities. Do not be "bamboozled," but come to

GOUGH BROS

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

375 and 577 George Street, June 14.

The Month Of Roses!

JUNE, the month of Roses, inaugurates the season for light-weight Clothing, at Reduced prices for Men, Youths and Boys. Before the June roses are all gone we expect that most of our present stock of Summer Clothing will have gone also, if sales keep on as they are doing the past two weeks. As the mercury in the thermometer ascends, the sales of our Cool Clothing ascends correspondingly, and unless you prepare for summer heat now, half your time will be spent in trying to keep cool. Every corner of our two big stores has a summer-like, hot-weather appearance. But, figuratively speaking, Gough Bros. is the coolest Clothing House in Canada during the hot days of June—because Gough Bros. prices are always below zero.

Perhaps We're Wrong.

We're sometimes blamed for selling things too cheap—but just now we're not making any apologies. We're working for "the greatest good to the greatest number"—and the way customers crowd the store every day shows that the public is abundantly satisfied with good things being cheap and cheap things being good.

What Counts.

What counts in purchasing is the comfort of knowing you made a good bargain. Look back a few years ago and compare the store of to-day with the business as you knew it then. Study the trend of values during the same period. Prices have been gradually reduced in proportion as facilities were enlarged.

Every now and then we are accused of underselling, when we merely do our duty—by you, and sell as low as we can. Dollars and cents—cents and dollars—with a leaning towards the store that gives the best values, and a disposition to trade where prices are lowest—that's the yard stick to measure by.

Summer Suits.

Men are apt to feel the summer heat more now than later on in the season. They need thin, comfortable Clothing now, and nobody wants to pay more than is necessary. Don't put off coming until late in the day if you can help it. Saturdays are our crowd days, when everybody's in a hurry. Better come now.

When the mercury is simmering, remember that we have the comfort you need. Very many bargains are here for people of narrow means, and values are generally good all along the line.

—American Iceberg Coats, at 75c and $1.25.
—Lustre Coats and Vests, at $2.00.
—Lightweight Serge Suits, $2.95, $3.50, $10.00.
—Lightweight Tweed Suits, $3.90, $5.00, $7.50.
—Lightweight Skeleton Coats, 50c, $1.00 to $2.50.
—Blazer Coats, all colours, $2.00.
—White and Coloured Vests, from 60c to $2.00.
—Silk Coats and Vests, plain and striped, $2.00, $3.00, $5.00.
—Sporting Trousers, $2.00 to $4.00.

We sell about everything that men and boys wear, and many things they buy for personal gratification. In this respect the store is simply doing its duty by you who have made the business what it is.

Gent's Furnishing.

—French Balbriggan Suits $1.50.
—Natural Wool Suits $1.50.
—Outing Shirts 40c.
—Coloured Shirts, fast colours, all sizes 50c.
—Fine Elastic Braces 15c.
—Merino Socks, seamless, double heel and toe, 3 pairs for 50c.
—Silk Knot Ties, 2 for 25c.
—Plain and Coloured Merino 25c each.
—Striped Underwear 15c each.
—Flannelette Shirts 18c, 23c.
—Collars and Cuffs 10c, 15c, 18c a pair.

A great thing for a man who aims to succeed is to look well. Everybody is judged, more or less, by appearance. It doesn't cost much to possess stylish furnishings if you buy at Gough Bros.

Not Much of a Trick.

It's not much of a trick to sell Straw Hats at this season of the year, although some of the regular hat dealers may have to hustle to do it and get their fancy prices. If we had to sell Hats alone, we might have to hustle, too, but we don't have to. It's as easy as looking down a well. The Hat maker usually loads up the regular Hat dealers at good, plump figures, and when he finds he has an immovable load left he calls in the live general retail clothier and bids him take them at his own price but take them. That's one of the ways we get in our best work. GOUGH BROS. have helped several such hat manufacturers out of a hole, and it accounts for the special price festival we have been holding in Hats the past few weeks. Perhaps we're not the "leaders" in the hat trade; but were the SELLERS and that suits us just as well.

—Gents' Fine Straw Hats 25c, worth 40 cents.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 50c, worth $1.
—Gents' Fine American Straw Hats 75c, worth $1.50.
—Men's Straw Hats in lightweight, wide and narrow rims, 50c to $1.50.
—Boys' Hats, in every style, from 15c to 75c.
—Children's Sailors 10c, 25c.
—Tweed Hats 20c, 25c.
—Men's Tourists, 75c.
—Men's Christy Hats, all sizes 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $2 and $3.
—Fedoras, all popular shades, qualities and sizes, for Men and Boys, as low as 70c, as high as $3.

That's enough to prove our interest in your welfare. We have a complete assortment, and prices are low enough to capture your trade.

Tan Shoes.

A discussion is just now bothering some people as to whether or no, Tan Shoes are cooler than black in hot weather. The question is easily answered: Nothing is fashionable long that does not combine comfort with style of late years no two things have added more to a mitigation of hot-weather discomfort than the brown shoe and the outing shirt.

We have tan shoes in all sizes, for men, women and children, and seem to have no difficulty in disposing of all we can get.

There's no jobbers' 25 per cent. on boots in this store—you pay no intermediate profit here. We sell as we buy.

—First quality Canvas Oxfords, kid-faced, white, tans and greys.
—Russian Tan Oxfords, in dark and light colours, hand-turned soles and welts; tan overgaiters to match.
—Nobby street shoe in patent leather vamp, kid quarter, opera and Philadelphia toe
—Tennis shoes, all sorts and sizes.
—Men's Tan Shoes, kid lined $1.15.
—Misses' Tan Balmorals and Button Boots $1.
—Woman's Tan Balmorals $1 a pair.
—Ladies' hand-made Tan Oxfords $1.25.
—Hand-made Button Boots $2.
—Finest American White Canvas $2, $2.50.
—Oxford, hand-made $1.25, $1.50.
—Finest Russian Leather (city made) Oxford, $2.

Our prices may be ruining the shoe trade—we can't help it. We're sorry to injure the shoe trade, but we must look after your interests and keep you posted in right prices.

MISSING FOR MONTHS

J. S. Kerngood's Body Found in the Niagara.

HIS NAME ON HIS SHIRT BAND

Last Seen Alive in St. Thomas on Nov. 9—Disappeared From a Michigan Central Train, and His Corpse Found in the Niagara River at Lewiston.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 20.—As the turgid waters of the Niagara swirled along past Lewiston yesterday morning they carried on their surface the body of a well-known commercial traveler, who had been missing for over seven months. It was that of Jacob S. Kerngood, who, on the night of November 9 disappeared in a most mysterious manner from a sleeping car on the Michigan Central Railroad between St. Thomas, Ont., and Syracuse.

George Lonsdale of Lewiston while out fishing, was startled out of a languid state by the sight of a mass of human flesh floating down the river opposite the Lewiston dock. When he recovered from the shock he rowed down after it, overtook it and towed it to shore.

It was badly decomposed, and but for a mark on the shirt-band, which was the only remnant of clothing remaining on the ghastly figure, identification would have been impossible. On the inside of this band was the name Kerngood, almost defaced, and so indistinct that it was guessed to be Kemgood by some of the Merrigoodcmfwy good by some, and Merrigood by others. The flesh of the face was all gone, the scalp bereft of hair and the form bloated and discolored. It evidently had been in the water a long time. But the dimensions of the drowned man tally so closely with those of the missing Kerngood as to strengthen beyond doubt the proof furnished by the shirt-band.

Coroner Walker of Lewiston was summoned. He took the body to the Morgue and as soon as he had communicated with the police of Rochester, where Kerngood formerly lived, and became convinced that the body was his, he telegraphed to the deceased's relatives, who include a widow and two children in New York, a brother in Saginaw, Mich., a brother in Denver and a brother in Rochester. Replies were received within a short time requesting the coroner to hold his charge until they arrived to claim it.

The Kerngood disappearance is one of the most mystifying cases that has ever been presented to the police of this country. Jacob S. Kerngood was a travelling salesman for Bernard L. Price & Co., clothing manufacturers of No. 170 Green-street, New York. He lived at No. 151 East 89th-street, that city. Some years before that he lived in Rochester, where his brother, of the firm of Garson, Kerngood & Co., is located.

Kerngood was a man of temperate habits and excellent moral character. He was free from any financial troubles and was happy in his domestic life. He was devotedly attached to his wife and two children. He left his home last October on a business trip to the West. His last words to his little woman in 89th-street were that he would be back in time to celebrate with her the anniversary of her birth. Hardly a week passed but in his letters and despatches he referred to the birthday feast which was not to be.

In the early part of November, after finishing the Western business trip, Kerngood left Omaha to return home. He is known to have taken a Michigan Central train. He was last seen just after the train left St. Thomas, Ont., about 11.30 o'clock on the night of November 9. He was preparing to retire to his berth on the sleeper.

In the day time the Michigan Central trains stop at Falls View, at the Canadian end of the cantilever bridge, over which his train passed, but the train on which he was did not stop. Its first stop after leaving St. Thomas was in Buffalo, where it arrived at 1.30 a.m. It was not noticed whether he was on the train then or not, but when Syracuse was reached, as daylight was breaking, the discovery was made that he was not in the car. The porter who went to wake him found his satchel, coat, vest, trousers, shoes and stockings in his berth, but search throughout the car failed to reveal the man. Not a soul aboard the car had seen or heard him leave.

Mrs. Kerngood went to the Grand Central station in New York on the afternoon of November 10. Her husband had telegraphed that he would arrive on the 1 o'clock train. She stood on the landing and waited. She looked at every face as the passengers filed out. A porter brushed past her with a heavy bundle and a valise, and hurried to the unclaimed baggage room as though eager to drop a burden which was irksome to bear. That bundle contained Jacob S. Kerngood's clothing.

Scanning every face until every passenger had disembarked, and not finding her husband among them, Mrs. Kerngood made enquiries, which elicited the first information that any of Kerngood's relatives received of his disappearance. The railroad officials aided her by telegraphing to Mr. Kerngood's brother in Rochester, who began a search for the missing man. Later the other brothers were notified, and the entire route over which the missing man had passed from Omaha was gone over.

About the only fact that could be obtained was that Kerngood had left the car. That was self-evident, since he was not to be found aboard. But why he had left the car, if he did so voluntarily, or how, if he did so involuntarily, were beyond comprehension. There were three theories at the time. One was that he had walked in his sleep off the car, another was that he suddenly had become insane and leaped off. The third was that he had met with foul play. The relatives did not take much stock in the foul-play theory, although for a time they seemed to be suspicious of some of the train employes.

While prosecuting their search in this city, the Rochester brother and a nephew of the missing man discredited the murder theory, and expressed themselves as believing that it was a case of temporary mental disturbance, as they said Jacob had been suffering from insomnia of late. They thought he must have fallen off the train while in this condition.

Though the body has been found, there still remains the mystery of how he came to be drowned. Whether he fell or jumped off the train while it was passing over the Gorge, or whether he got off the train in Canada, or on this side and walked to the river, or whether he was thrown into the water, probably never will be known. Then, too, he might have fallen into some creek tributary to the Niagara and his body have drifted to the river, and to the place where it was found. It seems peculiar, too, that the body could have remained in the water for seven months without being discovered, but perhaps it became wedged in some rocks and held for some time.

Never was there a stronger, more pathetic illustration of brotherly love than that shown in the search of Moses Kerngood of Saginaw, Mich., for his missing kinsman. He heard of the disappearance on the morning of November 12, three days later. Immediately he dropped business and everything else and began a hunt which never ceased until word reached him yesterday of the recovery of the body at the Falls.

OPENING OF THE KIEL CANAL.

Emperor William Leads a Naval Parade of All Europe.

Kiel, June 21.—With Imperial pomp and ceremony, and amid the plaudits of thousands upon thousands of people, the great canal connecting the Baltic and North Sea was opened to commerce yesterday. The weather was perfect and the inauguration ceremony was highly successful, save in one particular: the grounding in the canal of the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., one of the vessels that took part in the naval parade. She took bottom near Levensau, near the eastern extremity of the canal, but she got off without damage.

At 8 o'clock this morning the despatch boat Grille entered the lock at Brunsbuttel, the western extremity of the canal, and went through as a scout examining the banks and locks and taking soundings in order to prevent if possible the occurrence of an accident when the great parade navigated the canal to Kiel.

The scene as the Emperor and the four eldest of his sons drove along the river front last evening to embark on the Imperial yacht Hohensollern was one long to be remembered. Everything capable of being decorated bore masses of flags and varicolored bunting, and the crowd cheered incessantly as the Emperor and Princess passed. The Hohensollern passed into the western water gate at 3.45 o'clock this morning.

As the Hohensollern passed into the canal a salute was fired by a park of artillery stationed a little distance from the entrance to the lock, while the soldiery composed of cavalry, infantry and pioneers lining both banks presented arms. At the same time a military band played the German National Anthem.

The approaches were crowded with military students, visitors and residents of the vicinity who cheered loudly. The Emperor was on deck and he bowed in response to the ovation he received, exhibiting much emotion.

The Hohensollern at 4 o'clock cut the thread which had been stretched across the entrance to the canal and began her passage through to Kiel, the bands on shore playing national airs and the crowds cheering. The other vessels in the procession followed in this order: The yacht Kaiseradler, having on board Prince Luitpold, Regent of Bavaria, the King of Saxony the King of Wurtemburg and Grand Duke Alexis of Russia; the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., with the German Princes and the foreign ambassadors and ministers; the Lensahn with the Duke of Oldenburg, the British Royal Yacht Osborne with the Duke of York, representing Queen Victoria; the Italian Royal yacht Savoia, with the Duke of Genoa representing King Humbert; the Austrian torpedo catcher Trabant, with Archduke Charles Stephen, representing Emperor Francis Joseph; the Hamburg-American line steamer Augusta Victoria, with the members of the Bundesrath and of the diplomatic corps; the same line's steamer Columbia, with members of the Reichstag; the North German Lloyd steamer Trave, also with members of the Reichstag and the Prussian Landtag and the Hamburg-American line steamer Rhaetia with members of the Reichstag and Landtag.

The warships steamed through in this order: Grille, Arethusa, Surcouf, Grosstatchy, Marques de Ensenada, Edda, Viking, Marble Head, Mircea, Hecla, Aikmaar. The rear of the procession was brought up by the Turkish yacht Fevaid.

At 11.30 a.m. the Hohensollern was in sight of the Holtenau locks at the east end of the canal. The immense crowd of people who had assembled on the Holtenau Festplats to witness the spectacle set up a mighty cheer as the imperial yacht was sighted. Five minutes later she had steamed up to the locks, which she entered at 12.35. The Emperor stood upon the high bridge, behind the mainmast, attired in the full uniform of an admiral of the German navy, suggesting the well-known picture, "With full steam ahead." The bands of the regular and veteran troops struck up Heil Dir Riegerkrans, which the Kaiser acknowledged by a salute. At 12.40 all of the ships in the bay fired an imperial salute. It was a grand spectacle, On each side of the lock was drawn up a company of the First Foot Guards of Potsdam, with a band and a company of the Kaiserin's Flensburg Regiment were lined on the north shore in front of the harbor office, with the Marine Band. The admirals and generals stood upon the Genter rampart which divides the sections of the lock. The immense crowds kept up continuous cheering as the Hohenzollern passed through and went to her anchorage forward by the Kaiseradler. The harbor was teeming with pleasure boats of every description.

As the Kaiser Wilhelm II. was passing a point near Lovensau she ran aground, compelling all the vessels behind her to stop. She got afloat later, and arrived at Kiel at 5 o'clock, followed at short intervals by the other vessels taking part in the procession.

DREW A RAZOR ON HIM.

A Chatham Hotel Man Terribly Slashed By an Ex-Convict.

Chatham, June 20.—If Joseph Jewell, the proprietor of the Station House here, dies from the wounds which he received in an affray last night, Geo. McGregor, an ex-convict, who is now in jail, will have a charge of murder registered against his name.

All last night a crowd of men were in the hotel drinking, and towards morning they became boisterous.

At 3 a.m. the proprietor, Jewell, ordered McGregor and another man, named Charles Mynott, to leave the house.

The men had some words, and then McGregor whipped out a razor and slashed the hotel keeper across the abdomen, inflicting horible wounds.

Jewell staggered back and fell prostrate, and McGregor turned and ran away, but was captured. At the station the razor, wet with blood, was found, and he had a loaded revolver in his hip pocket.

Mynott was also put under arrest. Jewell is hovering between life and death, but it is thought he will not survive his injuries. George McGregor is a barber, and was recently pardoned from the Penitentiary, where he was serving a term.

COST $200 TO BE HIM METHODIST.

Verdict in the Famous Montreal Case Upheld in the Court of Appeal—Abe Orpen's Trial Set.

Montreal, June 20.—It is by no means a healthy pastime to call a man a Methodist in the Province of Quebec. The Court of Appeal unanimously confirmed the judgment of Judge Jette in the case of Sauvelle v. Tardivel. This will be remembered as an action by which Mr. Sauvelle, editor of La Patrie, claimed damages from the proprietor of La Verite on account of an article published in that paper, which charged the plaintiff with being a hypocrite, inasmuch as while he proclaimed himself a Catholic in the columns of The Canada Revue, he got one of his children baptised in the Methodist Church, and the article came to the conclusion that Mr. Sauvelle was in reality a Methodist. The court below granted $200 damages.

Hon. A. W. Morris has purchased a seat on the Montreal Stock Exchange, the price paid being $2800, which is not considered high at all.

The Allan steamer Parisian will leave here Saturday, taking the heaviest passenger list ever known in the history of Montreal travel. The number will be 280 first, 164 second and 200 steerage.

Abe Orpen appeared to-day and the trial was fixed for June 26. Defendant claims he will fight the case to the bitter end.

Unionists Will Move Want of Confidence.

London, June 20.—The Standard this morning states that it bears that the Unionists meditate moving a vote of no confidence in the Government. The Times in an editorial suggests the same thing, and says that the Government is almost certain to be defeated on a well-chosen issue. If the Unionists neglect to grasp the opportunity presented to them, it says, a heavy responsibility will rest upon both the leaders and followers.

The Central News says the Opposition leaders of the House of Commons have decided to move a resolution setting forth that the House has no confidence in the ministry. According to this statement, Mr. Chamberlain has framed a resolution asking Her Majesty to dismiss the present ministers and dissolve Parliament.

Where Money is Glut.

London, June 20.—Of the increase in the Bank of England's coin and bullion this week 188,000 pounds came from Australia and the rest from home circulation. The glut of money is greater than ever.

CAUSES OF DEBT AND DEFICIT.

The following brief recapitulation of the waste and worse that has characterised the Bowell Government's conduct of public works is of a very suggestive and startling character and seems to give some idea of the manner of management of our public affairs that has contributed to a deficit of $1,200,000 last year, a deficit of $4,500,000 this year, and a total debt of $250,000,000. Let the reader peruse the following, which is only a partial list of waste and extravagance :

St. Charles branch railway (fourteen miles.) Promised cost, $136,000 ; expended on it, $1,740,000 ; outstanding claims, $20,719 ; cost of road itself, $622,000 ; cost of land damages, $900,000.

Tay canal (six miles). Estimated cost, $132,600 ; expended upon it, $476,128, revenue for 1894, $126 ; cost of maintenance, 1894, $2,458.

Little Rapids Lock. Contract estimate of cost, $36,680 ; paid to contractor, $260,000; contractor's claims still unpaid, $8,100 ; no traffic and no receipts from the work.

Galops Rapids channel (Cornwall canal). Contract price, $306,600 ; paid to contractor, $446,500 ; contractor's claim still unpaid, $130,000. The Minister of Canals declared in Parliament after the work was taken over that no one would use it.

Sheik's Island dam (Cornwall canal). The original contract was cancelled and a work abandoned upon which $15,500 of money was absolutely thrown away. The new work was given to a favoured firm of contractors without tenders, who have been allowed $32,500.

Langevin block—Estimate of cost less than $500,000 ; already paid, $781,000 ; outstanding claims, $250,000. Contractor Charlebois had this clause put into the contracts which other contractors on the building had with the government :—"The contractors will agree to bind themselves to buy the right of way from the contractor, Mr. Charlebois."

Connolly-McGreevy works—Cost to contractors of work, $2,184,259 ; cost to country, $3,138,234 ; contractors' profits, $953,975 ; loss to country after deducting a fair profit, $700,000.

Printing Bureau scandal—Senecal's commissions on purchases of supplies and machinery, $50,000.

Curran bridge—Estimated cost, $125,000 ; government commissioner's estimate of reasonable cost, $160,000 ; actual cost, $430,000 stolen from the country, $270,000.

Campaign contributions paid by Senator Ross to Sir Adolphe Caron, and recouped by subsidy to the Lake St. John railway, $35,000.

Fredericton and St. Marys bridge—Paid up capital of company, $20,000 ; government loan at 4 per cent., $300,000 ; government bonus, $30,000 ; total cost of bridge, $418,000 ; floating debt of bridge, $19,000 ; interest due the government upon loan since 1893, $66,000 ; total amount of public money sunk in this private speculation, $666,000.

Caraquet railway—$224,000 of public money has been put into this sinkhole. The road is not paying running expenses, and the public expenditure, which was incurred for election purposes, is a total loss.

This list which represents a plunder of about $4,000,000, itself nearly accounts for the present year's deficit, might be enormously extended, as the state of things here shown has, the Brantford Expositor asserts, prevailed with regard to almost every public building, or public work of any kind, that the Conservative party has had to do with. To cap the climax, all the offenders in this wholesale plundering have practically escaped unwhipped of justice. Sir Adolphe Caron is still the trusted associate of his Ministerial colleagues. Sir Hector Langevin is a member of Parliament, though no longer a member of the Government ; McGreevy and Connolly are free men, and the former again occupies a seat in Parliament ; St. Louis has escapes both civil and criminal prosecutions. The people of Canada can deal out a certain measure of punishment to the principal offenders by removing them from offices which they have disgraced. Will the electors prove equal to the occasion ?

THE "Soo" Canal matter has developed into a scandal of huge dimensions, showing a waste of probably a million dollars of public money, and the sworn evidence was to the effect that the canal is utterly useless for the purpose for which it is built. It has cost close upon four million dollars and cannot be utilized as an independent waterway without the expenditure of another million and a half, according to the testimony of Mr. W. G. Thompson, the superintending engineer attached to the Department of Railways and Canals. Messrs. Lister, Davies and Gibson are entitled to great credit for investigating the matter, and giving the taxpayers of Canada another strong example of how their money is thrown away by the men now in power.

THE Government's incompetency is again shown ; this time in the department of canals. The Cornwall Canal is disabled in the midst of the busy season by the smashing of a pair of lock gates, by the steamer Ocean. The government is not directly to blame for this accident, but it is to be censured gravely for lack to provide against such accidents, inasmuch as there was no provision for duplicate gates to be ready for placing in case of accident, which should have been done, as the gates were rotten and should have been replaced. But this neglect is not surprising. When Hon. John Haggart allowed a bridge at Montreal to cost $490,000, which the Grand Trunk would have built for $70,000, he could not be expected to have any concern about a trifle like a lock gate, though its breaking closes navigation at a busy season. And navigation is the very thing that warranted the expenditure of millions on our canals and should, one would think, receive first consideration.

ROYALTY AT ASCOT RACES.

McCalmont's Isinglass Wins the Gold Cup

London, June 20.—To-day was the grandest day of the Ascot meeting. The attendance was enormous, and the representation of royalty and aristocracy large. Lord Breadalbane headed the royal procession. The Afghan Prince, Nasrulla Khan, went to Ascot Heath by rail to Windsor, and thence to the course in a carriage.

The St. James' Palace Stakes of 100 sovereigns each, with 300 sovereigns added, for 3-year-olds, 1 mile, was won by the Duke of Portland's b c Troon, by Hampton, out of Atlanta; Lord Abington's Match Maker 2; Baron de Hirsch's St. Johann 3 ; Mr. Lehandy's Prince Simon, Lord Zetland's Seaholm, Mr. Leopold de Rothschild's Auriga, Mr. L. Brassey's Pride, Prince Soltykoff's Spur-Royal and Col. North's Galopian also ran.

Betting: 11 to 2 against Troon, 5 to 2 against Match Maker, 10 to 1 against St. Johann, 5 to 2 against Prince Simon, 8 to 1 against Seaholm, 9 to 1 against Auriga, 10 to 1 against Pride, and 12 to 1 against Spur-Royal and Galopian.

The Rous Memorial Stakes of 10 sovereigns each, with 1000 sovereigns added, 7 furlongs and 166 yards, was won by Mr. H. McCalmont's b c The Lombard, by Petrarch, out of Wealth, 3; Mr. Wallace Johnstone's Best Man, 5, 2; Lord Derby's Dingle Bay, 3, 3.

Betting: 9 to 1 against The Lombard, 9 to 2 on Best Man and 50 to 1 against Dingle Bay.

The Gold Cup, value 1000 sovereigns, all ages, about 2 1-2 miles—Mr. H. McCalmont's b h Isinglass, by Isonomy, out of Deadlock, 5, 1 ; Mr. Tiernon's Reminder, 4, 2 ; Captain Machell's Kilsallaghan, 5, 3. The betting was 11 to 2 against Isinglass, 5 to 1 Reminder and 33 to 1 Kilsallaghan.

Kilsallaghan was first away, and made the running, but at a slow pace. He was well clear of Isinglass, who was six lengths ahead of Reminder. Approaching the bend on the way home Isinglass overhauled Kilsallaghan, and took the lead. In the straight Reminder also passed Kilsallaghan. Isinglass won easy by three lengths, and Reminder was half a length in advance of Kilsallaghan. Time 4.59 2-5.

The New Stakes of 10 sovereigns each, with 1000 sovereigns added, for 2-year-olds, 5 furlongs 136 yards—Sir J. Miller's b f Roquebrune, by St. Simon, out of St. Marguerite, 1 ; Duke of Westminster's Shaddock, 2 ; Prince of Wales' Thais, 3. Mr. J. H. Platt's Monte Rosa colt, Mr. J. H. Mees' Woodmancote, Sir R. Affleck's Harpor, Mr. Leopold De Rothschild's Galeazzo, Lord Londonderry's Serfdom, Mr. Daniel Cooper's Musidora, Mr. R. H. Combe's Max and Mr. Wallace Johnstone's Mimic also ran.

The betting was 2 to 1 against Roquebrune, 12 to 1 Shaddock, 3 to 1 Thais, 8 to 1 Monte Rosa and Woodmancote, 9 to 1 Harper, 10 to 1 Galeazzo, 20 to 1 Serfdom, Musidora, Max and Mimic.

Just received another case of goods from Havana, Cuba, West Indies. The finest goods ever sold in Peterborough, you must remember this when you get a cigar direct from Havana, there is a big difference in the flavor and far better for your money. Remember I have sold travellers imported samples before, and learned by experience that after they have travelled the country from coast to coast, and open out those samples probably 2000 times that there was very little aroma in them, and also find out that I could get goods from Havana direct, to sell as cheap as any travellers sample I ever sold, and you can get fresh goods for your money.

VATICAN AND LORDS.

Bishop Gravel's Startling Letter Re the Judgment.

DID THE CHURCH INTERFERE?

The Bishop Proposed Such Intervention, and D'Alton McCarthy Thinks the Chancellor's Remarks Outside the Judgment Proves Such To Be the Case.

Ottawa, June 20.—The publication of the circular of Bishop Gravel of Nicolet has created a sensation at the Capital. The document embraces a report which Bishop Gravel wrote last December on the Manitoba school question and the reply recently received of Cardinal Ledochowski, Prefect of the Propaganda. Bishop Gravel in his report asserts that the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council, which at the time he wrote had rendered only its first judgment, declaring the Manitoba school law constitutional, had acted in bad faith and had given a judgment based on a false reason. The Bishop of Nicolet also praises Louis Riel as an able man who successfully championed the cause of the oppressed Metis in 1870 until Archbishop Taché pacified them. Mgr. Gravel made his report in consequence of a request for it from Cardinal Ledochowski, when the Bishop was visiting Rome last year. At the close of the report the Bishop makes two suggestions as to the manner in which the Sacred Congregation of the Propaganda could intervene to assist the Canadian bishops in resisting the legislation of Manitoba. They are: "It might, perhaps, through the intervention of His Eminence Cardinal Vaughan, represent, among other things to the Colonial Minister in London, that his predecessor, Lord Carnarvon, had given in his own name, and in the name of Her Majesty the Queen, the assurance to the Catholics of Manitoba that they would have their Separate schools; that consequently the Crown is bound in honor to fulfill these solemn promises, if it does not wish to alienate the heart of the Catholics of Canada. An intimation of this nature might have a good effect in reference to the judgment which the Privy Council will render within a few months upon the question which the Canadian Government has submitted to it. At the same time this Sacred Congregation might address to all the bishops of Canada congratulations upon the act so noble and truly episcopal, which they have accomplished by their petition to the Government in favor of the persecuted Catholics of Manitoba, and express the hope that they will continue by common action to demand the equitable settlement of this question."

Were these two suggestions acted upon by the Sacred Congregation?

That the second one was accepted is shown by the circular itself, and it would be fair to assume, judging by the event, that the first was also accepted.

With the French Conservative members holding secret caucuses, threatening to bolt if the Remedial Order is not implemented by legislation this session, the situation is such as to profoundly alarm the Government. A crisis is inevitable, and the position of affairs is not improved by the disclosure of the statements of Mgr. Gravel and the reply of Cardinal Ledochowski. The Government is tossed on the horns of two dilemmas, for whichever way it moves it will encounter trouble with its supporters. Affairs look on an ugly aspect yesterday, as the time for the division on the Curran bridge steal approached, but an intimation was given the disaffected contingent from Quebec that brought it into line for the vote. But one Government supporter from that province voted adversely to the Government, and that was for reasons outside of the school question.

Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, M.P., was interviewed to-day in regard to Bishop Gravel's circular to the other Catholic bishops. Mr. McCarthy said: I have read the circular of Monseigneur Gravel, Bishop of Nicolet. The statements contained in it are certainly of the most startling character. It is alleged that the Prefect of the Propaganda of Rome, through the instrumentality of Cardinal Vaughan, interfered to influence the Privy Council, and it is more than insinuated that it was through Cardinal Vaughan's good offices that the judgment pronounced by the Judicial Committee on the appeal from the Supreme Court was favorable to the claims of the Catholics.

It is impossible to suppose that the Lords who sat upon the case knowingly allowed their minds to be influenced by the insidious insinuations of Cardinal Vaughan, based, as they appear to have been, upon a tissue of misrepresentations. At the same time it is well known that the Judicial Committee is in some respects a political body, and that the Lord Chancellor, who presided on the occasion, is a member of the Rosebery Government, and one can hardly fail to notice by the remarks which the Lord Chancellor made throughout the argument ,and some of the observations which occurred in the judgment, that he was influenced by considerations which did not appear as part of the case, which was submitted to the Supreme Court, and that the threat that the Catholics of Manitoba, meaning, I presume, the French Catholics, who would be alienated from their allegiance to Great Britain if the judgment was against them, may have more or less influenced his judgment, or, rather, not so much his decision upon the dry question of law as the observations which are to be found in the reasons given in the judgment, which he made and which was accepted and adopted by the majority or all of the members of the Judicial Committee.

The Bishop of Nicolet does not hesitate to impugn the earlier judgment of the Privy Council asserting that the reasoning of that judgment was so lame that it is impossible to believe that men of such intellectual strength as the noble Lords are could have approached it in good faith.

Now, for my part, I have always thought, and I frequently expressed myself to that effect, that the judgment in the last case, in which it was held that the circumstances that had occurred which gave jurisdiction to the Governor-General-in-Council and entertained the complaint of the Roman Catholic minority, was technically and strictly correct, but at the same time it is a very striking thing to find that at this time in our history the Church of Rome has not forgotten its ancient motives and manner of intrigue, and that the liberties of the people of Canada are endangered on account of priestly interference, which in all the ages of the world has been a menace to human liberty.

It is not perhaps to be wondered at that Monseigneur Gravel's statements of fact, written as they were without an opportunity of consulting documents, are somewhat inaccurate. The most important misstatement is contained in the allegation that the Manitoba rebels before they laid down their arms had asked for the establishment of Separate Schools, as in Quebec and Ontario, and that the Governor-General and the Government of Canada had acceded to this and promised that a clause should be placed in the constitution. It is now absolutely clear that no such application was ever made by Riel or the representatives of the people who formed the Provisional Assembly at the time of the negotiations between the Red River settlement and the Dominion, and consequently it could not have been assented to by the Government of Canada or by the Queen, although it is stated by the bishop that Lord Carnarvon telegraphed to grant the demand. On the contrary, it appears that the pretended bill of rights in which the demand that Separate schools be established appears, is a fictitious document got up by the same wily influences that are now seeking by underhand and illegitimate means to have the people of Manitoba deprived of their just rights.

The House held an afternoon sitting to-day, and devoted itself to routine business.

TO IMPRESS THE SULTAN.

Britain Will Make a Naval Demonstration at Constantinople.

London, June 20.—A special from St. Petersburg, by the way of Eydtkuhnenon, the Prussian frontier, says the Russian Government has received a communication from the Government of Great Britain advising the Czar's Government of the intention of England to make a naval demonstration at Constantinople. Advices have been received in St. Petersburg from other sources to the effect that the British Ambassador to Turkey, Sir Philip Currie, is secretly intriguing with the Armenian patriarchs. According to the advices there is no doubt that the English pro-Armenian Committee are supplying Armenians with a large number of weapons, and the Russian Government is preparing to meet the developments of the situation outlined. The 20th division of the Russian Army, now stationed in the south of Russia, has been ordered to the vicinity of Kars, and the departure of 1500 troops from Odessa for Batoum is being accelerated.

Bulgaria Wants Damages From Turkey.

Constantinople, June 20.—The Government has demanded from the Porte the payment of $2000 as indemnity for an incursion into Bulgarian territory of a number of Bashi-Basouks, who were pursuing sheep. The Bashi-Basouks wounded three Bulgarian frontier guards.

Successor to Admiral Meade.

Washington, June 20.—Secretary Herbert has ordered Commodore Francis M. Bunce to duty as Commander-in-Chief of the North Atlantic squadron, with the rank of Acting Rear Admiral. The new successor to Admiral Meade will assume command in about ten days. Commodore Bunce is next to the lowest officer of his grade, and has not been to sea since 1888. During most of his time ashore he has been president of the naval war college, which he organized.

AN ILLINOIS SENSATION.

A Lady of Union County Recovers Her Health in a Marvellous Manner.

Anna, Illinois, June 17—A very interesting case of recovery from a very complicated form of kidney trouble has taken place here, and the details are gradually being made public. The sufferer was Miss M. T. Loomis, who for a long time has been a victim of severe pains in all parts of the body. She consulted a number of doctors and was treated for a great variety of complaints, the diagnosis all proving faulty. At length she determined to try Dood's Kidney Pills, having read and heard much of their efficacy and found her expectations justified in a complete cure.

STABBED ON THE STAGE.

A Boy Killed During a Theatrical Performance in Montreal.

Montreal, June 20.—A fatal stabbing affray took place this evening at the Champlain school, where a theatrical performance was going on, and instead of using a wooden dagger, as was intended, a boy named Desjardins substituted one of steel, and in one of the thrusts his companion, named Laurin, was killed. Both were about 16 years of age.

The Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Appplied to Married Life.

Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure The Wonderful Little Book Called

"COMPLETE MANHOOD And How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc,

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this [illegible], and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Married in Mountain.

Mr. J. A. McKellar, who for the last six months has been officiating as day operator at the local station of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and who was transferred to Mountain Station just a month ago, was united in marriage on Wednesday evening last to Miss Stamp, of Iroquois, who was visiting at the residence of her sister, Mrs. LaRue, of Mountain. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Higgins, the local Presbyterian divine, and the groom's many friends in Peterborough will extend congratulations.

Piano Tuner.

Mr. George Gumpricht, as a first class piano tuner, is highly recommended by Messrs. Heintzman & Co., and all leading piano dealers. Orders may be left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

Acknowledgment.

The committee of management of the Peterborough Protestant Home gratefully acknowledge the sum of $10.26, the amount of the collection taken at the annual church parade of the Sons of England.

Infants' Bonnets Reduced.

Now is a good time to buy as the remainder of our select assortment will be sold at specially reduced prices to make quick sales and a quick clearance. Stamping linen a specialty.—MISS MELVILLE.

Barnardo Home.

Miss Woodgate gratefully acknowledges the following gifts recently received: Mr. R. Fair, gloves and remnants; Mason & Co., 1 gal. maple syrup; Mr. G. W. H. Patrick, 2 bags potatoes.

The Hay Crop.

It is said that the hay crop in this section, as well as that of a large area of the district, will be light this year, the absence of rain having retarded its growth. Occasional showers will benefit it as well as all other crops, but not to the extent of producing a plentiful supply.

The Late Father Quirk.

The late Father Quirk built churches in Norwood and Hastings, completed the Campbellford and enlarged the Warkworth church. He built four separate and two common schools and otherwise improved his mission to the extent of $35,000. With the death of Father Quirk a great worker and one who has a power for good in the community passes away.—Cobourg Sentinel-Star.

Accident in Smith.

On Wednesday morning last Mr. John Stuart, jr., of Smith, while driving milk to the Lakefield cheese factory, met with a severe accident. It appears he was driving down Hayward's Hill, and when about the middle of it, his horses became unmanageable and upset the rig, the milk cans falling on top of Mr. Stuart and injuring him about the body severely and breaking the wagon up badly. The milk was also a total loss.

A Lucky Buyer.

Talk of the weather as a "scorcher," H. LeBrun & Co. have a heap of bargains in store for men and boys that are "scorchers," away out of sight. The senior member of the firm is not an alderman—although he's built that way—but he's a thunderin' lucky fellow at pulling a bargain snap his way. Somehow or other he got hold the other day of about 1,800 yards of splendid remnants of tweed, in odd lengths of from one to eight yards each. Of course he's mum about what he paid for them, but some idea how he "worked the racket" may be guessed when you are told that he can afford to sell them at less than the mill prices! This is a chance that don't occur much oftener than an eclipse of the moon, and if people don't snap at the chance while it's going,—well, they aint alive to their opportunities, that's all. Have a look at the City Clothing Store's window, and also at the "ad." in another column. 2d

Sons of England Band.

Last night the newly organised band of the Sons of England serenaded that venerable pillar of the order, Mr. William Taylor, at his residence, Albert street. The band though not long accustomed to "blow their own horns," gave "Daddy" Taylor much enjoyable music, and he showed his gratitude and hospitality with true British cordiality. During the evening refreshments were served, and everybody concerned spent a most delightful time. The band under the leadership of Mr. Pennington, is making most gratifying progress, and Mr. Taylor's experience of the results of his efforts in organising the band must have convinced him that his head was level when he proposed and largely helped to carry out the organization of a band for Lansdowne Lodge. "Daddy" was proud of their performance and kindly compliment of last night, and it is expected that when the band makes its first appearance on Dominion Day, his heart will overflow altogether.

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

THE NINETY-THIRD ANNUAL MEETING.

A Large Attendance—Enthusiastic and and Earnest Delegates—Encouraging Reports of the State of all Church Interests—The Officers Elected.

Notwithstanding the dusty roads and the great heat, the meetings of the convention held on Wednesday and Thursday were not only largely attended, but were also greatly enjoyed by the various delegates.

Too much praise cannot be given to the pastor and members of the church. They have had a heavy task on their hands, and nobly have they accomplished it. They have been unceasing in their vigilance for the entertainment and comfort of the delegates, and have been untiring in supplying their many wants. The visitors have been warm in their praises, and will remember with great pleasure the ninty-third annual meeting of this the oldest association of Baptist churches in the province.

TUESDAY.

The morning and afternoon sessions of yesterday were devoted to addresses and papers on "Woman's Work" and the meetings were interesting and profitable.

In the evening the church was crowded, the session being given up to the Young People's work. Rev. C. E. McLeod, pastor of the church, was in the chair and after devotional exercises, Rev. P. K. Dayfoot, M. A., of Port Hope, gave an address on "The Cultivation of our young people for service." A male quartette rendered a selection in pleasing style, and then Rev. T. W. Watson, of Colborne, gave an address on "Separation and Consecration." A paper on "Perils to be avoided in young people's work," was next read by Rev. Wm. Johnston, of Stirling. An open session for the discussion of matters affecting the work followed. Mr. A. L. Grover, town, introduced "Baltimore, '95." He spoke on the benefit of attending these conventions and requested all those who could possibly do so to attend the B. Y. P. U. Convention in Baltimore, Md., this summer. A committee was appointed to nominate delegates and to report at Thursday morning's session.

WEDNESDAY.

The morning session opened at 9.30 with a prayer and praise service, led by Rev. C. E. McLeod, pastor of the church.

The Moderator, Rev. T. Watson, Colborne, then took the chair and the regular business was entered upon, Rev. A. R. McDonald, of Lakefield, being the clerk. This consisted in the first place in the appointment of committees on resolutions, obituaries, etc.

The following new pastors and visiting brethren were then formally introduced to the Association: Rev. P. K. Dayfoot, M. A., of Port Hope church; Rev. J. A. Bunton, of Bailleboro church; Rev. A. W. Johnston, of Sidney and Stirling churches; Mr. Vankleek, of Bancroft District; Mr. C. H. Schutt, B.A., student, pastor of Cobourg Baptist church; Mr. J. E. Russell, B.A., of McMaster University. All these brethren responded in graceful terms and expressed their pleasure in thus meeting for the first time in the annual meetings of the Association.

The Rev. P. K. Dayfoot, M. A., then gave a most interesting and profitable address on the Home Mission Work in the Province. The importance and need of Home Mission churches was emphasized, as well as the great benefit resulting therefrom. During the past eighteen months many marks of God's favour had been showered on the work. Eleven churches had become self-supporting, and 2,600 members had been added to the various churches, 2,000 of these being received on a profession of their faith and baptism, 600 by church letter and experience. The speaker hoped that the churches of the Association would make a vigorous effort to wipe off the deficit at present resting on the Board.

At this stage the Nominating Committee appointed at the previous convention, reported the following as officers of the Association for the coming year:

For Moderator—Rev. P. K. Dayfoot, M. A., of Port Hope.

Clerk—Rev. A. R. McDonald, B. A., of Cobourg.

Preacher of the annual sermon—Rev. C. E. McLeod, of Gilmour Memorial church.

The Nominating Committee for the ensuing year was then named. The committee also recommended that the Sydney and Stirling churches be the meeting place of the Association for next year. The report was unanimously adopted.

The afternoon session opened with a devotional meeting led by Rev. S. S. Weaver, of Norwood.

The Moderator then took the chair, and the reading of church letters and reports on the spiritual condition of the churches were then listened to. The letters showed most of the churches to be prospering in a steady manner. The reports on the spiritual condition were specially hopeful and encouraging, and anger well for the success of the work and its growth during the coming year. Already there were many promises of rich blessing.

The Moderator then introduced to the Association and extended the right hand of fellowship to Principal J. I. Bates, M.A., Ph.D., of Woodstock, Baptist College, and Rev. H. M. Welton, D.D., of McMaster University.

Principal Bates was gladly allowed a hearing to present claims of Woodstock College to the delegates. He spoke of the gratifying increase in the number of students, and of the financial report, which, notwithstanding the stringency of money, showed a most pleasing balance to its credit.

This year one of the largest classes ever graduated from the College had matriculated. Twenty-five students were passed. Of these fifteen would enter McMaster, and the remainder the other universities of Canada.

He enlarged upon the healthy nature of the school, as regarded its physical, educational, moral and spiritual advantages. The latter was strongly emphasized. In this present day, when scepticism and infidelity were rife, parents could not be too careful in placing their sons in schools which at the same time would be Christian homes.

He spoke of the low cost to residental students. The whole year's expenses, including board, tuition and everything, excepting books, only costing $144. This was, he thought, the cheapest school in Canada.

He showed that while those who had passed their entrance examinations usually entered, they also admitted those who had been debarred from such privileges. He dwelt with pride upon one special feature of the college, the manual training department. Student were not taught fictitiously. They were put through thorough courses in wood, iron and brass working, making all from drawings prepared by the students themselves.

Rev. C. E. McLeod then read a helpful paper on "The Intermediate State." This was listened to with keen appreciation by the delegates, and a motion was passed requesting Mr. McLeod to have it published.

In the evening a platform meeting was held, when Rev. J. E. Trotter preached an instructive sermon.

This was followed by an address on Ministerial Education by Dr. Welton, one of McMaster's most eloquent speakers. In a very happy manner Dr. Welton presented the close relationship existing between all our mission work and our educational work. The growth of one meant the prosperity of the other. He also outlined the benefits of a highly educated spiritual minister.

Remainder of report to-morrow.

THE LATE MRS. (DR.) TASSIE.

An Earnest, Lovely, Earthly Life Merges Into the Eternal.

Mrs. Tassie, who has been suffering for the last few months with illness passed away at her residence, corner of Antrim and Water streets, this morning, at 3.30. The deceased lady, who was about 80 years of age, was well known throughout the province, especially among the "boys" who were under the tuition of her late husband, Dr. Tassie, when he was Principal of the Galt Collegiate Institute, where several Peterborough lads attended, and also when he was Principal of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute. Mrs. Tassie was a daughter of the late Wm. Morgan, Dublin, Ireland, and grand daughter of Mr. Peter Burtchell, of Kilteel Castle, Kildare County, Ireland. The marriage with Dr. Tassie took place just prior to her leaving Ireland for Canada in 1834. Since Dr. Tassie's death, Mrs. Tassie has lived a quiet life in Peterborough, and though she was not much identified with social activities, for which her old school stately courtesy, and graces of mind fitted her, her large charity and countless acts of self-denial for the benefit of scores of the poor, who have occasion to hold her name in grateful remembrance, were a distinguishing feature of her life. She was a devoted Christian, and her daily walk and conversation were an evidence that she lived the precepts of the Master whom she served. Though perfection is not expected in human conditions, it was as nearly as possible, perhaps, attained in Mrs. Tassie's case, and, in addition to a life full of benefaction and good influence, she leaves behind her an example whose following will make us all better.

One by one the heavy-laden
Sink beneath the noon-tide sun,
And the aged pilgrim welcomes
Evening shadows as they come.

One by one with sins forgiven,
May we stand upon the shore,
Till her gentle, tender spirit
Takes our hand and leads us o'er.

Funeral from the late residence, corner Antrim and Water streets, on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

THE ANNUAL ENNISMORE PICNIC WAS HELD YESTERDAY.

The Tara Grove the Scene of This Much Anticipated Event—A List of the Prize Winners.

The mammoth picnic to which the people of Ennismore have been looking forward for some time was held June 20th, on those beautiful grounds known as the Tara Grove, situated about a mile south of the Cross. The weather being favourable the the people of Ennismore turned out in large numbers, and, besides, buggies well-loaded with pleasure seekers came pouring in from Emily, Lindsay, Peterborough and other places.

During the afternoon a lively programme of sports was run off. The following is a list of the sports with a list of the prize winners:—

Standing Long Jump.—1, Cornelius O'Connor; 2, John Murphy.

Standing hop, step and jump.—1, John Murphy; 2, Cornelius O'Connor.

Running hop, step and jump.—1, John Murphy; 2, Michael Crowley.

Running long jump.—1, John Murphy; 2, Michael Crowley.

Putting light weight.—1, Richard Hixon; 2, Thomas Hixon.

Irish jig.—1, Joseph Meehan; 2, Walter O'Connor.

Potato race, for boys 12 years and under.—1, Joseph Galvin; 2, Ambrose Sullivan.

Potato race for boys under 16—1 William Cavanagh; 2, Frank Sullivan.

The prizes for the men's events were:—first prize, $1, second prize 50c.; for the boys' events, first prize, 50c., second prize, 25c.

In the evening a handsome cake was raffled for. It was won by Mr. W. J. Geary, his throw being the lucky one.

Special mention should be made of the kindness of Miss K. Rudkins, of Peterborough, who very generously donated a silk dress to be given to the largest family present on the grounds. The happiest family there after the prize was awarded was that of Mr. Jas. Scollard.

Throughout the afternoon and evening lively music was furnished for those who wished to enjoy themselves dancing.

About 8.30 o'clock the crowd dispersed, and all went home quite happy, and prepared to uphold the reputation that the people of Ennismore have of always making their picnics days of pleasure for all visitors.

Noticeable on the grounds during the afternoon were the Revs. Father Scollard, from Peterborough, Father Bretherton, Downeyville, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., Dr. McGrath, Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald and many others.

"Feed the Brute!"

Was the answer made by a dear little woman who had married a crusty old bachelor. She had been asked by some friends how she kept him in good humor—and there was a lot of force in her argument, for an appeal to a man's stomach never fails to bring him round. Pastry plays a great part in the everyday food and it must be made right or it had better not be made at all. You'll never go wrong in using

CANADIAN FORESTERS.

Excellent Reports Presented at the High Court Meeting at Hamilton—Remarkable Growth.

The High Court of Canada of the Canadian Order of Foresters is now holding its sixteenth annual meeting in the Royal Templar Hall, Hamilton.

The order is a purely Canadian Fraternal Benefit Society. It was instituted sixteen years ago, and has a remarkable record of development. Its growth has been steady, continuous and without interruption, until to-day it claims to be the most flourishing benefit society in the Dominion. Ten years ago it had attained to a membership of $4,000, and had a surplus of less than $7,000. To-day it has a membership of nearly 21,000 and a surplus in round figures of $400,000.

The principal business of the afternoon session was the presentation of officers' reports. Mr. C. E. Britton, of Gananoque, is the chief officer, and his report was a very able one. He spoke of the progress of the year as being very remarkable in view of the prevailing depression of trade, which bore down so heavily upon that class of the community to which an order of this kind mainly looked for accessions. To make a net gain of upwards of 2,000 members in such a year was a result to be profoundly thankful for. He referred also to the very low death rate, which only reached a point of 5.02.

THIS SATISFACTORY SHOWING,

he thought was due very largely to the careful work done by the medical examiners, but he took occasion to urge very strongly upon the local medical examiners the importance of great carefulness in the selection of risks. He drew attention to the investment of $100,000 with the Dominion Government and to the safe investment of the other funds of the society in chartered banks. Amongst his recommendations were: The adoption of a system of accident insurance, the adoption of a new ritual, and the conferring of the honours of Past High Chief Ranger upon members who served for three continuous years on the Executive Committee.

The report of the High Secretary, Mr. Thomas White, of Brantford, was a model document with respect to concise form and logical divisions. From it are gathered the following important items: The order entered the year just concluded with 18,641 members and closed with 20,791, a net increase of the year of 2,150 members. There were 61 new courts instituted during the year, 3,000 members were initiated and 940 dropped. Certificates were written for $3,414,000. There were 102 death claims for $105,647.10. The average death rate for the last ten years was as near as may be the same as the death rate for the past year, viz. 5.02. The High Secretary thought the history of the order enriched by the records of the past year ought to be a magnificent inspiration to the members and should of the Canadian people in the organization. The report showed that a large portion of the new business was done in Ontario, but of the 61 new new courts 7 were in Quebec, 4 in New Brunswick, 5 in Manitoba and 1 in British Columbia.

The High Treasurer, Mr. John Neelands, of Wingham, presented a very satisfactory report of the finances. The total new receipts of the year amounted to $175,944.12 in the benefit fund and $20,875.30 in the general fund. Of this amount no less than $13,371.21 was on interest account. The gross revenue of the year, including the surplus on hand amounted to $499,191,68. The death claims reduced this amount about $105,647.10, leaving a surplus on hand in the benefit fund of $393,544.58. In the general fund the expense account just about balanced the income, leaving a small margin of a couple of hundred dollars over after all accounts paid.

The first order of business was the selection of the place of meeting for 1896, and the favourite locations were Niagara Falls and Montreal. On a division Montreal was chosen.

THE NOMINATION OF OFFICERS

was an interesting order of business, and resulted in the election of a number by acclamation. Those so chosen were:—Thomas White, High Secretary, Brantford; John Neelands, High Treasurer, Wingham; U. M. Stanley, M.D., Chairman of the Medical Board, Brantford; R. C. Young, M.D., Associate of the Medical Board, Ridgetown; Rev. W. S. McTavish, Chaplain, St. George; Thomas W. Gibson, Auditor, Toronto.

NEWS NUGGETS

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—According to the almanac this is the longest day of the year.

—A meeting of the committee of the whole council has been called for this evening.

—There was a sharp decline in the price of wheat in Chicago yesterday, when the July option sold down from 74 to 71¾ cents and closed near the bottom price of the day. The reports from the Northwest were generally favourable.

—We have again reached that period of the year when the sun appears at its highest point in the heavens. The three last days of this week are the longest of the year, after which each succeeding day will bring less of sunlight.

—The Sunday school excursion to Jubilee Point, in connection with St. John's church and Mission, will come off on Wednesday, July 10th, per steamer City of Peterborough and Palace barge. Butcher's orchestra will enliven the trip, and those having charge predict a pleasant time for both adults and children.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Arrangements have just been completed for a grand union picnic for the Midland and Northern division employees, represented by Lindsay and Allandale stations. The date selected is Saturday, July 20th, and Orillia is the choice of the committee for a meeting place. A grand programme of sports and games is in course of preparation.

Mr. W. R. Callaway, district passenger agent of the C.P.R. at Toronto, has been promoted to the position of general passenger agent of the C.P.R. "Soo" line. His late position will be filled by Mr. Chas. A. McPherson, late district passenger agent at St. John, N.B. Mr. Callaway's many friends will be delighted to hear of his deserved advancement.

The northern timber trade is helping materially to make things lively on this division just now. Some years ago, before the Grand Trunk acquired the Northern R.R., all the forest produce from Huntsville and Gravenhurst was sent over that line to Toronto and there distributed to eastern and western points. Now all the square timber is shipped to Belleville; one crew brings the train to Lindsay, a run of 98 miles, where another crew is in waiting to take it on to the city on the bay.

Through Train to Toronto.

The Grand Trunk Railway Co. intend to issue a new time table to come into operation on the 24th inst., and the change to be made therein will affect the train service on the Grand Junction line. There is talk of putting on a through train from Belleville to Toronto, for the better accommodation of passengers travelling east and west, and in the event of this being done, it may be necessary to cancel one of the trains on the Grand Junction. Rumours of a train service of this kind have been set afloat several times during the past three or four years, but now we are informed there is a strong probability of it being accomplished. The new departure will prove saving of time and money to a host of passengers.

TALK WITH THE GRAYS IN A FLORIDA PRISON.

THEY DENY THE MURDER OF OLD DAVE SCOLLIE.

They Claim That the Fire Which Destroyed Their House Was Accidental, and Deny Positively That Scollie Was Killed—Gray Worked as a Section Hand.

Ocala, Marion County, Florida, June 21.—Thomas Gray and his wife, Hessie Gray, who were arrested in this county for the alleged murder of David Scollie in Otonabee Township, County of Peterboro, Ontario, are still in custody here, awaiting the arrival of an officer with the requisition papers.

Gray was arrested at Agnew Station last Thursday and lodged in the Marion County Jail. Sunday his wife was taken in custody.

Gray came to Marion County last July, his family following in August. He purchased a piece of land at Agnew Station, three miles west of Ocala, among a large colony of industrious and successful Italian fruit and vegetable growers. Gray embarked in the same business. He was getting his ground in good condition and had planted a number of acres of early vegetables, but the severe freeze of February last ruined everything, and being short of money he found employment as a track hand on the railroad and was working there when arrested.

Those who know Gray since his advent among us say he is a hard-working, industrious man, and can hardly believe he is guilty of the charge preferred against him. His arrest and the circumstances leading to it have created quite a sensation in this community.

Ocala has only a population of 3000, although the county seat, and some idea can therefore be had of the intense excitement that has been created by the arrest among the owners of the extensive orange groves, market gardens and cotton, sugar-cane and sweet potato farms in this neighborhood.

Your correspondent, who interviewed both Mr. and Mrs. Gray in the jail, got the following story:

At the time of the fire in which the house and Scollie were burned Gray was absent some 70 miles from home, so it cannot be said he set the premises on fire.

Mrs. Gray says that the glaring flames woke her up, and with difficulty she got out with her infant child, and the other children barely escaped asphyxiation, as her bedroom was filled to suffocation with smoke. As soon as she reached the yard she called their aged charge, David Scollie, but got no answer from him, and the poor old man was cremated. The fire took place at 2 o'clock in the morning. The prisoners say the house consumed was built by Thomas Gray and cost $600, and the insurance company paid him $550 for the building and his furniture. The coroner's jury acquitted them of the crime to burn the building for the purpose of cremating the old man, whose property they were to have at his death. This property, they said, was only worth $600.

Both assert their innocence, and say they are confident they can prove the same at their trial.

Mrs. Gray accuses her husband's brother, Richard, of instituting these charges, as she said that, while near neighbors, they never did get along well together. It is done for spite work, she alleges. She also said that Richard was jealous of her husband's success and always envied him what little prosperity he had.

When told that the most damaging evidence against her had been given by her own sister and not by her husband's brother, the woman flew into a terrible passion, and used anything but complimentary terms in regard to Mrs. McGregor.

The Sheriff told me yesterday that if Gray and his wife return to Canada their five children, three of whom are under 10 years of age, will have to be taken with them or provision made for their maintenance here. If this is not done Marion County will decline to surrender the prisoners.

The Grays have discharged their attorney and the application for their release on a writ of habeas corpus has been abandoned. The accused have no money to make a fight and say that they would not do so even if they had the means, as they are not at all afraid of the outcome of the trial.

COURT OF REVISION.

Two More Appeals Considered—The Court Meets Again This Evening.

At a meeting of the Court of Revision last evening there were present Messrs. Stone, (chairman), Best, Cahill and Mills.

Mr. D. W. Dumble appealed against the assessment on a lot west of George, n of McDonel, part 18. Judgment: Reduced from $600 to $400. Lots 14, 15 and 16, plan 52, assessment conformed. In the appeal against grounds attached to appellant's residence and lots in No. 4 Ward, judgement was reserved.

The Dickson Company also appealed against several properties. The flour mill occupied by McCargar & Dickson, assessment reduced from $10,000 to $8,000. Judgement reserved concerning the appeals of over assessment on the other properties.

The court adjourned to meet again at 7.30 this evening.

COIFFURES FOR SUMMER.

The Farting to be Succeeded by the Pompadour Style of Hairdressing.

Anything new in the art of hairdressing is of special interest to the woman who delight in change of any sort, and especially in arranging her hair according to the very latest mode regardless of the contour of her face and the becoming effect. All kinds and varieties of coiffures are continually replacing one another, and any style which distinguishes a woman from the prevailing fashion seems new simply because it is not in general use. And now the woman who would be indisputably stylish must dispense with the parting she has taken so much trouble to cultivate and adopt the later fashion of rolling the hair back from her forehead a la Pompadour, as her less conservative Parisian sisters have been doing for some time.

There is a certain fitness of things in the combination of Pompadour hair, fichus, wide collars and deep ruffs, and the parting must go, or the would-be up-to-date woman will be entirely out of the race. American women adopt a mode with great unanimity after they once approve and take it up, but they are slow to act on the first suggestion of change. The modern Pompadour is not so trying and severe in outline as the old, for the hair is first waved, not frizzed, all around the head, in deep soft waves, and a few short tendril-like curls are brought down on the forehead to make it becoming. The ideal coiffure is always the one which improves rather than detracts from the appearance, so it is wise to copy the French women again, and always modify the fashion to suit the individual.

Almost any mode of hairdressing is in order, from the high knot on the crown of the head to the ugly Bath bun worn by English women low in the neck, providing it has a touch of style in the arrangement. One thing noticeable in the latest coiffures is that more hair is worn and short curls are sometimes added to the knot in the back.

Fancy side combs have disappeared from the front and top of the head, and are more often worn at the back. When the parting is vastly becoming as it is to long and perfectly proportioned oval faces, the hair is waved loosely down over the ears or combed back to stand out well at the sides, and arranged in soft coils and loops at the back.

All sorts of devices are invented by the hairdressers to supply all the deficiences of nature, and furnish real curling locks that will not straighten out under the influence of sea air or betray their secret, and they have learned to conceal their art so cleverly that fringes of all kinds are purchased by women with abundant hair just for the comfort they afford when the atmosphere is moist. Fringes are made to cover the head, so that the tiresome process of crimping the hair with hot irons is no longer necessary. Another ingenious arrangement supplies a few little careless curls to fall over the ears in the most natural manner.

Tortoise shell ornaments are to be worn more during the summer than the jewelled ones which have reigned through the winter.

Steamed Beef-Steak Pie.

Cut three-quarters of a pound of steak in small pieces and put it at the bottom of a stew pan together with a half pint of water, one carrot, one potato, two small onions, all sliced, salt and pepper to taste. Cover closely and let it simmer on the fire. Make a stiff dough with half a pound of floor, one level teaspoonsful of baking powder, and half a teaspoonful of salt, then add one-quarter of a pound of finely chopped suet. Mix the dough with water, roll it out the size of the stew pan, and put on top of meat and vegetables. Let it simmer two hours, then serve in a hot dish with the gravy.

No Interpreter.

"What's the matter with dinner, Jane?"

"It's the laundress' day out ma'am."

"What has that to do with it?"

A Useful Support for Tomatoes.

The illustration herewith shows a support for tomatoes that has several special advantages, for while it serves its purpose well as a support for both the upper and lower branches, these supports on either side are slightly inclined away from the row, causing the plant to spread out from its centre, thus letting the sun and air in to ripen the fruit within. With most tomato supports the plant, with its abundant leaves and many branches, is held together so that the fruit within is not only difficult to reach, but much of it decays because of want of air and sunlight. Light frames like those illustrated can be made of any length desired, and driven in beside the rows when the plants are beginning to throw out branches.

NO SUCH THING AS OLD AGE

To those who use South American Nervine

A Lady of 80 Years Permanently Cured by this Wonderful Medicine.

Three Doctors said "Old Age was Her Complaint" and Gave Her Up—Three Bottles of Nervine Gave Relief—Twelve Bottles Cured Absolutely.

MRS. JOHN DINWOODY, Flesherton, Ont.

Wordsworth speaks of "An old age serene and bright, and lovely as a Lapland night." And elsewhere this same writer talks of "An old age, beautiful and free." These are conditions that come to the man or woman, though their years may border close on to a century, when in the enjoyment of good health. In fact it is difficult to think of some of the old men and women on the stage of life to-day as old people, there seems to be such a perennial youthfulness about their every movement and act.

Does someone tell us that cases like this must be the exception and not the rule with those who have approached to or gone beyond the allotted three score years and ten? Not so, if they have become acquainted with the virtues contained in South American Nervine. Before us in this sketch is the picture of Mrs. John Dinwoody, of Flesherton, Ont., a resident of that town for forty years. No person in the town and country side around is perhaps better known than this lady, and none more highly esteemed. Three years ago it was her sad lot to loose a daughter who had been all the world to her. The shock sustained by this event completely broke up the system of Mrs. Dinwoody. She suppossed her end had come. She lingered for one year with three doctors, and they gave her case up, saying that it was one of old age and no one, nor any medicine could do her good. Made of the kind of stuff that gives beauty to age at any time she did not despair. She was influenced to try Nervine. She took three bottles, and this was sufficient to show her that her end was not yet. From these she obtained relief. She persevered, and in all took twelve bottles of the medicine, with the result that she is to-day completely cured of that breaking-up of the system that threatened her three years ago.

There is nothing wonderful in the fact that Mrs. Dinwoody would proclaim to the thousands of old people throughout this broad land, that with old age does not necessarily come decline, decrepitude and disease. Why should we not live into the eighties and nineties, and cross the border of the century?

South American Nervine, whether the person be young or old, gets at the nerve centers, and when they are kept in proper condition the system is as well able to withstand disease at eighty as at thirty. With this prospect in view who would not live to an old age and enjoy the pleasures of family, friends and society, and take a part in watching the marvelous progress and developments of these closing days of a wonderful century, which marks as not the least of its wonderful discoveries, the discovery of South American Nervine.

Mr. Jas. E. Nicholson, Florenceville, N. B., Struggles for Seven Long Years with CANCER ON THE LIP,

AND IS CURED BY

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Mr. Nicholson says: "I consulted doctors who prescribed for me, but to no purpose; the cancer began to spread to my chin, and I suffered in agony for seven long years. Finally, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In a week or two I noticed a Decided Improvement.

Encouraged by this result, I persevered, until in a month or so the sore under my chin began to heal. In three months my lip began to heal, and, after using the Sarsaparilla for six months, the last trace of the cancer disappeared."

JUDGE DESNOYER'S PROTEST.

His Objections to the "Humiliating Insinuations" of Sir C. H. Tupper.

Montreal, June 20.—The following is the text of Judge Resnoyers' letter of protest to the Minister of Justice in connection with the latter's remarks on the St. Louis case:

If the reports of the public press are true, you have lately qualified my decision in the St. Louis matter as a "miscarriage of justice." Such a term involves in itself a slur on the administration of justice in Montreal, and also upon myself, which I cannot help resenting. Whilst I am always ready to submit to any honest criticism of my actions as a public functionary, I feel it is my right to protest against any humiliating insinuation, which such terms or any similar terms may involve, whether it comes from the Minister of Justice, the natural protector of tribunals and judges of the country, or from any other individual. I have no other way of defending myself against such unfair attacks but this protest, and I take the liberty of using it. I may add that such remarks on the part of the Minister of Justice who has probably not read the evidence and certainly not seen the witnesses cannot but have the most demoralizing effect upon the administration of justice. I remain, sir, yours respectfully, M. C. Desnoyers, J.S.P.

In the discussion on the case in the House on June 6, Sir Charles used these words: "It could noth ave been anticipated, it was not anticipated by the law officers of the Crown, that such an unfortunate miscarriage of justice would take place in Montreal."

In the same debate Mr. Laurier said: "The hon. gentleman says there was a miscarriage of justice, and I must say for my part I would not have come to the conclusion that the magistrate came to."

The annual meetingo fthe Merchants' Bank of Canada is always looked forward to with interest, and in his address to-day General Manager George Hague said that the outlook for Canada was bright, and he regretted that Newfoundland had not come into the Union and thus enjoy the splendid banking system of the Dominion.

Lieutenant-Governor Chapleau, in company with Rabbi Veidt, visited the Baron Hirsch Institute to-day, and was cordialy received.

Abe Orpen's pool-room in Craig-street was raided to-day, and the proprietor taken to the police station. Abe, however, was liberated soon after on personal bail, and his frinds claim that he went back at once to business, only missing one race.

The only thing that came out to-day in the inquest in the Mrs. Demers murder case was the fact that the doctor reported that no food was found in the victim's stomach, leaving it to be inferred that the crime might have been committed earlier than at first supposed.

There is a big sensation in French circles over an insult which the friends of Mr. Louis Frechette allege has been offered the famous Canadian poet just named. There is a literary society in this city known as the "National Alliance," and its members meet quite frequently to hear lectures from eminent litterateur. A lecture had been announced from Dr. Louis Frechette and in the meantime a hall had been secured from the parish priest of St. Joseph, Richmond-street. It will be remembered that the poet has had several bouts of late with different members of the French clergy regarding educational and other matters, and consequently is not in an odor of sanctity among the cloth generally. Rev. Mr. Leclerie, the cure in question, countermanded his offer of the hall as soon as he learned who the lecturer was to be, hence the sow in the literary camp. It is said that an action will follow, and all sorts of threats are indulged in.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell. 25c, 50c, and $1.00. Sold by John Nugent, 359 George Street.

CENTRAL AMERICAN UNION.

Costa Rica Holds Aloof—The Presidents Now in Conference.

Washington, June 18.—If it be true, as reported, that the Presidents of Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua are now meeting at Amalapa, Honduras, to consider the better plan of securing a union of the Central American States, such a result, it is predicted by the diplomatic representatives of the States, will not be long delayed. It is significant that the President of Costa Rica is not in attendance. Costa Rica is said to be the only member of the quintet of States in which the union sentiment does not dominate. The four States just mentioned are Liberal politically, while in Costa Rica the Clerical and Conservative element hold the reins of power, and these strongly oppose any suggestion of an amalgamation of the several Republics. The Presidents of Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, and Nicaragua are all young and progressive men. Zelaya of Nicaragua is 45 years of age, Gutterres of Salvador 48, and Bonilla of Honduras, and Barrios of Guatemala are each 40 years old. In Central America the party in power, particularly, the presidents, wield an enormous influence in matters of domestic and foreign policy, and as the administrations of all the Central American States, except Costa Rica, regard a union as vitally necessary to their interests, the impetus which they will give to the movement can hardly be overestimated. So far as Costa Rica is concerned, the union will, it is said, be formed without any reference to her wishes. If Costa Rica shall decide to become a member of the Federation her co-operation will be gladly welcomed, but her disinclination to join with the other States, it is claimed, will not have any adverse effect upon their action.

REV. MR. WYE ASKS DAMAGES.

Several Slander Suits Entered by the Clergyman's Solicitors.

London, Ont., June 19.—Messrs. Marsh & Marsh of this city, as solicitors for Rev. G. W. Wye of Amherstburg, have instituted suits for damages against R. Golden, W. S. Falls and J. A. Pattan, Amherstburg; Jasper Golden, Kingsville; V. Crouyn, London; A. H. Dymond Brantford, and Rev. A. W. Young, Simcoe. Wye was at one time pastor of the Episcopal Church, Amherstburg, and got on bad terms with some of the congregation. After a fight extending over years, Wye was ousted, and now seeks redress in the courts.

FOUGHT ON THE FLOOR OF THE HOUSE.

Lively Scene in the Italian Parliament—Socialistic Radicals Precipitate a Row.

Rome, June 20.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day, during the debate on the address in reply to the King's speech, a Radical deputy spoke in favor of amnesty to political and other offenders, whereupon Premier Crispi declared that the Government would propose that the King's mercy should extend to peasants and others who had been misled, but certainly not to the leaders of revolt. The utterance was vociferously applauded by the majority. Crispi was interrupted by cries of all sorts from the Radicals. Some members of the majority reproached the Radicals for their conduct and for a time there was a violent exchange of invectives. A number of deputies descended to the centre of the Chamber, which soon became packed. A struggle followed, in which there were many blows struck, and the sitting had to be suspended. The President ordered the galleries cleared. A deafening uproar followed, which was continued for 15 minutes. Finally order was restored and the sitting resumed. The President severely rebuked the disorderly deputies. The address was carried by a large majority.

DRANK DOG BLOOD.

Wasn't Nice, But Kept the Castaways Alive Until Rescued.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 19.—One of the survivors of the wrecked sloop Crest, who returned yesterday from San Clement's Islands, tells of the sufferings of himself and companions. After being struck by the storm the sloop drifted around for several days. The water and provisions giving out, they killed a dog and drank his blood, which kept them alive till the shore was reached.

One of the party went crazy from thirst before the camp of the hunters on the mainland was gained. Here they were fed and cared for, and after several days' rest were sent to San Pedro on a sloop.

Mishap to Mr. Willoughby, M.L.A.

Colborne, Ont., June 19.—While Dr. Willoughby, M.L.A., was getting in his rig in Percy-street, Colborne, this morning, his horse started up, throwing the doctor over the wheel, breaking one bone in the arm and dislocating his wrist.

ITS VALUE PROVED.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys, through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been of not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

Consumption Was Feared.

DEAR SIRS,—Over three years ago I was troubled with a nasty cough and really thought I would go into consumption. A friend advised me to try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and one bottle gave me great relief. After taking four bottles I can truthfully say I have never had a cough since. MARY SHINGLES, Wallaceburg, Ont.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal. says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold y John Nugent, 359 George Street.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs colds, asthma, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

Don't Reduce the Food.

No farmer ever practiced economy by reducing the food if his object was to secure quick returns. The best animals are those that have good appetites and eat heavy meals, having also good digestion. If they are making rapid increase they need all the food they will eat, and should have it. The fact that an animal is a light feeder is no recommendation.

Byron used a great deal of hairdressing, but was very particular to have only the best to be found in the market. If Ayer's Hair Vigor had been obtainable then, doubtless he would have tested its merits, as so many distinguished and fashionable people are doing now-a-days.

A Boon and a Blessing.

A boon and a blessing to mankind is Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the great pain destroyer and and healing remedy for external and internal use. Yellow Oil cures all aches and pains, rheumatism, lame back, sore throat, croup, deafness, cramps, contracted cords and lameness.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSTON.

"SUN" LIFE

Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

A METHODIST "EXHORTATION" TO BOB INGERSOLL.

Chaplain C. C. McCabe, a Methodist minister, passing through Dover, Maine, the other day on his way to the East Maine Conference, observed it announced by poster that Robert Ingersoll was to lecture that evening. He immediately sat down and wrote the following big-hearted, benevolent letter to the noted agnostic, addressing him as "Dear Colonel":—"While you have been lecturing against the Bible, the Methodists have built ten thousand new churches in this country. All other denominations have built ten thousand more at least. Meanwhile, you have not overthrown the humblest altar upon the farthest frontiers of this republic. In thirty years the Methodist Episcopal Church has increased its membership from nine hundred thousand to twenty-eight hundred thousand, and her church and school property has increased one hundred and twenty-five millions of dollars. Never were we so successful as now. In heathen lands orphanages and hospitals and asylums for children, for the sick, for the aged and the insane spring up like magic. Thirty five years ago we had but one convert in all the heathen world. Now we have one hundred and thirty-five thousand converts in foreign lands, and they give over three hundred thousand dollars a year to propagate the faith. Come and join the Methodists, Robert! Stranger things than that have happened. Saul of Tarsus joined the Christians. He built up the faith he sought so vainly to destroy. Come and do the same. We are praying for your conversion. Take your Bible, read the Sermon on the Mount, think what a world this would be if its teachings were universally obeyed. Meantime, look after your hammer. The seal of the Huguenots had on it a representation of an anvil surrounded by broken hammers and this legend:

"Hammer away, ye hostile bands;
Your hammers break,
God's anvil stands."

ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Important Changes in the Law—Inspector Johnston's District Greatly Extended.

(Belleville Intelligencer.)

During the session of the Dominion Parliament of 1894 an Act was passed for the inspection of electric light, its provisions being somewhat similar to the gas inspection Act.

It requires electric light companies to provide electrical energy of a certain voltage; to maintain their lines, fittings and apparatus in a condition fit to supply the needed energy; prohibits their using any meter until it has been inspected and and stamped; requires these meters to be re-inspected every five years; provides the infliction of heavy penalties upon anyone "who maliciously or fraudulently abstracts, causes to be wasted or diverted, consumes or uses any electricity;" determines the kind of meters that may be used and the kinds of apparatus that are to be supplied to make tests. His Excellency in Council has now put the act in force, has prescribed the geographical boundaries of each Inspectoral Division and appointed the divisional officers. Under these Orders in Council this province is divided into five divisions, viz., Belleville, Hamilton, London, Ottawa and Toronto.

The Belleville Division comprises the Inland Revenue Divisions of Belleville, Kingston, Prescott, Cornwall and Peterborough, embracing the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward, Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, Leeds and Grenville, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott, Stormont, Northumberland, Durham, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton. At each chief office for the divisions elaborate testing apparatus will be provided, and portable instruments for inspection at other points.

Mr. Wm. Johnston has been appointed the Divisional Inspector for the district.

Cleveland for Third Term.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—The possibility of his party uniting on Mr. Cleveland for third term attracts increased attention here, and his nomination, despitt its exceptional character, is not an impossibility. Reciprocal trade relations with Canada and the admission into the United States free of duty of that celebrated Canadian product, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, on account of its painless action and certainty, would be a plank in his platform. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sure! safe! painless!

THE PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

DEBATE ON MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION, YESTERDAY.

Spirited Debate Between Educational Leaders—Conclusion of a Discussion Lasting for Two Days.

Well has the General Assembly vindicated its right to respect as a deliberative body of rare power and balance. Seldom has a better debate been held upon the vexed Manitoba schools question than that of yesterday and to-day, and while at one moment a feeling appeared in the ranks of the Assembly that is seldom seen in it, yet the conflict of opinions was most happily calmed by the various proposed resolutions before the house, some four or five in number, being referred to a committee which succeeded in arriving at a declaration of principles in which all sides could join. The achievement was a noble one, and the reconciliation was all the more creditable in view of the keen and acute debate to which it was the conclusion. It was to a curious extent a battle of the leaders of the educational institutions, the Principals and heads of Queen's University, Knox College and the Presbyterian Colleges of Montreal, Halifax and Winnipeg, taking the main parts in the struggle. The document which was finally adopted by the Assembly appealed to all as a firm and adequate representation of the facts of the case and the attitude of the Presbyterian church was read as follows:

THE RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

"The General Assembly, having had its attention called to the difficulties which have arisen in the Province of Manitoba in connection with the matter of public education, resolves: (1) That it belongs to the State to see that the people receive such a measure of education as shall qualify them for the ordinary duties of citizenship. (2) Whilst the duty of giving definite and detailed religious teaching must rest above all on the parent and the church, yet the system of public instruction should be based upon and prevaded by the principles of Christianity, and should give distinct place to the reading of the Scriptures and prayer. (3) The General Assembly does not regard the system of Separate Schools with favour, and is strongly opposed to the extension of this system in Canada. The Assembly would therefore deplore any attempt to interfere with the freedom of Manitoba in determining and regulating its own educational affairs. Such a course, in the judgment of the Assembly, could result only in evil, and is not, we believe, demanded by any supposed compact between the Province and the Dominion, or between different classes of people in the Province itself. (4) The General Assembly hopes that this view will prevail with the authorities of the Dominion, and would rejoice should conference between the Province and the Dominion lead to a proper and harmonious adjustment in accordance with the view above expressed."

An incident of some importance was Rev. Dr. Warden's announcement that he will

to finally make up his mind whether to accept or decline the general agency of the church. Arrangements were made whereby the business of the church will not suffer.

The first business of importance in the morning was the reception of Dr. Warden's reply to the offer of the general agency of the church. After an acknowledgment of the compliment paid him by the Assembly and a statement that the position had been unsolicited, and that if he had been present he would have withdrawn when another name came before the Assembly, Dr. Warden said that he would ask time for consideration. He had been nineteen years in Montreal, and had been treated with more than confidence by his brethren there, and it would not be proper for him to decide on so important a subject without consulting them. Dr. Reid was going to remain till the end of the current year, and this would give time; with the co-operation of Dr. Reid, no interest of the church would suffer.

After a little discussion, in which the strong feeling of the Montreal section of the church that the Doctor's removal would imperil the interests of the church there, this proposition was accepted.

FISHING LICENSES.

Departmental Concessions to American Piscatorial Sportsmen.

The regulations this year are to be the same as during the latter part of last year. Mr. W. J. McLean, M.P., having been on the Niagara River interviewed the Minister this week, who stated that a liberal interpretation would be put upon the regulations, and, provided American visitors were domiciled in Canada, and engaged Canadian boats or boatmen, they would be allowed to fish in Canadian waters without a license. Mr. Costigan's only desire is to protect the interests of our people. To register at a hotel, or to be camped in Canada, came within the meaning of domiciling in this country. Those regulations apply more particularly to the frontier waters, and are intended to stop the summer people staying on the south shore making use of our waters, or bringing guides from the other side.

ROD AND LINE.

The Lakefield News says.—Messrs. F. J. Bell, J. S. Madill, and Mr. Routely, of Peterborough, went on a fishing expedition on Monday last to Sandy Point. The paddling was good, the water was fair, the sun was hot and the fishing was poor.

For the benefit of those not knowing the rules under which they are allowed to fish in the waters of this vicinity, the following regulations are published:

Fishing with nets or any other apparatus without license is prohibited.

Explosives—The use of firearms or explosive materials to catch, shoot or kill fish is prohibited.

Snares—The use of snares of any kind for the purpose of catching or killing fish is prohibited.

Complainants shall receive one half of the fines imposed, and be paid for their costs and attendance as witnesses.

Any person guilty of violating these regulations is liable to a fine and costs, or in default of payment is subject to imprisonment.

No person, other than a British subject, unless temporarily domiciled and employing Canadian boats and boatmen, shall angle for, fish off or take any bass, maskinonge, pike, perch (pickerel) or trout in Canadian waters, without having first obtained therefor an angler's permit, issued by the local fishery officer in each district, under the authority of the Minister of Marine and fisheries.

No bass, or pike, perch (pickerel) shall be retained or kept out of the water which shall measure less than ten inches in length, and no trout shall be retained or kept out of the water under six inches in length, but every person who takes or catches any of the fish mentioned, of a less size than the minimum measurement named, shall immediately return such undersized fish to the water from which they were taken, and shall, if possible, liberate such fish alive.

CRICKET.

The local cricketers who will go to Port Hope to-morrow to try and retrieve the Peterborough laurels at Trinity College School will be Vernon McGill, Hal. Burnham, Walter Stocker, Mac Possette, Court Poussette, Lionel King, Hal Lewis, Alf. Terrill, Edmunds, N. St. C. Gurd and John Comstock.

Trinity University defeated the Ottawa cricketers, Wadsworth of Trinity taking eight wickets for the remarkably small score of eight runs. Perry Goldsmith carried his bat for a score of 40.

One Fact Counts

For more than a thousand insinuations, especially if the insinuations are inspired by jealousy and defeat.

It is an ADMITTED FACT that Fairweather & Co. ARE the leaders in the Hat trade in Peterborough and Lindsay. The manufacturer recognize this as fully as do our numerous patrons and "side line" competitors; and therefore do not think of offering us the off-scourings—the "rag-tag and bobtail" or commonly called "seconds" of their stocks "at any price." These are disposed of to the general country merchants and clothing houses. It would not suit our trade. We must have the most correct styles and qualities.

"We got them"! Straw Hat samples! 1100 of them to clear. Worth from

$1.00 to $2.00, our price 75c.
75c to $1.00, our price 50c.
35c to 50c, our price 25c.

"A good name is better than riches," even if it be only in a Stiff Hat, and especially if you control it.

Christy & Co. of London, England, are admitted to be the best makers of Stiff Hats the world over. No other house in Peterborough have their goods, as we are their SOLE agents here. The name "Christy Hat" is given by people, who do not know the difference, to a Stiff Hat of any kind, but this is a misnomer, and only goes to show how much the ordinary clothier knows about the hat trade.

Our prices for genuine Christy & Co's Hats are 99c, for all wool grades, and $1.99 for all fur qualities. This offer is made to clear.

The moral is: Come where you get the best Hats made by standard makers at the price of ordinary qualities. Do not be "bamboozled," but come to

They Came, They Bought,

As They Never Bought Before.

And still they come, and still they buy. Busy yesterday—busier to-morrow. We have had to "hustle," trying to get every customer served quickly and properly. Straw Hats, Summer Shirts, Summer Underwear, Summer Clothing, Summer Boots and Shoes and Summer Neckwear were most in demand. But we have the goods this season—as we always have—and we are selling at very close prices—as we always do. That's why we have your trade. We want your trade, and we know that the right way to get and keep it is to have a good variety of everything and to sell cheap—cheaper than anybody else.

Our Campaign.

Our Summer Campaign for business is carried on on business principles—keeping the best Clothing for the best money. We are just far enough away from Fakerville to consider living a pleasure. Merchants all over Canada are trying to figure out where we get goods to sell so cheap. Sometimes they club together and petition manufacturers not to sell us, and sometimes they swear the goods are not as represented, and sometimes they buy the goods to sell again.

Who do we buy from? Well, here are a few pretty solid names we can refer you to:—W. E. Sandfords, John Calder & Co, Laily Watsons, W. R. Johnson, McKena & Thomson, Small & Co, and from people who make specialties.

Success hasn't come by chance. This business has grown because you wanted it to. Your encouragement gave us the right to go ahead.

Men's Summer Clothing.

We have sold an immense quantity of Summer Clothing thus far. Come and see what we can sell you in Light Summer Coats and Cool Vests, Sporting, Camping and Vacation Suits, &c.

—200 Mens' Suits in Sack Tweeds, have been marked $8.45 and 9.50, but they have been knifed and five dollars takes any.
—Fine English unshrinkable flannel coats and vests, striped and checks, all sizes $3.
—Fine French Lustre Coats and Vests in stripes and plain effects, various shades $2.50.
—Fast black Lustre Coats, all sizes, silk finish $1.75.
—Blazer Coats 75c, $1, $1.50, $2.
—German Lustre Coat in black or grey, all shades $1.
—Men's White Duck Trousers. The sort American Tourists are all wearing. Two qualities $1.40 and $1.75. Shapely and swell.
—Men's White Duck and Pique Vests, pearl detachable buttons, all sizes 75 cents.
—10 doz. English Cashmere and Silk Fancy Vests, washable, mother-of-pearl detached Buttons, worth $1.50 for $1 each.

Boy's Summer Suits.

—Boys' Blazer Coats 75c.—a snap!
—Boys' Blouses made of American duck, all sizes, fast colours 35c.
—Boys' Tweed Pants 50 and 75c.

We like to talk Boy's Clothing to parents—especially to mothers. We like to draw their attention not only to our low prices, but we have something even more important,—namely, the style and finish and the strong wearing qualities of our Boy's Suits:—

—Boy's Washable Sailor Suits $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75.
—Boy's Tweed Suits $1.50, $1.75, $2. and $2.50.
—Boy's 3-piece Suits $3, $3.75 and $4.
—Youths' Suits $4.50, $5 and $5.50.

Straw Hats.

We welcome comparison. Does anybody know of a larger Hat Store in Canada than our's. Large and roomy enough to enable us to serve great crowds with ease. Our Hats are not all in the windows—they are on the ground floor—thousands to choose from at prices lower than ever. Light weight Felt Hats in very many shapes, just the Hat for present wear. Hats and Caps for touring or a Bicycle. Any kind you want for Boys or Children.

Like Mary Ann, we have "Followers," but imitation is sincerest flattery."

—Tourists, the correct thing, start at 60c.
—Fedoras, all fur-felt, as low as $1.
—Derbys, all colours, right shape $2.
—Stanley Hat, sole agents $2.50.
—Caps, Varsity, all colours 15c.

Inspection will show prices lower than can be had elsewhere. It will be so all the season. Take that for granted.

Cool Summer Shoes.

This is the season when you are looking for something light and cool in feotwear. A visit to our store will convince you at once that every care has been paid in the selection of our Oxford Shoes and Tan Boots.

—Russia Calf hand-made Shoe, razor toe, $1.50, instead of $2.

OUR CREDIT ABUSED

By Mr. Foster's Dealings With a Wild-Cat Railroad.

HE CONFESSES HE MADE AN ERROR

A Peculiar Financial Arrangement by Which Promoters of the Atlantic Road Claim to Have Their Bonds Guaranteed by the Government.

Ottawa, Ont., June 22.—One of the weakest thing that a Finance Minister of Canada has ever done was brought under discussion in the House yesterday afternoon. The Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway Co. is a wildcat scheme to run a railway from Gaspe to Lake Superior. No one has the least faith in the bona fides of the undertaking, and yet the Finance Minister has lent to its speculative promoters the credit of Canada's name as a guarantee of bonds, now being palmed off on the English investor. The plan is that the promoters will sell £500,000 of first mortgage bonds. They have the promise of the Government to become trustees for the deposit of £300,000 and allow 3 per cent. interest upon it. This amount and the accumulatde interest, it is calculated, will just be eaten up in the payment for twenty years of 4 per cent. interest upon the £500,000. At the end of that time the bondholders will have nothing.

Sir Richard Cartwright introduced the subject upon the motion to go into supply to-day. He wished more particularly to call the attention of the House to the statement of the Minister that the Government did not guarantee the interest on the bonds. At the same time it was perfectly certain that the promoters would endeavor to make the English investing public believe that the Government had examined the scheme, that they had guaranteed a certain part of the issue and that they would endeavor to float the whole four million on the strength of the guarantee of £500,000. Unless the road had been constructed to a sufficient extent to warrant the issue of £500,000 of first mortgage bonds the Government was in very great danger of being placed in a most invidious and awkward position in the eyes of the English investors should the loan be issued and placed on the English market and should it afterwards fare as a good many Canadian roads had fared. The Government was in considerable danger of injuring the credit of the country if the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway should prove to be an improvident undertaking.

Mr. Foster stated in reply that the Government did not intend to guarantee the scheme in any way. It was simply, as far as the Finance Department was concerned, looked at from the financial side. The arrangement that he had made was that if the company would deposit with the Government £300,000 the Government would allow it 3 p.c. interest and would pay the accumulated interest and principal to the coupon bondholders in respect of an issue of £500,000, a calculation having been made as to the amount to be deposited so that the principal deposited, and the interest which accumulated, would be sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds issued at 4 per cent. during the currency of the bonds. It was simply taking a loan on advantageous terms, but he could see that it was open inferentially to the objection Sir Richard Cartwright had taken. So far as he was concerned he had taken every means to put the exact state of affairs before the British public, and the facts were well-known on the market and had been for some time, but it was not a policy that the Government would adopt. It was a transaction that had taken place, but it was not a policy that would be laid down by him as Minister of Finance. If he agreed to accept the money under the same circumstances again in any other case, it would only be after the Government had ample assurances as to the bona fides of the project. He could quite see that investors who were not encouraant with the market might be led to a conclusion which was not altogether right, if the prospectuses were in any way flavored on account of the deposit being made and the interest paid in this way.

To that extent it was open to criticism. The discussion which followed this open confession of error by the Minister was participated in by Mr. Laurier, who said that the fact that this particular transaction was not to be construed as amounting to a policy was conclusive in the mind of the Minister that this transaction was not of a character to be generally favored.

Mr. Foster: Quite so.

The objection that Mr. Laurier took was that the investing public might be led into error by the fact that the Government had accepted a deposit from the company.

Mr. Foster said that the Government was in need of money. A temporary loan would cost 4 per cent., and if the deposit were made the money could be procured at 3 per cent. He looked upon it as a transaction that would be beneficial to Canada at the time. He had agreed to it and he would not go back on his agreement.

Mr. Casey expressed disapproval of the arrangement, as did Mr. Mills of Bothwell. The latter advised the Government to decline to receive the money, which as yet has not been paid.

Mr. Edgar questioned the authority under the charter of the company to pay out money for purposes other than construction.

Mr. Kenny of Halifax, the head of the of the large banks of the Maritime Provinces, and a supporter of the Government, agreed with the Opposition that the power of accepting loans of this kind might be very grossly abused, and if it fell into the hands of unscrupulous men might result in serious injury to the credit of Canada and Canadian securities. He therefore regarded this discussion as one of great importance.

Mr. Davies said the Atlantic and Superior Railway was a project to run a road from Gaspe to Lake Superior, and described it as a wildcat scheme into which no financial man of standing in Canada would invest a dollar except for some ulterior object. He submitted that the thing which the Finance Minister should have done was to look into the standing of the company, and this the Minister had not done, although he had indirectly lent it the countenance and endorsation of the Government.

Mr. Mulock feared that notwithstanding the Minister's statement that the Government was not liable for the bonds issued by the road, the fact still would remain that the money invested in England would be invested upon the credit of Canda. The color which would be given to the transaction would reflect most disastrously upon Canadian credit. He recalled the Chignecto Ship Railway and other enterprises in which the money of English investors had been lost by reason of the endorsation of the Canadian Government.

Mr. Edgar had looked up the company's charter and asked the Minister of Justice to point out, if he could, the clause under which the company could loan the Government £300,000.

Sir Hibbert Tupper said he had been interested in the discussion of the main question, but appealed to the Opposition that it would be scarcely fair at this juncture to hold a discussion on the powers of the company.

The subject was allowed to drop here but will come up again.

In view of the interest which is being taken in the school question, it may be well to give a synopsis of the draft measure which has been submitted to the Governor-in-Council by Mr. Ewart, Q.C., as embodying the wishes of the Roman Catholic minority of Manitoba for the restoring of their rights.

It provides that the Lieutenant-Governor shall appoint, to form and constitute the Separate School Board of Education for the Province of Manitoba, a certain number of persons, not exceeding nine, all of whom shall be Roman Catholics. Three are to retire at the end of each year, but may be eligible for re-election

The powers of the Provincial Department of Education are limited to (a.) Making from time to time such regulations as it may think fit for the general organization of Separate schools.

(b.) Making regulations for the registering and reporting of daily attendance at all Separate schools in the Province, subject to the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

(c) Making regulations for the calling of meetings from time to time of the Department, and prescribe the notices therefor to be given the members.

The duties of the Board of Education are defined as follows:

(a.) To have under its control and management Separate schools and make from time to time such regulations as may be deemed fit for their general government and discipline and carrying out of the provisions of this Act.

(b.) To arrange for the proper examination, grading and licenses of its teachers, the introduction of certificates obtained elsewhere, and for the withdrawing of license upon sufficient cause.

(c.) To select all the books, maps and globes to be used in the schools under its control, and to approve of the plans for the construction of school-houses.

It is provided, however, that books having reference to religion and morals shall not be at variance with Roman Catholic doctrine.

(d.) To appoint inspectors, who shall hold office during the pleasure of the board.

(e.) To make regulations regarding the selection of school sites, the size of school grounds and the formation and alteration of all school districts under its care.

(f.) To make and enforce regulations for the establishment and operation of departments in such of its schools as it may deem suitable for the preparation of candidates for the annual examination of teachers, and for matriculation at the University of Manitoba, and for the doing of general literary work corresponding to the standard required for these examinations, and to give special aid to such schools from the funds at its disposal, not exceeding in the aggregate one-twentieth of its appropriation, provided that no school shall be entitled to receive such special aid that does not comply fully with the regulations made by the Board for its operation. Provided, further, that each such department shall be established only with the consent of the local Board of School Trustees.

(g.) The board may, whenever they shall see fit, appoint and hold a meeting of such board in any part of the province, and such meeting shall be as valid as if held in the city of Winnipeg, which shall be the usual place of meeting of such boards or sections.

The foregoing powers, it will be observed, are entrusted to the Board of Education, not to the Provincial authorities, a very important difference. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council is authorized to appoint all the members of the board, to the Superintendent of Separate schools and Secretary of the Board. Several clauses relate to the formation of school districts, election of trustees, etc.

Clause 27 states that corporations situated in a locality where both Public and Separate school districts are established shall be assessed only for the school district of the majority yet out of such assessment the Council of the local municipality, city or town shall give to the school district of the minority a part of such assessment in proportion to the number of Catholics or non-Catholic children of school ages, as the case may be, according to the census.

Further clauses define what property shall be exempt from school taxation. One clause states that a non-Catholic ratepayer shal not be obliged to pay for a Catholic school, or a Catholic ratepayer for a non-Catholic school.

The last two clauses are as follows:

(122) All moneys which on the 30th day of April, 1890, were held by the Government of the Province of Manitoba for the use and benefit of the Roman Catholic section of the then Board of Education, shall be by the said Government held for the use and benefit of the Board of Education to be established under the provisions of this Act, and shall be applied and paid out for the same purposes and under the same conditions as are provided by this Act in respect of other moneys which may be held by the said Government for the use and benefit of Separate schools.

(123) In case of the establishment of any school district under the provisions of this Act with boundaries similar to those of any Roman Catholic school district, which was in existence on the 30th of April, 1890, and in case the property or assets of the Catholic school district have been transferred to or taken by any board of school trustees which has been in existence under or by virtue of the Acts relating to education and public schools since the 1st day of May, 1890, then and in every such case the property and assets shall be transferred and delivered up to the new board of trustees established under the provisions of this

HICCOUGHS END IN MURDER.

A Mexican Thought a Scotchman Was Mocking Him

Mexico City, June 21.— Edward Stevenson, a young Scotchman, 20 years old, son of a former director of the Real Del Monte Company, an English mining concern, was killed in a quarrel at Catoroe by Manuel Bustamente, the station master at Potrero.

The two men were supping together, and it is related that Bustamente, who had the hiccoughs, became annoyed at a similar symptom in his companion, whom he accused of mocking him. High words followed, and the two men went outside and fought.

Stevenson rapidly knocked his antagonist down. Bustamente then went inside the house, got his pistol, went out and shot Stevenson in the back.

The wounded man was left in the road for some time without medical assistance. A policeman finally took him to jail, but his friends were not permitted to see him until the next day, when he died.

The authorities are said to have been slow in arresting Bustamente. Stevenson was unarmed. The British Minister will request that the local authorities deal promptly with the case.

Murder and Suicide by a Station Agent

Philmont, N.Y., June 21.—A case of suicide and murder occurred here this forenoon, in which Harry Kroos and George Jacobi were the victims. Kroos was the agent of the Harlem road here, having filled the position for 23 years. Jacobi was his father-in-law and acted as the assistant agent. Kroos was about 43 years of age and Jacobi 62. Kroos killed Jacobi by shooting him twice in the back of the head, and then firing a bullet into his own head.

ANOTHER NEWFOUNDLAND ROW.

The Worst Party Feelings Again Being Stirred Up.

St. John's Nfld., June 21.—The Government is pushing forward public business, desiring to prorogue the Legislature by June 30.

At to-day's sitting, Mr. Johnston, member for Trinity, Premier Whiteway's law partner, will move that Justice Winters' judgments in the election cases tried last summer, which resulted in several Whitewayite members being unseated for corrupt practices, be expunged from the records of the House.

Mr. Winter was the leader of the Opposition before being elevated to the bench by Whiteway, and the Government accuses him of revenging himself for political differences when he obtained power as a judge. The proposal re-opens the acrimonious struggles of the last 12 months, and especially as it is not proposed to expunge the decisions of Justices Carter and Little, who also unseated several Whitewayites.

Cleveland for Third Term.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—The possibility of his party uniting on Mr. Cleveland for third term attracts increased attention here, and his nomination, despite its exceptional character, is not an impossibility. Reciprocal trade relations with Canada and the admission into the United States free of duty of that celebrated Canadian product, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, on account of its painless action and certainty, would be a plank in his platform. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor. Sure! safe! painless!

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

THE NINETY-THIRD ANNUAL MEETING.

A Large Attendance—Enthusiastic and and Earnest Delegates—Encouraging Reports of the State of all Church Interests—Interesting Resolutions Adopted—Gratitude for Hearty Hospitality.

THURSDAY.

Morning session opened with prayer and praise service at 9, led by Rev. S. S. Weaver.

Encouraging reports were then presented by the representatives of the various Young People's Societies.

At this juncture the chairman of a special committee reported that the committee suggested that this Association send two delegates to the annual International Convention of the B.Y.P.U. of America to be held in Baltimore on July 18-22, and that the delegates be Revs. P. K. Dayfoot and C. E. McLeod.

A paper on "What are Deacons for," prepared by Rev. Mr. Dayfoot, was then read by Mr. Pady. This was a live paper. It stated that deacons were:

1. To manage the temporalities of the church.
2. To form a permanent leadership.
3. To be the pastor's confidential advisers and right hand help.

After an interesting discussion it was moved, seconded and carried that this Association request the editor of the Canadian Baptist to publish this paper.

Rev. A. R. McDonald, B.A., then read a striking and practical paper on "The Relation of Work and Growth in the Christian Life." The speaker brought out the relationship as existing in nature, and then strongly emphasized with great earnestness the absolute need and importance of the Holy Spirit in developing a manly, robust and Christ-like life.

A devotional meeting led by Mr. C. H. Schutt, B.A., Cobourg, opened the afternoon session.

The Sunday school statistics were then presented and showed a satisfactory state of affairs, and a manifest increase in numbers, efficiency and spiritual blessing. Two profitable papers re. Sunday school work were then read.

1. The relation of the home to the Sunday school, by the Rev. J. A. Banton.
2. The relation of the church to the Sunday school, by Mr. J. M. Roberts, Selwyn.

Practical discussions followed the reading of these papers.

The Rev. J. P. McEwen, Superintendent of Home Missions, Rev. J. J. Baker, of Toronto, Rev. S. S. Bates, of Toronto, Chairman of the Foreign Mission Board, and Prof. Ernest Norman, B.A., of Grande Ligne, were then presented to the meeting.

Rev. J. J. Baker, of Toronto, made an eloquent stirring address on our Manitoba Missions. He referred to the intense critical state of affairs in that province re. the Separate School question and the Remedial Order lately issued by the Dominion Government.

A ringing resolution emphatically declaring the stand of the Baptists in maintaining that there should be "absolute separation between church and state" was then adopted by an unanimous vote of the Association.

The Rev. J. E. Trotter in presenting the report of the Canadian Baptist and publication Societies, was very glad to state that both departments showed a most gratifying increase.

He urged the delegates to bestir themselves to increase the circulation of our own denominational paper, The Canadian Baptist. He showed how the paper was absolutely necessary to intelligently appreciate the various branches of our work. He commendended it for its denominational news, its strong, helpful articles and its cheapness—the price having been reduced to $1.50.

Rev. J. P. McEwen, at the request of the Association, spoke for 15 minutes on the Manitoba work. He gave a masterly and earnest address, and having recently returned from a visit to those parts was able to speak with great feeling and startling accuracy. These are a few of the facts. He especially emphasized the vastness of the field.

Churches, 46, (37 English, 7 German, 1 Indian, 1 Scandinavian.

Forty-three churches dependent on aid from the Mission Board.

Preaching stations, 100.

Pastors, 30.

Fields vacant, 17.

Members added to the churchs during 1894, by baptism, 350; by letter and experience, 300.

SPECIAL OPENINGS.

1. Among the English speaking people in about every part of the country.
2. Among the 15,000 Icelanders, who are almost without Evangelical privileges, and among whom we have no missionary.
3. Among the 20,000 Scandinavians, to whom we have given but one missionary.
4. Among the 40,000 Mennonites and German speaking people, who are especially open to Baptist influences.
5. Among the 30,000 French and Half-breeds, who are almost entirely Romanists in religion.
6. Among the 50,000 Indians.

Deacon Graham then gave a brief history of the church and its founder, the Rev. John Gilmour.

The resolution of the committee gratefully expressing the sincere and appreciative thanks of the delegates to the members of the Gilmour Memorial church for their exceeding kindness, liberality sacrifices, was then presented and after many testimonies of warm appreciation had been expressed, was heartily adopted. Special mention was made of the Rev. C. E. McLeod, the pastor, for his unceasing care and watchfulness for the interest of the delegates.

When we remember that the association met in a country church, that trains had to be met, entertainment provided at the church, etc., and all this in addition to the usual busy daily routine of farm work it will be readily seen that the delegates had great reason to be thankful, a fact they most heartily appreciated.

The platform meeting in the evening was a great success and was greatly enjoyed.

Rev. J. P. McEwen spoke on Home Missions, specially emphasizing new centres now opening up.

Prof. Norman was perfectly at home when speaking on the work at Grande Ligne. He made the convention feel deeply grateful for the noble records of the past year, both of the college and missionaries.

The Rev. Mr. S. S. Bates, the last speaker, roused the meeting to great enthusiasm in his address on Foreign Missions. As Chairman of the Board he was able to feelingly describe the hand of God in the work of the past year. Gratefully he spoke of the removal of all indebtedness and the hope that this year two new missionaries might be sent.

After another expression of gratitude and good will to the church members, choir, etc., for their exceeding kindness, the doxology was sung, the benediction pronounced by the Rev. J. P. McEwen, and thus ended one of the most pleasing and successful conventions ever held by this association.

THE KAISER LAID THE KEYSTONE.

Christened It the "Kaiser Wilhelm" in Honor of Emperor William.

Kiel, June 22.—Everybody was stirring at an early hour yesterday securing places of vantage to see the ceremony of laying the keystone of the canal at Holtenau.

At 11 o'clock shouts of "Der Kaiser Kommt!" arose. The Emperor, whose arrival was the signal of deafening cheers, was in admiral's uniform, and took a standing position before the dais. Chancellor Hohenlohe asked the Imperial assent to commence the proceedings, and then read a document relating to the ceremony, after which the Kaiser approached and tapped the stone with a mallet. The stone also received blows from the royal princes present, from the members of the Bundesrath and Ministers of State.

The Emperor, in laying the keystone, said: "In memory of Emperor William the Great, I christen this canal, the Kaiser Wilhelm Canal." His Majesty then tapped the stone thrice, continuing, "I, in the name of God, in honor of the Emperor William I, for the weal of Germany and the welfare of nations."

The stone being laid the Kaiser returned to his place on the dais, and at the conclusion of the ceremonies at the keystone the Emperor went on board the Hohensollern, where he took luncheon. Salutes to His Majesty were fired by several of the warships in the Bay.

MONTREAL'S SLOW POLICE.

Took a Week to Act on a Clue to a Murder.

Montreal, June 21.—About the time that the report became current that Mrs. Demers had been murdered in St. Henri, the station agent went to the chief of police and reported that a married man named Vesineau had left for the west by the 1.30 p.m. train, and that he had acted in a very strange and excited manner. The police thought the clue was worth following, but nothing was done until to-day (a week after the crime), when the Crown took steps to have a search made for the man in question.

Vesineau bought a second-class ticket for Toronto. His brother claims he accompanied him to the depot, yet he did not ask Vesineau where he was going.

FORGER HOWARD SENTENCED.

Sent Down for Ten Years With Hard Labor

London, June 22.—Mendal Howard, the American who was arrested on April 30 for having in his possession a quantity of engraved plates and other material for forging notes, was to-day found guilty of forgery and sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment with hard labor.

Trade Brisk. Improvement Sentimental.

New York, June 22.—Bradstreet's says: "In the Province of Ontario general trade is quite active and prospects satisfactory. In the Province of Quebec business is slightly smaller in volume. Actual improvement is declared to be, thus far, sentimental. In New Brunswick and Nova Scotia crop conditions are fair, notwithstanding the dry weather, but in Newfoundland affairs are still very unsettled, and the outlook is not encouraging. The trade report from Quebec city is rather more favorable than that from Montreal. Bank clearings at Winnipeg, Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax amount to $22,332,000 this week, a falling off of only 1.5 per cent. from last week, but an increase of about 30 per cent. over the third week of June, 1894, and about 22 per cent. larger each than in like weeks of 1893 and '92. There are 30 business failures reported from Canada this week, against 21 last week, 24 in the week one year ago, 20 two years ago and 26 three years ago.

Medals for Sailors Abstainers.

London, June 22.—A grand international demonstration was held last night by the W.C.T.U. in the Albert Hall, Lady Somerset presiding. It is estimated that 10,000 persons were present. A bodyguard of sailors of the navy, proteges of Miss Agnes Weston, national worker among the sailors, escorted speakers to the platform. Lady Somerset's address was enthusiastically received. Miss Weston followed, the seamen standing during her remarks. Upon the conclusion of Miss Weston's speech several of the sailors had medals conferred upon them in recognition of their many years' abstinence from intoxicating liquors.

One Fact Counts

For more than a thousand insinuations, especially if the insinuations are inspired by jealousy and defeat.

It is an ADMITTED FACT that Fairweather & Co. ARE the leaders in the Hat trade in Peterborough and Lindsay. The manufacturer recognize this as fully as do our numerous patrons and "side line" competitors; and therefore do not think of offering us the off-scourings—the "rag-tag and bobtail" or commonly called "seconds" of their stocks "at any price." These are disposed of to the general country merchants and clothing houses. It would not suit our trade. We must have the most correct styles and qualities.

"We got them"! Straw Hat samples! 1100 of them to clear. Worth from

$1.00 to $2.00, our price 75c.
75c to $1.00, our price 50c.
35c to 50c, our price 25c.

"A good name is better than riches," even if it be only in a Stiff Hat, and especially if you control it.

Christy & Co. of London, England, are admitted to be the best makers of Stiff Hats the world over. No other house in Peterborough have their goods, as we are their SOLE agents here. The name "Christy Hat" is given by people, who do not know the difference, to a Stiff Hat of any kind, but this is a misnomer, and only goes to show how much the ordinary clothier knows about the hat trade.

Our prices for genuine Christy & Co's Hats are 99c, for all wool grades, and $1.99 for all fur qualities. This offer is made to clear.

The moral is: Come where you get the best Hats made by standard makers at the price of ordinary qualities. Do not be "bamboozled," but come to

"IT WELL DESERVES ITS FAME."

So Says Mr. Clair H. Sisson, of Carnavon, Ont., who was cured by Paine's Celery Compound.

THE MEDICINE THAT ALWAYS MAKES SICK PEOPLE WELL.

In literature, art, music, law and statesmanship, the world has seen but few giants of towering intellect. The same may be said about the profession of medicine, that noble science that aims at assuaging pain, banishing disease and saving precious human life.

Amongst the few noble medical men that have left grand records and imperishable names and memories, Professor Edward E. Phelps, M. D., L. L. D., will always stand high, and rank with the mightiest benefactors that men haver ever seen or heard of.

Prof. Phelps' grand discovery, Paine's Celery Compound, has done more for the sick and afflicted than any other medicine that human skill and science ever devised. Countless thousands of men and women on this North American continent owe their lives and present good health to that wonderful curing medicine that Prof. Phelps gave to suffering humanity.

To-day, thousands are lifting themselves from the pains and miseries of nervous diseases, rheumatism, dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and kidney troubles, headaches, sleeplessness, and impure and poisoned blood, by the curing and recreating virtues and power of Paine's Celery Compound.

Mr. Clair H. Sisson, of Carnarvon, Ont., who was so satisfactorily cured by Paine's Celery Compound, after failure with all ordinary means, desires to contribute his quota of praise to a medicine, which, he declares, well deserves its fame. Mr. Sisson says:

"Some time ago, I had a severe attack of Grippe, and I did not recover from the effects of the disease. Later on, the disease attacked me with double force, so that I was unable to work. Previous to this, I was doctoring for catarrh and heart trouble, but received no benefit from the treatment I got.

"One day, in my mail, I received a book, "The Dominion Album," which was devoted to the interests of Paine's Celery Compound. After reading many testimonials, I concluded it was the medicine for me, and I sent and purchased three bottles. After using one bottle, I was much relieved, and when I had finished the other two, I was more like my former self. Now, I have no symptoms of catarrh or heart trouble.

"Your Paine's Celery Compound well deserves the fame that the many testimonials have given it. Yours is the most wonderful and best medicine of the age, and almost as palatable as milk. I shall consider it my duty to speak of its merits wherever I go."

CAMBRIDGE RESIGNS

His Position as Commander of the Forces.

GENERAL REGRET IN THE COMMONS

His Successor Will be Selected by a Council of Officers—The Government Meets a Reverse in Committee on the Estimates.

London, June 22.—The Government was defeated in the Commons this evening by a vote of 132 to 125 on a division on the motion of Mr. Broderick, Conservative, to reduce the estimates in order to enquire into the matter of supply of small arms and ammunition.

In announcing the coming retirement of the Duke of Cambridge as Commander-in-Chief, Mr. Bannerman said: "At the close of the financial year His Royal Highness, the Duke of Cambridge will relinquish the position of Chief in command of the British forces which he has held so long. He has devoted his whole life to the service and has identified himself with the army. It is hardly possible that any one engaged in the civil administration of the army can make this announcement without feelings of emotion. We can look back with admiration and gratitude upon his long career which has been distinguished by consistent zeal and marked by marvelous improvement in the army. His resignation has imposed upon the Government a serious task. The Duke of Cambridge cannot be succeeded by any officer who combines such large and varied powers and abilities."

The Government, he said, would accept and proceed in the premises upon the principle of the Duke of Devonshire's scheme of an Army Commission embodying a plan whereby the Secretary of State for War would be advised by a deliberative council composed of experienced officers. (Cries of hear, hear.)

Mr. Balfour said the House must all feel that the severance of the Duke of Cambridge's connection with the army was an event which must move the country for the moment, but they must exclude this feeling from their consideration of practical questions, which could not be long deferred. It was certain, however, that they would never find any man who would inspire greater affection in the army or who would be animated by any higher sense of his public duty as well as his duty to the Queen and to Parliament.

Mr. Campbell-Bannerman further said that the appointment of Commander-in-Chief of the Army would be maintained, but his functions would be greatly modified. He would be subject to the ordinary rules affecting staff officers and his office would be tenable for a period of 10 years, which would be capable of extension if desirable. The Commander-in-Chief would be the principal military adviser of the Secretary of State for War, whose council would consist of five general officers.

During the debate on the war estimates, the Hon. William St. John Brodrick, Conservative member for the Guildford division of Surrey, asked for certain information in regard to the present supply of small arms and ammunition.

Mr. Campbell-Bannerman said that the estimates comprehended enough to meet the current needs.

Mr. Broderick was not satisfied with this answer, and moved a reduction of the vote for such supply.

A short and sharp discussion of the motion ensued, after which a division was taken, and the Government was defeated by a vote of 132 to 125.

The defeat of the Government on the question of the estimates was received with a deafening volley of Conservative cheers.

Mr. Campbell-Bannerman immediately moved that the committee report progress on the estimates, which was agreed to.

Mr. Balfour asked if the Government proposed to take up further business this evening.

After some discussion, it was agreed to proceed with the Naval Works bill.

After the House had again calmed down to business the lobbies were crowded with members discussing the situation. The consensus of opinion among the Liberals was that the Government ought not to take the extreme step of dissolving Parliament on its defeat in such a minor matter.

A Conservative whip, replying to charges that it was a trick division, denied that there was any strategem. He added that the Government's defeat was the legitimate complement of a series of incidents conected with the War Office mismanagement.

Several Liberals, including Sir Charles Dilke, voted against the Government. In an interview, Sir Charles said he hoped the Government would take its defeat seriously. It might get out of the difficulty by putting back a vote for the Secretary of War's salary. Doubtless when this was proposed the House would agree to it.

BANNERMAN MAY RESIGN.

Because of the Reduction Made in the Estimates.

London, June 21.—A Cabinet Council has been summoned for to-morrow, Mr. Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War, will offer to resign because of the reduction by the House of Commons of the vote for a supply of small arms and ammunition, contained in the war estimates.

A section of the Liberals urge the Ministers to call a general party conference to consider the matter of dissolving Parliament.

The Daily News, the Liberal organ, says: "The news of the defeat of the Government is a very serious matter. It must be discussed from more than one point of view. Mr. Campbell-Bannerman's resignation cannot be accepted. If he resigns his colleagues will resign also. If the Ministers decide to continue in office, as they are quite entitled to do, the amendment to the war estimates must be rescinded and the vote restored."

The paper bitterly attacks Mr. Broderick and concludes: Foreigners will learn on the authority of the House of Commons that we have not sufficient gunpowder with which to defend ourselves from invasion. Only traitors would play a trick of this sort."

No Want of Confidence Motion Proposed.

London, June 21.—The Times and other papers deny the report that the Opposition leaders in the House of Commons have decided to move a resolution setting forth that the House has no confidence in the Ministry, and that Mr. Joseph Chamberlain has framed a resolution asking the Queen to dismiss the present Ministry and dissolve Parliament.

London, June 22.—The Daily Chronicle (Liberal) in comment on the defeat of the Government advocates a meeting of the party to decide whether the ministry shall resign.

The Times, the Tory organ, regards the vote as a well merited condemnation of the neglect and inefficiency of the War Office. It contends that the most proper course for the ministry is to resign. It adds: "There is absolutely nothing to be gained that a self-respecting politician can prize by ignominiously struggling to postpone any longer the inevitable dissolution of Parliament."

All the morning papers sympathize with Mr. Campbell-Bannerman, who is genuinely popular.

AN ILLINOIS SENSATION.

A Lady of Union County Recovers Her Health in a Marvellous Manner.

Anna, Illinois, June 17—A very interesting case of recovery from a very complicated form of kidney trouble has taken place here, and the details are gradually being made public. The sufferer was Miss M. T. Loomis, who for a long time has been a victim of severe pains in all parts of the body. She consulted a number of doctors and was treated for a great variety of complaints, the diagnosis all proving faulty. At length she determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, having read and heard much of their efficacy and found her expectations justified in a complete cure.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

A Lucky Buyer.

Talk of the weather as a "scorcher." H. LeBrun & Co. have a heap of bargains in store for men and boys that are "scorchers," away out of sight. The senior member of the firm is not an alderman—although he's built that way—but he's a thunderin' lucky fellow at pulling a bargain snap his way. Somehow or other he got hold the other day of about 1,800 yards of splendid remnants of tweed, in odd lengths of from one to eight yards each. Of course he's mum about what he paid for them, but some idea how he "worked the racket" may be guessed when you are told that he can afford to sell them at less than the mill prices! This is a chance that don't occur much oftener than an eclipse of the moon, and if people don't snap at the chance while it's going—well, they aint alive to their opportunities, that's all. Have a look at the City Clothing Store's window, and also at the "ad." in another column. 2d

The Decline in Wheat.

The advance in the price of wheat was apparently too rapid for all of it to be sustained, and this week there will be a sharp decline in prices at points. In Chicago the price of July wheat dropped yesterday to 69½c, a decline of 13c. since June 7, when the price was 81½c. The effect of crop damage reports, which had been so industriously circulated by the bull contingent in the west, and the reliability of which was questioned in this column a few weeks ago, has apparently spent itself and the rains in the Northwest and the generally better tone of the reports now coming forward from reliable sources have depressed the market, notwithstanding the large decrease in the visible supply of wheat on this continent, which, since April 1, has dropped from 74,000,000 bushels to 47,000,000. The present visible supply, 47,000,000 bushels, is not large compared with 57,000,000 bushels this time last year, and 66,000,000 bushels two years ago. In Ontario the price of wheat has fallen about 7 to 10 cents per bushel in the past ten days, and the demand now is very slow, the dulness in the flour trade making the demand for wheat from the home millers small. The drought in Ontario has not yet affected prices of wheat.

SUNDAY SERMONS.

It is not the province of the secular press to lecture the pulpit, though in fairness after sitting and being talked at, without a chance of reply, fifty-two Sundays in the year, the patient editor might be permitted to put in a word or two from a popular standpoint. No one wishes to suggest to a minister the slightest relaxation in zeal in the discharge of his high and holy trust, but it may not be amiss to hint this point, that long sermons in hot weather place the preacher in the position of "one that beateth the air." Even under the fervid eloquence of the great St. Paul, Eutychus fell asleep and tumbled out of a window. And no matter how attentive and devout worshippers of to-day may be, the willingness of the spirit can hardly be expected to counteract the weakness of the flesh with the thermometer registering 90 degrees, and with perhaps the slightest touch of prosiness in the sermon delivered under such depressing temperatural conditions. One of the conditions of good digestion is said to be to cease eating with a desire for more, and religious truths from the pulpit would be, perhaps, digested better if the "lastly" came just short of the point of satiety on the part of the hearer.

The commercial examinations will be held on Wednesday.

The entrance exams for promotion into the Collegiate Institute begin on Thursday next.

Divisions A and B of Form I have been already dismissed and are having their holidays.

Primary examinations will be held on July 4th and succeeding days.

Candidates for Junior Leaving certificates begin writing on Tuesday, July 2nd, while the Senior Leaving papers will be submitted on July 11th.

The Senior Leaving or Fourth Form Literary Society held its final meeting of the year during the week. The attendance at the weekly session have been most encouraging and the society has been productive of much good.

The members of the Fourth Form are having a class photo taken to be placed in the school.

The Department of Education has appointed Peterborough a centre for scholarship examinations.

The local Collegiate Institute has been most unfortunate this year in losing some twenty of its most promising students through, death, sickness, removal and marriage.

Mr. Will Spence, who intends writing for scholarship honours, will have work on no less than twenty-eight papers, and will be writing almost continuously from the second to the twenty-third of July.

One hundred and twenty-three candidates from the Institute will be writing on these examinations which are now coming on.

PHILIP LICOCO ARRESTED AT NIAGARA FALLS.

A Peterborough Fruit Dealer in the Toils of the Law.

Chief of Police Rossel is on his way to Niagara Falls to bring back Philip Licoco, an Italian, who was arrested there yesterday on information furnished.

Licoco has lived in Peterborough for some time selling fruit and by making false representations, as the information states, secured a line of credit with the firm of J. B. Oke & Co., which he would not otherwise have obtained.

The Italian suddenly left town, owing Mr. Oke considerable money, and the warrant for his arrest was issued on the ground of securing goods under false pretences.

It was thought that Licoco had gone to Montreal, but yesterday the local authorities received word that their man was under arrest at Niagara Falls. The Chief will in all probability return with his prisoner to-morrow.

THE FALL OF A COUNCILLOR.

Mr. Adam Dawson Fractures His Collar Bone.

Yesterday afternoon, while engaged in working on the new Mercer store, on George street, Mr. Adam Dawson, Councillor, overbalanced and fell from a high ladder fracturing his collar bone and otherwise bruising himself to a considerable degree.

The popular representative of the third ward was taken to the office of Dr. Burnham where the fracture was reduced.

The injury will prevent Mr. Dawson from resuming work for some days as his right arm is, for the time being, comparatively useless.

THE FIRE BRIGADE BAND.

A Splendid Concert Given on the Park Last Night by Artists.

The band concert on Court House Park last evening was most successful and the applause was loud and frequent by the large concourse of delighted citizens.

It is not too much to say the members of the band are artists every one. Certainly they perform equally well the popular ballad or the overture of an old master. This versality is the best proof of their artistic skill. There is another point also in their playing—Prof. Miller never allows an imperfectly learned number to be given. He is very rigid as to fidelity of practice, knowing that that leads to excellence of performance.

How to get "Sunlight" Books.

Send 12 "Sunlight" Soap wrappers to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, who will send postpaid a paper bound book, 160 pages. For 6 "Life-buoy" Carbolic Soap wrappers, a similar book will be sent. This is a splendid opportunity to obtain good reading. Send your name and address written carefully. Remember "Sunlight" sells at 6 cts. per twin-bar, and "Lifebuoy" at 10 cts. One cent postage will bring your wrappers by leaving the ends open.

DEATH OF "CHARLIE."

The Game Grey Passes in His Checks at the Fire Hall.

The members of the fire brigade are looking very glum to-day over the death of "Charlie," the fleet grey, which for the past nine years has been one of the team drawing the hose waggon.

Of the many good horses around the fire hall stables "Charlie" was the favourite on account of his many good qualities, as well a for his beauty of contour. A better model for a fine horse would be hard to pick up—stout of body and clean limbed, old "Charlie" could run like a deer and was as "handy as a cat."

It will be hard, indeed, to replace the horse, which has only been sick for ten days. This afternoon a post mortem will be held by Dr. Beatty to ascertain definitely the cause of death. For the last week Charlie refused all food, and could only be induced to take a mixture of raw eggs and milk occasionally, though he was tempted with oatmeal gruel and other delicacies.

Steam Yacht and Houseboat.

TENDERS WILL BE RECEIVED BY the undersigned Master at Cobourg for the purchase of the steam yacht "Lenore" and houseboat "Lotus" now lying on the Trent river in the vicinity of Healy's Falls near Campbellford. The yacht is thirty eight feet long with seven feet of beam, and draws three and a half feet of water when running. It is fitted with compound condensed engine of eleven horse power. The boiler was made by the Polson Iron Works, Toronto, three years ago and is in good condition. The whole yacht is in excellent condition. The houseboat is fifty feet long by sixteen wide and draws sixteen inches of water or thereabouts. She is finished on the outside as to the upper works with clear pine panels and on the inside with cherry, with every modern convenience, kitchen stove, dish racks, private ladies' cabin, private men's closet, pantry and saloon. The sleeping accomodation is perfect.

Tenders will be received for both the yacht and boat addressed to the undersigned Master up to the 28th inst.

Further particulars can be had on application to D. B. Simpson, Barrister, Bowmanville or the undersigned.

Signed.

"Feed the Brute!"

Was the answer made by a dear little woman who had married a crusty old bachelor. She had been asked by some friends how she kept him in good humor—and there was a lot of force in her argument, for an appeal to a man's stomach never fails to bring him round. Pastry plays a great part in the everyday food and it must be made right or it had better not be made at all. You'll never go wrong in using

THE KINDERGARTEN'S CLOSING EXERCISES.

THE LITTLE ONES IN THE SOUTH WARD SCHOOL.

Real Interest Taken in the Work by the Parents and Friends of the Children —These Exercises Should be Held in The Opera House Next Year.

The school year of the South Ward Kindergarten was closed yesterday, with appropriate exercises by the children and the rather dingy basement of the Mission was transformed into a fairyland of flowers for the occasion.

The bare white walls were concealed by deftly draped bunting and flags and every available nook was relieved by bright blossoms. The two large pillars in the centre of the room were bound around with clusters of marguerites or ox-eyed-daisies and at the base of each was grouped a profusion of sweet-smelling syringas intermingled with hydrangea blossoms.

A number of invitations had been issued but the staff was totally unprepared for the ready alacrity with which the parents and friends of the little ones availed themselves of the opportunity to

of the children. Chairs were carried down from the Mission, but even then those who wished to obtain admission could not be accommodated. The aisles were crowded with visitors, who were quite willing to stand in order to observe the interesting ceremonies.

Between seventy and eighty children ranging in age from three to eleven years, took part.

Now that the bright spring has come in place of the dreary winter, the closing was most appropriately called "Flower Day."

The young ladies who have charge of the little ones teach them to think that it is more blessed to give that to receive, so instead of the parents giving to the children, the children give to the parents.

As they were seated at their tables the little ones sang their songs as they worked. Their renditions were mainly descriptive of the coming of summer, and ended with the pretty melody :

"Swinging low, swinging low,
Little baskets to and fro ;
To our mothers we will bring,
While our little songs we sing."

The children here rose and presented to to their parents or friends the flowers in tiny baskets of made by themselves. They then returned to their tables and the regular work of the school proceeded.

The first division were given cards on which was pencilled the outline of a flower, and part of it coloured. They then coloured the remainder, using crayons. This work is intended to teach them the shape and colour of flowers. The second division were building their blocks into any designs which caught their fancy. One little chap had a boat, another a church ; others built walls and houses, but all were trying to invent some new design in the particular line which caught their fancy. The third division were at work weaving coloured mats of paper. This exercise teaches them combinations of numbers. The fourth division was at "school sewing." This exercise teaches the children designing on cards, and some of them at the work. The fifth division consists of the youngest children. Their work was "stringing." They were supplied with short straws and bright coloured discs of Japan, which they made into long strings of various colours. The object of the work all through is to develop the child's character and bring out any adaptability it may have for a particular class of work.

The tables were then removed and the children indulged in those games, which while tending to relieve the monotony of the day's work, at the same time an aptitude for commiting verses to memory, and also gives them a fondness for singing.

The many pretty games indulged in afforded the children plenty of scope to display their abilities in various directions.

Miss Davidson and her two assistants, Miss Gillespie and Miss Bacon, have been very successful, and the manner in which the pupils performed the duties required of them reflects the greatest credit on this teacher.

The interest displayed in the closing exercises guarantees the advancement of the opinion that it would be a good idea to secure the Opera House next year for the closing, in order that the general public may have an opportunity of ascertaining the splendid work, which is being accomplished in this new school department.

CANADIAN FORESTERS.

High Court Officers Elected at Hamilton—Mr. Britton Chosen as High Chief Ranger.

Unusual interest was manifested in the sessions of the High Court of Canada, Canadian Order of Foresters, Friday, as it was devoted to the election of officers for the ensuing year.

There was a very keen and close contest for the presiding officer's place that of High Chief Ranger. The candidates were Mr. C. E. Britton, of Gananoque, the present incumbent, and Mr. Gummer, editor of the Guelph Herald, who is also the publisher and editor of the Canadian Forester, the organ of the order. To some extent Mr. Gummer's chances were discounted by the fact that he was the editor and publisher of the society journal, as it was argued that it would place too much power in his hands to make him also the presiding officer of the order. The result of the ballot showed 203 votes for Britton, 194 votes for Gummer. The following are the other officers as elected :—H. D. Henderson, Whitechurch, High Vice Chief Ranger ; Thomas White, Brantford, High Secretary ; John Neelands, Wingham, High Treasurer ; D. R. Kennedy, Montreal, High Registrar ; Rev. W. S. McTavish, B.D., St. George, High Chaplain ; Dr. U. M. Stanley, Brantford, Chairman of the Medical Board ; Dr. R. C. Young, Brantford, Associate Medical Board ; Thomas W. Gibson, Toronto, High Auditor.

The Executive Committee or Board of Management includes the Chief Ranger and Vice Chief Ranger and five members elected by the High Court. The members chosen for this responsible position are :—Robert Elliott, Wingham ; F. T. Frost, Smith's Falls ; R. J. Dowling, Harriston ; F. J. Jameson, Peterborough ; W. J. Cameron, Toronto.

OTONABEE.

Union School Picnic a Successful and Enjoyable Affair.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Cold Springs, Riverdale and Town Hall Schools held their annual excursion down the river to Victoria, on Thursday. A very large number, from both town and country took advantage of the low rates, and favourable weather, and took in this popular excursion. Every one seemed to enjoy themselves, and all pronounced the picnic a marked success.

The prizes for the large number of races were very fine, and were competed for with great zest by the scholars of the different schools. One of the chief events of the day was a football match between Riverdale and Cold Springs schools. Both sides played well, and when time was called the score stood 1 to 0 in favour of Cold Springs.

We might say for the benefit of those interested that the money supposed to be stolen from Mr. Hooper has been found all right.

And still they come, and still they buy. Busy yesterday—busier to-morrow. We have had to "hustle," trying to get every customer served quickly and properly. Straw Hats, Summer Shirts, Summer Underwear, Summer Clothing, Summer Boots and Shoes and Summer Neckwear were most in demand. But we have the goods this season—as we always have---and we are selling at very close prices---as we always do. That's why we have your trade. We want your trade, and we know that the right way to get and keep it is to have a good variety of everything and to sell cheap---cheaper than anybody else.

Our Campaign,

Our Summer Campaign for business is carried on on business principles—keeping the best Clothing for the best money. We are just far enough away from Fakerville to consider living a pleasure. Merchants all over Canada are trying to figure out where we get goods to sell so cheap. Sometimes they club together and petition manufacturers not to sell us, and sometimes they swear the goods are not as represented, and sometimes they buy the goods to sell again.

Who do we buy from? Well, here are a few pretty solid names we can refer you to :—W. E. Sandfords, John Calder & Co, Laily Watsons, W. R. Johnson, McKena & Thomson, Small & Co, and from people who make specialties.

Success hasn't come by chance. This business has grown because you wanted it to. Your encouragement gave us the right to go ahead.

Men's Summer Clothing.

We have sold an immense quantity of Summer Clothing thus far. Come and see what we can sell you in Light Summer Coats and Cool Vests, Sporting, Camping and Vacation Suits, &c.

—200 Mens' Suits in Sack Tweeds, have been marked $8.45 and 9.50, but they have been knifed and five dollars takes any.
—Fine English unshrinkable flannel coats and vests, striped and checks, all sizes $3.
—Fine French Lustre Coats and Vests in stripes and plain effects, various shades $2.50.
—Fast black Lustre Coats, all sizes, silk finish $1.75.
—Blazer Coats 75c, $1, $1.50, $2.
—German Lustre Coat in black or grey, all shades $1.
—Men's White Duck Trousers. The sort American Tourists are all wearing. Two qualities $1.40 and $1.75. Shapely and swell.
—Men's White Duck and Pique Vests, pearl detachable buttons, all sizes 75 cents.
—10 doz. English Cashmere and Silk Fancy Vests, washable, mother-of-pearl detached Buttons, worth $1.50 for $1 each.

Boy's Summer Suits.

—Boys' Galatea Suits, fast colours, all sizes, sailor collar 90c.
—Boys' White Duck Suits, light or dark blue trimmings, all sizes $1.
—Boys' Blazer Coats 75c.—a snap!
—Boys' Blouses made of American duck, all sizes, fast colours 35c.
—Boys' Tweed Pants 50 and 75c.

We like to talk Boy's Clothing to parents—especially to mothers. We like to draw their attention not only to our low prices, but we have something even more important, —namely, the style and finish and the strong wearing qualities of our Boy's Suits :—

—Boy's Washable Sailor Suits $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75.
—Boy's Tweed Suits $1.50, $1.75, $2 and $2.50.
—Boy's 3-piece Suits $3, $3.75 and $4.
—Youths' Suits $4.50, $5 and $5.50.

Straw Hats.

We welcome comparison. Does anybody know of a larger Hat Store in Canada than our's. Large and roomy enough to enable us to serve great crowds with ease. Our Hats are not all in the windows—they are on the ground floor—thousands to choose from at prices lower than ever. Light weight Felt Hats in very many shapes, just the Hat for present wear. Hats and Caps for touring or a Bicycle. Any kind you want for Boys or Children.

Like Mary Ann, we have "Followers," but imitation is sincerest flattery."

—Tourists, the correct thing, start at 60c.
—Fedoras, all fur-felt, as low as $1.
—Derbys, all colours, right shape $2.
—Stanley Hat, sole agents $2.50.
—Caps, Varsity, all colours 15c.

Inspection will show prices lower than can be had elsewhere. It will be so all the season. Take that for granted.

Cool Summer Shoes.

This is the season when you are looking for something light and cool in feotwear. A visit to our store will convince you at once that every care has been paid in the selection of our Oxford Shoes and Tan Boots.

—Russia Calf hand-made Shoe, razor toe, $1.50, instead of $2.
—A Shoe you need not hide for $2, worth $2.50 most places, Kid Congress, hand-turn, very stylish.
—A Shoe worth $1.75 for $1.50, Women's Kid, needle toe, pat. tips.
—A Shoe worth 90c for 75c, Women's American Kid, with pat. tips.
—A Shoe worth $1 for 75c, Women's Tan Turn Tips, ask to see these.
—A Shoe worth $1 for 85c, Misses' Dongola Kid, pat. tips, a favorite.
—A Shoe worth 90c, for 65c, Girls' Dongola Kid, pat. tips and facings, sizes 8-10.
—A Shoe worth $1 for 65c, Youths' Boston Calf Tips, sizes 11-13.
—Unusual Value for 50c, Girls' American Kid Tips, particular kind.
—Unusual Value for $1.20, Boys' Tan Calf, extension sole, all the go.
—Unusual Value for $1.25, Women's Tan Calf Tips and Turn, just the thing.
—Unusual Value for 95c, Youths' Tan Calf, extension sole, cut, finish, all complete.

A GRATEFUL MOTHER.

RELATES HOW HER DAUGHTER'S LIFE WAS SAVED.

Anæmia and General Debility had Brought her to the Verge of the Grave—Physicians Held out no Hope of Recovery—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Again Prove a Life Saver.

From the Ottawa Free Press.

A personal paragraph in the Free Press some time ago simply stating that Miss Sophie Belanger, 428 Cooper street, Ottawa, had recovered from a serious illness caused by anæmia and general debility, has apparently awakened more than usual interest and pleasure among her relatives and acquaintances. So much so, indeed, that a reporter of the paper found it extremely interesting to visit the family and enjoy a chat with Mrs. Belanger on the recovery of her daughter after she had been considered irrecoverably a victim of this terribly enervating and dangerous disease. Mrs. Belanger is a very intelligent French-Canadian, wife of Mr. Joseph Belanger, whose wall paper and paint and glass establishment is at 146 Bank street. Miss Sophie Belanger, the whilom invalid, vascillating between death and life, is a promising young lady of seventeen years. She is a student under the nuns in St. Jean Baptiste school on Primrose Hill. Over two years ago she fell sick and rapidly wasted away. The nature of her disease appeared to be a profound mystery to the physicians as they were called in one after the other. Despair seized the family as they looked upon the once beautiful, spirited girl, laying day in and day out, weeks and months on her couch, simply slowly vanishing and they powerless even to raise a smile to her wan lips. Each succeeding medical man gravely told the parents to prepare for the worst. However, Mrs. Belanger is not one of those women who give up in despair while there is still hope, as her own words will denote.

She lay on a couch like one dying.

"It was a terrible time," she said, "We had been told again and again that nothing could be done to save Sophie, and had almost been forced by appearances to believe it. I have now to say that but for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she would have been in her grave instead of attending school every day the liveliest of the lively. It began like this: the poor girl was coming to me three or four times a day exclaiming, "Oh, ma; I have such a terrible headache. I cannot stand the pain of it." This went on for a long time, weeks in fact, until we began to look at it in a very serious light. We had almost every French doctor in the city called in, but with no result. Sophie got worse and worse. Her face was small and yellow, while her lips were as white as your collar. She was listless and apathetic, and so weak she could not raise her hand to her head. A leading doctor forced her to take a certain kind of powders, which seemed to be taking the flesh from her bones. Her skin became hot and parched, her eyes sank into her head and she lay on the couch as one dead, taking no interest whatever in things going on around her. Then it was we become confirmed to the popular belief that she was going to die. It was agonising to look at her. but we became partially resigned to the fate that appeared to be overtaking us. She was watched day and night, but we could detect no change unless for the worse. All hope had gone. I had read of the cures by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and about this time I noticed a description published in the Free Press somewhat similar to Sophie's case. Something seemed to urge me to give them a trial, and now I thank God I did. I sent for some and began giving them to her one at a time. Before long we saw an improvement, and gradually increased the dose from one to two and then to three at regular intervals. It is incredible to note the change. Her colour came back, a different look in her eyes, her general health and appearance gave us all new interest in her. Before the fourth box was gone Sophie was able to be up and around again, and a further use of them fully restored to health, or rather snatched her from the brink of the grave. To Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due all the credit for we had stopped doctor's medicine, and simply gave her these, following the directions around the box. My daughter's life was saved by Pink Pills, and no one knows better than her mother. I wish to tell everyone of the cure, as it is almost impossible to believe that the poor thing that lay there, and the happy rosy-cheeked girl who goes regularly to her classes are one and the same person in such a marvellously short space of time, and you may be sure I am advising ailing neighbours to use this wonderful medicine."

Just as the reporter was leaving Miss Belanger returned from school. She was the picture of grace, health and beauty, her little physique denoting health in every movement, while her face showed the warm, ruddy glow of health. She corroborated all her mother had said besides adding some new testimony. Happiness now abideth in that home where misery held sway too long, and Mrs. Belanger rests her faith in Dr. Williams Pink Pills, which will do for other weak and ailing girls what they did for her daughter.

PULLED THE TRIGGER WITH HIS TOE.

James Fawcett of Brampton Took a Drink of Whisky, Then Deliberately Blew Out His Brains.

Brampton, June 19.—Last evening Jas. Fawcett, aged 61, living in John-street, sat down on the edge of his bed and deliberately shot himself. He used a double-barrelled shot gun, to the trigger of which he had attached a string with a loop, through which he put his foot, then, putting the muzzle to his forehead, pulled the trigger. The charge lifted the entire top part of the head and dashed it against the headboard of the bedstead, which, with the adjoining wall, was bespattered with blood and brains. There was nobody in the house at the time, and nobody heard the report of the gun. Mrs. Fawcett, who had been in a neighbor's house, was the first to discover the awful deed.

Fawcett was a man who had lived about the county for 40 years and was well known in Peel and West York. He had been unwell, and lack of employment, together with an alleged financial difficulty with his late employers, made him despondent.

Half an hour before he took his life he went into a bar and took a glass of whisky, with the remark, "This is the last drink I'll take in this county."

"Why, Jim, are you going to shoot yourself?" remarked an acquaintance.

Coroner Heggie, with Crown Attorney McFadden, who had just returned from the Port Credit inquest, investigated the occurrence and decided an inquest unnecessary.

Threw Himself Under a Train.

Saratoga, N.Y., June 18.—Albert Woodin of Fort Edward, aged 30 years, threw himself in front of the Montreal Express and was instantly killed.

THE BOND ISSUE WITHDRAWN.

The Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway Company Meets Difficulties.

London, June 20.—The Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway bond issue has been temporarily withdrawn, and bankers state this has been done to permit them to get a correct statement of the Finance Minister's speech Wednesday night before the people. They declare that Mr. Foster's utterances on the question of a Government guarantee are misrepresented in cables from Canada.

New Zealand's Healthy Budget.

Wellington, New Zealand, June 20.—The Colonial Parliament opened to-day. The Governor congratulated the Colony on its improved prospects and sound finances. He stated that the Budget would show a surplus, and outlined measures that were projected by the Government.

Congratulating Newfoundland.

London, June 20.—The Post will say: Newfoundland found no difficulty in raising a loan on her own account and the fact will be welcomed news to Downing-street, while everybody will be glad to see her continue in her position as a self-governing colony.

BABE KILLED BY A TROLLEY.

A FEARFUL BLUNDER

WAS THE CELEBRATED CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE.

The Story of That Episode of the Crimean War Related by One Who Was Present —Lucan Obeyed Orders.

Sir Beauchamp Walker, in his new book, "Days of a Soldier's Life," tells the story of the charge of the "Light Brigade (at which he was present) in spirited and telling fashion. First we may give his opinion of Lord Cardigan. "He is a great swaggerer, and I cannot admire him," he says. "We have been very much amused to-day by the pranks of Himalaya," he writes again, from on board the Simla, when at last under weigh for the Crimea, "which follows us in column, but which we discovered at daybreak ahead of us, having sneaked up in the night. The signal was soon made, 'Himalaya, keep your station,' which was obeyed for a time, but about an hour ago she was discovered between our column and the end of our left. The signal was again made, 'Himalaya, keep your station astern.' We concluded that Lord Cardigan is at the bottom of this, as it looks like a piece of his silly vanity."

THE IMMORTAL CHARGE.

is regarded by many as the most memorable episode of this war, and Walker's account of this magnificent blunder will, of course, be looked for. "This affair, had it been followed by a more prudent attempt to recover the guns taken from the Turks, would have made the 25th of October forever famous in the history of cavalry as an instance of what pluck can do against numbers and 'vantage ground, as our people actually charged uphill. Unfortunately, some little time afterwards an order was sent to Lord Lucan which led to the sad loss which we experienced, and was brought by an officer personally hostile to him, and was received without the discretion fitting in an officer of high rank. Captain Nolan brought an order to advance rapidly and endeavor to retake guns from the Russians. Lord Lucan, instead of taking the order and exercising his own judgment as to how he carried it out, asked Captain Nolan what he was to attack and was answered by his pointing to the Russians drawn up across the valley, with the words: "There, my lord, is your enemy; there are the guns." Lord Lucan immediately ordered the Light Cavalry

TO ATTACK DOWN THE VALLEY,

a distance of a mile and a half, and, as it proved, into a terrain which was completely swept by the Russian artillery. As soon as we came within range, they opened on us from a line of guns formed right across the valley, from some more guns very well placed on their left, but which were partially occupied by the fire of our artillery, and on our left by a line of guns planted on the ridge of the hills near the Black River. Before they opened fire I saw these guns—or rather saw the horses—pulled out my glass, and in a moment saw what they were, and how completely they swept the whole length of our advance. I would not live over that moment for a kingdom. My only consolation was seeing two squadrons of Chasseurs d'Afrique stealing on them up the hill, and after they had pounded us for about ten minutes they did succeed in dislodging them, but were themselves repulsed with some loss by a body of Russian infantry which was in support. I thought the fire on the 17th was pretty heavy, but it was a joke to this, which certainly for eight or ten minutes exceeded my liveliest conception. I hope I shall not soon again get such a pelting. Luckily, a great many of and though one of two burst within twenty yards of me, neither I nor Jemmy (his charger) were hit. By the time I got with the head of the heavy brigade to the end of the valley the Light Brigade, who, headed by Lord Cardigan, had charged the guns in front at full speed, were returning as best they could, from a field where they had left more than 213 of their numbers, and where they could do no possible good. They had ridden over the guns, sabred the gunners and shot the horses, but were immediately attacked in front and flank by such masses of cavalry and received with such a fire of rifles from a fort and bushes on the right, that the only thing left was for each man to get out of the fray as best he could. Lord Lucan accordingly sounded the 'recall,' covered their retreat with the heavy Brigade, and they ultimately formed to the number of 191 men and horses, besides officers, a little in the rear of the ground from which they started."

A Smoker's Request.

The following story of a German Diogenes is perfectly authentic. When King Frederick William IV. visited the Rhine provinces in the year 1843 he made a short stay at Wesel, where he called at the house of the oldest man in the kingdom, aged 106 years. He found him comfortably seated in an old armchair, smoking a pipe—his inseparable companion. On the King's arrival he rose to his feet and stepped forward a few paces, but his Majesty made him sit down again, and talked to him with the greatest freedom, the old man puffing away at his pipe all the time. When about to leave, the King asked him if he had any wish that it was in his power to gratify.

"No, thanks, your Majesty; I have all I want in this world," was the reply.

"Really! Just think for a moment. We mortals generally have some particular desire or aspiration."

"Well, sire, now I come to think of it; I might have a favor to ask. My doctor insists on my taking a walk every day on the ramparts. Every time I pass the powder magazine the sentry shouts to me from afar: 'Take the pipe out of your mouth,' and as I walk very slowly, my pipe goes out every time. Now, if your Majesty would be good enough to order the sentry to let me smoke my pipe in peace all the way, I should consider it the greatest kindness you could confer on me for the rest of my natural life."

The order was given, and the old fellow enjoyed the privilege for more than two years, and died at last with his pipe in his mouth.—Buch fur Alle.

punch or point, which makes the writing practically indestructible. The tag is fastened to the branch by the copper wire which is run through a small hole made with an awl; the wire is then doubled back, so that it will not pull through and is left to grow into the wood. There is no bleaching out of the writing or rotting out of the string, or cutting into the branch with the wire as is often the case in the old style labels. At (a) is seen a tree with the label attached; at (c) a cross section of the branch with the label; at (b) the manner in which it is first inserted.

Silvering Mirrors.

The well-known French opticians, MM. Luiniere Freres, are now silvering mirrors expeditiously by "formalin," which is a strong solution of formic aldehyde. They use a bath of ammoniacal silver nitrate, which should barely contain an excess of ammonia, and to this a sufficient quantity of a solution containing 1 per cent. of formic aldehyde is added. The mixture is poured quickly over the clean glass plate to be silvered, so as to cover it immediately, and the deposition of silver is said to be completed in five minutes

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.—There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys, through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been of not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

Consumption Was Feared.

DEAR SIRS,—Over three years ago I was troubled with a nasty cough and really thought I would go into consumption. A friend advised me to try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and one bottle gave me great relief. After taking four bottles I can truthfully say I have never had a cough since. Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs colds, asthma, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

Water in the Pasture Field.

The secure water tub in the pasture shown in this little picture will not be pushed over by stock, and will prevent a mischievous animal from circling about the watering place to drive the

A LETTER TO OUR GIRLS BY A LADY OF PETERBOROUGH.

DEAR GIRLS,—I was a girl once myself, you know, and to tell the truth it seems but the other day, though as a matter of fact years have passed by since then. But some way or other the old feelings of girlhood are not forgotten by me, and I hope they never will be, so that I may all my life have sympathy with young girls. It is just with this feeling of sympathy that, to-day, I want to have a little talk with you, who are, as the poet says :

"Standing with reluctant feet
Where the brook and river meet,
Womanhood and childhood fleet."

There is, I think, something so lovely in girlhood ; it is like the spring flowers full of freshness, hope and sweetness in its ideal condition, at any rate, which indeed is often realized and why should it not be oftener ?

Most people have an ideal, after which they stretch and towards which they aim, and probably with many of the young girls who may read this paper, their desire is to be considered "young ladies," and all honour to such a desire if it be to be a lady "in deed and in truth !" It is just about this very thing that we would talk now.

FIRST OF ALL

let us once and for ever get rid of the thought, that stylish dresses and hats, rings and bracelets can ever make a lady. Ah ! no, indeed. Not as lightly won as that, are the title deeds to being a lady, and truly a lady's soul may exist as surely within "russet gown" as under silk embroidered garment.

How then are we to get at this desirable state of things—this "ladyhood," if I may coin a word ?

We will bring to our help, and as a text on which to frame our thoughts, those words from the Book of books, which run thus : "The King's daughter is all glorious within," and so surely to be ladies in reality, the process must begin within, with purity and refinement of thought and feeling, and this, I claim, should be possible to every girl, under ordinary circumstances, whether reared in palace or cottage. Then take care ; oh ! take care, dear young girls, what you read, what you hear, and what you think. Indeed, if careful over the two former points there will be less need of care over the last named one. Do not think that once in a way, it will do you no harm to read that thrashy novel (there are others, good, healthy books, that will do you no harm) with its unnaturally exciting narration of youthful, passionate, unhallowed experiences and hopes, or its recital of dark deeds. You do not know it, you do not think it, but so sensitively formed are these minds of ours, that what we have received we may not get rid of when we would, and these things may for ever leave their impress on the mind, and

EVEN ON THE CHARACTER.

On the same principle, dear girls, would we warn you against the indiscriminate reading of newspapers. Facts have to be recorded there, for the sake of the public, but they are not meant for your young, fresh, and it should be, guileless minds.

And then as to what we hear. There is indeed great need of care here, for the refinement of mind claims also refinement of conversation.

Now, that we are talking about the mind, I would like so much to say what a good thing it is to cultivate a taste for good reading ; for books that will help to develop and unfold the thinking powers within, or biographies of good men and women, that will make us want to be, at any rate, a little like them. The mind craves food, give it good, nourishing food, not just candies.

Now, we have spent a good deal of time taking about the mind, for we believe this to be the most important thing, to be in fact, at the root of the matter ; but now, what about the manner, the character, the voice, the deportment in the streets, the dress ? The dress :—"The King's daughter is all glorious within, her clothing is of wrought gold," wrought, worked out. Do you know girls, I am really old-fashioned enough to think it is a splendid thing for a girl to have her clothing of wrought needlework, that is, to make her clothing, or a good deal of it, herself ? However, I am only telling you for in these hurried times, when many young girls are working busily all day it would be a little unreasonable to expect them to sit down in the evening and "stitch, stitch, stitch." But one might suggest one or two things. Dress with care, don't adopt every fashion, whether it suits you are not. Above all things be feminine in your dress, and let it be in good taste. But then as to being feminine in dress, how beautiful it is for a girl to be feminine in all her ways—her voice, like sweet Annie Laurie's, "low and sweet" ; her manner, gentle and gracious, and her character, unselfish. Do not these go to make up a perfect lady ? I love to think of a young girl like the modest violet,—as its presence may be known by its fragrance, so her presence should be felt by its gracious influence.

And now, dear girls, I want you to fancy that you and I are sitting side by side, talking in a friendly way together, instead of through our paper. Well, perhaps after all it is best as it is, for now, you see, I do not know whom I am talking to, and so it need not be personal. What I am wanting to say is that there is one thing about some of our girls that seems such a pity, somehow it seems to spoil them, and they do not seem like the young girls we have have just been talking about. I mean the walking up and down George street on Saturday and Sunday nights. It doesn't look well, girls. This doesn't seem possible where there are really the refined feelings of a lady ; and I am afraid it will make those who do it lightly thought of, and that seems so sad. There are pretty faces there, perhaps, pretty and sweet. Yes, much too nice just to be looked at and commented on by any idle lounger on the street ; but a blessing to brighten up your homes, and gives pleasure to your own circle of friends, not to be made light of like this ! Oh ! as I sat as our picturesque Otonabee river glances along between its tree covered banks, one could wonder indeed at the superior charms of a close, hot promenade between the shops of George street to a country stroll by the lovely river.

And now I have done, and I hope you will feel I have only written to you as your friend, and because I just want to help you to be as true and as sweet as you can be.

G.T.R. TICKET AGENT MISSING.

W. T. Vanstone of London Not Heard of Since Sunday.

London, Ont., June 20.—William T. Vanstone, for several years ticket agent at the Grand Trunk Station, has not reported for duty since Sunday. He is supposed to have left the city for Detroit on Monday, and he has been suspended. Miss Robertson of St. Thomas, has been permanently placed in charge of the office. Rumors of a damaging character have gone abroad regarding Mr. Vanstone, but nothing definite can be learned.

Arrest of a Canadian Crook.

Chicago, June 22.—George Stone, who is said to be a thief and highwayman of national reputation, was arrested yesterday. Stone escaped from prison in Buffalo a short time ago, and the authorities of that city requested that the prisoner be held. Stone is also wanted in Montreal for robbery. Five men who are said to have been confederates of Stone in several robberies were also arrested. All are Canadian crooks.

Advances Made by London Brokers.

London, June 22.—Although the issue of bonds for the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway will not take place just yet, Messrs Robinson, Fleming & Co. have agreed to make the necessary advances on the bonds in question to ensure immediate construction of the road from Montreal to Quebec. The bonds will be sent from Montreal on the Parisian, and will be in London on Monday week. This move is made in order to show investors that the bonds really do possess the Canadian Finance Minister's guarantee and signature written thereon. Promoter Armstrong says there is no danger of the scheme collapsing.

Scotch-Irish Congress

Lexington, Va., June 22.—Representatives from local Scotch-Irish societies of the United States and Canada gathered to-day to take part in the seventh annual convention of the Scotch-Irish Society of America. A DISTASTEFUL DUTY.

Criticising the Extravagance at Sir John's Funeral.

BUT THE WASTE WAS MOST WILFUL

A Digest of the Bills Certified to by the Deputy Minister Presented for the Taxpayers' Study—Comparison of Cost With Sir John Macdonald's Funeral.

Ottawa, June 24.—Consideration for the interests of the taxpayers of Canada imposed upon the Opposition members of the House of Commons, the regrettable task of criticising the expenditure entailed by the funeral of the late Sir John Thompson. It was unfortunate that the Government, by reckless and wholly inexcusable extravagance, should have placed the Liberals in the position of having to object to the appropriation to pay the bill, for they would have preferred to have allowed it to pass in silence. They were a unit with the Government in admitting the propriety of honoring the memory of the Canadian statesman who was cut off so tragically at the zenith of his greatness, and they would have acquiesced in the expenditure of a reasonable sum of money to do it properly and decently, but they could not in justice to the people themselves see thousands of dollars thrown away without raising their voices in protest. When it is remembered that the stately ceremonies attending the burial of the Old Chieftain who sleeps beneath the pines at Cataraqui cost about one-quarter the amount that was lavished upon the obsequies of the late Premier, it will be seen how utterly unjustifiable was the extravagance that characterized the last of the three State funerals that have taken place in Canada. The funeral of Sir John Macdonald cost the country $6900, that of Sir George Cartier $10,000, while the enormous sum of $25,608 was expended at Halifax upon the interment of the remains of the late Sir John Thompson. Sir John was a man of simple tastes, who detested ostentation, and such a vulgar show as that which was made at Halifax by a time servant, who had been given carte blanche by the Government, was certainly not befitting the occasion.

The principal items of the account are: Lighting Provincial buildings at Halifax, $333; black material, $1228; flowers purchased and loaned $2197; church and provincial buildings, $303; church decorations, $8771; undertakers, $2961; draping postoffice, $408; decorations of Provincial buildings, $4072; special trains to Halifax, $3615. Here is the undertaker's bill, which has been certified to by Deputy Minister Coste of the Public Works Department, who was in charge of the arrangements:

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 21, 1895.

(Signed) L. COSTE.

In the account of Gordon S. Keith, who supplied goods and performed services for which they charged $8771, are the following items: Silver bullion fringe, $23; silver bullion tassels, $112; gold bullion tassels, $87; re-gilding and repairing archbishop's chair, best gold leaf used, $24; hire of banners from Montreal, $100; one black satin banner, $40; making apartments for Lady Thompson in cathedral and draping it in best purple silk, $47; making "Baldachen" and upholstering with best purple velvet and black silk, and trimmed with bullion fringe and tassels, and gilding cross for it, $100; time of 47 upholsterers and general help, draping inside of cathedral walls, ceiling and gallery, organ, pulpit, pews and covering floors, 2961 hours at day at 25c, $740; 1316 hours at night at 35c, $460; Time of 10 firemen working extension ladders and shifting ordinary ladders, 630 hours day, at 25c, $187; 280 hours at night at 35c, $98; time of three experieced designers and drapers arranging places and assisting at inside drapery of St. Mary's Cathedral, also Academy of Music and Globe House, outside, 30 days at $3.50, $105; carpenter's time altering choir gallery and lumber supplied for same, $330; 12,600 yards black material, at average price 26c, $3536; 1031 yards purple material at average price 80c, $824. This firm actually put into its account charges for the time of one of its own members in overseeing the operations of its men, and one of its buyers who had purchased the materials for the fulfilment of its contract, but the items were not allowed. The Nova Scotia Furniture Co., Ltd., was paid $4072 for draping and decorating the State Chamber, draping the interior and exterior of the Provincial buildings, making railings in halls and stairways; draping ordnance wharves and gates, Government House and fence, monument and fence, St. Paul's Churchyard, headquarters' building and fence, St. Matthew's Church, erecting and draping arch in front of St. Mary's Cathedral, taking down and returning all materials to Works Department.

Here is the account of Davidson & Sons, Montreal, for flowers:

2000 roses at 30c each	$ 600
4000 carnations at 10c each	400
3000 ferns at 2 1-2c each	75
590 Lily Harisi at 37 1-2c each	177
3000 Roman hyacinths at 5c each	150
1000 yards smilax, at 25c	250
125 paper white marcissus	11
Wire designs	50
Boxes for designs	25
Beams for carrying designs	36
Time and expense	100
Expressage	50
	$1925

Mr. Coste has recommended that this bill be reduced to $900. The prices charged seemed to be exorbitant, comparing them with ordinary market rates. In addition to it the Government paid $272 for the loan of flowers. The personal account of Mr. Ouimet's deputy would indicate that that gentleman had been thoroughly in sympathy with the spirit of the time. It is wonderful the amount of cab driving a civil servant can do when the people are paying for it. His expenses were:

Dec. 14. Cabs, Ottawa, $1; railway fare to Halifax, $20.50; Pullman and meals on board, $1.50	$ 23 00

These accounts do not include a sum amounting to between $800 and $900 that was paid out in connection with the service that was held at the Basilica, Ottawa.

No one would have found fault with the Government for having given expression to the people's sorrow at the loss of so distinguished a fellow-countryman in a befitting manner, but that such reckless disregard for the proprieties of the occasion and of the interests of the taxpayers should have been permitted is a matter that cannot but be generally deplored.

THOSE ATLANTIC BONDS.

The British Press Blame the Government, Not the Company, for the Condition of Affairs.

London, June 24.—The Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway Company, it is announced, has instructed its issue house to return to persons who have subscribed for the bonds of the company, the amounts they have paid on account of their subscriptions, the company declining to accept money subscribed under a misapprehension respecting the guaranteeing, in regard to which doubt has arisen through the publication of the alleged statement by the Canadian Finance Minister. The leading papers here approve the action of the company.

The Times says the attacks made upon the company are not deserved, while The Standard declares that the Government, not the company, is blameable for the existing condition of affairs.

The Financial Times says Finance Minister Foster's explanation is a play upon words, and an attempt to show the difference between tweedledum and tweedledee, and asks why the Canadian Government suddenly realised the misleading effect of the commutation of its subsidies into a guarantee.

The Pall Mall Gazette publishes a letter from a person not interested in the concern, maintaining that the company's prospectus is fair and consistent and understates, instead of overstating, the Government's responsibility.

The Financial News and The Statist continue their attacks upon the company.

TROY'S FISH STORY.

He "Didn't Do a Thing" While the Sword Fish Towed Him.

New York, June 24.—John Troy tells a good fish story. He belongs to Boston, and was picked up at sea by the St. John, N.B., schooner Katie C. Wilbur. Leaving the fishing boat Iolanthe off Chatham, Mass., in a dory, he says a sword fish got tangled in his buoy line. And then the race to sea began. Troy dared not move as the craft sped on, for fear of an upset. The boat was half full of water, and to cut the line over the bow was impossible. After five hours' ride the fish played out, came to the top and breathed its last. The man crawled forward, cut the line and baled out the boat. Troy said in a joking way that he thought the fish died of worry; that was the only thing that killed sword fish. He rowed from a Thursday afternoon till Saturday morning, when the Wilbur took him on board. The siege of Troy thus ended.

EXPLOSION ON A STEAMER.

Fourteen Severely Scalded by a Steam Pipe Giving Way.

Chicago, June 23.—The whaleback steamer Christopher Columbus met with a serious accident to her machinery on her return trip from Milwaukee last night. The wind was blowing from the south, and she was making fast time until about 7 o'clock, when directly off Waukegan there was a terrible explosion followed immediately by a flash of flame, and the boat was immediately enveloped in a cloud of steam. The fitting of the main steam pipe had given way. Fourteen persons were injured, four of whom will die.

The Christopher Columbus went into commission for the season yesterday morning. She left for a trip to Milwaukee with 500 passengers, and left there on time for the return trip to this city. Everything went all right until off Waukegan, when the accident took place. It is asserted by passengers that the Columbus was racing with the Virginia of the Goodrich line. The pipe that burst was disconnected at once, and the boat came on slowly under reduced steam with three boilers in operation until off Grosse Island, where she was met by a tug and brought into the river.

A Good Story.

A story is going the rounds at the expense of one of the best known men of this place. We shall not mention his name, but you know him. Of rather determined mien, he has of late been showing signs of mental agitation. He wears a full beard, but a few days since, his wife, much to her alarm, found him sharpening a razor. She thought his mind was unhinged and went into hysterics. Explanations followed and it was found that life had for him still some charm. He intended to use the razor upon painful corns. A friend who had used Putnam's Corn Extractor with success, advised its use, with the following results: Man quite happy, wife ditto, razor sent away. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures diarrhœa, dysentery, cramps, colic, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, and all looseness of the bowels. Never travel without it. Price 35c.

CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE.

Twenty-Eighth Annual Meeting of the Shareholders.

ENCOURAGING STATEMENT.

DESCRIPTION OF NEW BANK PREMISES.

General Statement of Assets and Liabilities—Interesting Addresses of President George A. Cox and General Manager B. E. Walker.

The annual meeting of the Shareholders of The Canadian Bank of Commerce was held in the Banking House on Tuesday, 18th inst., a large number of shareholders being present.

The President, Mr. Geo. A. Cox, was requested to take the chair, and Mr. J. H. Plummer, the Assistant General Manager, read the report of the Directors, as follows:

REPORT.

The Directors beg to present to the Shareholders the twenty-eighth Annual Report, covering the year ending 31st May, 1895, together with the usual Statement of Assets and Liabilities:

The Balance at credit of Profit and Loss Account, brought forward from last year is		$ 19,157 03
The Net Profits for the year ending 31st May, after providing for all bad and doubtful debts, amounted to		441,028 50
		$460,185 53
Which has been appropriated as follows:
Dividends Nos. 55 and 56, at seven per cent. per annum		$420,000 00
Transferred to Pension Fund		10,000 00
Written off Bank Premises and Furniture		7,500 00
Balance carried forward		22,685 53
		$460,185 53

Your Directors regret that the results here shown are less favourable than those of recent years, but this is mainly due to the very great decline in the profits of banking which has been universal during the past year. There is now a reasonable prospect of a return to normal earnings, but is only during the last month that this improvement has been perceptible.

The usual careful revaluation of the entire assets of the Bank has been made, and all bad and doubtful debts have been amply provided for.

The various branches, agencies, and departments of the Bank have been inspected during the year.

Two years ago the shareholders authorized the creation of a Pension Fund and the payment by the Bank annually of $10,000 as its share towards the Fund. Last year the Directors reported that the labour incident to establishing the Fund had been concluded, but not in time to actually open the account before the closing of the books. The Directors have now to report that the Fund is in operation, and the first payment by the Bank appears in the accounts this year. The fund assumes all pensions previously granted by the Bank.

The Directors have again pleasure in recording their appreciation of the efficiency and zeal with which their respective duties have been performed by the officers of the Bank.

GEO. A. COX, President.

B. E. WALKER, General Manager.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

In moving the adoption of the report the President referred to some of the conditions which had resulted in the business of the past year being less favourable than usual, notably the difficulty experienced in keeping the Bank's deposits satisfactorily employed on account of the extraordinary rapidity with which the volume of mercantile loans had diminished consequent on the general condition of business. He also drew attention to two difficulties which had been met with in loaning the Bank's surplus money in the United States as a reserve to protect the Canadian mercantile interests, viz.: first, the unprecedentedly low rates for money; and second, the unwillingness of United States borrowers to furnish the usual contract to repay in gold. There have been times when the Bank would have lent its money without insisting on this latter feature, but it seemed unwise to do so when Congress was actually discussing what should be done and showing so little disposition to do anything effective, and particularly when the Bank would have been taking the risk at a most critical moment for a very small return in interest.

The balance sheet indicates the difficulties of the past year precisely, as it shows assets immediately convertible into cash of two million dollars larger than last year, and loans of two million dollars less. This exhibits a very strong position for the depositors, but is not so profitable for the shareholders as could be wished, but there are indications of improved confidance and returning prosperity.

The Vice-President briefly seconded the resolutions, and the General Manager was then called on to address the meeting.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS.

In addressing the shareholders last year we had, as you will remember, little to say which indicated the hope that we could look forward to a satisfactory year of business. We were able to take comfort in the fact that in Canada the contraction of business was not relatively so severe as in the United States, and the idle establishments and men out of employment not so many proportionately; but the enormous fall in the prices of almost all commodities had to be borne here as well as elsewhere. If credit is not only restricted by the wholesale seller through caution, but by the retail buyer because of falling prices and small sales, and the public is submitting to rigid economy either of necessity or choice, we have that kind of hand-to-mouth trade which renders profit impossible, and contracts the volume of all transactions, legitimate or speculative, to narrow limits.

STATE OF TRADE.

We had such a year all over North America, but to an extent we quite failed to foresee, and looking back it seems scarcely less a subject for wonder than congratulation that the business community, including the banks, has been able to maintain its position successfully and without any serious proportion of failures.

If the improvement which has taken place during the past six weeks or so is permanent, we have passed through the period of depression sooner than we expected, but it is almost certain that the margin of profit which had almost disappeared in so many lines of business, and the volume which had shrunk so seriously, will only be restored very gradually, and while we may congratulate ourselves on a much improved outlook, we had better be prepared for moderate results for some time to come. As far as our own business of banking is concerned, the President has indicated some of our difficulties. In addition to the heavy loss in interest to which he referred, we suffered proportionately even more from the loss of profits from foreign and inland exchange operations, due wholly to the contracted volume of business and the excessive competition for what business there was. When the price of a manufactured article falls it does not always follow that the percentage of profit to the manufacturer falls proportionately. When the price of a raw product falls the railroad freight does not always fall proportionately, but in banking the principle works with painful certainty, as we are dealing with the money which represents the cost and not with the article itself. If a bushel of wheat is worth fifty cents. the interest, inland exchange and foreign exchange earned by the bank during the transit of the wheat from the farmers hand to the point of consumption in Europe, is just one-half of what it would be if the wheat was worth a dollar a bushel. This is a matter of little moment if there are commodities enough being manufactured or moved to employ our money, but if a tremendous fall in prices comes in one year the quantity of all commodities to be dealt in for that season is already fixed, or nearly so, the money represented by the fall in prices of all commodities is suddenly not required, and the result in bank profits must be felt at once. It is not strange, therefore, that in a year when wheat, cotton and other staples touched the lowest recorded prices, the rate of interest also made its lowest record.

One of the most hopeful and significant of the changes between April and June is in the employment of labour. We learn from Bradstreet's that in the United States 227 establishments, closed during the depression, opened up for work, that 54,400 wage-earners obtained work who were before idle, and that the wages of 178,000 employees were advanced. During this period about 36,000 employees joined various strikes, and of these about 25,000 demanded higher wages, but on the whole there has not been serious trouble from that source. The next most significant change has been the improvement in both gross and net railroad earnings. This has already been experienced to a satisfactory degree, but if the tide has really turned a much greater increase will develop during the ensuing year. Excessive competition by railroads may be a very good thing for trade, but the other result in the shape of inadequate earnings is ruinous to the financial credit of all North America, and indirectly does far more harm than the benefit by competition to trade. There is some ground for hope that the era of free railroad building in the United States, that is, building under a general railroad act, and without reference to public requirements, may be gradually checked. An act passed in 1892 in New York State intends to prevent the paralleling of lines or the building of railroads in localities where they are not required in the public interest, has been in one case actually put into force.

Of less importance, because a less reliable index of the growth of actual trade in commodoties, is the increase in clearing-houses exchanges. The activity of the last month or two is, of course, largely speculative, and speculative transactions where no commodities change hands, often swell the clearings, so that real movements in commodities cannot be traced accurately. But bearing this in mind the improvement in the United States for the month of May, amounting to nearly 27 per cent. of an increase over the same month in 1894, the figures being only seven per cent. less than in 1893, is very gratifying. The increase for the same month in the five Canadian cities possessing clearing houses amounts to a little over ten per cent., a very satisfactory showing, as the percentage of loss from the high figures of 1893 was much less than in the United States.

When we turn to the prominent staples we cannot but be much encouraged. Wheat, which within a year touched the lowest recorded price in 250 years, is again comforting the farmer with the old charm of a dollar a bushel, an advance almost unprecedented for rapidity. Doubtless the pace has been too rapid, but there seems little reason to doubt that the new crop will be marketed at remunerative prices. Iron of all kinds had fallen a few months ago to an average of 54 per cent. of the prices of October, 1890, and had risen at the close of May to 59 per cent. It is still, however, so low, and the power of production so great, that the profit to the miners and iron manufacturers of the United States must be trifling in relation to the enormous investment of capital. Petroleum has settled back somewhat after its great advance, but the present price is stimulating production all over the world. Hides, leather, boots and shoes, and beef have all gone up together, and doubtless to some extent from the same cause. While the leather industries of all kinds sadly needed the aid of better prices, perhaps no advance is of so much importance to our own province as that in the price of cattle. The past few years, what with British restrictions and low prices, have been hard on the Canadian grazier, and now that there has been a substantial recovery it is to be hoped that for the future we will have steadier and more adequate results. At the moment, however, prices have again receded somewhat. Still it is fair to presume that as horses have also lately shown a decided change for the better, and attempts are being made at raising better animals, we can count on profitable returns from cattle, pigs, sheep and horses, which means a great deal for Ontario.

While the advance has not been universal, many other leading staples such as cotton, wool, etc., have participated in the change, and there can be little doubt, even if present values are not quite maintained, that the turn has come.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS.

I am sorry that for the first time we cannot speak with positive encouragement of the dairy interests of Canada. We have had rapid growth in volume and satisfactory prices for cheese for many years, but it looks as if we are to have something in the nature of a check. Owing to the severe drought of last summer the shipments, which for the first half were much larger than the former year, fell off in the last half so that we only scored a total of 147,089,000 lbs, against 146,595,000, with a value of $14,663,000 against $14,647,000, a very trifling increase. In the United States, a slight increase, the first in some years, is shown, but they evidently still eat nearly all the cheese they make, as the total value of their export was only $6,609,000. Our success has caused the building of many new cheese factories during the past year, and in several districts where cheese was not made heretofore. This will insure a large product, but it will be very disappointing if in these new districts lower prices should bring about discouragement. The farmer did well enough last year as to price, but the English buyers lost heavily, and still have large stocks of old cheese on hand. We are also destined to meet serious competition from New Zealand. At the moment quotations have recovered somewhat, and the dry weather in England and here may improve the price at the cost of the quantity manufactured. In cheese and pork the farmers must have prospered last year. In almost all other products the experience was very disappointing, but the changes of the last month or two have caused a feeling of great cheerfulness throughout our farming community, notwithstanding the damages by frost and dry weather. In the fruit districts the frost has certainly done very serious damage, but as far as we can learn there is likely to be no such general failure in yield as was at one time feared. Our people, however, are apt to overlook the great money value of the fruit crops in this province as a whole, and the extent to which it exceeds all other agricultural interests in the districts especially adapted to fruit growing. The outlook in this province is not uniformly good, even apart from fruit, frost having done damage to fall wheat and some other crops, but it is too early to form a definite opinion as to the general results of farming in Ontario. At the moment the prospect for hay is not good in many parts, and hay and grass are perhaps our most valuable crops. In Quebec and in the parts of our province which were not advanced too much by the early warm weather, the whole outlook is excellent.

In Manitoba and the Northwest we are experiencing one of those rapid, favourable changes which should make us less ready to grow despondent about that great country, when the changes happen to be of an unfavourable character. It is unfortunate that our feelings about this part of Canada are apt to be either unduly elated or unduly depressed. It may take more than one good crop to make the farmers easy as to debt, but one can hardly resist the conviction that their prospects were never better than at the moment. The enforced economy of the last few years has, of course, had a most damaging effect on trade for the time being, the sales by Winnipeg jobbers being twenty-five per cent. less than for the previous year. No money was made, and many lost money, as a natural result, but the benefits arising from the drastic policy which has been applied are that credits have been very much shortened as to time, and restricted as to amount, that weak traders have been diligently weeded out, and stocks of goods, both in first and second hands, are very light. All this has been accomplished without serious failures, the total liabilities of insolvents between Port Arthur and the Rocky Mountains being $604,984, less by $155,668 than in 1893.

While the merchants of Manitoba are learning how to manage the problem before them, it is not to be supposed that the farmers fail to do likewise. They harvested altogether about thirty-two million bushels of wheat, oats and barley, and for about 22,000 farmers this evidences enough on the score of energy. But the prices were so low that but for their exercise of economy they would be little better off than a year ago. The manner in which they are doing their share in managing the problems before them is in diversifying farming as rapidly as possible. We had occasion last year to notice the first large shipments of cattle and the feature this was sure to make in the future. In 1894, in addition to about fifteen million bushels of wheat, about four millions bushels of which took the form of flour, there were shipped east 26,826 cattle, 9,739 hogs and 3,286 sheep. Thus far 1895 largely exceeds 1894, and the trade is already become so important that efforts are being made to establish a cattle market in Winnipeg, where animals can be properly graded and fair prices and ready sale assured. Four years ago Manitoba imported pork largely. Now cattle, sheep and hogs are increasing very rapidly, and as they have had a favourable winter, we need no longer think of that part of Canada as merely a wheat country. The area of flax has trebled this year, and with the help of the unusually early spring the acreage of nearly all grain has been largely increased. In Manitoba the added acres in wheat amount to 295,380, making a total in wheat of 1,140,276 acres. Butter and cheese factories are growing in number and the check in the price of dairy products is the only unhappy feature in the situation this season. The great milling companies are increasing the number of their country elevators, while a large elevator is being erected at Winnipeg. What with one of the most favourable seasons, thus far, on record, larger acreage, great interest in cattle, and better prices, Manitoba is likely to prosper again, and wants population more than anything else.

The usual resolutions expressing the thanks of the shareholders to the President, Vice-President, and Directors, and also to the General Manager, Assistant General Manager, and other officers of the Bank, were unanimously adopted.

The retiring Board of Directors were re-elected as follows:—Messrs. George A. Cox, (President), John L. Davidson, (Vice-President), James Crathern, Wm. B. Hamilton, John Hoskin, Q.C., LL.D., Robert Kilgour, and Matthew Leggat.

The New Bank Premises.

A becoming appendix to the annual report will be the following brief description of the elegant new premises of the Peterborough branch.

The new Bank of Commerce building, corner of Water and Hunter streets, is a fitting Peterborough home for that solid and substantial institution, the Canadian Bank of Commerce. This fine pile, owned and erected by the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, is properly styled the "Bank of Commerce Building," for the primary object of its erection was to provide suitable offices for the Bank, which purpose has been most admirably served.

The new buildings are about 50 x 76 in area, and have a frontage on both Hunter and Water streets, the main front being on Hunter street, facing the post office. The building stands four stories in height, and the facades present a suggestion of solidity and elegance. The ground, or bank floor, is built of Credit Valley stone, rock face with moulded string courses, and sills to windows and openings and moulded cut cut stone facia and crown mould. Springing from this story the three remaining stories rise in red Don Valley pressed brick, with cut stone window heads and sills, and belting courses of moulded Credit Valley stone dividing the stories. The structure is surmounted with handsome cornice eaves, brackets and consoles. The whole building has a substantial and bank-like look.

The floors of each story are sustained on steel beams.

The vaults rise from well seated concrete foundations, the basement inclusive, through three stories, and are fire proof and well ventilated.

The upper floors are laid out in splendid office suites, one of which is to be occupied by Messrs. Stratton & Hall, and others, and another is already occupied by Dr. Morrison, dentist.

The whole building is furnished throughout with the most approved modern appliances of a sanitary nature, from attic to basement. The entire block is heated by hot water from one boiler, and the heat is controllable from each apartment in the building. There is a complete equipment of closets and other conveniences.

THE BANK PREMISES PROPER

occupy the east 25 feet of the ground floor There are two entrances, the main one from Hunter street and the other from Water street. The lofty outer front doors, of solid mahogany, admit to a vestibule about 7 feet square. From this folding doors of mahogany glazed with bevelled plate glass, admit direct to the public portion of the bank, a wide corridor 10x70 feet in length, floored with maple. The corridor is hadsomely fitted up with a beautiful panelled wainscotting of Honduras mahogany, capped with moulded cornice and dentils. On the right hand side, at the centre, there is a recessed arch in which are fitted up two elegant desks flanked by square pillars of solid mahogany. These are for the use of the public. Between these two desks is a wide, luxurious seat. Immediately to the left of the main entrance is the entrance to the private office of the manager, Mr. W. Manson, a splendidly lighted apartment, like all the rest of the interior, finished in mahogany, and with elegant desks, sedentary and standing, also of the same material. It has an entrance to the clerical offices, which are also reached by a short passage at right angles to the main corridor. The clerical offices are separated from the public space by a panelled screen work of mahogany, surmounted by a richly wrought hammered copper grill work screen of simple but effective design, surmounted by an entablature in mahogany of a design to correspond with the square detached columns, the upper third fluted and with Ionic capitals, which are placed at intervals, dividing the wickets opening upon the several offices. These offices, beginning at the front, are, in order, the accountants, the ledger keeper's (these two having a common double desk), the savings bank clerk's and the teller's stall. This latter is in the form of a cage of wire netting, at the sides and above, and is entered by an automatically closing and locking sliding door. The wicket to this compartment is

OF THE LATEST DESIGN.

The usual opening is divided, centrally, by a shelf which dips slightly towards the ledge on the public side, and projects a little above the ledge, and is for convenience in counting payments of coin from the shelf into the hand of the payee.

Further on and against the outer wall is the vault; and the rest of the office space behind the rail contains the stairway to the basement, which is floored with concrete and contains the basement vault for storing the filled books of the bank and for other documents. Here are also the bank lavatory and toilet rooms.

The lighting of the bank is a specially satisfactory feature. Large square plate glass windows set high, with hinged top-light transoms opening when desired inwardly, afford both ventilation and light, which is, for all desks except the teller's, a side light. Artifical lighting is provided for by the incandescent electric: a supplementary service of gas is also put in. The office furniture, upholstered with leather, is also of mahogny to correspond with the other fittings of this really fine interior. The ceilings are lofty, a moulded and dentilled entablature dividing the ceilings and walls.

FORMER HOMES OF THE BANK.

The local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce was established in Peterborough in 1870 and, in making the present removal, the bank has in the matter of site returned to its first love, its first home being on the corner diagonally opposite in the building now occupied by the Croft House. Mr. Jas. A. Hall (now Sheriff Hall) was the first manager, being succeeded by Mr. R. W. Smylie. In 1873 the bank's offices were removed to their present site, the corner of Brock and George streets.

In 1875 Mr. Wm. Manson succeeded to the management, and has occupied that position up to the present time, except about a year and a half during which Mr F. O. Cross, now of St. Catharines, was manager. Under Mr. Manson's management the bank has done a good business, and has certainly gained the confidence to a high degree of the patrons of the institution in both town and country, and his being retained so long in so responsible a position is an evidence of his enjoyment of the confidence of the central management.

The new bank premises will be occupied early in July, and the change should certainly be a decided improvement for the site is an excellent one in every respect—opposite the post office—in the business centre of the town and only one block from the market square. The EXAMINER congratulates the bank on its fine new premises, and hopes that it will enjoy a continuance and increase of the patronage it has enjoyed during the past quarter of a century.

London Papers Comment Adversely on the Government's Position.

London, June 21.—The Standard says that the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway Company has decided that the subscriptions already received be returned, and that the allotments of shares be not proceeded with.

This, the paper adds, was the only course open, and the blame lies more on the Canadian Government than on the promoters of the company. The Government has no business to take deposits in the way the Minister of Finance described or to allow guarantees on any pretext to be issued in its name.

One Fact Counts

For more than a thousand insinuations, especially if the insinuations are inspired by jealousy and defeat.

It is an ADMITTED FACT that Fairweather & Co. ARE the leaders in the Hat trade in Peterborough and Lindsay. The manufacturer recognize this as fully as do our numerous patrons and "side line" competitors; and therefore do not think of offering us the off-scourings—the "rag-tag and bobtail" or commonly called "seconds" of their stocks "at any price." These are disposed of to the general country merchants and clothing houses. It would not suit our trade. We must have the most correct styles and qualities.

"We got them"! Straw Hat samples! 1100 of them to clear. Worth from 75c to $1.00, our price 50c.

35c to 50c, our price 25c.

"A good name is better than riches," even if it be only in a Stiff Hat, and especially if you control it.

Christy & Co. of London, England, are admitted to be the best makers of Stiff Hats the world over. No other house in Peterborough have their goods, as we are their SOLE agents here. The name "Christy Hat" is given by people, who do not know the difference, to a Stiff Hat of any kind, but this is a misnomer, and only goes to show how much the ordinary clothier knows about the hat trade.

Our prices for genuine Christy & Co's Hats are 99c, for all wool grades, and $1.99 for all fur qualities. This offer is made to clear.

The moral is: Come where you get the best Hats made by standard makers at the price of ordinary qualities. Do not be "bamboozled," but come to

ROSEBERY RESIGNS.

This Decision Reached Late Saturday Evening.

THE QUEEN SUMMONS SALISBURY

Early Dissolution of the House Looked for With Elections on or About July 10 —The Adverse Vote of Friday and How It Was Brought About.

London, June 23.—It is officially announced that the Rosebery Government will resign. Lord Salisbury will be summoned by the Queen to form a Ministry, and his Cabinet will proceed with the routine business of the House, obtain provisional supplies, and then dissolve Parliament. It is expected that the elections will take place about July 10.

The second meeting of the Cabinet Saturday afternoon began at 4 o'clock and lasted until 5.45. The meeting was held to decide whether the Government should resign or dissolve Parliament. It was decided to resign.

After dinner at Windsor Castle last night, Lord Rosebery had a long private audience with the Queen and communicated to her the decision arrived at by the Government. The length of the Cabinet's deliberations was due to the attitude of Herbert Asquith, the Home Secretary, and John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, who strongly opposed any step involving either resignation or dissolution. They argued that in view of the stage of the debates on the Welsh Disestablishment and Irish Land bills, the Government ought to pass both into laws.

William O'Brien, who, until a few days ago, represented Cork city in the anti-Parnellite interest, [illegible] who was compelled to retire from the House, owing to his having been declared a bankrupt, visited Downing-street and urged that it was the imperative duty of the Government to pass the Irish Land bill.

All the Ministers with the exception of Premier Rosebery remained in town over Sunday.

Thomas Ellis, first Liberal whip; Geo. G. Leverson-Gower and Ronald C. Munro-Ferguson directed business at the Liberal whip's office during the afternoon. They were engaged in the preparation of electoral lists. The Liberal Central offices were also open.

Prime Minister Rosebery Sunday walked unattended to the 8 o'clock service at St. George's chapel, Windsor Castle. After breakfast he strolled through the castle grounds. At 11 o'clock he went to Frogmore, where the Queen, Princess Beatrice and Princess Christian had breakfasted. He attended a private service in the Frogmore Royal Mausoleum with Royal Family and afterwards had an audience with the Queen. He then had luncheon, after which he was driven to the station, where he took a train for London. Arrived at the Paddington station he took a carriage and drove to his official residence in Downing-street. Here he found waiting for him Lord Tweedmouth, Lord Privy Seal and Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, and Arnold Morley, Postmaster-General. Mr. Asquith arrived soon after Lord Rosebery. The quartet conferred until 6.45 p.m., after which the decision to resign was officially made known.

The Central News is authority for the statement that Lord Rosebery while at Windsor Castle, tendered the resignations of himself and his colleagues to the Queen, who accepted them.

Her Majesty has sent for Lord Salisbury, who will proceed to Windsor Castle to-morrow, when he will be entrusted with the formation of a Ministry.

Lord Rosebery did not arrive at Downing-street until 6.20 o'clock, and about a half hour later the fact became known that the action of the House of Commons on Friday in accepting the motion of Mr. Bruderich to reduce by £100 the salary of H. Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War, a motion made solely for the purpose of calling the attention of the House to an alleged deficiency in the small-arms and ammunition stores, had resulted in the overthrow of the Liberal Ministry.

The Court Circular contains the following:

"The Earl of Rosebery, First Lord of the Treasury and President of the Council, arrived at Windsor Castle Saturday and tendered his resignation to Her Majesty, by whom it was accepted."

It is stated that in his interview with the Queen Lord Rosebery, after informing her as to the status of affairs, advised her to summon Lord Salisbury to form a Government.

Lieut.-Col. Arthur Bigge, an assistant private secretary to the Queen, to-day conveyed Her Majesty's summons to Hatfield House, Lord Salisbury's residence in Hertfordshire.

Lord Salisbury will obtain the views of the Duke of Devonshire, the Liberal-Unionist leader in the House of Lords, before he goes to Windsor to-morrow. Mr. Chamberlain had an interview with the Duke of Devonshire on Saturday and afterwards Mr. Chamberlain received visits from several of his Liberal-Unionist followers.

After Assistant Secretary Bigge reached Lord Salisbury with Her Majesty's summons, the ex-Prime Minister and coming Premier wanted to communicate with Mr. Balfour and Conservative whips, but it being Sunday the railway trains were inconvenient. his secretary, Mr. McDonnell, is an expert bicyclist, and jumping on his wheel he rode from Hatfield House to the Carlton Club, in London, in 80 minutes. He found the whips there, but not Mr. Balfour, who, he learned, was at Uxbridge. After resting 10 minutes, Mr. McDonnell rode to that place and conveyed Lord Salisbury's message to him. Mr. Balfour immediately returned to London.

It is not doubted that a joint Ministry will be formed of Liberal-Unionists and Conservatives, and that it will be called a Unionist Government. When it became known in the clubs that Lord Salisbury had been summoned by the Queen it was said that he would not consent to form a Ministry with the present House of Commons, and that he would recommend the Queen to dissolve Parliament.

The Unionist rank and file advise a prompt appeal to the country. They believe that they will be able to obtain a majority of 80 in the next Parliament. They are now very enthusiastic and sanguine.

Of course nothing is yet definitely known as to who will be selected by Lord Salisbury for Ministerial and other positions. Complete harmony prevails between the Liberal-Unionists and the Conservatives, as was recently evidenced by the speeches at the Conservative banquet by Joseph Chamberlain, the Liberal-Unionist leader, and others The rumors of dissensions between the two parties were then effectually laid, and it was predicted that the Liberal-Unionists and Conservatives would be finally merged into one great national party. It is generally supposed that Mr. Chamberlain will have a position in the Salisbury Cabinet, but what his office will be is purely a matter of conjecture as yet.

It is charged by some of the supporters of the Government that Mr. Broderick's motion was made with the knowledge of Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour, and that it was made at a time when the Government was napping; in other words, that the Opposition sprung a trick on the Liberals and by a majority of several votes upset the Government. Some of the Unionist members strenuously deny this, and claim that the vote was only the calmination of the dissatisfaction existing against the administration of the War Office. However the case may be, it is certain that the Government met defeat in an entirely unexpected moment and manner, after successfully tiding itself over crises when defeat would hardly have been surprising.

The Behring Sea bill, recently introduced by Sir Edward Grey, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, is the second measure in Monday's list of business in the House of Commons.

WHOLESALE INFANTICIDE IN LONDON.

167 Bodies Found in a Small Area Within Eight Months—A Yorkshire Man Arrested.

London, June 22.—Revelations of the existence of a system of wholesale infanticide have startled London within the last few days and caused a rigid official inquiry.

It has been ascertained that within a fortnight the bodies of sixteen infants have been found within the area of the eastern district of London, and during the past eight months one hundred and two bodies have been found in the same district.

The most of these babies have been strangled by tying a cord about the neck or suffocating by tying a towel over the face.

A man named Robert Hudson has been arrested for the murder of his wife and child. He took lodgings for himself and family in Helmsley Moor, Yorkshire.

In a remote and secluded spot on the Moor he dug the graves of his wife and child, and, after burying them, vanished.

A man living on the Moor, noticing the freshly-turned earth, investigated, and dug up the bodies.

Hudson is a young and highly educated man, who ran through his own and his wife's fortunes. His anxiety to get rid of his wife is evidenced by the fact that before he killed her he advertised for another wife, which he did under the name of Hunter.

AN ILLINOIS SENSATION.

A Lady of Union County Recovers Her Health in a Marvellous Manner.

Anna, Illinois, June 17—A very interesting case of recovery from a very complicated form of kidney trouble has taken place here, and the details are gradually being made public. The sufferer was Miss M. T. Loomis, who for a long time has been a victim of severe pains in all parts of the body. She consulted a number of doctors and was treated for a great variety of complaints, the diagnosis all proving faulty. At length she determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, having read and heard much of their efficacy and found her expectations justified in a complete cure.

"COMPLETE MANHOOD And How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc,

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

PERSONAL.

Mr. T. C. Ball and wife, of Belleville, are spending a few days in town.

The Belleville Sun says,—Mr. Thomas Blezard, M. P. P., Peterborough, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. W. Gordon, of Peterborough was in town yesterday attending the funeral of his brother, Frank Gordon.—Cobourg Post.

Mr. Cockburn, M.P., President of the Bank of Ontario, Toronto, is in town to-day the guest of Mr. C. McGill, manager of the local branch.

The Bishop of Toronto, conducted confirmation services in Millbrook, yesterday, and is spending to-day in town as the guest of Rev. J. C. Davidson.

Capt. Bottum's many friends will regret that he is gradually sinking and that his recovery is doubtful. Many of his warm friends have been apprized by telegram to that effect.

In the honour list of the third year students in the recent examination in the University of Toronto, appears the name of Mr. J. F. VanEvery, of Peterborough, as taking honours in Modern Languages.

Mr. T. W. M. McLean, of the Ontario Institution for the Blind, Brantford, called on the EXAMINER on Saturday on his way to his former home, Mt. Pleasant, to spend his summer holidays.

Mr. Harry McKeown has accepted a position in Strathroy and left to assume his new duties to-day. Mr. McKeown's fine tenor voice will be greatly missed from St. Paul's choir, as will his genial presence from amongst his many friends.

The Cobourg Post says:—"Miss Croft has just graduated from the Peterborough Business College with high honours as a stenographer, and yesterday left for Ottawa to accept a position in the office of one of the best known legal firms in that city.'

Mr. W. W. Daly, of Napanee, who was for several years a resident of Peterborough, is, it will be learned with pleasure, to become a citizen of the town again. He proposes going into the business of manufacturing in partnership with Mr. Geo. McWilliams.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Jr., and his wife of Dallas, Texas, are guests at the residence of the former's father, Mr. Aaron Cox. Miss Maggie Cox, of town, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Cox, in Dallas, for several months, returned to Peterborough with them.

Mr. M. D. Watson, of Carthage, N. Y., who has been visiting his aunt Mrs. J. King, McDonel street, left for home Friday evening, accompanied by his cousin, Mrs. J. McKim and her two children, Gordon and Clifford. They will remain several weeks.

Amongst those from a distance attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Tassie, on Sunday, were:—Capt. Tassie and W. H. Barber, of Toronto; Mr. Alex. Tassie, of Listowel; Mr. H. G. Hopkirk, of Stratford; Mr. Philip Davidson, of Waterdown, and Mr. J. Egar, of Waterdown.

The Fenelon Falls Gazette says,—"Mrs. Brandon and her invalid son, Mr. J. J. Brandon, got home on Monday from a month's visit to Mrs. W. H. Robertson at Peterborough. Miss Mattie Robertson came to the Falls with her grandmother and uncle and will remain for a few days."

Mr. Robert Richardson, manager of the Belleville branch of the Bank of Montreal, has been connected with this same institution for just fifty years. The citizens of Belleville made him a presentation on Friday evening last, on the eve of his departure for a trip to Europe. Mr. Richardson was in the Peterborough branch of the bank from 1865 until 1870.

A BICYCLIST COMES TO GRIEF ON HUNTER STREET.

Whilst Running Down the Hill he Charges Into a Horse and Buggy.

Charlie Wesley met with an accident on Saturday evening, while riding down the Hunter street hill which might have resulted most seriously.

Just at the base of the hill whilst travelling at a high rate of speed, he lost control of his wheel in some manner to such an extent as to prevent him being able to keep away from a horse which was advancing towards him.

The bicycle and its rider charged straight into the horse's front legs. Wesley was thrown violently off and lapsed into unconsciousness through the force with which his head came into contact with the hard road. Other than being a trifle bruised he escaped unhurt, but there was not much left of the bicycle after the horse had danced an impromptu hompipe on it for several seconds.

Five Dollars to Americans.

Instructions have been issued to the fishery inspectors at Rice Lake to grant permits to Americans wishing to fish in those waters at $5 each. This order is to be rigidly enforced. Heretofore everybody fished as they liked, with or without a license. This year the law is to be carried out to the latter. The cutting of rice for export should also be prohibited. If it is not done soon the beds will be cleaned out completely. It is said that tons of rice are gathered every year and shipped away.—Cobourg Post.

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE.

The twenty-eighth annual report of the Canadian Bank of Commerce appears on our second page, together with a description of the fine new premises to be occupied by the local branch early in July. The careful and conservative management of the affairs of the bank, is shown by the fact that, in spite of numerous drawbacks, the bank has enjoyed a comparatively good year, and one that gives encouragement for the future. Mr. Cox's address indicates the causes that operated against bank business generally enjoying the highest degree of prosperity—such as the difficulty of keeping the bank's deposits satisfactorily employed owing to the sharp contraction of the volume of mercantile loans, and the difficulty of doing business in the United States, due to borrowers declining to furnish agreements for repayment in gold and to the low rate of interest. The balance sheet shows a very large increase in assets of cash equivalent, a circumstance that should strengthen the already large confidence of depositors. The address of the General Manager deals ably with a wide range of topics connected with the monetary situation, and contains the encouraging assurance that business has turned the corner of dull times, and that there are indications of returning confidence and prosperity. With its excellent management and stable position, the Canadian Bank of Commerce will doubtless share very largely in the returns that renewed business activity will bring.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The Murray street Baptist Sunday school excurts to Jubilee during the second week in July.

St. Paul's Church Sunday School and congregation will picnic at Bobcaygeon this year.

Mr. Arnold presided at St. Paul's church organ most acceptably, yesterday, at both services.

Arrangements are being made for the interior renovation of the Charlotte street Methodist church.

Last evening Rev. A. MacWilliams, of St. Andrew's, and Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's, exchanged pulpits.

The anthem "Praise ye Jehovah" was admirably rendered in St. Andrews church yesterday morning by the full choir.

The morning service in St. John's was taken by Rev. B. C. H. Andrews, and that in the evening by Rev. J. C. Davidson.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor will be present at the opening of the new Roman Catholic church at Oshawa next Sunday.

The choir at the Park street Baptist church sang the anthem "Oh, Calvary," in a manner most pleasing last evening.

The Moderator of the local Presbytery will take one service in each of the Peterborough Presbyterian churches next Sunday.

Victoria Park will be the objective point of the Park street Baptist Sunday school scholars' excursion about the middle of July.

Next Sunday is Floral Sunday in St. Andrew's, when a special service will be held in the evening for the Sunday School schoolars.

Rev. Mr. Lewis of Trenton, preached a powerful and interesting sermon last evening from the pulpit of the Charlotte street Methodist church.

The morning anthem in the Charlotte street church was entitled "My Saviour's Voice." The solo part was very efficiently taken by Miss Florence Hall.

Yesterday morning Rev. A MacWilliams preached to a large audience from Is. 5, 4. At the close of the service Mr. Petrie and Mr. Cunningham were inducted into the eldership.

St. John's choir sung an anthem, last evening, which was greatly appreciated by the congregation. It was entitled "Take My Yoke Upon You," and was rendered most harmoniously.

Yesterday's services in the Park street Baptist church were very largely attended. Rev. Mr. Pady in the evening took as his text, "He went away sorrowful," Matt. xix, 22, and "He went away rejoicing," Acts vii.

St. Andrew's Sunday school picnic will be down the river to Idyl Wild on Wednesday, July 3rd. There will be a series of games and prizes for the scholars. All Sunday school scholars go free. Adult tickets will be 35 cents.

"I will bless the Lord at all Times" was the title of the anthem sung in St. Andrews church last evening. Under the skilful tuition of Mr. G. W. Mulligan, this choir is attaining high rank amongst the musical organisations of the town.

The Charlotte street church choir sang "Now the Day is Over," as an anthem last evening, Miss Pollard taking the anthem solo. Miss Florence Hall and Mr. W. J. Squires took the duet. The different parts were rendered in a manner most creditable.

Mr. W. W. Daly, who is spending a few weeks in Peterborough, sang at the offertory in the Charlotte street church last night, the solo "Land of Rest," Pinsuti. The pathetic sweetness of his selection received a most sympathetic interpretation by Mr. Daly, whose vocal abilities have always been highly appreciated in Peterborough and elsewhere in Ontario.

At the evening service in the George Street Methodist Church, on Sunday evening, Mr. G. K. Martin gave great delight with his cultured singing of two solo numbers. He gave the recitation from Mendelssohn's "Elijah"—"O Lord I Have Laboured in Vain," and the aria from the same oratorio, "O Rest in the Lord." Mr. Martin's fine baritone voice was heard to excellent advantage, and his finish and expression were admirable.

A SERIOUS CHARGE IF PROVEN.

W. J. Lundy Arrested Saturday—The Children's Aid Society Interested.

A case in which W. J. Lundy, a tailor, is charged with assaulting two little girls, will be heard by the police magistrate to-morrow morning.

It is charged that Lundy enticed the children into an empty house on Chamberlain street and there attempted numerous indecencies.

The parents of the children had the warrants issued for the arrest and Lundy, who is a married man, was released on his own recognisance.

The Children's Aid Society will handle the prosecution, as both the little girls are of an age, which entitles them to receive the aid of the Society.

LINES

Written on the death of Douglas N. Record, son of Richard and Jessie Record:

Dear little Douglas you have gone,
O yes for ever gone;
While in this world you knew no sin,
So gentle, kind and young.

Your days were like a passing flower,
So pleasant, short and sweet;
Watched o'er by Him you now enjoy,
In heaven you Him did meet.

Your heavenly home where now you dwell,
Amidst a happy throng;
To sing the Saviour's dying love,
In everlasting song.

While standing by the silent form,
We thought of days gone by,
And joining in his childish sports
Alas, unknowing why—

A mother's pride, a father's love,
And now that vacant chair
Where oft he sat with cheerful smile,
Can never see him more.

My darling hope, my cherished love,
A mother's daily care.
Alas death snatched my flower away,
O yes, for evermore.

His well known step throughout the house,
Kind parents watch in vain,
But that sweet kindly lisping voice,
Will ne'er be heard again.

In playful mirth upon the street,
With children he did play,
When death approached in warning voice,
"Sweet cherub come away."

Amidst yon heavenly happy home,
Which Christ's love doth enfold,
Whose gates are glittering diamonds bright,
And streets are paved with gold.

With golden harps, amidst the throng,
Saints' praise of love is heard
Amongst this throng redeemed ones
Of Christ their righteous Lord.

But Douglass, dear, the time will come—
How soon no one can tell—
When we will leave this world of sin
With you and Christ to dwell.

How sweet to see the Saviour smile,
And hear angelic praise,
For while on earth He children blessed,
While in His arms them raised.

He blesseth little children still
In tender loving strain,
To fountains clear he leadeth them,
Which cleanseth every stain.

While mourning in this world below,
Our minds oft run above,—
To Jesus, King and Lord of all,
Whose daily gift is love.

CRICKET.

The second eleven of the Peterborough Cricket club, which was beaten here last Saturday by Trinity's second team by 21 runs, had the pleasure on Saturday of turning the tables on Port Hope and winning by 33 runs from the team which had previously defeated them.

The fielding of the Peterboroughs in Port Hope was as snappy and creditable as it was loose on the occasion of the previous match. Hal Burnham's trundling won the game though, as his bowling was on the wickets all day and he took 5 wickets for twelve runs. Court Pousette also did well at the bowling, although he did not have much of an opportunity of testing his skill, only pitching two overs and two balls. Two of the overs were maidens, and one of the two balls took a wicket for 0 runs.

Max Pousette put together a hard hit 24, being the top score of the day. King made 14 before his bails were off. McGill's 9 were nicely made.

The score was as is appended :—

The match was decided on the results of the first innings, as there was not time sufficient for the school to play out its second innings. The score therefore stands at 78 to 45 in favour of Peterborough. When at the bat for the second time the visiting team were returned for 34 runs.

A number of good matches will be played on the P.A.A.A. grounds during July with crack cricket clubs from the west.

LACROSSE.

The Athletic lacrosse club is in splendid form this year and are prepared to uphold the name of Peterborough against the strongest clubs in the Dominion, with the exception of those scheduled in the National League. The Driving Park grounds have been fitted up until a better lacrosse field would be hard to find. Nothing has been left undone. The club never had so many players to pick a team from before, and the result is that splendid practice are indulged in every evening, as all are first class men.

The club is most anxious to arrange games with the Excelsiors of Brampton, the Seaforth or St. Mary's clubs or in fact any of the strong western teams. Challenges from any club courting a good game should be addressed to Mr. Thos. McDonough, Secretary, Oriental Hotel.

The club has arranged ten games to take place on the local grounds during July, and the public should turn out strong to give so good a team all the encouragement possible.

THE TURF.

Harry B., the game campaigner, formerly owned by Mr. Harry LeBrun, is still covering himself with glory upon the Western circuits. At Detroit on Friday he was entered in the 2.20 class race and made so good a second that the Toronto Globe says he could have won the race had his driver been so inclined. By all accounts it would seem that Harry B. can trot almost as fast as he likes.

BASEBALL.

The Belleville Intelligencer says :—Manager Thomson, of the City team, has received a request from the Manager of the Peterborough club for a game on Wednesday, the 26th inst., the day of the I.O.O.F. excursion to that town. It is likely a team will be sent out.

AN ARMENIAN WEDDING.

At Which Everybody Was Happy, Including the Bride.

A Tiflis correspondent of the London Daily Graphic writes as follows : During my stay here I have had an opportunity of studying a few of the social customs of the Armenians. The other day I was permitted to see a wedding. The degenerate Armenians of to-day dress very much like other people, therefore the men were in dress coats, and the ladies in the ordinary evening dress of Europe. The bride and bridesmaids were in white muslin, and the bride had a magnificent veil and the usual wreath of orange blossoms. Of course, there was a fair sprinkling of generals. The party was given in the evening, and the staircase was profusely decorated with evergreens. The ceremony in church was similar to that of the Greek Church, but what was original was the return from the church. On the arrival of the party Bengal lights were let off, then two priests, bearing very massive candles, and attired in gorgeous robes of cloth of gold, ascended the stairs to the first landing. Here they turned and waited for the procession to form. On each side of them stood a young man holding a drawn sword. Then the bride and bridegroom, followed by the bridesmaids and their escorts, came up the stairs, at the top of which the national guitar and tamborine were being scrummed and banged with a will.

AN ARMENIAN WEDDING.

Presently the music ceases. The priest asked me for a match, with which I lighted the candles. Then more Bengal lights and then a solemn chant from the two priests, who proceeded to bless the couple. After the blessing had been pronounced the priests turned tail and continued their ascent of the stair, chanting, followed by the bride and bridegroom, who were attended by the two men with the drawn swords, which they held over the heads of the newly-wedded pair. More Bengal lights! Then when congratulations had been duly exchanged, the guitars and tamborines started an unholy row, and ladies and gentlemen commenced to quiver and shake and generally make contortions and glide along the saloon. That is called dancing the Lisginka. Several old and sober people, sitting in corners, kept clapping their hands in a monotonous sort of way, but everybody was very happy, even the bride.

CHAMBERLAIN FORCED THE CRISIS.

In Doing So He Thwarted the Conservative Policy.

New York, June 23.—Ballard Smith cables from London to The World : Mr. Chamberlain has forced the present crisis, against the judgment and wishes of Mr. Balfour. The Tory leaders desired that the Government should continue in power, in the expectation that the longer it remained the better the chance that Tories might get the majority of the independent Liberal-Unionist vote, which would have enabled them to adopt a firm attitude in the apportionment of places among the Liberal-Unionists. Mr. Chamberlain has defeated this policy by precipitating the present crisis. It is now known that the defeat of the Government was secured by an unexpected and abnormal rally of Mr. Chamberlain's followers. It is even said that they entered the building through private doors from the Speaker's residence, so as to avoid marking by the Government whips.

It is possible that the Tory leaders may decline to take office under such circumstances, in which event the present Cabinet would be restored and would be in a more powerful position than ever, being forced to retain office by the incapacity of their opponents to undertake its responsibilities, contrary to prevailing statements on the subject.

The Irish leaders are bringing strong influence to bear on Mr. Gladstone to make one pronouncement on the Irish question, either by a speech or a manifesto, which, in their opinion, would again make Home Rule the predominant question at the general election. Mr. Gladstone's assent has not so far been obtained, but the McCarthyites are hopeful that his unabated interest in the success of Home Rule may induce him to depart from his oft-repeated resolution never to interfere again in current politics.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

The Queen Received the Resignation Without Reluctance.

The Morning Post, in its comments on the resignation of the Rosebery Cabinet, says: "Thus falls the rump of the Gladstone administration. Where is the revolutionary resolution against the House of Lords?"

The Daily News, the organ of the Liberals, says that the Queen accepted Lord Rosebery's resignation as she did that of Mr. Gladstone—without the expression of reluctance with which she favored Lord Salisbury when he retired from office.

Lord Rosebery and Sir William Vernon Harcourt strongly favored resigning at the Cabinet Council. The Prime Minister considered that the Government, which was weakened by its defeat in the House of Commons, was not well qualified to deal with foreign affairs.

When Sir William Vernon Harcourt announces the resignation of the Government in the House of Commons Monday afternoon, he will probably move that the House adjourn for a few days.

The Daily News declares that the Liberals will not be caught napping if Lord Salisbury resolves upon a quick dissolution of the House. The officers of the National Liberal Federation have foreseen a possible election this summer. Nevertheless The Daily News urges that every constituency without a Liberal candidate should immediately select the best man they can find.

The paper declares that the crisis was not so sudden as it seemed. A government at the mercy of sudden accidents and unexpected catastrophes cannot conduct public business with credit to itself or advantage to the country.

The Standard (Conservative) says that the decisive voice as to whether the Government should resign or continue, in office was that of Sir William Vernon Harcourt. He declined to attempt to carry on business with the present reduced and uncertain majority.

The Thunderer on the New Cabinet.

London, June 24.—The Times says that Lord Salisbury will be Prime Minister, but that he is unlikely to care to reunite with that office the heavy labors of the Foreign Office, which will go to the Duke of Devonshire, if he desires to accept it. The paper does not regard this as an ideal arrangement, as Lord Salisbury has unequalled knowledge of Foreign Affairs, while the Duke of Devonshire's strength is merely domestic. Yet, the latter possesses prudence, firmness, sound common sense and high patriotic feeling, while he will always have Lord Salisbury's vast fund of diplomatic information and political insight to draw on. Mr. Balfour will be the Government leader in the House of Commons. Mr. Chamberlain can claim the very highest office in the gift of the Government next to the three offices. The greatest opening for the display of his abilities and energies is in the War Office, where a vast and vital work of reform must be carried out.

The Times places Sir Michael Hicks-Beach as Chancellor of the Exchequer, Right Hon. George J. Goschen as First Lord of the Admiralty and Right Hon. Leonard Henry Courtney as President of the Board of Trade.

The Times contends that in a Unionist coalition government Mr. Balfour's bimetallist opinions would make him impossible as Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Colt's Teeth.

In the colt the incisor and the first three molars on each jaw are always temporary and replaced by permanent teeth some time during the animal's life. The last three molars are always permanent and are never replaced. The teeth make their appearance as follows : The two middle incisors and the first three molars make their appearance before or some days after birth; the first laterals four or six weeks after birth, second laterals or corner teeth, six or nine months after birth, the fourth molar (first permanent ones) is cut at 10 to 12 months of age. At two and one-half years the middle incisors and the first and second molars are replaced. At the same time the fifth molar is cut. At three and one-half the first lateral incisors and the third molar are replaced. At four and one-half the corner teeth are replaced, and the sixth molar is cut. In case of a male the canine teeth are also replaced at four and one-half.

"ALWAYS GOOD AT GOUGH'S."

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

375 and 577 George Street, June 21.

They Came, They Bought,

As They Never Bought Before.

And still they come, and still they buy. Busy yesterday—busier to-morrow. We have had to "hustle," trying to get every customer served quickly and properly. Straw Hats, Summer Shirts, Summer Underwear, Summer Clothing, Summer Boots and Shoes and Summer Neckwear were most in demand. But we have the goods this season—as we always have---and we are selling at very close prices---as we always do. That's why we have your trade. We want your trade, and we know that the right way to get and keep it is to have a good variety of everything and to sell cheap---cheaper than anybody else.

Our Campaign.

Our Summer Campaign for business is carried on on business principles—keeping the best Clothing for the best money. We are just far enough away from Fakerville to consider living a pleasure. Merchants all over Canada are trying to figure out where we get goods to sell so cheap. Sometimes they club together and petition manufacturers not to sell us, and sometimes they swear the goods are not as represented, and sometimes they buy the goods to sell again.

Who do we buy from? Well, here are a few pretty solid names we can refer you to :—W. E. Sandfords, John Calder & Co, Laily Watsons, W. R. Johnson, McKena & Thomson, Small & Co, and from people who make specialties.

Success hasn't come by chance. This business has grown because you wanted it to. Your encouragement gave us the right to go ahead.

Men's Summer Clothing.

We have sold an immense quantity of Summer Clothing thus far. Come and see what we can sell you in Light Summer Coats and Cool Vests, Sporting, Camping and Vacation Suits, &c.

—200 Mens' Suits in Sack Tweeds, have been marked $8.45 and 9.50, but they have been knifed and five dollars takes any.
—Fine English unshrinkable flannel coats and vests, striped and checks, all sizes $3.
—Fine French Lustre Coats and Vests in stripes and plain effects, various shades $2.50.
—Fast black Lustre Coats, all sizes, silk finish $1.75.
—Blazer Coats 75c, $1, $1.50, $2.
—German Lustre Coat in black or grey, all shades $1.
—Men's White Duck Trousers. The sort American Tourists are all wearing. Two qualities $1.40 and $1.75. Shapely and swell.
—Men's White Duck and Pique Vests, pearl detachable buttons, all sizes 75 cents.
—10 doz. English Cashmere and Silk Fancy Vests, washable, mother-of-pearl detached Buttons, worth $1.50 for $1 each.

Boy's Summer Suits.

—Boys' Galatea Suits, fast colours, all sizes, sailor collar 90c.
—Boys' White Duck Suits, light or dark blue trimmings, all sizes $1.
—Boys' Blazer Coats 75c.—a snap!
—Boys' Blouses made of American duck, all sizes, fast colours 35c.
—Boys' Tweed Pants 50 and 75c.

We like to talk Boy's Clothing to parents—especially to mothers. We like to draw their attention not only to our low prices, but we have something even more important, —namely, the style and finish and the strong wearing qualities of our Boy's Suits :—

—Boy's Washable Sailor Suits $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75.
—Boy's Tweed Suits $1.50, $1.75, $2 and $2.50.
—Boy's 3-piece Suits $3, $3.75 and $4.
—Youths' Suits $4.50, $5 and $5.50.

Straw Hats.

We welcome comparison. Does anybody know of a larger Hat Store in Canada than our's. Large and roomy enough to enable us to serve great crowds with ease. Our Hats are not all in the windows—they are on the ground floor—thousands to choose from at prices lower than ever. Light weight Felt Hats in very many shapes, just the Hat for present wear. Hats and Caps for touring or a Bicycle. Any kind you want for Boys or Children.

Like Mary Ann, we have "Followers," but imitation is sincerest flattery."

—Tourists, the correct thing, start at 60c.
—Fedoras, all fur-felt, as low as $1.
—Derbys, all colours, right shape $2.
—Stanley Hat, sole agents $2.50.
—Caps, Varsity, all colours 15c.

Inspection will show prices lower than can be had elsewhere. It will be so all the season. Take that for granted.

Cool Summer Shoes.

This is the season when you are looking for something light and cool in footwear. A visit to our store will convince you at once that every care has been paid in the selection of our Oxford Shoes and Tan Boots.

—Russia Calf hand-made Shoe, razor toe, $1.50, instead of $2.

THE FRENCH DEMAND

In Connection With the Manitoba Question.

JONCAS M.P. OUTLINES THE POLICY

Separate Schools for Manitoba Not as Prior to 1890, But With Certified Teachers and Under Government Control—Danger in Demanding Too Much.

Montreal, June 22.—Mr. Joncas, M.P., was seen here to-day and talked quite freely regarding the situation at Ottawa.

"There is no bolt, as has been alleged," and being asked if the Manitoba school question would be brought up this session the member for Gaspe said: "Yes, after the Remedial Order and Hon. Mr. Greenway's refusal we are bound to give Remedial Legislation, and I believe the Government is anxious to carry it out."

"What will be the result?"

"It will be carried by a good majority, and Hon. Mr. Laurier will be obliged to vote for the Government measure. No doubt, a few Government supporters will vote against us, but I have a greater apprehension for the Ultra-Catholics of Manitoba than from the other side."

"Will you kindly explain?"

"It is this way. Senator Bernier and others want a Catholic Council of Public Instruction, the same as in Quebec, and in other matters of detail they go too far. This cannot be if the Manitoba school question is ever to be settled. My position is this: Let the Roman Catholics of Manitoba have their Separate schools, but let them be under Government control, and let every teacher in the province, Protestant and Catholic, be obliged to undergo an examination and be provided with a diploma or certificate of competency. Why, asked the editor of L'Evenement, should a Catholic teacher object to a Government test of ability, education or efficiency any more than a Protestant? Hon. Mr. Greenway's chief point has been the alleged inefficiency of the Catholic schools, and it is the duty of all good Catholics to see that their teachers are equally as well equipped for the work, as those of another faith."

Continuing, the member for Gaspe said that he had stoutly maintained that the friends of the Catholic minority in Manitoba must strictly adhere to the constitution, and when the principle had been gained they must not be too rigid in their demands regarding details.

"What is your opinion regarding the action of the Canadian clergy?"

"They are all talking too much; Mgr. Langevin, the Protestant Synods and Conferences and Mgr. Gravel have all had too much to say in the matter, and as for Bishop Gravel's publication I feel very strongly on the subject. It was the worst kind of a mistake, and I have said so very plainly in my paper. I have heard, however, that the Bishop is most responsible for its publication, and I hope this may be true. It is said he showed the documents to a friend, and the confidence was betrayed.

AFTER MARTIN'S SCALP.

The A.P.A. Resent the Manitoba Statesman's Utterances

Detroit, Mich., June 22.—The published assertions of A. F. Martin of the Manitoba Legislature, in his decision on the school question, have aroused the A.P.A. members here. Wednesday night W. J. H. Traynor, Supreme President of the association, sent a despatch to Mr. Martin, denouncing his reported reflection upon the daughters of American citizens as maliciously false. John S. D. Stevens, Michigan, President of the association, also sent to Mr. Martin a message, demanding to know whether he had been correctly quoted in stating that he had testimony regarding the education of girls in the public schools of the United States, which he considered was unfit to be read in public. Mr. Stevens demanded proof of the allegations, or an apology.

Martin Justifies His Speech.

Winnipeg, Man., June 21.—Mr. Martin, in the Legislature, again rose to a question of privilege, and stated that he had received a telegram from a President of the A.P.A., demanding that he give his authority for his statement regarding immorality of public schools in the United States, or else apologise for his statements. He proceeded to read from the published reports the extracts which he had said were unfit to be published.

MONUMENT TO AN APPLE.

To Mark the Spot Where the Baldwin was Discovered.

A Wilmington (Mass.) correspondent writes: The Rumford Historical Association of Woburn will erect a monument where about 100 years ago was discovered the Baldwin apple.

Samuel Thompson of Woburn, while surveying a route for the Middlesex canal, discovered this apple. His attention had been drawn to it by the number of woodpeckers which gathered about the tree on account of the apples.

Mr. Thompson thought it a new variety, and as it pleased his taste, he called the attention of his neighbors to it, and he and his brother hastened to graft from it many trees on their own estates.

The neighbor and friend of the Thompsons, Colonel Loammi Baldwin, the eminent engineer, showed the fruit to his many guests, who came from distant parts of the country, and this did much for the spread of the apple's fame, which in a few years came to be known as the "Baldwin."

The granite shaft is seven feet high, and is surmounted by a representation of a Baldwin apple.

The shaft will be placed in position within a month.

"SUN" LIFE

Assurance Co'y of Canada.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. The examples are taken from the Company's claim register as at the end of 1894, for the first 5 years.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS.

Last Day of Racing at Ascot—Another Victory for Ravensbury.

London, June 21.—To-day was the last day of the Ascot meet. The attendance was enormous and the events were interesting. The Hardwicke Stakes, for 3-year-olds and upwards, one mile and a half, was won by M. R. Lebaudy's Barbary, by Barcaldine, out of Desert Queen, 3; M. A. Beilley's Callistrate, 2; R. H. Combe's Tithonus, 3.

Betting—10 to 1 against Barbary, 3 to 1 on Callistrate and 4 to 1 against Tithonus. Barbary won by a length and a half. Tithonus was a bad third.

The race for the Wokingham Stakes, with 500 sovereigns added, for 3-year-olds and upwards, three-quarters of a mile, was won by Mr. Blake's Hebron, by Kilwartin, out of Seraphim, 4; Col. North's Redheart, 2; Max Lebaudy's Oatlands, 3. The other starters were Baron De Rothschild's Amandier, aged; Mr. Dobell's Whiston, 3; The Duke of Westminster's Kissing Cup, 3; Daniel Cooper's Paprika, 4; Homar Bass' Blood Thirsty, 4; C. J. Fawcett's Pitcher, 5; W. Newton's Undecided, 4; T. B. Miller's Brisette, 3; T. Jennings' Souvenir II., 4; Col North's Clwyd, 4; the same owner, Northampton, 4, and S. H. Hewitt's Santa Zita, 4.

Betting—7 to 1 against Hebron, 8 to 1 against Redheart, 6 to 1 against Oatlands, 4 to 1 against Amandier, 5 to 1 against Whiston, 10 to 1 against Kissing Cup, 17 to 1 each against Pitcher and Undecided, 20 to 1 each against Brisette and Souvenir II., 25 to 1 against Clwyd and 33 to 1 each against Northampton and Santa Zita.

Hebron won easily by three lengths and Redheart finished two lengths in front of Oatlands.

The Alexandria Plate of 1000 sovereigns, new mile post and go once around, about 8 miles, was won by Capt. Machell's Ravensbury, by Isonomy, out of Penitent, 5, 1; Prince Soltykoff's Lorikat, 2; M. J. Lowther's Houndsditch, 3.

Betting: 7 to 1 on Ravensbury, 25 to 1 against Lorikat, and 8 to 1 against Houndsditch.

The Windsor Castle Stake of 15 sovereigns each, with 300 sovereigns added, for 2-year-olds, 5 furlongs and 136 yards, was won by Mr. H. McCalmont's Cushendall, by Timothy, out of Craftiness, the Duke of Westminster's Attainment 2; Lord Wolverton's Musley Chief 3. The other starters were Eccleston, Bay Ronald, Barney Hill, Bonne Fortune and La Masquerade.

Betting: 8 to 1 against Cushendall, even money on Attainment, 10 to 1 against Musley Chief, Bay Ronald, Barney Hill, Bonne Fortune and La Masquerade each, and 5 to 1 against Eccleston.

IT CALMS SHYING HORSES.

Magic Nose Bit Invented by a Humane Connecticut Yankee.

A really remarkable device for making any shying horse perfectly calm and tractable is the new invention of Henry Small of this city, says the Hartford Times. Properly speaking, it is not a "bit," for it does not go into the horse's mouth at all, but it only a simple nose-piece that goes over the horse's upper lip, but does not necessarily draw on or even scarcely touch it unless the driver has a gentle pull on it; then it touches the end of the animal's nose or upper lip; and that mere touch which should not be increased much does the whole business.

Mr. Small's contrivance consists of a simple headstall, proprietary brace, and coming down between the horse's eyes and nostrils, to its end in the shape of a sort of little metallic upper lip. This latter little piece of metal, only about two inches long and not half an inch wide, is humorously called a "trolley bit." Its curving side-ends, like an ordinary bit, are so devised that a very slight, gentle pull on the reins brings the "trolley bit" against the tip of the horse's nose.

In complete absorption of the study of a new experience the horse may be driven right up by the side of a noisy locomotive, or a gong-banging trolley car, that presents to the horse, under ordinary circumstances, the sinister aspect of a moving, perhaps a living thing, going without any visible means of compulsion; and in his strict attention to the new sensation at the tip of his nose he will take no notice of the car or of the locomotive. The queerest thing of all is the fact that no amount of use or familiarity with the nose-toucher arrangement seems to lessen the horse's interest in it.

A Pretty Lawn Table.

Stumps of good old trees that have outlived their usefulness and been relegated to the wood pile, are not uncommonly seen upon our lawns, and many attempts are made to turn them to artistic and useful account. Perhaps as successful a way as any and rather more to the artist's taste is that suggested by the accompanying sketch. Its simplicity recommends it as well as does its use and pleasing effect on the lawn. The stump is first sawed off perfectly level and then fitted with a top of thick board of the desired dimensions. Four rustic supports or brackets are placed underneath at the four corners. These should be as much as possible in their natural state, with any little crookedness of knots allowed to show, as they add much to the pretty effect of the whole. The edges, too, of the top board may be given a rustic tone by tacking to them strips of wood with the bark on them. When the little table is finished and "set" with its dishes and pots of plants, the owner of it is quite sure to stand off a little way and admire it audibly. All summer long it will be a charming abiding place for the choicest house plants, out of the reach of tiny marauders and within sure reach of admiring eyes.

GRATIFYING INTELLIGENCE.

Word Received of the Complete Recovery of Mrs. John Dowly.

OWEN SOUND, June 24—Word has been received here of the complete restoration to health of Mrs. John Dowly, wife of a former well known and esteemed resident of the town. The intelligence has been very gladly received as Mrs. Dowly has many friends here who are well aware of the lamentable condition of her health during the past six or seven years. Her illness has been found to result from a severe kidney complaint and she has been restored to health by a judicious use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which is now well known to most of the residents in this locality as having previously affected some extraordinary cures.

Consumption Was Feared.

DEAR SIRS,—Over three years ago I was troubled with a nasty cough and really thought I would go into consumption. A friend advised me to try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and one bottle gave me great relief. After taking four bottles I can truthfully say I have never had a cough since. MARY SHINGLES, Wallaceburg, Ont.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, Liver, or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 399 George street.

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., Brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., Prostrated by Nervous Headaches--A Victim of the Trouble for Several Years --South American Nervine Effected a Complete Cure.

In their own particular field few men are better known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother, Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognised by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario, his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference, and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headaches, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them, and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell. The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

FATAL HEROISM OF A GIRL.

In Trying to Save Her Young Brother Both Lose Their Lives

Midland, June 23.—Saturday a boy of [illegible] and his sister, aged 11, children of [illegible] Rathwell, were bathing in the bay. The boy got beyond his depth, and the sister tried to rescue him and both were drowned.

Took Carbolic Acid in Mistake.

Hamilton, June 20.—Miss Matilda Elliott, daughter of Mr. S. Elliott, No. 172 Victoria-avenue north, took a quantity of carbolic acid Friday night in mistake for medicine, and may lose her life.

DROUGHT IN ENGLAND.

It Has Extended Even to Some Towns and Is Serious.

London, June 24.—The drought is beginning to be serious in towns as well as to the farmers of England. Birmingham, Coventry and many other places have placed severe restrictions on the use of water, and the flushing of sewers at night has been stopped. At Stratford-on-Avon, the river is quite dry below the mill bridge, and the people are walking along the bed. There is much distress among the live stock in Sussex.

The Purchasers Coming From Paris to Examine the Island

Paris, June 23.—A party composed of Mr. Jules Despecher, the purchaser of the Island of Anticosti; Dujarden Beaumetz, Paul Comes and George Martin leave Havre to-day by the steamer La Bourgogne. They will proceed from Quebec between July 6 and 10 to explore the island.

A JURY OF WOMEN.

To Try a Breach of Promise Case in Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., June 23.—Judge M. C. Sauffley will try at the next term of the Garrard Circuit Court an action for breach of promise, brought by W. C. Stivers against Miss Katherine West. Judge Sauffley proposes to try the case before a jury of women, which he can do under the constitution. He suggests that if he cannot secure a jury in Garrard County he will send to Mercer for one.

Toronto Markets

Toronto, June 24. — Flour—No demand and prices are purely nominal.

Bran—Market steady for bran at $12.50, Toronto freights. Shorts are quoted at $16.50.

Wheat — Trade is stagnant, with no enquiry, and if wheat had been pressed for sale, we doubt if more than 65c would have been paid for white or red on the Northern or at western points. No. 1 Manitoba hard is nominal at $1, Toronto freights.

Peas—Trade is quiet, with demand limited. Cars are quoted at 62c, west.

Barley—Trade dull and prices nominal at 52c to 55c for feeding qualities.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices heavy. Car lots of white are quoted at 36c, west, and at 39c on track.

Rye—Trade dull, with prices nominal at 53c outside.

Oatmeal—Market is dull, with prices unchanged at $4 to $4.10 on track for ordinary qualities.

HAPPY RESULTS IN CANADIAN HOMES.

From every city, town and village in Canada, mothers have written, telling how their children have grown from weak and puny babes to healthy, happy and hearty boys and girls, through being fed daily on Lactated Food.

This experience is confirmed by all mothers who have used Lactated Food, and hundreds of doctors who have recommended this best of all foods, vouch for the wonderful results it has accomplished.

When Lactated Food is use, weak babies are made strong; thin babies put on solid flesh; cross babies are made bright and contented, care and worry are banished from the family circle, and mother, father, sisters and brothers rejoice in the growth and development of the young babe.

MONTREAL SUICIDES.

MOTHER AND SON BOTH SEEK DEATH

How French-Canadian Members and Their Press View the Struggle for a Remedial Law—Desnoyers' Reply to Tupper—General Montreal News.

Montreal, June 23.—There was a sad scene at the Police Court Saturday, where a woman named Guilmette and her son, aged 16, were both charged with having attempted suicide. Mrs. Guilmette started for the river and would have jumped in had she not been prevented by the police, and the boy tried to cut his throat with a razor. The husband and father testified that his wife was a good woman, but her worst fault was ill nature.

Mr. Joncas, M.P., in his regular parliamentary correspondence to L'Evenement, says: "We have just read the pastoral letter addressed by His Lordship Mgr. Gravel to the people of his diocese, also that of Cardinal Ledochowski, and we cannot help believing and saying that a more inopportune occasion could never have been chosen than the present to give such a document publicity. Far from guiding us, this letter of Cardinal Ledochowski, written, no doubt, with the best intentions, will create new embarrassments to those who are honestly working for the cause which Mgr. Gravel pleads so eloquently. No doubt several newspapers, as well as members of Parliament, who are hostile anyway to intervention, will not fail to use this document to create prejudice and attempt to make it appear that the Federal Government is being forced to obey the word of the Church of Rome.

Mr. D. Girouard, M.P. for Jeques Cartier, who arrived in the city from Ottawa this morning, when asked if it was true that there existed any dissension regarding the Manitoba School question in the ranks of the Conservative party, said, "I am not aware of any, or of any trouble whatever in the party, and the report to the effect that there was almost a crisis is certainly untrue and without foundation."

"What is the policy of the Government?"

"I am not a Cabinet minister, but as an old politician it seems to me that the Government is bound to carry out the Remedial Order."

"When?"

"First, we have to await the official answer of Manitoba. If there is sufficient time to consider this question during the present term it should be done."

La Minerve says there is no excitement among the French Conservative members at Ottawa, and denies that they have put any ultimatum to the Cabinet on the Manitoba School question. Then it adds: "The groups of Protestant members are far from being unanimous on the action to be taken; prejudice is at work and the various Protestant synods are almost unanimous in refusing to grant to the Catholic minority the right of exacting the execution of the judgment of the Privy Council without taking into account the fact that the inopportune publication of certain very respectable documents has added new fuel to the fiery speeches of the anti-Catholic element. All these are great difficulties which have to be overcome. The Liberals alone are able to feel pleased over the matter, but this is done at the expense of the cause of the religious minority of Manitoba."

The shipment of live stock has not been so active so far as during the same period last season. The following are the shipments of cattle and sheep for the week ending June 22, 1895:

Abe Orpen and his lambs appeared before the bar of justice yesterday and pleaded not guilty. The bail was placed at $200. His Honor advised the boys to plead guilty, as it would save them trouble and money, but they decided to fight it out, cost what it may.

A letter from Marsboro, Que., states that a farmer not many miles from that village has adopted a unique and effectual, if hardly humane, method of keeping his sheep from jumping fences. He has, in fact, dismantled the whole flock and has left them to pick for their living in this lamentable condition.

Another row took place on the Soulanges Canal last night between two Russian workmen, and in the course of the affair one drew a stiletto and stabbed his adversary, by name John Letio, between the shoulders. The wounded man lost consciousness. The wound is an ugly one fully four inches in depth, and doubts are expressed as to his recovery.

Mr. Donald MacMaster, Q.C., sailed for Europe on the Parisian.

James Brown, who attempted to commit suicide a week since by jumping into the canal, was arrested this evening for vagrancy, and while in the cell took a knife blade from his boot and began to saw his arm. The police rushed in and seized the knife, but Brown declares he is determined to take his own life, and will succeed sooner or later. The unfortunate man hails from Chicago.

"The Minister of Justice, speaking from his seat in the House, is covered by his immunities, and if, instead of protecting the functionaries of the law, as he is in duty bound, he exposes them to the malevolence of the public, the only remedy left to the magistrate whose reputation has been assailed is to refer to the testimony of the public, among whom he has exercised his functions during nearly 20 years."

Thus spoke His Honor Judge Desnoyers, reading the despatch from Ottawa concerning Sir Charles Tupper's remark on His Honor's judgment in the St. Louis case. Continuing, Judge Desnoyers said: "I have no cause for grievance against the Hon. Mr. Laurier, for the simple reason that he spoke in terms becoming a public man. He disapproved of my conclusions. I do not complain of that. He may be right and I may be wrong, but between that and saying that I caused a miscarriage of justice there is a wide sea of difference, but I must say he is the first disinterested person that I have heard so far expressing his opinion in that sense, after reading my judgment. Several judges of the higher courts and lawyers foremost in the profession, as well as citizens of high standing and intelligence, have endorsed my conclusion."

TOO COSTLY BY HALF

Mr. Mulock's Bill to Reduce Vicegeral Salaries.

TIME A CHANCE WAS MADE

Mr. Mulock and Mr. McMullen Make Strong Speeches in Support of the Bill—How Mr. Wallace Dispenses Patronage Inspection of Locomotive Boilers.

Ottawa, Ont., June 24.—The way in which the Controller of Customs has been dispensing the patronage of his office, does not meet with the approval of some of the Government supporter and notably the members for Toronto. They complain that Mr. Wallace has ignored their recommendations in making appointments, and that he has placed too many of his own personal friends in office. A question which stood in the name of Mr. Gibson, was asked the Controller in the House to-day concerning a number of recent appointments and the Controller gave a partial reply. He said that J. McIntosh of Woodbridge was a preventive officer at $1000 a year; R. White, Toronto, preventive officer, $1.50 a day; S. Wilson, Toronto, relieving officer, $50 a month; J. Paisley, Orangeville, relieving officer, $45 a month; J. A. Warson, N.W.T., employed at Ottawa at $1.70 a day; O. Clewlo, Toronto Custom House, $550 a year.

Mr. Casey attempted to obtain from the House assent to a resolution in favor of providing for "the inspection of locomotive boilers by Government officials in the same manner as is now provided in regard to marine and other boilers." His attention had been called to this important matter, he said, by resolutions which had been passed by the railway brotherhoods. He supported it in a vigorous speech, urging that the number of lives and the amount of property depending upon locomotive boilers is as great as upon marine boilers. He gave statistics of casualties during some years past on this continent to show the necessity for the inspection he was asking for. These showed not only that there is danger from the bursting of locomotive boilers, but also from the blowing out of tubes or gauges. He made an eloquent plea in behalf of the brave engineers and firemen, whose lives, he submitted, were as valuable, and should be protected as far as possible in their hazardous vocations.

Hon. Mr. Haggart, speaking for the Government, opposed the resolution, on two grounds. In the first place, he said that all locomotives on Government railways are now inspected, and he thought that the Grand Trunk, Canadian Pacific and other railways also tested thoroughly their engines at regular periods, as a protection to their own interests. These inspections, he believed, were as effective as if the Government did the work. Besides there was doubt as to the jurisdiction of this Parliament to institute such an inspection. For these reasons he asked Mr. Casey to withdraw his resolution.

Mr. Casey replied as to the necessity for Government inspection that he considered the men who work the engines were the best judges. The fact, too, that six locomotives were blown up in Canada during the past two years, two men being killed in one of the explosions, was strong testimony against the Minister of Railway's opinion. However, as the Government were opposed to the resolution, putting their objection upon the ground of jurisdiction, it would be useless to press it further. He accordingly withdrew it.

Mr. Mulock, in moving the second reading of his bill to reduce the salary of the Governor-General to $35,000, said that he had made the proposition from no hostility to the present incumbent of the office, or from no desire to degrade the office, but purely in the interest of economy, and he thought in the interest of the office as well. In addition to the regular salary which was referred to in the Confederation Act, there were large annual votes of money to be expended in connection with the office, which was purely voluntary. The Confederation Act provided that unless altered by the Parliament of Canada the salary should be $10,000 a year. It did not say that the amount should be unalterable, but it rather wanted alteration, and he thought the time had come when he was justified in proposing that a change should be made. Since Confederation Canada had paid to the Governors-General in salaries $1,216,666; traveling expenses $145,903; salaries of secretaries, $1,270,350; contingencies in connection with Governor-General's office $217,426; rental $7854; purchase of Rideau Hall $82,000; alterations, additions, repairs and maintenance $547,143; furniture $108,853; wages $94,349; fuel and light $151,371: or a total of $851,917, or an average annual expenditure of $114,076, being $65,410 in excess of the annual salary of $48,666 mentioned in the Confederation Act. The statutory salaries of the Governor-General of Canada and the Lieutenant Governors of the provinces totalled $119,666. The President of the United States, the Vice-President and the Governors of the States received in salaries $289,600. On the basis of population Canada paid in salaries to Governors six times as much as did the United States. The executive head of the Dominion cost $115,000 annually, as against $64,000, paid in salaries to the Ministers at Washington, or about 80 per cent. more. Without wishing to say anything to reflect on the present incumbent of the office, he said that Canada was oppressed by the maintenance of its officials. Mr. Mulock conceded that there was no special credit due to either party for promoting economy in this direction. He did not hold either party responsible. The responsibility rested upon Parliament.

Mr Daly, the member of the Government who undertook the criticism of the bill, accused Mr. Mulock of a desire to secure some cheap popularity amongst a class of people known as Patrons, or others who had a little spasmodic economy at the present time. He had no expectation of its being carried. The minister reminded the House that in 1868 the Imperial Government had withheld assent from a similar measure and he prophesied that if another bill were sent over it would meet with a like reception. He argued that if another bill were sent over it would meet with a like reception. He argued that if the fathers of Confederation thought the office of Governor-General of the provinces that then formed the Dominion worth £10,000 a year the amount was not unreasonable, now that the jurisdiction of the office had extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

He maintained that to uphold the dignity of the office it was necessary to pay an adequate salary. He moved the six months' hoist.

Mr. McMullen said that several of the Australian colonies had reduced themselves by the course of extravagance which they had pursued. The Home Government had disallowed the proposed reduction in 1868 because the new system had only been in operation for a year, and the possibilities of the country were then not known. He admitted that it was desirable to have a man of great ability to fill the position of Governor-General, especially when the country had a weak government, but, notwithstanding, the time had come when a change in the salary should be made. Rideau Hall, which had cost $82,000 originally, had become a political sink-hole, through which an enormous amount of money had been squandered in its maintenance. Mr. McMullen said that he had been informed, though he did not make the statement himself, that one Governor-General had saved out of his salary during his term $20,000, which he had taken back to England with him. There was a large class of the people of both parties that was strongly in favor of a reduction of the expenses at Rideau Hall. He favored a reduction in official salaries all round.

Sir James Grant moved the adjournment of the debate.

STREET CAR CASHIER KILLED.

$200 Taken, But $5000 in the Safe Untouched.

Chicago, June 24.—C. B. Birch, one of the barn cashiers of the West Chicago Street Railway Company, was murdered in his office at the car barns at Milwaukee and Armitage-avenue Sunday afternoon. The cash drawer was robbed of from $100 to $200. The cashier was in a wire cage, but had left the door open. When the robber demanded the money Birch reached for his gun and was immediately shot. The safe in the office contained $5000 and the door was open, but this money was not touched.

Ten Military Murderers Shot.

Przemysl, Austrian Galicia, June 24.—A court martial sitting here convicted 26 Hussars of the murder of a quartermaster and three non-commissioned officers. Ten of the convicted men were selected by lot and sentenced to death. They were shot to-day. The other 16 were sentenced to life imprisonment.

WOMAN SHOT BY A GIRL.

Attempted Murder, the Result of a Strang Infatuation.

Chicago, June 25.—A mad infatuation for Miss Frances Sharman led Mary Linnett of 33 North Campbell-avenue to make an attempt upon Miss Sharman's life to-day. Miss Sharman is 35 years of age and Mary is not yet 17. The latter formed an attachemnt for the elder woman and, it is said, grew insanely jealous whenever Miss Sharman even so much as spoke to another.

This morning she called Miss Sharman to the rear door of her house and asked her to come out and talk with her. Miss Sharman refused, and as she started back the girl shot her in the head. The wound is not mortal. The girl escaped and is supposed to have committed suicide.

Miss Sharman says that Mary has manifested a strange infatuation for her ever since their first meeting.

"She has frequently told me," she said, "that she would rather hold my hand and be near me than any one she knew, and whenever I paid the slightest attention to another she showed pain."

Seven Worth of Fish at One Haul.

Gloucester, Mass., June 25.—One of the largest catches of mackerel about Cape Ann in the last eight years was taken by the schooner Kearsarge yesterday afternoon. Captain Mills was on his way home from the Cape shore with only about 40 barrels to show in that locality, when off Thatcher's Island the vessel ran into a big school of mackerel. The seine pursed up fully $5,000 worth of fish.

THE OCEAN FLOATER.

She Was Patched Up and Taken to a Montreal Drydock.

Cornwall, June 25.—The Cornwall Canal, which had been closed since the steamer Ocean carried away three lock gates last Wednesday, reopened for navigation this morning, and, although one lock gate yet remains to be put in position, the work of getting the vessels through is going on steadily. The propeller Acadia was the first up-going vessel locked through; then came the Melbourne and Persia, eastward bound. The steamer Ocean, which caused the whole trouble, was floated yesterday by the aid of steam pumps. She was calked up as well as possible and canvased, after which she was taken to Montreal to be put in dry dock for repairs. Part of her cargo was left at Cornwall.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS.

Poughkeepsie, June 24.—Almost in the face of a stiffish wind and in water so rough that the boats of her two opponents filled and swamped, one before and the other after the finish line was passed, Columbia rowed steadily on to victory this evening in the fast time of 21 minutes and 25 seconds. Cornell was second 7 lengths back. Her time was 21 minutes, 46 2-5 seconds. Pennsylvania's evil luck lasted to the end. Her scull, smashed by the waves from Gov. Morton's tug last Friday and patched up till it was practically as good as new, went down over a mile from the finish. The Cornell boat was swamped just below her own boat house after the race was over by swells from the steamboats and was fairly broken in two. Pennsylvania's shell suffered little.

There seemed to be much less betting before the crowd moved across to the west shore than on Friday. The odds showed some change. The Cornell men, instead of giving 4 and 5 to 1 against Columbia, offered 2 to 1. which was eagerly accepted. The Columbia men had more money than anybody else here and snapped up everything that was offering. The members of the crew staked an amount aggregating fully $3000 at average odds of 2 to 1. These bets were made last week and were renewed after the race was postponed. Cornell was a 7 to 5 favorite over the field.

New York Cricketers Defeat Germantown.

Philadelphia, June 23.—At Manheim a surprise which was considerable in its dimensions took place, All New York defeating the Germantown eleven by an inning and 98 runs, something not even the most sanguine New Yorker expected. Germantown, who had batted first on Friday, made 114, and the visitors were not disposed of yesterday until they had gotten together the large score of 356 runs. F. P. Kelly was in a great measure responsible for this result, his innings being a most creditable one of 84 not out. Ogilby also did good work, his 45 being made by cricket which was decidedly first-class. Tyers made 78. Cobb did wonderful work with the ball in the second innings.

Madrid, June 24.—An insane man was arrested yesterday while trying to force his way into the Palace, declaring he had been invited to dine with the Queen Regent.

A Good Story.

A story is going the rounds at the expense of one of the best known men of this place. We shall not mention his name, but you know him. Of rather determined mien, he has of late been showing signs of mental agitation. He wears a full beard, but a few days since, his wife, much to her alarm, found him sharpening a razor. She thought his mind was unhinged and went into hysterics. Explanations followed and it was found that life had for him still some charm. He intended to use the razor upon painful corns. A friend who had used Putnam's Corn Extractor with success, advised its use, with the following results: Man quite happy, wife ditto, razor sent away. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

HORSE VERSUS BICYCLE.

This is an age of extremes. The people seize upon a new thing and hang on to it with great energy. In Saturday's Montreal Star there appeared an article upon the "Passing of the Horse," intended to show how the trolley car and the bicycle are crowding "man's best friend," the horse, to the wall. But bicyclists and bicycles, though they may well claim to be fast, should not be too fast. The horse is with us to stay. Mr. Walker, General Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in his address at the annual meeting, said:

"Still it is fair to presume that as horses have also lately shown a decided change for the better, and attempts are being made ... better animals, we can count on profitable returns from cattle, pigs, sheep and horses, which means a great deal for Ontario." ... This means that the right kind of a horse will always be in more or less active demand. True, the demand for horses to be killed drawing street cars is practically over, but for riding and driving the horse will never go out of fashion. When we see our streets and thoroughfares dizzy with the revolving wheels of the bike, bestridden by mercurial youths, middle aged men, and all sorts and conditions of men, and surmounted by maidens ambitious to get along rapidly in the world, and by more staid matrons, animated with the laudable desire of healthy exercise, and in some cases with the idea of keeping even with their husbands—it would seem that the "stock" of the horse had dropped out of sight. But these are only very small proportions of the population, and serious-minded persons who are unfitted or disinclined, for the circular gymnastics involved in bicycle riding, are old-fashioned enough to prefer the horse as a means of locomotion. And it is a question whether a brisk five o'clock gallop on a saddle over a good horse is not still the most delightful hour one can spend—over winding country roads, dim with the long shadows of wayside trees, vocal with the morning devotions of the grateful birds, through winding bridle paths, weaving in and out among clumps of evergreens that dot the spring sward. These paths a bicycle might not enter. Indeed the exacting bike demands the best of highways, and the best of highways mean dust and glare of hot suns. On the score of expense, the bike is no cheaper, perhaps, than a horse. The initial cost is about the same. A good horse will last ten years, at least in prime condition, while the useful life of a much-used bicycle is not over one-quarter of that time. Then the expense of keeping a wheel in repair is almost equal to the cost of keeping a horse. These few points are suggested, not so much as contrasting the relative merits of wheel and horse, as of showing that the horse has not had his day by any means and that the horse will always be a companion of mankind. Though the bicycle gets ahead by revolving, it is not sufficiently revolutionary to supersede the horse. Both have their uses and advantages. Wheeling will perhaps always be popular and there will always be a demand for the right kind of a horse. The shrewd farmer undeterred by the low point to which horse stock has fallen, will keep his eyes open. After every craze there will be more or less reaction; and especially when the craze has greatly shortened horse breeding, somebody who watches the situation may make a nice little pot out of a few good horses, when the demand revives and there is a short supply. Mr. Walker, of the Bank of Commerce is long headed and knows what he is talking about when he suggests the possibility of there still being money in horses. Don't turn the horse out to grass yet.

If the Roseberry Government in Great Britain decides to dissolve the House, it will have to face defeat, which has for a generation been the invariable fate of ministeries after a dissolution of Parliament.

The per capita wealth of Great Britain, according to Mulhull, was, in 1890, $1,200 per head; France came next with $1,130; Holland third with $1,080, and the United States fourth with a per capita wealth of $1,038.

FINANCE has faith in codfish. Newfoundland found herself in a monetary mess and had to go on the loan market. Her loan has been a great success, the amount required having been subscribed nearly twice over. And the minimum price was 98½. Newfoundland's vast natural resources beget confidence in men with money to invest. She may have been badly governed, but with her exhaustless resources of sea, forest and mine, there is, as in Canada, much that evil administration cannot destroy.

HIS LIFE FOR HIS SON'S.

Baker Smith, Who Took His First Day Off in Ten Years, Was Drowned.

White Plains, N.Y., June 24.—W. Isaac Smith, a baker of this place, was drowned at Oakland Beach, on Long Island Sound, to-day, while attempting to rescue his 15-year-old son, Gordon.

Smith invited his employes, with their families, to an outing, the first day he had taken from business in 10 years. Many of the picnickers went in to bathe, Mr. Smith and his son being among them.

The boy, in wading, got beyond his depth and called for help. Mr. Smith went at once to his assistance, meanwhile calling to those on shore. William A. Hanson and Charles Foster went at once to the rescue. Hanson, with much difficulty, relieved the father of the burden of his son and passed the boy to Foster. When Hanson turned Mr. Smith had disappeared. Hanson repeatedly dived without finding him. The boy, who was unconscious, was taken ashore and resuscitated after half an hour's work. A boat was procured, and after a brief search the body was found.

Belleville, Ont., June 25.—Mr. McEwen, who is attending the Ontario Business College, has been presented with a watch and chain for saving a boy named Moxam from drowning.

Found Dead in the Woods.

Gravenhurst, June 25.—On Tuesday week John Cake, 12, owing to illness, started to walk from Miller's mill to his home in this town. On Sunday afternoon his body was found in the woods on the Leg Lake Road, two miles from here. His friends thought he was still at work, and he had not been missed. He had been dead for several days.

Dead in the Field His Neck Broken.

Windsor, June 25.—Frank Danber, 14, was found dead in a field on his father's farm Saturday night, his neck being broken, presumably by a fall from a horse.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S LOAN.

Subscribed for Twice Over—General News From St. John's.

St. John's, Nfld., June 25. — Colonial Secretary Bond telegraphs from London to-day that the loan has been subscribed for twice over.

The shareholders are preparing to arrest the Union Bank directors. Indictments were prepared to-day but legal difficulties cropped up, necessitating a postponement until Wednesday.

The Legislature holds two sessions daily, enacting measures of legislation. To-day special bills were introduced for reducing salaries of governor and judges, as the reductions would not be legal otherwise. The supply bill has not yet been passed but will be shortly. It is reported that the Government will introduce a bill to repeal the corrupt practices act to-morrow.

SHOT HIMSELF IN THE HEART.

Left a Note Saying, "Don't Bury Me Until I'm Dead."

Kingston, June 25.—Road Master Gordon went on Saturday night to Huttins' Joyceville, to notify him to do statute labor. Huttins did not answer the rapping, so Gordon pushed the door open and found Huttins lying dead on the floor. He had shot himself. A portion of his clothing was burned by discharge of the gun. Huttins had written a note saying: "Don't bury me until dead." and then prepared to end his life. He adjusted the gun, tied a cord to the trigger and attached it to his thumb; when ready he pulled the string, and the bullet pierced his heart. He was an eccentric person and a bachelor 66 years of age.

One Fact Counts

For more than a thousand insinuations, especially if the insinuations are inspired by jealousy and defeat.

It is an ADMITTED FACT that Fairweather & Co. ARE the leaders in the Hat trade in Peterborough and Lindsay. The manufacturer recognize this as fully as do our numerous patrons and "side line" competitors; and therefore do not think of offering us the off-scourings—the "rag-tag and bobtail" or commonly called "seconds" of their stocks "at any price." These are disposed of to the general country merchants and clothing houses. It would not suit our trade. We must have the most correct styles and qualities.

"We got them"! Straw Hat samples! 1100 of them to clear. Worth from

$1.00 to $2.00, our price 75c.
75c to $1.00, our price 50c.
35c to 50c, our price 25c.

"A good name is better than riches," even if it be only in a Stiff Hat, and especially if you control it.

Christy & Co. of London, England, are admitted to be the best makers of Stiff Hats the world over. No other house in Peterborough have their goods, as we are their SOLE agents here. The name "Christy Hat" is given by people, who do not know the difference, to a Stiff Hat of any kind, but this is a misnomer, and only goes to show how much the ordinary clothier knows about the hat trade.

Our prices for genuine Christy & Co's Hats are 99c, for all wool grades, and $1.99 for all fur qualities. This offer is made to clear.

The moral is: Come where you get the best Hats made by standard makers at the price of ordinary qualities. Do not be "bamboozled," but come to

Just received another case of goods from Havana, Cuba, West Indies. The finest goods ever sold in Peterborough, you must remember this when you get a cigar direct from Havana, there is a big difference in the flavor and far better for your money. Remember I have sold traveller's imported samples before, and learned by experience that after they have travelled the country from coast to coast, and open out those samples probably 2000 times that there was very little aroma in them, and also find out that I could get goods from Havana direct, to sell as cheap as any travellers sample I ever sold, and you can get fresh goods for your money.

Nervous Women.

Their Lot is Not a Happy One.

At Home and Abroad They are Miserable.

Paine's Celery Compound Gives Them a New Life.

Makes Them Happy and Strong! Bright and Vivacious!

Every Woman Should Try It.

The life of the nervous women is a most unhappy one. She is continually miserable, and is frequently a burden to herself and family.

Nervousness is produced by a great variety of causes. Headaches, biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia, vertigo or giddiness, insomnia, despondency and a host of other ailments.

As a rule, the use of drugs and medicines containing strong narcotics, only cause afflicted ones to sink deeper in suffering and agony.

Nature's true and permanent cure for all diseases is Paine's Celery Compound, a medicine now freely and wisely prescribed by the best physicians. The proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound have more testimonials from the women of Canada than have ever been given in favour of any other medicine in the world. Thousands have been saved who were once declared to be hopeless and incurable by the doctors.

Mrs. Joseph Valliant, of Cache Bay, Nipissing District, Ont., who was recently cured of nervous prostration and neuralgia of the heart, writes as follows:

"For a length of time I suffered very much from nervous prostration and neuralgia of the heart, and was unable to get regular sleep and rest. I used your great medicine, Paine's Celery Compound, with most beneficial results. I am happy to say that my condition of health is wonderfully improved: my sleep is sweet and natural, and the pains and nervous fears that troubled me are banished. I cannot speak too highly of Paine's Celery Compound."

KIEL CANAL NEEDS DEEPENING.

Several Vessels Stranded in Attempting to Make a Passage.

Hamburg, June 24.—It is announced that Denmark intends to construct a great naval port on the Island of Bornholm. Several vessels attempting to pass through the Baltic North Sea Canal have been stranded and obliged to remain where they were all night. It will be absolutely necessary to carry out a thorough and extensive process of dredging before the canal can be used for practical purposes.

Walked Away From Sandwich Jail.

Windsor, June 25.—Fred Ouelette escaped from Sandwich jail on Saturday afternoon, or rather he broke away, for he simply walked off while he was at work in the outer yard trimming the lawn. His jail clothes were found in an outhouse, which goes to show that he had an accomplice. No trace of his whereabouts has been found. Ouelette only had one more month to serve.

Murdered by a Maniac Maharajah

London, June 25.—A despatch from Bombay says news has been received there that the Maharajah of Patna, a native state of the Central Provinces of India, a few days ago, shot his wife, killing her instantly, and then committed suicide by firing a bullet into his heart.

Carnot's Anniversary Honored.

Paris, June 25.—The official recognition of the anniversary of the death of President Carnot took place in the Pantheon this morning. At 10 o'clock President Faure, with the Ministers and civil and military officers, visited the crypt and placed wreaths upon the tomb of the martyred President.

CANADA NOT FRANCE

The Country Quebeckers Call Their Own.

SETTLEMENT OF THE NORTH SHORE

St Joseph's Island and Adjacent Country Filling Up Openings for Mills and Other Industries — A Montreal Judge on Excessive Funeral Display.

Montreal, Que., June 25.—The members of St. Jean-Baptiste Society are talking quite freely over the incidents of Sunday's celebration. Last year the promoters of the banquet completely omitted the clergy from the list of invitations, and this seems to have been resented in ecclesiastical circles, for the parish priest of Notre Dame made no reference whatever to what used to be considered a great national holiday, and there was not a single priest at the dinner given that evening. To say that the banquet was a success would be greatly overstepping the mark. Scarcely seventy-five persons sat down, and the proceedings were unusually tame. The French press comments upon this fact and declares that the people are losing interest. The fact of the matter is that the French-Canadians are about tired of the distinct nationality idea, and every day strengthens the theory that the Canadian nationality pure and simple is good enough for Canada. It should also be remarked that the Manitoba school question was never referred to during the many patriotic utterances of the celebration.

The new Canadian Pacific folder contains the name of the new town of Des Barats, on the north shore of Lake Huron, and the nearest point on the line to St. Joseph's Island. A gentleman who arrived from this settlement to-day says that there are extensive deposits of trap rock, being the same material as was used by the Romans in building roads in Britain and elsewhere. This rock is also being shipped to Cleveland, Ohio, for paving that and other cities of the west. The same gentleman says there is a satisfactory movement of settlers from New York State, Quebec, and elsewhere to the Manitoulin and St. Joseph Islands, and especially to the shore opposite St. Joseph, where there is a large amount of good land. There are excellent openings for saw mills, brick yards and tanneries, and the wholesale merchants of Toronto appear to be extending their business quite rapidly in this region.

Judge Davidson delivered a judgment to-day which was of general interest. Madame Seely became a widow and engaged William Tracey to bury her poor husband. This was done in the most aesthetic style, and a bill sent to the widow for $152.75. The lady held that the amount was too steep, and refused to pay more than $40, alleging that the undertaker had gone beyond all reason in charging $60 for a coffin, $15 for embalming, $10 for clothing, three double carriages at $12, and the rest. Judge Davidson decided at once that the amount offered, viz. $40, was quite sufficient, and went on to say that if the dead could only see the useless expenditure that their funeral entailed they would think it strange indeed, and as for Seely, who had been a drunkard, and had died from the effects of strong drink, he would laugh in his sleeve to see all the fuss that had been made on his remains.

Sir Donald Smith left this evening for New York, where he will sail for Great Britain.

HORSEWHIPPED BY VIGILANTS.

Wiarton Citizens Chastise a Drunken, Worthless Husband

Wiarton, June 25.—Mrs. Huff, who took poison on Sunday, will likely recover. It will be remembered that she attempted suicide because her husband was a worthless, drunken wretch, who beat her and her children.

About midnight Saturday some 30 masked men visited the Huff house, and unsuccessfully tried to coax Huff outside, but finally they dragged him out into the road and gave him a horse-whipping. They then warned him to leave town by to-night or they would repeat the dose.

REVOLT IN MACEDONIA.

Rapid Spread of the Insurrection - Railway Lines Torn Up.

London, June 25.—A despatch from Sofia to The Pall Mall Gazette says the Macedonian revolt is spreading rapidly between Vranja and Egrica, during which the rebels destroyed the railway communications with the Vardar Valley. Two bands of Bulgarians have crossed the frontier into Macedonia. The Cabinet are cowed by the warlike feeling of the populace, and are undecided how to act. The ministers have been threatened with assassination if they intervene to check the revolutionary movement.

$40,000 BLAZE AT CHATHAM.

Manson Campbell's Fanning Mill Factory in Ashes.

Chatham, June 25.—At 11 o'clock last night fire broke out in the boiler house of Manson Campbell's fanning mill factory. In an hour the establishment was burned to the ground. Loss about $40,000; insurance about $17,000.

AN ILLINOIS SENSATION.

A Lady of Union County Recovers Her Health in a Marvellous Manner.

Anna, Illinois, June 17—A very interesting case of recovery from a very complicated form of kidney trouble has taken place here, and the details are gradually being made public. The sufferer was Miss M. T. Loomis, who for a long time has been a victim of severe pains in all parts of the body. She consulted a number of doctors and was treated for a great variety of complaints, the diagnosis all proving faulty. At length she determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, having read and heard much of their efficacy and found her expectations justified in a complete cure.

Severe Diarrhœa Cured.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

G. T. R. Timetable Changes.

On the arrival of the evening train from Toronto, a train leaves for Belleville at 9 o'clock, arriving there at 11.40. The afternoon mixed passing through Peterborough between three and four o'clock has attached to it a coach reaching Belleville at about 8 o'clock.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Tuesday, June 24th.—It was only last Friday that I gave my opinion that rain before Tuesday would bless the Dominion. We had it on Mondoy and so gently did it come like the reek o' the peets curlen oot o' the lum. At this morning's observation the self-registering thermometer indicated 48 degrees above zero.—THOS. TELFORD.

A Wedding That is to Be.

Mr. Bert Cox, youngest son of Mr. Geo. A. Cox, will be married on Wednesday, July 3, to Miss Louie Brown, daughter of Mr. Charles A. Brown, the well-known carriage merchant, of Toronto. The ceremony will take place in Sherbourne street Methodist Church. Mr. Ed. Cox, the elder brother of the young man, is already married to a sister of the bride that is to be.

Wholesome Summer Beverages.

I have the sole agency here for Huckle's (of Ottawa) Aerated Waters —Ginger Ale, Cream Soda, Vanilla Seltzer Lemonade, Seltzer Water, Bicarbonate of Soda, Lemon Sour, Ginger Beer in stone jars, etc.—second to none in the market.

An Ornament for the Lodge Rooms.

Mr. W. J. Green is arranging a frame which will be quite a decoration for the local lodgerooms of the Oddfellows. It will be remembered that last May Mr. Thos. W. Quincy, of Chicago, formerly of Peterborough, presented Peterborough Lodge with a magnificent full set of jewels. These jewels have been placed on a background of black velvet, and surround a large 10x15 photo of Mr. Quincey in the frames.

A. Mercer & Co's Removal.

Previous to removal to new premises, we will dispose of many of our fashionable lines of cloths, shirts, underwear, hosiery English collars and cuffs, ties, etc., at a substantial discount to clear, in order to save handling during removal. Very special values in many desirable lines during the balance of this month. Odd lengths of tweeds, suitable for boys' suits, gentlemen's trousers, etc., at and below cost.

An Excursion Passes Through.

Over 300 Baptists and their friends from the vicinity of Claremont came in on the C. P. R. this morning and embarked on the City of Peterborough for Jubilee Point and Idyl Wyld. A brass band accompanied the excursionists.

Salt in the Human Body.

Science tells us that the body of every human being weighing 150 lbs., contains one pound of salt; also that every one of us needs in a year about 15 lbs. of salt. If you want your 15 lbs. pure, use Windsor Table Salt. It doesn't cake. Try it.

Mr. Allan Huffman Takes Possession.

Mr. Allan Huffman, late of the Oriental Hotel, Cobourg, and of the Dafoe House, Belleville, has leased the Balmoral Hotel, and takes possession to-day, and will open for business to-morrow morning. Mr. Huffman was a resident of Peterborough for about 25 years, and was well and favourably known as a hotel keeper. The Balmoral Hotel building is now in process of renovation, which will be complete in every department. Mr. Huffman is a hotel keeper of wide experience, and intends to make his new hotel first-class in every particular, and a place worthy of the patronage of the general public and the commercial trade.

Quite Unusual.

The attention, especially of the ladies, is directed to Mr. Robert Hall's advertisment in this page of the EXAMINER, announcing the first summer clearing sale he has ever held. It is quite unusual to find this store printing its reduced quotations, as appears in this issue, but the genuineness of the reductions will be none the less welcome to shoppers. It has been the persistent policy of this store to make values relating better than the average, without setting up much of a hue and cry about it. That very principle has led to necessary reductions just now in summer dress goods and everything that belongs to summer, when the season is so well advanced, in order, to prepare the way for early fall goods. This determination to sell at the bare original cost for thirty days means undoubtedly a loss to Mr. Hall. It ought, however, to clear the shelves; and it is much better to sell at cost now than carry goods over, which Mr. Hall will not do if he can help it. This will be a bona fide clearing sale. 2d1w

DECORATION DAY OBSERVED BY THE ODDFELLOWS.

Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges Unite in Decorating the Graves of Deceased Brethren.

The Oddfellows of Peterborough decorated the graves of their departed brethren this afternoon, and all business places on George street were closed at noon in recognition of the solemnity of the occasion.

The members of the two local lodges and a large number of visiting brethren gathered at Central Park at two o'clock and headed by the Fire Brigade Band, the I.O. O.F. Drum Corp, and Peterborough Canton, No. 10, Patriarchs Militant, marched down George street to the Little Lake Cemetery, where the recent rain has freshened up the grass to an extent to make this beautiful spot even more attractive than usual. A gigantic arch of evergreens had been erected at the gates by Brothers James McGill and Logan, and farther enhanced the beauty of the scene.

All morning relatives and friends of those interred at the cemetery were busy in spreading flowers upon the graves of the deceased.

Upon arrival at the cemetery the graves of the following brethren were decorated :

THIS MORNINGS POLICE COURT HAPPENINGS.

All the Cases Enlarged—Many Lawyers Gather in the Court Room.

There was a great gathering of legal lights in the police court this morning, there being no less than seven lawyers in attendance, viz. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney; E. B. Edwards, Town Solicitor; W. H. Moore, R. M. Dennistoun, E. B. Stone and J. H. Burnham.

The Lococo case was the first on the docket. Mr. Stone appeared as the private prosecutor for Mr. J. B. Oke, and Mr. R. E. Wood was in attendance for the Crown, while Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., was present on behalf of the defence. As already stated the case is one of obtaining goods under false pretenses from J. B. Oke & Co. It was enlarged until two o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

The charge against M. Connors of lack of accommodation was adjourned for a week. Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for the town, and Mr. W. H. Moore for the defense.

The charge of indecent assault against W. J. Lundy will be investigated to-morrow morning. Mr. R. E. Wood is conducting the prosecution for the Crown, and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun is acting for the defense. The Children's Aid Society is taking an interest in the case but not prosecuting.

PETERBOROUGH STUDENTS WIN HONOURS IN TORONTO.

Remarkably High Standing Taken at the University Examinations.

In the honour list of the University of Toronto appear a number of names of the graduates of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute. J. T. A. Smithson took first class honours in English, French, German and Italian. Miss Mary Fife won first-class honours in English. In the third year, R. F. McWilliams, son of Mr. J. B. McWilliams did exceptionally well, winning first place in first-class honours in History and also taking first-class honours in Economics, English Law and Roman Law, English and Colonial Constitutional Law.

J. T. VanEvery and W. A. P. Wood also in the third year did exceedingly well, the former taking second class honours in English, French, German, Italian and Spanish, and the latter second class honours in physics.

Mr. T. Dodds of South Monaghan, also a pupil of the Institute, took first-class honours in philosophy in the second year examinations.

The high standing taken by these Peterborough students reflects credit not only on their own application to their studies, but also upon the staff of their alma mater, the Collegiate Institute.

OBITUARY.

Early Death of Mrs. J. R. Baker on Sunday Evening Last.

The death of Minerva Florence, wife of Mr. J. R. Baker, of the C. P. R., and daughter of Mr. Thomas Thompson, 272 Dalhousie street, occurred on Sunday evening last, as the result of a lung trouble from which the deceased had suffered since last March.

The funeral took place this afternoon at two o'clock from Dalhousie street, Rev. Dr. Torrance conducting the service at the home and Rev. J. C. Davidson that at the grave.

The deceased was only in her twenty-third year, and was greatly beloved by all her acquaintances.

The pallbearers were Albert Thomson, of Galt, and Wm. Thomson, of Toronto, brothers of the deceased; T. J. Baker, brother-in-law; R. Gray, Jas. Fegg and T. H. Waller.

Mr. Jas. Thomson, of Hespeler, another brother of the deceased, is in town attending the funeral.

ONTARIO BANK GENERAL MANAGERSHIP.

Probability of Mr. McGill Being Promoted to the Position.

There is great interest taken in business circles over the rumour that Mr. C. McGill, manager of the Peterborough branch of the Ontario Bank, had been appointed to the general managership of the bank. Greater interest is attached to the rumour from the fact of Mr. McGill's long connection with the local branch and the high esteem in which he is held among the customers of the bank as well as in financial and business circles generally; and the prospect of his removal is universally regarded with regret.

As was announced in yesterday's issue of the EXAMINER, Mr. G. R. R. Cockburn, M. P., president of the bank, was in town yesterday. In the evening he returned to Toronto accompanied by Mr. McGill. It is understood that on the resignation of General Manager C. Holland, Mr. McGill will be or has been offered the position of General Manager and the EXAMINER is advised that he will accept it.

Mr. Cockburn and Mr. McGill arrived in the city about eight o'clock last evening and it is probable that a meeting of the directors is being held to-day. But at this writing there is nothing settled in regard to the proposed change. In case Mr. McGill accepts it is understood that Mr. W. D. Parker, who has been with the local branch for about eight years, will be in charge. It is expected that Mr. McGill will return to-morrow evening, when, if not before, definite information in regard of a matter that is creating so much interest, will be available.

LOSS AND RECOVERY OF A WATCH.

It is Traced Through the Jeweller From Which it was Bought.

The police had a very odd case to deal with to-day.

Last June Margaret Newel, a domestic employed at the Oriental Hotel, lost a watch. She lent it to a friend living at the American Hotel, and one morning he apprised her of its loss and spent considerable time trying to locate the missing timepiece, but failed.

The owner notified Mr. McClelland, from whom she had purchased the watch, of its loss and asked him to keep an eye open for its recovery.

A few days ago Mr. Wm. Logan, blacksmith, brought the watch into Mr. McClelland for repairs, where the timepiece was at once recognised. Mr. Logan in reply to a query stated that his son had found the watch.

Margaret Newel was told by Mr. McClelland where she would recover the watch, but on applying for it Mr. Logan refused to give it up until his son had been seen regarding the matter. Finally Mr. Logan was persuaded to give up the watch, which was handed over, not without hesitation, for its finder was much averse to parting with it upon such short notice, more particularly as he was not sure, it seems, as to whether its rightful owner was coming into possession of it.

INDUCEMENTS FOR NEW MANUFACTURERS.

THE COUNCIL DISCUSSES THIS QUESTION.

The Old Mill Dam Will Probably be Purchased From the Dickson Estate and Part of the Power Offered to one of the New Industries—The Condition of the Streets.

At a special meeting of the council yesterday afternoon there were present the Mayor and Councillor Stone, Mason, Best, Cahill, Brady, Mills and Denne.

The question of paying the stenographer for taking the evidence at the sewer arbitration was discussed at length.

Mr. Stone was in favour of paying the account at once. It would have to be paid sooner or later as it was always understood that the town would settle for it. If the Judge chose, Mr. Stone thought the amount could have been included in the bill of fees which had to be paid when the award was delivered.

Mr. Best thought differently of the matter. He argued that it would prejudice if the bill of the stenographer was paid.

THE TOWN'S CASE

The Town Solicitor, Mr. Edwards, who had been summoned, stated that the payment of the account would in no way prejudice the case and he advised that it be paid.

The matter was finally referred to the Mayor and Chairman of the Finance Committee.

The main object for which the meeting was called, viz: making the final arrangements regarding the inducements to be held out to a certain industry about to locate in town was then taken up.

The Dickson Company has named the price at which they value the Hall dam, and Councillor Cahill submitted a very clear argument relative to the matter. He stated that he thought a bylaw should be submitted to the people at once to raise the money to acquire possession of the dam, which would become a valuable property if at any time the town should desire to supply its own electric light. Half of this dam could be rented out to the new company at of about a dollar a year, and the industry could be given a couple of acres of land just adjacent. This, together with a bonus of a certain sum of money, which might be borrowed from the town commissioners should be a sufficient inducement to bring the new company to town.

In reply to a question the Mayor stated that in his opinion there should be about 1200 horse power available at the dam. The difficulty would be in regulating this horsepower, as if the water at the dam below was raised to any considerable height it might detract from the power. Arrangements guarding against such an emergency would have to be made.

Mr. Mason wished to see a committee appointed to interview Mr. T. G. Hazlitt with the object of ascertaining if the dam could not be purchased at a less sum than the price asked.

Mr. Stone thought a competent engineer should be employed to ascertain the exact amount of horsepower available at the dam.

On motion of Councillors Brady and Denne the matter was referred to which was directed to interview the Dickson Estate Trustees with the object of ascertaining at how low a figure the dam could be purchased.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE

Mr. L. M. Hayes, who is acting for the new industry, and at whose request the meeting had been called, as the company was anxious to conclude the settlement as speedily as possible or else make arrangements to go elsewhere, was asked to communicate with his clients, stating that a conclusion would doubtless be reached at a council meeting to be held on Friday next.

Another matter was brought up by Mr. Denne before the council adjourned. He wished to ask Mr. Best, chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee, if Downey street could not be gravelled immediately, as it was badly in need of grading.

Mr. Best stated that the men were all working in another part of the town. They could not be everywhere at once.

Mr. Denne wanted to know if it was true that in working on a road in the south end.

ALL HANDS WERE ENGAGED

Mr. Best answered that this was so, but that the road was an important one, being used by the farmers of Otonabee to a great extent.

Mr. Denne thought that the comfort of the citizens should be looked after before those of the country people.

Mr. Best—Well, you can't have Downie street graded just now.

Mr. Denne—Yes, I can, if the council says so, and I intend to bring in a motion to that effect before we adjourn.

The Mayor queried of Mr. Best as to when the last meeting of the Street and Bridge Committee had been held. He had heard that no meeting has been called for three months, and that the chairman was running everything to suit himself, attending to just such streets as he thought best, and not consulting his colleagues.

Mr. Best stated that he had no relish for the job, and that if anyone else were anxious to try his hand at it he was perfectly welcome.

Mr. Brady asserted that the sidewalks of the town were in a most dangerous condition and should be fixed.

Mr. Best—There have been two men engaged all summer in doing nothing else, but wander around with a cart and repair sidewalks.

Mr. Brady—Well, they never wander up into my ward. Mr. Edgecombe's corner is in a most dangerous condition, as is also the sidewalk on Brock street, near Dr. Goldsmith's.

Mr. Best made a note of the places requiring repair, and stated that they would be looked after at once.

The council adjourned before Mr. Denne had an opportunity of putting his motion regarding the gravelling of Downie street.

IT WILL BE A GREAT PICNIC.

In the Driving Park on Thursday—The C.P.R Employees' Day Off—Prospects of a Multitude of Visitors—An Outline of the Sport to be Enjoyed.

On Thursday next there will be a rush of C. P. R. employees to Peterborough, to which they will run their annual excursion and where they will enjoy their annual picnic. It is pretty certain that there will at least 3,000 or 3,500 visitors in town, and judging from the attendance of between five and six thousand which honoured the annual picnic of the Northern Division at Owen Sound the other day, a much larger number. The employees of the "greatest line on earth," from the east as far as Montreal and from the west as far as Toronto, will be present.

These annual visitors should receive, and will receive, a hearty welcome from Peterborough, which has been honoured by their annual picnic. Of course, those concerned will see that their duty to feed this hungry multitude—for many who make an early start will be hungry and will feel the need of a good square meal!—will be well performed.

The EXAMINER on behalf of the town heartily welcomes the visitors and it is probable that they will be accorded a suitable civic welcome in addition to that the citizens generally will extend to them. The EXAMINER hopes they may have a delightful visit to Peterborough; and, that the element of sport will not be lacking, can be seen by the following

PERSONAL.

Miss Maggie Rombough, of Toronto, is visiting relatives in Ashburnham.

Mr. N. H. Ramer, artist, of Toronto, is in town for two or three days visit, the guest of Mr. A. F. Hoover.

Mrs. W. H. Hill and family, and Miss Etta Taylor, left this morning for Niagara Falls for a two months visit.

The Port Hope Guide says:—Mrs. Lamb, Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. Cameron, Paterson Terrace, Dorset street.

Mr. Bert Hodgson, who has been home on a holiday, returned last night to the electric works at Schenectady, N.Y., where he is employed.

Mr. N. St. C. Gurd, of Poussette & Gurd, is to be congratulated on having successfully passed his examinations for the degree of B. C. L. at Trinity University.

Mr. McGachan, recently of Lindsay, has assumed the duties of Junior at the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. Mr. Pârsons has been promoted, taking Mr. Wonham's place.

Mr. Howard Hughes, son of ex-Councillor Hughes, left last evening to assume the duties of an inspector in the General Electric Works at Schenectady, N.Y. Howard will be greatly missed in local lacrosse circles, as he was in splendid form this year and bid fair to be a coming star.

Mr. Will McClelland leaves this evening to assume an important position with the Carbon and Porcelain Works in Ottawa, of which Mr. J. W. Taylor, formerly of Peterborough, is manager. Mr. McClelland leaves many warm friends behind in Peterborough, who will greatly regret his departure. His genial presence will be missed in many circles.

This morning Mr. Ernest V. Moore, son of Mr. D. H. Moore, received official notification that he had successfully passed the June matriculation examinations to McGill University, Montreal, conducted in Peterborough on June 4th and 5th by Mr. Pringle, of the Peterborough Business College. Mr. Moore was very successful, taking an average of 75 per cent. in the seven subjects. His success in mathematical subjects was excellent, he "smashed the papers" in arithmatic, taking one hundred marks out of a hundred, and he took 92 marks out of 100 in algebra. Mr. Moore will enter upon his studies at the opening of the fall term.

THE GRASS AND TIMBER ON BURNHAM'S POINT ON FIRE.

The Overhead Bridge Nearly Destroyed and the Fire with Difficulty Controlled.

Saturday afternoon the grass on Burnham's Point caught fire and burned fiercely for some time, making a clean sweep and igniting the fences along the C.P.R. track for some distance east of the bridge crossing the river.

The overhead bridge across the cut through the Burnham property was also ablaze, and was with difficulty prevented from being destroyed. About a dozen men fought the flames for some time, and finally got them under control.

The fire travelled like a whirlwind. Boys, playing on the point, are supposed to have started it.

GOUGH BROS

"ALWAYS GOOD AT GOUGH'S."

The Wonderful Cheap Men.

375 and 577 George Street, June 21.

They Came, They Bought,

As They Never Bought Before.

And stil. they come, and still they buy. Busy yesterday—busier to-morrow. We have had to "hustle," trying to get every customer served quickly and properly. Straw Hats, Summer Shirts, Summer Underwear, Summer Clothing, Summer Boots and Shoes and Summer Neckwear were most in demand. But we have the goods this season—as we always have---and we are selling at very close prices---as we always do. That's why we have your trade. We want your trade, and we know that the right way to get and keep it is to have a good variety of everything and to sell cheap---cheaper than anybody else.

Our Campaign.

Our Summer Campaign for business is carried on on business principles—keeping the best Clothing for the best money. We are just far enough away from Fakerville to consider living a pleasure. Merchants all over Canada are trying to figure out where we get goods to sell so cheap. Sometimes they club together and petition manufacturers not to sell us, and sometimes they swear the goods are not as represented, and sometimes they buy the goods to sell again.

Who do we buy from? Well, here are a few pretty solid names we can refer you to:—W. E. Sandfords, Laily Watsons, W. R. Johnson, McKena & Thomson, Small & Co, and from people who make specialties.

Success hasn't come by chance. This business has grown because you wanted it to. Your encouragement gave us the right to go ahead.

Men's Summer Clothing.

We have sold an immense quantity of Summer Clothing thus far. Come and see what we can sell you in Light Summer Coats and Cool Vests, Sporting, Camping and Vacation Suits, &c.

—200 Mens' Suits in Sack Tweeds, have been marked $8.45 and 9.50, but they have been knifed and five dollars takes any.
—Fine English unshrinkable flannel coats and vests, striped and checks, all sizes $3.
—Fine French Lustre Coats and Vests in stripes and plain effects, various shades $2.50.
—Fast black Lustre Coats, all sizes, silk finish $1.75.
—Blazer Coats 75c, $1, $1.50, $2.
—German Lustre Coat in black or grey, all shades $1.
—Men's White Duck Trousers. The sort American Tourists are all wearing. Two qualities $1.40 and $1.75. Shapely and swell.
—Men's White Duck and Pique Vests, pearl detachable buttons, all sizes 75 cents.
—10 doz. English Cashmere and Silk Fancy Vests, washable, mother-of-pearl detached Buttons, worth $1.50 for $1 each.

Boy's Summer Suits.

—Boys' Galatea Suits, fast colours, all sizes, sailor collar 90c.
—Boys' White Duck Suits, light or dark blue trimmings, all sizes $1.
—Boys' Blazer Coats 75c.—a snap!
—Boys' Blouses made of American duck, all sizes, fast colours 35c.
—Boys' Tweed Pants 50 and 75c.

We like to talk Boy's Clothing to parents—especially to mothers. We like to draw their attention not only to our low prices, but we have something even more important, —namely, the style and finish and the strong wearing qualities of our Boy's Suits:—

—Boy's Washable Sailor Suits $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75.
—Boy's Tweed Suits $1.50, $1.75, $2 and $2.50.
—Boy's 3-piece Suits $3, $3.75 and $4.
—Youths' Suits $4.50, $5 and $5.50.

Straw Hats.

We welcome comparison. Does anybody know of a larger Hat Store in Canada than our's. Large and roomy enough to enable us to serve great crowds with ease. Our Hats are not all in the windows—they are on the ground floor—thousands to choose from at prices lower than ever. Light weight Felt Hats in very many shapes, just the Hat for present wear. Hats and Caps for touring or a Bicycle. Any kind you want for Boys or Children.

Like Mary Ann, we have "Followers," but imitation is sincerest flattery."

—Tourists, the correct thing, start at 60c.
—Fedoras, all fur-felt, as low as $1.
—Derbys, all colours, right shape $2.
—Stanley Hat, sole agents $2.50.
—Caps, Varsity, all colours 15c.

Inspection will show prices lower than can be had elsewhere. It will be so all the season. Take that for granted.

Cool Summer Shoes.

This is the season when you are looking for something light and cool in footwear. A visit to our store will convince you at once that every care has been paid in the selection of our Oxford Shoes and Tan Boots.

—Russia Calf hand-made Shoe, razor toe, $1.50, instead of $2.
—A Shoe you need not hide for $2, worth $2.50 most places, Kid Congress, hand-turn, very stylish.
—A Shoe worth $1.75 for $1.50, Women's Kid, needle toe, pat. tips.
—A Shoe worth 90c for 75c, Women's American Kid, with pat. tips.
—A Shoe worth $1 for 75c, Women's Tan Turn Tips, ask to see these.
—A Shoe worth $1 for 85c, Misses' Dongola Kid, pat. tips, a favorite.
—A Shoe worth 90c, for 65c, Girls' Dongola Kid, pat. tips and facings, sizes 8-10.
—A Shoe worth $1 for 65c, Youths' Boston Calf Tips, sizes 11-13.
—Unusual Value for 50c, Girls' American Kid Tips, particular kind.
—Unusual Value for $1.20, Boys' Tan Calf, extension sole, all the go.
—Unusual Value for $1.25, Women's Tan Calf Tips and Turn, just the thing.
—Unusual Value for 95c, Youths' Tan Calf, extension sole, cut, finish, all complete.

THE FLOWER OF THE WEEK.

Grandmother's Snowball Now Beautifies the Lawn.

For the past few weeks great clumps of shrubbery on suburban lawns have been preparing a surprise for flower lovers. Tiny balls of green first began to sway on the tips of the branches. All through the damp, chilly, cloudy days they have been steadily developing and turning from dark green to delicate sea green tingings. At last the bright sunshine has caused them to burst suddenly into huge snowballs. They have seemed to "pop" white in a single night. Seemingly every lawn and garden that is passed displays this beautiful shrub, gayly tossed its great white balls with every passing breeze. At first glance these all have the same appearance. But we hear wondering remarks concerning the great beauty of the new varieties, the double Viburnum and the rare Japanese sorts. Then we observe more closely the distinguished characteristics and notice that careful cultivation of the florists has produced surprising freaks of nature. Grandmother's old favorite takes on new beauty. The old-fashioned sorts display great balls of pure white, made up of numberless tiny single florets with flatly expanded petals. Now examine the new double varieties—each little separate floret is as round and double as a tiny double rose, and when bunched together in one immense ball, the fluffy white beauty becomes still more lovely. The name

THE OLD-FASHIONED SNOWBALL.

THE NEW-FASHIONED SNOWBALL.

Virburnum—arrow wood—comes from vieo to tie, because of the pliability of the branches, and applies to the old-fashioned sorts as well as the new varieties; yet the high sounding name of Viburnum Opulus is usually applied only to the new double sorts.—Philadelphia Record.

Substitute for Leather for Bellows.

A material claimed to be much more durable and flexible than leather is now being used in the construction of bellows for the various purposes of blacksmith's and rivet forges. It is a textile fabric thoroughly permeated and coated with anhydrous substances which resist heat, the somewhat high temperature in proximity to a forge, and the effects of dampness and the weather as met with by rivet forge bellows. It is a supple material which has been in constant use four years and was introduced in the making of bellows by R. R. Gubbins, of London.

Ayer's Pills promote the natural motion of the bowels, without which there can be no regular, healthy operations. For the cure of biliousness, indigestion, sick headache, constipation, jaundice and liver complaint, these pills have no equal. Every dose effective.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs colds, asthma, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

Venetian Women.

Venetian women are rarely pretty, often charming, generally handsome. And all of them, without exception, walking splendidly, not taking little mincing feminine steps, but with a fine, grave stride, due partly to the fact that they are accustomed to wear heelless slippers, which oblige them to plant the feet firmly, and the whole foot at once, without a chance of tripping on toes or pounding on heels, as women who wear tight boots are able, and apt to do, they walk with much the same action as if they were barefooted, and just as well. And they use the whole body in walking, not with the undulatory motion of Spanish women, but with a movement of the whole back and shoulders, in the exact swing of the stride.

Venetian women do, however, remind one in many ways of Spanish women in their way of doing the hair, of wearing the mantilla, for instance—the Moorish element, that is, coming out in both, so that in Venice one finds quite as a matter of course an Antico Caffe dei Mori, a cigarette is still known as a spagnoletto, and the dialect touches Spanish at all points. The types of Venetian women vary in every quarter; the women of the Castello have quite a different look from the women of the Dorsoduro. In a seaport town there is always a certain intermixture of races, and Venice, with the different layers of its different occupations and conquests, is variable to a greater degree than most seaports. Remembering that nearness which Venice has always had to the east, it is not altogether surprising to find among the Venetian types, and not least frequently, one which is almost Japanese.—Arthur Symons, in Harper's Magazine.

Mixed Wit With Prayer.

Talking of these bye-gone days we are reminded of an amusing incident. When the excitement was at its height a Presbyterian minister, rather eccentric and witty, from Harbor Grace, occupied the pulpit of St Andrew's Church on a certain Sunday. He knew how the subject of Confederation filled all minds, and that he could not well pass it by; but he also knew that the congregation were about equally divided on the matter. He therefore offered a non-compromising prayer, which he thought ought to satisfy both parties, to the following effect:

"Have mercy, O Lord, on the country in the crisis through which it is passing; and if Confederation would be for the benefit of the people, and would tend to life them up, O! let no enemy have power to keep it back; but if Confederation would be an injury to the people of this land, let no power be able to force it upon us by any cunning machinations."

One would suppose that everyone, confederate and anti, could join heartily in this prayer; but it was stated that a number of out-and outers were so indignant that even the bare possibility of Confederation being productive of good should be admitted on "any terms," or embodied in a petition to heaven, that they were almost moved to rise up and leave the church.

It was the same clergyman who, when preaching a sermon to sealers on the Sunday before they left for the icefields, prayed thus:—

"Forbid, O Lord! that any seals should be brought within their reach on the Sabbath day, lest they should be tempted to slay and carry the spoils of the sea on board; but if in thine all-wise providence the seals should be around any of the ships on that day, and they should put forth their hands and take them, thou knowest how poor they are, and how many hungry, ill-clad ones they have at home, and do thou mercifully forgive the poor, weak creatures."

Unlike the antis in the former case, it is said the seal hunters fully appreciated the reasonableness and comprehensive charity of the prayer, which they felt expressed exactly their own feelings.—St. John's Newfoundland. Herald.

Sick Headache

CURED PERMANENTLY

BY TAKING

Ayer's Pills

'I was troubled a long time with sick headache. It was usually accompanied with severe pains in the temples, a sense of fullness and tenderness in one eye, a bad taste in my mouth, tongue coated, hands and feet cold, and sickness at the stomach. I tried a good many remedies recommended for this complaint; but it was not until I

Began Taking Ayer's Pills

that I received anything like permanent benefit. A single box of these pills did the work for me, and I am now free from headaches, and a well man."—C. H. HUTCHINGS, Esq., Auburn, Me

AN EYE TO MARRIAGE

MANY GIRLS CHOOSE THEIR SITUATIONS WITH THAT IDEA IN VIEW

The Chances of a Chorus Girl—To Secure a Wealthy Husband Are Always Considered Good—Farmers' Daughters Attend Market.

It has frequently been pointed out that girls and young women will seize upon situations which offer chances matrimonial, while the more lucrative but less obtrusive posts are not snapped up quite so readily. An authority states that few girls would take unto themselves a theatrical career, unless possessed of exceptional talent and love for the work, were it not for the publicity the boards afford them. Chorus girls would practically be at a discount, except those of high-class companies, but the chances of winning an eligible partner are so many to a pretty girl, even if an inferior actress, that the stage is choked with aspirants.

Beautiful girls are married every season, and the chorus secures a lion's share of the attentions amorous. As a consequence, girls with absolutely no talent and voices that, to be charitable, are not sweet, have no passport to the coveted position, unless they can purchase such. Therefore it frequently happens that an untalented girl pays for a position in a chorus with a view to marriage, as the advertisements say.

Especially do pretty girls relish going out with a touring company. Out of a burlesque chorus of thirty girls in a third-rate company, eight had paid to appear, and ten girls were left behind, having secured husbands and homes. It has been estimated that an attractive actress' chance of marriage is as thirty to one, and certainly the biggest matrimonial prizes go to the stage.

Shop girls abound plenteously, and, here again, the publicity of the work gives them is a great recommendation. Establishments which cater for gentlemen as well as the fair sex are mostly in request by shop girls who sigh for domestic bliss, and it has been declared that a good counter has more than once been paid for or accepted at an almost ridiculous salary.

A handsome girl who had served in some of the best shops in Paris, declared that assistants were exceedingly particular as to the class of customer they would be required to serve, and to satisfy themselves on this score were allowed the range of the shop for a few days before signing agreements and entering on service. Those emporiums where gentlemen most did congregate were the ones eagerly looked after, and if, after a short period of surveyance, the aspect were voted unsuitable, the girl would decline the situation and set out afresh. Of course, this privilege was granted only to young women whose experience and business aptitude had earned for them a high reputation.

One young lady declined no fewer than five good places, and remained out of employment for some month: rather than accept a position which failed to satisfy. This painstaking and fastidious woman was rewarded, winning the heart and hand of a wealthy, if ancient, widower.

Farmers' young daughters are always particularly anxious to attend the market, especially if there be a dearth of likely men about their own neighborhood. Here they are brought in contact, not only with the townsmen, but with other farmers and their sons, who come from the surrounding villages. Many engagements and marriages result through these periodical meetings.

A rosy-cheeked butter-woman testified to the efficiency of the marketplace as a favorable locality for matrimony in declaring that each of her daughters had met their respective partners while vending eggs and butter, while she was indebted to the stall for two husbands—both farmers and well-to-do.

A good-looking girl of the coster persuasion apparently, held similar views. She presided over a stall of street dainties—pickled mussels and fried fish—and boasted that her sister had married a fairly prosperous fishmonger through the publicity the street stall afforded her. As for herself, she had more lovers at her hands than most girls of her age, which, according to her views, was advantageous.

"Yer gets to know the characters and dispositions better than going with one off-hand," and this, with the additional advantage of being able to pick and choose out of a number, was apparently a favor not given to her more restricted sisters.

Domestic servants are particularly scarce, and a reason—one of many, certainly—has been given in this wise: Mistresses are so particular about followers and the time at their own disposal is also so limited, that few girls care to seek this means of earning a livelihood, preferring an occupation which is more gregarious, therefore furnishing opportunity of mingling and becoming acquainted with those of the opposite sex.

Six Types of Girls.

An interviewer for Romance worms out of Charles Dana Gibson the fact that the American girls he has created are divided into six classes or types.

"First," said Gibson, "there is the professional beau, who live constantly on parade, in full uniform, under the escort of a social brass band. Next is the tomboy, who wears tailor made gowns, smokes cigarettes—and knows something about everything—like a catalogue. Then there is the sentimental girl, who always loves just one man—the man who happens to be talking to her. The fourth is the coquette, who keeps half a dozen men in love with her and jealous of her at the same time. Fifth is the ambitious girl, with a set purpose, who makes everything in life subservient to its attainment. The last is the well-balanced girl, who always separates the good from the evil, the sham from the true and molds her own character, who comprehends men, who is reserved yet gives all, whose friendship wears well yet never approaches intimacy."

The Way to Learn.

The beggar had a sign up, "Deaf and Dumb," and the passing philanthropist stopped in front of him.

"I'd like to give this man something," he said to his companion, "but how am I to know he is deaf and dumb?"

"Read the sign, sir," whispered the beggar, cautiously.

To Hold the Scent of Roses.

The month of roses will be here shortly, and the customary flood of enquiries about the making of rose jars will be poured over the land.

Here is a recipe for the old-fashioned kind that lasts, a rose jar filled by this precise plan in 1832 being fragrant yet. Gather the roses in the early morning as soon as the dew has dried off and select only the most fragrant varieties. A large quantity of roses or of rose leaves dwindles into a very small quantity of dried leaves, be it remembered.

Given a peck of roses, pick off the leaves and sprinkle over them three-quarters of a pound of salt. Let them remain two or three days, and if fresh leaves are added each day, sprinkle additional salt over them.

At the end of three days mix with the cured rose leaves half a pound of finely pounded bay salt, the same quantity of allspice, cloves and brown sugar, a quarter of a quarter of a pound of gum benzoin, and two ounces of orris root.

Add one gill of brandy and any sort of fragrant flowers, such as orange and lemon flowers, lavender and lemon scented shrubs, or any other sweet scented shrubs. They should be perfectly dry when added.

The mixture should be occasionally stirred and kept in close covered jars, the covers to be raised only when the perfume is desired in the room.

If after a time the mixture seems too dry moisten, using only brandy, and but a few drops. Essences, too, soon loose their quality and injure the perfume of the potpourri.—New York Herald.

A HUNDRED-MILE RUN.

The Bicycle as a Swift Medium of Long-Distance Travel.

The fact that a party of 200 bicyclists, men and women, made a "century run" in the suburbs of New York on Sunday shows pretty conclusively that the wheel is a practical machine. To make a hundred miles between daybreak and dark by the output of one's own energy, unassisted by any other force, is certainly a notable achievement, and one that is significant of greater progress in the future. The bicycle is now the swiftest medium of long distance travel with the sole exception of the railway train, and the day may be at hand when some principles of bicycle construction, such as lightness and ease of running, will be applied to locomotion on the rail.

GRATIFYING INTELLIGENCE.

Word Received of the Complete Recovery of Mrs. John Dowly.

OWEN SOUND, June 24—Word has been received here of the complete restoration to health of Mrs. John Dowly, wife of a former well known and esteemed resident of the town. The intelligence has been very gladly received as Mrs. Dowly has many friends here who are well aware of the lamentable condition of her health during the past six or seven years. Her illness has been found to result from a severe kidney complaint and she has been restored to health by a judicious use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which is now well known to most of the residents in this locality as having previously affected some extraordinary cures.

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truth.

The Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Appplied to Married Life.

Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure The Wonderful Little Book Called

"COMPLETE MANHOOD And How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc,

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effect of the Remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked; the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. A WINTER IN PARIS.

MR. G. T. FULFORD'S RETURN FROM THE WORLD'S GAYEST CITY.

A Recorder Reporter's Interesting Interview With Him—Some Statistics and Information of General Value.

Mr. G. T. Fulford, who is understood to have been doing big things in Paris during the past winter and spring introducing Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, reached home on Friday with his family. Mr. Fulford has taken Mrs. Field's handsome residence in the east end for the summer, and was found there on the evening of his arrival by a Recorder reporter and asked to give an account of himself.

"Well," he said, in reply to a question on the status of the Pink Pill business in France, "of course it isn't altogether an easy matter to introduce a foreign article into a strange market, especially where there is as much conservatism as there. But I don't think we can complain of the progress made on the whole, and it is gratifying to report that some, at least, of the Paris doctors are open to recognize a medicine of which the intrinsic merits can be demonstrated to them. One of the best of them—at Versailles, the Paris suburb where the Emperors used to keep their court—has given favorable testimony through the press of quite wonderful cures through the use of Pink Pills in his practice; and the Religieuses, an order of Nuns like the Sisters of Charity, have also made an extensive use of Pink Pills in their charitable work, and give strong testimonials as to their good effects."

"How do you find business all round?"

"Pretty good. We have sold in the past twelve months a little over two million three hundred and sixty thousand boxes of Pink Pills."

"That is a pretty large order, isn't it?"

"It is the best twelve month's business yet. Look for a minute at what the figures mean. If all the pills were turned into a heap and a person set to count them, working ten hours a day and six days a week, the job would take—I have reckoned it—4 years, 21 days, 6 hours and 40 minutes, counting at the rate of 100 a minute. Or reckoning it another way, it means about a hundred and fifty-seven pills for each minute of the twelve months occupied in selling them. Or, if you want further statistics, it is somewhere about two pills a head for the combined adult population of Canada, Great Britain, Ireland and the United States. If the pills sold last year were made up into necklaces of fifteen inches long there would be a necklace for every woman in Canada and leave some considerable pills over. And very pretty necklaces they would make, if you stop to think of it," said Mr. Fulford, with the air of one who contemplates an artistic triumph in the jewellery line. The reporter stopped to think of it, while Mr. Fulford added, "I don't give these figures to glorify the business, you will understand, but to enable you to make the facts tangible to an ordinary reader."

"Does Great Britain do its share in the business?" asked the reporter.

"Yes, I think we have had a record there. The head of a leading advertising agency in London to whom I showed my figures told me that no business of the kind had ever reached the same dimensions in England in as short a time; for though we have only been working in England two years, there are but two medicines there that have as large a sale as Pink Pills, and one of these is over thirty years old, while the other has been at work at least half that time."

"How do you account for the way Pink Pills have 'jumped' the English market then?"

"I cannot attribute it in reasonable logic to anything but the merits of the Pills. For, consider, in France, which I have just been opening up, it cost in advertising somewhere between thirty-five and forty francs to sell every 3½ franc box of pills—first sales that is. Now, it is obvious that if all our sales were first sales, that is sales direct from the advertisements, we should be losing from six to ten dollars on every box sold. It is because the people who have used Pink Pills once use them again, and recommend them to others, that we begin to see daylight there; and the case is the same the world over."

"But your advertising has been very extensive!"

"Oh, certainly. But exactly for that reason we could never afford to do it if we had to depend on first sales alone. It is the sales on recommendation of those who use the pills that pay, and if the recommendation were not there I would be bankrupt in a very short time. All the same, the advertising is a big item, and I consider the Pink Pill business a public education department on that account alone."

The reporter wanted to know where the education came in.

"Through the press. The newspaper press is the greatest educative influence of the day. Where do you suppose the culture of Brockville would be without the Recorder? Now, it's not the two cents a copy that pays for all the interesting and valuable matter that is gathered from the ends of the earth in a newspaper; it is the advertisements that pay the biggest part of the bill for news and literary matter. I suppose I have spent about half a million dollars in advertising last year. How much education do you suppose that sum has paid for?"

The reporter was silent in the presence of this educative "miracle," but required further information as to the state of trade. "Was everything lovely," he asked, "or were there any crumpled rose leaves in the couch?"

"Can't grumble, except in one way. There's a certain amount of substitution in some retail stores, and there is a man in Manchester, England, that I have had to prosecute on the criminal charge for it."

"But what do the substitutors do—do they duplicate your formula under some other name?"

"No, not a bit of it; that is the worst feature of the fraud. No retailer can possibly know what is in Pink Pills, and, if he did, he couldn't prepare them in small quantities to sell at a profit. They are not common drugs and by no means cheap to make. I suppose I have spent anywhere from ten to twelve thousand dollars since I first took over the trade mark in trying if the formula could be improved, and spent a share of it for nothing."

"What do you mean by for nothing?"

"After I acquired the trade mark I saw that if the thing was to be made a success it was imperative that I should have the best tonic pill that could be gotten up. Consequently I obtained the advice and opinion of the most noted men in medicine in Montreal and New York—and expert evidence of that sort comes high. I made the changes in my formula suggested by these medical scientists, and the favor with which the public has received the medicine, demonstrates that it is the most perfect blood builder and nerve tonic known. However, I was anxious to still further improve the formula, if that could be done, and have since spent a great deal of money with that end in view. On going to London, two years ago, to place Pink Pills, I went into it again, with the best medical men there, and, as you know, the medical expert is not too friendly to proprietary medicines, and least of all to a good one, and I don't blame the doctors either. It isn't good for business if a man can get for fifty cents medicine that will do him more good than $50 in doctoring. Consequently advice came high, but I obtained the best there is, not only on this continent but in London and Paris. If I were to tell you whom I consulted—but that was an honorable condition that I shouldn't divulge the names on account of professional etiquette—you would recognize them as first-rank men, whose names are famous all the world over, and talked of by every one. When I went to Paris last winter I placed my formula and supply of Pink Pills in the hands of one of the most noted doctors in that city for a three months trial in his practice, with a view to getting suggestions for improvement; at the end of that time his answer was "leave it alone, it cannot be bettered. You now have a perfect blood and nerve medicine." This opinion cost me 10,000 francs, but I consider it money well spent, as it determines the fact that the formula for Pink Pills is now as perfect as medical science can make it. And coming back to the question of substitutions and imitations, what I have just told you will show what a poor thing it is for a man who goes to a store for Pink Pills to let something else be pushed on to him in place of them—more especially if it is a worn out thing like Blaud's pills—a formula in the French pharmacopœa, that has been a back number for years until a few store-keepers tried to push it on the strength of Pink Pill advertising. You can take it from me that a store-keeper who tells anyone that Blaud's pill (which is not a proprietary at all, anyone can make it that wants to) is in any way a substitute for Pink Pills is an ignoramus and never ought to be trusted to sell medicine at all. A druggist as ignorant as that certainly isn't fit to put up a prescription, and will poison someone one day."

At this juncture the Island City band put in an appearance to serenade Mr. Fulford and family, and the reporter drifted out among the crowd that had followed to listen to the sweet strains of their music.

The bidding was opened by Mr. Madden who offered 7⅞c for selections. Mr. Cook raised it to 8c and Mr. Madden raised it to 8⅛c. Mr. Wrighton bid 8 3-16c and Mr. Hodgson raised it to 8¼c and named Pine Grove, Treewern, Warminster, North Smith, Keene, Warsaw, Central Smith, Peterborough, Otonabee Union, Ormonde, Lang, Shearer, Hope, Perrytown, Orono, and Newtonville, all of which accepted. Lakefield, Norwood, Westwood and Oakdale refused.

The bidding was started again by Mr. Hodgson at 8¼c, Mr. Cook raised it to 8 5-16c and named Westwood, Oakdale, Maple Leaf, Fraserville, Fleetwood and Darlington Union, all of which accepted. Norwood and Lakefield refused.

Mr. Cook again opened at 8¼c for further selections, and was raised to 8 5-16c by Mr. Jones, who named Cherry Grove, Lakefield, Bobcaygeon, Manchester, Brooklin, which accepted, Norwood still refusing.

Mr. Cook offered 8c for further selections Mr. Hodgson raised to 8⅜c and Mr. Cook went another sixteenth and named Missing Link, Melrose Abbey, Daisy D., Bensfort, Blackstock, Port Perry, Ida, Mount Pleasant and Geneva, all of which accepted.

Young's Point sold at 8½ to Mr. Hodgson.

Mr. Cook offered 8c for further selections, 8 1-16 was bid by Mr. Jones and Mr. Hodgson raised to 8⅜, Mr. Jones raised to 8 3-16 and picked Stony Lake, Cedar Dale, Lakeview, all of which accepted.

Mr. Jones offered 8c for the balance. Mr. Cook raised to 8 1-16 for selections. Mr. Hodgson 8¼c for selections, and chose North Dummer and Myrtle, which accepted.

Mr. Jones offered 7 7-8 for the balance of the board, but none of the remaining factories were willing to sell at this price, and the Board adjourned.

COST $56 TO SPEND $5

Hon. David Mills on Excessive Public Expenditure.

THE INDIAN DEPT. AN OUTRAGE

The Officials, Not the Nation's Wards, Receive the Money—It Costs More Than the Treaty Money to Distribute It—The Soo Canal Job.

Ottawa, June 26.—The reckless extravagance of the Government was made the subject of criticism and of an amendment to supply in the House yesterday. Hon. Mr. Mills of Bothwell introduced this motion: "This House declares that since 1880 the public expenditure has increased, is increasing and ought to be diminished."

In support of the amendment, he said that the expenditure during the last 15 years had been altogether out of proportion to the necessities or capabilities of the country. The expenditure had been about $40,000,000 a year, which, if capitalised, would represent one thousand million of dollars. The gross debt in 1867 was $98,046,000; 1873, $130,778,000; 1878, $174,967,000; 1888, $234,500,000; 1895, $308,348,000.

The growth of the taxes paid by the people had been more rapid than the growth of wealth and population. In 1873 civil government cost $883,685, in 1878 $823,369, a decrease of $60,000; 1883 $1,054,000, 1893 $1,402,000. Since 1878 there had been an increase in the cost of civil government equalling 70 per cent., while there had been no such increase in the population or wealth.

The ordinary or controllable expenses of government in 1878 were $8,224,000, 1878 $6,542,000, 1883 $9,419,000; 1893 $11,867,000, 1894 $13,000,000. Since 1878 there had been an increase in these controllable expenditures of 100 per cent. In every department of government there had been a corresponding increase.

Mr. Mills went over the various departments, showing how the number of officials had been added to and the expenses increased.

Coming to the Department of Interior he devoted particular attention to the administration of the Indian branch. Looking into the figures he found that it costs $7.33 to look after each of the 14,270 Indians in the Northwest Territories and to give them their treaty money of $5 each. In Manitoba the cost was $2 per head.

The fact was, Mr. Mills declared, that in the Northwest the Government, through the land offices, the Indian offices and the Northwest Mounted Police, was like a huge political octopus, whose tentacles were stretched out over the whole of that country. Going to British Columbia, he went over a term of 15 years, showing the great disproportion of the amount expended upon machinery as compared with the amount which reaches the Indians. One year the machinery cost $56,000 in that province, while the Indians received $5000. In 1889 salaries, Indian reserve commission and survey ate up $70,922, while only $12,000 of the total appropriation reached the Indians. Last year, what with salaries, reserve commission and surveys and industrial schools, $107,000 of the appropriation went to the Government's officials, while only $5000 was received by their wards.

In similarly analytical fashion and with equally illustrative comparison Mr. Mills went up and down the pages of the Indian Department affairs. His arraignment was most complete, being made so by his thorough familiarity with the details of the various branches of the administration. He did not think much of the results which are waiting upon the Department's efforts to train the Indians to agricultural pursuits. He figured out that with all the farm instructors and laborers in Government employ scattered over the Northwest and Manitoba, the value of farm products of the 23,000 Indians amounted last year to an average of thirty cents a month per Indian. The average year's product of an Indian was therefore $3.60 as an agriculturist, whereas with a bag of powder and a musket his earnings in the chase amounted to $248 a year or the chase amounted to $248 a year. (Applause and laughter.)

In conclusion he declared that the expenditures of the country had been out of all proportion to the requirements of the public service and that there was no justification for the increase. He believed therefore that the House would agree with the terms of his resolution, that the expenditures of the country have increased, are increasing and ought to be diminished. (Applause.)

Mr. Daly when he rose was loaded, as he himself told the House. As Mr. Mills had directed his attack principally to the Indian department he took upon himself the burden of replying to his criticisms. And for three long hours he labored in its defence.

Dr. Macdonald commended the patience of the audience that the minister had been addressing. He expressed the opinion that if he had been speaking to a Toronto audience he would have been required to take his seat long ago. The Liberal party did not object to the expenditure of a liberal amount of money in caring for and educating the Indians, but 1895, $308,348,000.

what the Liberal party would insist upon was that the money went to the Indians and not the officials who handled it. Dr. Macdonald turned from vigorous criticism of the Interior Department to the Militia Department, in which he showed that there had been blundering extravagance and inefficiency. He was in favor of expending a sufficient sum to obtain an efficient militia, but he did object to the expenditure of money that gave no fruits. He quoted testimony from high and independent authorities, showing that ignorance and disorganization were present in the Militia Department. On legislation the expenditure had increased under the present Government by 13 per cent.; mounted police 82 per cent.; Public Works 104 per cent.; superannuation fund 146 per cent.; immigration 50 per cent.; total controllable expenditure 174 per cent.; collection of revenue 72 per cent.; total expenditure 60 per cent. The amendment was rejected by a majority of 30, the vote being 57 to 87.

Additional evidence of blundering extravagance was presented at the meeting of the Public Accounts Committee, when Superintending Engineer Thompson continued his testimony in regard to the construction of the Soo Canal. He told again how the cribwork under the masonry walls had been filled with frozen clay and large stones thrown in higgledy-piddledy, instead of being carefully hand-packed with proper material. The result of this "decidedly faulty" construction had been that the walls had bulged inward into the channel, and had to be braced with a retaining wall, filled with cement. Mr. Thompson did not care to say that the work would be in consequence permanently weak. Time alone could tell whether it was as strong as it would have been if the work had been properly done at the outset. The cost of repairing the walls he estimated to be about $67,000 for the concrete, besides about 900 pieces of 16-foot timber, 10 by 10, which would be worth about $25 per 1000 feet. The resident engineer, Crawford, who had permitted or by neglect was responsible for the way the crib work had been filled, had not been dismissed, but was still upon the work. The bonus of $90,000, which was given to Ryan & Co., was for the purpose of getting the canal open by July 1, 1894. Mr. Thompson did not know whether the opening had taken place yet or not. Then Mr. Gibson took the witness out of Mr. Lister's hands, and the examination became more technical. Mr. Thompson acknowledged that, whereas the contract for the walls outside of the lock called for what is known as random coursed masonry, the work which had been done was rubble masonry. The difference between the two is great. Random-coursed, it seems, means that the stones are all squared and built in irregular courses, while in rubble the stone is put in roughly as in a cellar wall. The difference between the cost of executing the two sorts of work is that while the random-coursed, which the contract called for, is worth $7.50 per yard, the rubble would be worth only about $4.50 a yard. What this second piece of laxity on Mr. Crawford's part means to the contractors may be estimated when it is said that the substitution was allowed in nearly a mile of wall. When Mr. Crawford was asked why he had allowed the substitution he had no satisfactory explanation.

INTERNATIONAL DEEP WATERWAYS.

The Next Convention to Be Held in Cleveland in September.

Chicago, June 26.—A meeting of the Executive Board of the International Deep Waterways Association was held here to-day. There were present: O A. Howland, M.L.A., Toronto, President; L. E. Cooley, Chicago, Vice-President; F. A. Flower, Superior, Wis., Executive Secretary; A. L. Crocker, Minneapolis; D. R. McGinnis, St. Paul; H. W. Seymour, Sault Ste. Marie; J. S. Dunham, Chicago; Jas. Fisher, Winnipeg; Jas. Conmee, Port Arthur, Ont.

Secretary Flower reported that his mission to Senator Vilas had been successful, and that the latter had put before Congress a bill for an International Deep Waterways Commission, also that the secretary himself had put through the Wisconsin Legislature a bill creating a deep channels commission, but the Governor had so far ignored the law.

Mr. Cooley reported the passage of a bill by the Illinois Legislature for a deep waterways commission with an appropriation of $25,000.

Mr. Howland said the Ontario Parliament had made a small appropriation for collection of deep water literature, and that the Dominion Government as soon as President Cleveland made his appointments would announce a reciprocal commission.

Cleveland was confirmed as the place of the next convention, to be held in September. The program of that convention will be prepared by the board to-morrow.

Express Companies Liable for Taxes.

Columbus, Ohio, June 25.—The Common Pleas Court has sustained the constitutionality of the law of 1894, providing for an excise tax upon express companies. The Adams, American, United States and National refused to pay, and were sued. The judge held that they exercised corporate rights and were corporations for purposes of taxation. The judgments aggregate $17,442.

Two Sudden Deaths in Montreal.

Montreal, Que., June 25.—James Choirard, a porter, was found in a bad way at his boarding house to-day and died on his way to the hospital.

A cattleman named Joseph Harkins was found in St. Paul-street unconscious this evening and died at the hospital later.

MGR. GRAVEL'S NOTE

May Lead to the Bishop Being Deposed.

THIS THE FEELING IN QUEBEC

The Prelate Unpopular With the Clergy, and the Famous Document Was Given Out by an Enemy—The Vatican Regards His Useful Days as Gone.

Montreal, June 26.—It is learned that the Roman Catholic authorities are about to call Bishop Gravel to the strictest account for the publication of Mgr.'s letter to the Propaganda, and as a French-Canadian gentleman observed this afternoon, it is more than probable that it has already been decreed at the Vatican that the usefulness of the learned prelate is gone. The following details, which were communicated by a gentleman well up in ecclesiastical matters in this province, relieve the Nicolet prelate of a personal responsibility in the publication of the document in question, yet it by no means alters the fact that His Lordship committed a grave blunder, and was indiscreet in his judgment.

The story goes that Mgr. Gravel aspired to the high position of Prince of the Church, succeeding His Eminence Cardinal Taschereau, and as it is well known that the Cardinal Archbishop of Quebec is in very poor health and liable to succumb at any time, the ambition of the Nicoletan bishop was considered by his friends as proper and legitimate. It is well known, however, that Mgr. Gravel has not only had a good deal of difficulty with his own clergy, but as already stated, His Lordship has always been looked upon as a usurper by the Bishop of Three Rivers and the clergy who remained faithful to Mgr. Lafleche and the lost cause of a united diocese.

It is claimed, therefore, that a clerical enemy of Bishop Gravel would rather cut off his right hand than see the Bishop of Nicolet made a Roman Cardinal, decided to give a well-directed blow to any aspirations his Lordship might entertain for the position of Canadian Prince of the Church in succession to His Eminence Cardinal Taschereau. With this end in view, the rev. gentleman who had been favored with a copy of the ever-famous document, forwarded the same to several newspaper offices in this city.

Few in this city agree to the probable result, politically, yet all are of the impression that the diplomats of the Vatican will see that Monseigneur of Nicolet will be in the near future placed in another position from that now occupied by His Grace.

GERMANY LEARNS FROM BRITAIN.

Emperor William Entertained by the British Squadron at Kiel.

Kiel, June 25.—Emperor William, wearing the uniform of a British admiral, was the principal guest at a dinner given last evening on the warship Royal Sovereign, the flagship of the British squadron, that participated in the fetes here in connection with the opening of the Kaiser Wilhelm Canal. Prince Henry of Prussia, the Emperor's brother, and several German admirals were also guests of the British admiral. The Emperor responded to the toast to his health offered by Admiral Kerr. Among other things he said: "Since the German navy began to exist we have always tried to form our ideas and to learn from the British."

SURE SIGN THAT TIMES ARE GOOD.

Manufacturers Voluntarily Increase the Wages of Employes.

Loraine, Ohio, June 26.—The Johnstone Steel Company to-day posted a notice of a 15 per cent. increase in the wages of the men in the converting, dry house and machine shops, in all about 200. The men employed in the shape mill had their wages increased last week. The raise is entirely voluntary. There will be an increase in all departments by July 1. The mill is rushed with orders, and every branch is running to its full capacity.

Lowell, Mass., June 25.—The weavers employed by the Merrimac Woolen Co. have been granted an increase of six per cent. in wages.

Philadelphia, June 25.—The Delaware rolling mill has notified its 300 employes that a 10 per cent. increase in wages will go into effect July 1.

Found Dying Near the Track.

Guelph, June 26.—Thomas Healey was found this morning by his brother alongside the railway track with his head split open in several places. A companion was with him when last seen the previous evening. They were both under the influence of liquor. Healey was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his wounds were dressed and several pieces of skull removed. He cannot recover.

A Good Story.

A story is going the rounds at the expense of one of the best known men of this place. We shall not mention his name, but you know him. Of rather determined mien, he has of late been showing signs of mental agitation. He wears a full beard, but a few days since, his wife, much to her alarm, found him sharpening a razor. She thought his mind was unhinged and went into hysterics. Explanations followed and it was found that life had for him still some charm. He intended to use the razor upon painful corns. A friend who had used Putnam's Corn Extractor with success, advised its use, with the following results: Man quite happy, wife ditto, razor sent away. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1895.

THE Kincardine Review, a Conservative journal, has been giving its views of the situation at Ottawa. It says that "the Dominion Government has been bungling a good deal since Sir John Thompson's death," that many incompetents have seats in the Cabinet," and that "what is worse for the Government, there are men in the Opposition who would be small potatoes indeed if they could not surpass in ability and 'debating talent' those weaklings of the Conservative Cabinet. Sir Mackenzie Bowell will go on blundering so long as he has such middling men in his Cabinet, and such superior men criticising their every action." His explanation is that the practice of "creed representation" brings out inferior men. "If," he says, "these religious elements were a little more particular as to the class of politicians put forward by them, the business of the country might not suffer while the creeds were being represented." It is a common failing among religious denominations that meddle in politics or in municipal matters, as a body,, to advance the interests of fourth-rate men. That is the reason for all the bungling that is going on at Ottawa. The creed representatives are not capable of transacting big things." We are not in a position to controvert the conclusions of this good Conservative newspaper. We shall leave the task to some other good Conservative newspaper.

MR. MULOCK has introduced a bill into the House of Commons to reduce the Governor-General's salary from $50,000 to $35,000, a reduction of 30 per cent.

A WIARTON wife beater has been whipped by masked men—encore The whipping was not according to law, but it was evidently according to justice, since the wife attempted suicide on account of the beating of herself and children by the husband.

LORD Salisbury has agreed to form a Government, provided the Liberal leaders will not oppose the remaindar of the business to be transacted in the House of Commons, and will not oppose the re-election of the members of his Cabinet. It is likely these points will be yielded.

MR. O. A. Howland, of Toronto, in the Week advocates a celebration in 1897 of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of Canada. John Cabot discovered a good thing when he found Canada and the occasion might very properly be celebrated. He sighted the shores of Cape Breton June 24th, 1497, the day being strangely enough coincident with the festival of St. John. It wouldn't be a half bad idea to erect a monument in Cape Breton where the discovery took place and have the corner stone laid with Masonic ceremonies on June 24th, 1896, and have the monument unveiled on June 24th, 1897.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

LOOK OUT COMMITTEE.

Will all conveners of this committee kindly send us their report of work done in June. We wish to make a column of them, showing work actually done in each society. Short pithy reports will be much appreciated.

BOSTON, '95.

It was our intention to give full information as to rates, etc., in this week's column, but thus far we have been unable to get particulars in time for publication. We will endeavour not to disappoint you next week.

GEORGE STREET LEAGUE.

Mr. O. R. Dayman presided over a very interesting and well attended meeting under the management of the Missionary Committee. Three really fine ten minute addresses were given by Miss Finlay and Messrs. H. Lewis, B.A., and R. Spence. The latter is a student from Victoria College, who belongs to the College Missionary Movement in connection with all the colleges in Canada and the States. There are 150 Methodist students in Canada ready to go into missionary work as soon as openings are found for them. The key verse of this movement is Matt. 9, 38:—"Pray ye, therefore, the Lord of the harvest, that he send forth labourers into his harvest." The speaker divided his subject into three parts—the field, the labourers, our part. He spoke of the immense needs, the fewness of the workers, the need of financial aid and consecrated work and prayers of those at home.

Mr. Lewis took the topic, "The world for Christ." He changed it into "Christ for the world"—comparing the difference between man with and without Christ.

In this so-called Christian land we see great need of Christ in the hearts of men, but what must it be in the great mass of heathendom, where the name of Christ has never been proclaimed. He spoke eloquently of the needs of these people, and urged strongly for more means to send them the Gospel.

Miss Finlay gave a synopsis of speeches on "Missions," delivered at the late League Convention in Toronto. Dr. Carman said the duty of every Christian is to extend the Kingdom of God. The conversion of the world depends upon the Church of God. She has the means and agencies. The truth of God is her strongest weapon. Rev. R. D. Hamilton said: A true church must be a missionary church. For success he recommended them to work more, pray more and pay more. Each one can do more. Miss Finlay in closing recommended the 2c. a week plan of systematic giving. The Mission Band might work with the Society. If our congregation and our Society were the only means of spreading Christ's teachings on earth, would we not be more faithful and loyal to Him Why not then be more active and earnest in this work of missions?

CHARLOTTE STREET SOCIETY.

Met on Monday evening, the chair being taken by Rev. J. J. Rae, who also took up the topic under the following heads: "The Literary World for Christ." "The Missionary World for Christ," "The Christian Endeavour for Christ," and brought out many points that could be carried away by all present.

After the prayer meeting followed the regular monthly business meeting, and among other things it was resolved to hold our next regular consecration meeting on Sunday, June 30th, after evening service, instead of Monday evening, July 1st.

Miss Smith of the Local Executive was present by appointment, and gave a few words of encouragement.

ST. PAUL'S SOCIETY.

The Missionary Committee prepared the programme for the meeting on Monday night. The topic was, "Our next door neighbour, Mexico." The papers read gave the history of the country, told of the customs and manners of its people, and gave full information about the mission work now being done there. The subject was deeply interesting. Next Sunday night this society will hold their consecration service, and on Monday night, July 8th, the business of the month will be presented.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY

held their regular meeting on Monday night. There was a fair attendance and as it was a missionary meeting it was in charge of the missionary committee, Miss Rae, convenor, presiding. After the opening exercises, there was a lively discussion on the missionary work in Corea. Mr. Cunningham also gave an interesting talk on the work among the Indians of the Northwest. Mrs. Jones also rendered a very excellent solo entitled "Tell it out among the heathen."

On account of the holiday next Monday, the society will hold their meeting on Sunday night next, and as it is consecration meeting, we would ask that all the members be present if possible.

RIVERDALE SOCIETY.

On Monday evening the meeting was given into the hands of the missionary committee, who gladly availed themselves of the opportunity of once more bringing before the society the subject of missions. After devotional exercises the convenor, Mr. Geo. Anderson, took the lesson, and many interesting and instructive items bearing on mission work in foreign fields were read by the members present; also various methods and means of helping on the work at home. The meeting was rendered specially attractive by many vocal selections bearing directly on the work, and the meeting closed with an earnest appeal to all to help on the glorious cause of Christ in heathen lands.

OTONABEE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Otonabee Council met June 17th, all the members being present. Richard Elmhirst applied for a grant to gravel Elmhirst swamp opposite lots 24, 25 and 26; $15 was granted. A grant of $25 was also given to Walter Dickson to gravel the base line on the 11th concession. Thomas Powers was present and made application to have the road that was established in 1842 and 1866 through the east half of lot 18, con. 9, opened for public travel and J. Edwards applied to have the 7th line opened opposite lots 18 and 19. Messrs. Weir and Johnston was appointed to investigate both applications and report at next meeting of council. On motion, $3 non-resident statute labour tax collected in 1894 was ordered to be expended on road division No. 53, to which division it belongs. Wm. Watson made application for aid to purchase a ticket to Winnipeg. Left in the hands of the reeve with power to take such action as he may see fit. On motion of Messrs. Weir and Lancaster, J. H. Cruickshanks statute labour was commuted for keeping the Keene sidewalks free from snow last winter. Joseph Redmond and Wm. Leahey made application for compensation for trees planted on the highway under the Ontario tree planting act, which provides that any municipality adopting a by-law for the payment of a bonus of not more than 25c. for each tree planted 30 feet apart on the highway or on the boundary between farms will receive from the provincial treasury one half the amount so paid out. An inspector must be appointed who will report to the council when the trees, in respect of which a bonus is claimed, have been planted 3 years, and as to their condition. The following are the kinds which are authorized to be planted: ash, basswood, beech, birch, butternut, cedar, cherry, chestnut, elm, hickory, maple, oak, pine, sassafras, spruce, walnut and whitewood. The council has not yet passed a by-law so as to take advantage of the act but has been talking for some time of doing so, especially to encourage the planting of cedars in exposed places for a wind breaks, and to prevent snow blockades. As Messrs. Redmond's and Leahy's has been planted from five to ten years the clerk was instructed to write to the government to ascertain how far back it would be willing to pay for trees. The following accounts were ordered to be paid: Edward Lynch, cedar, 30c; Michael Guerin, gravel, $10.57; Robert Dickson, gravel, $9.60; John Borland, cedar, $6.18; Thos. Chamberlin, cedar, $1.00; John Breckenridge, cedar plank for culverts, $15.75; Indian department, gravel, $5.10; Jas. Hayes, gravel, $6; R. J. H. Short, gravel, $4.62; J. J. Walsh, gravel, $14.50; D. F. Crowley, gravel, $16.60; John Anderson, gravel, $3.60; Jas. Robertson, gravel, $5.40; Mr. P. Gillespie, gravel, $6; J. McDonel, gravel, $10.42; R. Doris, drawing gravel, $4; Andrew Esson, gravel, $12.96; C. Armstrong, cedar, $5.28; R. Elmhirst, gravel and damages, $20.55; Ben Reid, cedar, $3.24; D. McCarthy, gravel, $12.10. Council adjourned to 15th July.

Council then resolved itself into a court of revision, when the following changes were made: Geo. Robb and M. Hallahan, reduced from $4000 to $3800; Samuel Deyell, reduced from $3,500 to $3,000; Richard Davis, reduced from $3,650 to $3,500; Jas. E. Henderson, reduced $500 on an assessment of $4,100; Alex. Conroy to be jointly assessed with John Conroy, and Peter and Robt. Cleghorn with John Cleghorn, Jacob Sidders instead of J. H. Burgess; James Duffus, tenant for west half lot 21, con. 11; part of lot 27, con. 4, to Andrew Brown, owner, instead of Levi Fife, tenant; Jas. Boyce, owner for e. p. No. 4 and 5, Keene, instead of W. McFarlane, tenant; R. J. Adamson applied to be assessed for 40 acres Indian Reserve at $400; complaint against J. H. Taylor, ordered that east half lot 10, con. 10, be assessed for $3,100 instead of $1,600; Jas. Wood, assessment confirmed; Gilbert Howson applied to be released from the assessment of 15 acres Indian reserve, as he had ceased to be tenant—granted; Robt. Dickson, east half lot 16, con. 4, omitted by the assessor, was added to the roll; Jas. Sedgwick and Richard Reeves appealed against assessment of dogs, appeal allowed; Chas. Bell, appeal against assessment of bitch allowed; Dairus Defoe, tenant for Jas. Bowie's house, Allandale. On motion the assessment roll for 1895 as amended was confirmed.

AN ILLINOIS SENSATION.

A Lady of Union County Recovers Her Health in a Marvellous Manner.

Anna, Illinois, June 17—A very interesting case of recovery from a very complicated form of kidney trouble has taken place here, and the details are gradually being made public. The sufferer was Miss M. T. Loomis, who for a long time has been a victim of severe pains in all parts of the body. She consulted a number of doctors and was treated for a great variety of complaints, the diagnosis all proving faulty. At length she determined to try Dood's Kidney Pills, having read and heard much of their efficacy and found her expectations justified in a complete cure.

SALISBURY IN OFFICE

His Lordship Now Busy Forming a Cabinet.

DUFFERIN FOR FOREICN SECRETARY

Draft of the Ministry as Officially Announced Yesterday When the New Premier Accepted Office—Joseph Chamberlain Secretary for the Colonies.

London, June 25.—The Unionist leaders held conference at Lord Salisbury's residence at 11 o'clock this morning. The Duke of Devonshire, Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Balfour, Mr. Goschen and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach were present. The conference came to an end at 1.30 p.m., and Lord Salisbury almost immediately afterwards took a train for Windsor.

His visit was unexpected, and no royal carriage being in waiting at the station, His Lordship walked to the palace unobserved. Soon after his arrival at the castle, he had a private audience with the Queen.

An official despatch from Windsor soon after announced that Lord Salisbury had accepted the commission to form a Ministry, and kissed the hand of Her Majesty upon being formally appointed Premier.

The Central News is authority for the statement that Lord Salisbury during his interview with the Queen informed Her Majesty that he was ready to form a Ministry, and submitted for her approval a list of the names of the members of the proposed new Cabinet. Mr. Balfour, according to this statement, has accepted the post of First Lord of the Treasury, and Mr. Chamberlain that of Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Lord Salisbury, besides becoming Prime Minister will take the Foreign portfolio temporarily. He has made overtures to the Marquis of Dufferin to resign his present office of British Ambassador to France and become Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The members of the new Ministry so far as they have been selected are officially announced as follows:

Prime Minister and Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the Marquis of Salisbury.

Lord President of the Council, the Duke of Devonshire.

First Lord of the Treasury, Right Hon. Arthur James Balfour.

Secretary of State for the Colonies, Right Hon. James Chamberlain.

Chancellor of the Exchequer, Right Hon. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach.

First Lord of the Admiralty, Right Hon. Geo. Joachim Goschen.

The other places in the Ministry have not yet been definitely allotted.

The Westminster Gazette says Lord Rosebery has not received any communication from Lord Salisbury in regard to the conditions of the latter's acceptance of office, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Daily News, the Liberal organ, says there is reason to believe that if Lord Salisbury demands any pledges from the outgoing Government as a condition to his taking office they will be refused. Editorially The Daily News says: "If Lord Salisbury demands terms from Lord Rosebery we trust the impudent request will be met with a peremptory refusal. If Lord Salisbury refuses to accept office he will place himself in the ludicrous and contemptible position of one willing to wound yet afraid to strike. The fact is, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain has got Lord Salisbury in a mess, and the latter now calls upon Lord Rosebery to help him out of it. This is not Lord Rosebery's business. Lord Salisbury must either pluck up courage or exhibit a spectacle of impotence and paltroonery from which we are sure he will shrink.

The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to The Daily News' intimation that if Lord Salisbury demands any pledges from the outgoing Government as a condition of his taking office, they will be refused, says: "If Lord Salisbury refuses to form a Ministry without terms then Lord Rosebery must again take up the responsibility which no one but a coward would ever have cast off on such a pretext. He ought to have dissolved Parliament instead of resigning."

The Pall Mall Gazette says Mr. Gladstone, at his conference with Lord Rosebery last night, seriously questioned the wisdom of the resignation of the Ministry. Certain Liberals believe that Mr. Gladstone, having been physically fortified by his cruise in the North Sea, will throw the weight of his influence and eloquence upon the side of his old colleagues, but the ex-Premier's personal friends are strongly opposed to his taking any such course, fearing that the excitement and exertion might cause a physical reaction, and Herbert Gladstone has definitely stated that his father would take no further part in political life.

The National Liberal Federation has in course of preparation a manifesto dealing with the coming elections. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, will open the campaign on July 4, at Manchester, where he will address a mass meeting of the party.

Justin McCarthy, leader of the anti-Parnellites in the House of Commons, has issued a manifesto beginning: "The defeat of the Home Rule Government has placed Ireland's bitterest enemies in office." Mr. McCarthy proceeds to denounce the Conservative leaders as having by their own confession no Irish policy but that of coercion. He claims that the Liberal policy of conciliation has been proved wise and practicable by the political unprecedentedly tranquil state of Ireland.

The manifesto continues as follows: "The Irish party for nine years have stood firmly and honorably by their alliance with the Liberals, an alliance based upon the latter's adoption of a Home Rule policy, and have the public solemn assurances of the Liberal leaders that Home Rule shall remain their primary policy and shall be kept in the forefront of their program. Without a subsidy from the rich exchequer of a great empire, unlike the Government, we fight frowned upon by the wealthy and powerful in England and Ireland, and we rely exclusively upon the generosity and confidence of the ever faithful people of the Irish race at home and abroad to supply the resources necessary for an election fund."

London, June 26.—The Daily News says: The result of Lord Salisbury's double appointment will be that we shall have a good foreign secretary and no premier. Mr. Chamberlain is the last man in the coalition who would be selected popularly for Minister of the Colonies, but the post does not involve much departmental work and Mr. Chamberlain will probably see that it will leave him time and strength for great parliamentary activity.

The News' article expresses surprise at the selection of Mr. Goschen as First Lord of the Admiralty, and hints that the Duke of Devonshire has taken the post of Lord President of the Council because he is disinclined to work.

The Graphic makes similar comments regarding the Duke of Devonshire's appointment, and will express regret that Mr. Chamberlain was not made Secretary of State for War.

The Morning Post expresses approval of the appointments all round.

The Telegraph expresses approval of the new Ministry.

Truth says that the chances of upsetting the Unionist Government lie in its being formed of Conservatives and Liberal-Unionists. "Were Mr. Chamberlain eliminated," Truth says, "these chances would disappear, but he is such a born intriguer that he is certain to intrigue against his colleagues if he does not get his own way in everything."

The House of Commons met at 3 o'clock, and after the transaction of minor business occupying 40 minutes adjourned until noon to-morrow.

Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said he had hoped to be able to give definite information at this time as to the course affairs would take, but it was impossible for him to do so, as much information was not in his possession. Therefore, it was better that the House should adjourn.

ROYAL NUPTIALS.

Princess Helene of Orleans Married to the Duke of Aosta—Brilliant Ceremony at Kingston-on-Thames.

London, June 26.—Prince Emmanuel Duke of Aosta, was married in St. Raphael's Catholic Church, at Kingston-on-Thames this morning, to Princess Helene of Orleans, second daughter of the late Count of Paris. The church was profusely and beautifully decorated with tall palms, orchids, paintings, etc., and there was a profusion of white and pink roses around the altar. Princess Helene and her mother, the Countess de Paris, drove in a carriage from Orleans House, Twickenham, where the bride was born, to the church. The route from the residence to the church was decorated with flags, and the general festive appearance of things was heightened greatly by the bright sunshine.

The princess was robed in a white satin bridal dress, very simple in design and admirably suiting her tall, slender figure, with a veil of Chantilly lace, specially woven at Bayeux for the occasion. Her head dress was a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of the same. The Duke of Aosta was accompanied to the church by his brother, the Count of Turin. The bride was given away by her uncle, the Duc de Chartres, her brother, the Duc D'Orleans, head of the Bourbon branch of the House of Orleans, being incapacitated from performing that ceremony owing to his recent accident while shooting in Spain.

It was in St. Raphael's Church that the Count of Paris and Princess Isabella of Orleans, the father and mother of the bride, was married in 1864.

The assemblage in the church was the most brilliant that has been present at a similar function in England in many years. Among the guests were the Prince and Princess of Wales and their daughters; the Duke and Duchess of York; Prince and Princess Henry of Battenburg, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, the Prince of Naples, Crown Prince of Italy, in the uniform of a colonel of hussars; the Duke of Oporto, representing the King of Portugal, in military attire; the Duchess of Montpensier, Prince and Princess de Joinville, the Duc D'Aumale, the Duc De Nemours, the Duc De Luynes, the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, and the Infanta Eulalia of Spain.

The Queen presented the bride with a bracelet of diamonds, and the gift of the Prince and Princess of Wales and their family was a large mercury wand of diamonds and rubies. The gift of King Humbert and Queen Margherita was a high crown, with stars and sprays of diamonds of great size and value.

Many a man, who has been sent to an early and even suicidal grave by the tortures of dyspepsia, would be alive and well to-day, had he tested the virtues of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This is no temporary appetizer, but a radical, scientific remedy. It makes life worth living.

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

The recital being in the church, there will, of course, be no admission fee.

That Lost Watch.

Mr. Wm. Logan in speaking to an EXAMINER reporter this morning, confirmed the statement in yesterday's issue to the effect that the only reason he had for not yielding up Margaret Newel's watch was that he was not positive as to its ownership. The demand for the timepiece, too, was made, he states, in such a manner as to convey the insinuation that the watch had not come into his possession in a rightful manner. Naturally Mr. Logan was very indignant about the matter, as the finding of the watch was advertised in the papers.

The Belleville Excursion.

An excursion from Belleville, under the auspices of Mizpah and Belleville Lodges of that place, arrived in town to-day about twelve o'clock. The train was switched off at the Lakefield Junction, and ran directly up to the new Nicholls' Park. There were about 400 excursionists in all, including the celebrated silver band of the Oddfellows, under the skilful leadership of Prof. Riggs. During the afternoon the visitors strolled around the town, took in the baseball game between the Belleville and Peterborough teams, or took advantage of the open air band concert in the park.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

WHEN WILL THE WORK BEGIN.

Who are the Walking Bosses?—Why the Delay in Work on the Lakefield-Peterborough Section?

The Good Book assures that we shall always have the poor with us, and it would seem that, as far as the Trent Valley Canal is concerned, we are to have "work about to begin," with us always, judging from the masterly inactivity that characterizes the beginning of work on the Lakefield-Peterborough section. Five years ago we had a member of Parliament pledge his seat that a thousand workmen would be engaged on this section the following summer, and we all know how that promise was kept, and how the pledge was redeemed. There was no work on the canal and no vacated seat. We were assured in the dim past that the contracts had been let and that the valuators had completed their duties, and "that work would be begun at once." Has it begun yet? Have the hundreds of idle men who want work been employed? Here we are pretty well through the season, and no sign of a pick being lifted yet. Are the people to conclude that the proposal to actively construct the Lakefield-Peterborough section is a blind and a "fake"? The public, whose money has been spent on preliminary surveys, have a right to some definite information on the subject. To show that outsiders have been deluded into the belief that the work of canal construction would go on, the following letter of inquiry received this morning is given :

DRESDEN, June 24th, 1895.

J. R. Stratton, Esq., Peterborough.

DEAR SIR,—Would you be so kind as to give me the address of the contractors of the Trent Valley Canal and please say if there is any rock cutting in the work, also the name and address of the walking boss. Kindly reply on addressed card enclosed and oblige

—.

For the information of the gentleman, it may be said that the EXAMINER is unable to furnish any for the very good reason that the contract has not been let, and that consequently there are no walking bosses. The plans are all in readiness, and there is no excuse for the delay. Our correspondent may as well look out for another job, for there is no probability of any work being done on this section this summer. If there had been a dissolution instead of a session of Parliament, and a consequent general election no doubt work would have been going forward at a grand rate and every workman who had a vote would have been given employment. Now, no election, no contract and no work. The Trent Valley Canal and those concerned on the exploitation of the scheme are at least consistent. They consistently do nothing, but fiddle away the public money in preliminaries and consistently delude the public. The Trent Valley Canal is a great scheme and the Dominion Government are great schemers. O! when shall we hear the last of this greatest fake on earth? It is really fatiguing.

A QUIST WEDDING.

Celebration of the Matthews-Ratcliff Nuptials at Stouffville.

At Stouffville yesterday Mr. George S. Matthews, of "The Geo. Matthews Co., (Ltd.)" Peterborough, was married to Miss Frances P. V. Ratcliff, daughter of Rev. F. Ratcliff of Stouffville.

Mr. Jas. H. Ratcliffe acted as groomsman, and Miss Lena Ratcliff was bridesmaid.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. Booker, assisted by the father of the bride.

The wedding was a quiet one, only the relatives of the bride and groom being in attendance. Mrs. Riley and Miss Matthews, of Lindsay, sisters of the groom, were both present on the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews left for Toronto on the afternoon train and took the boat from there to Montreal. Before their return they will visit the summer resorts at Lakes Chaplain and George, and will also sail down the Hudson River to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews will reside on Dalhousie street in Peterborough.

Miss Radcliff is most favourably known in Peterborough, where she has many friends, as Rev. Mr. Radcliff was formerly the incumbent at the Baptist church on Communication Road.

Timber Booms Carried Away.

While the steamer City of Peterborough was making the Peterborough landing stage last evening, she carried with her from Point St. Charles four boom timbers which blocked the channel in order to keep the logs in the bay. Many logs were let loose, and a jam formed at the entrance to the locks, thereby detaining the outgoing boats this morning.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Young Man Falls From the Belleville Excursion Train and Loses Both Legs.

Mr. Lyman Moore, a young drug clerk of Belleville, was the victim of an accident this morning, which will in all probability cost him his life.

He was a passenger on the Oddfellows excursion from Belleville to Peterborough and at Madoc Junction left the train together with a large number of others to walk upon the platform.

As the train started to move off there was a general rush to get on, young Moore selecting the front platform of the second to last car. He seized the iron handle and ran rapidly backwards with the train waiting for the others to get on He was unaware of the shortness of the platform and when he reached the end of it stepped off so suddenly and unexpectedly that he was totally unprepared for the situation and was flung directly under the wheels.

Both cars passed over the unfortunate young man's legs, crushing them to a jelly. The left one was left hanging by a few shreds of skin just above the knee, whilst the right limb was horribly mangled between the knee and ankle.

Dr. Gibson was on the train and immediately applied an improvised tourniquet to stop the terrible and costly flow of blood.

Moore never lost consciousness and talked to his friends as they pressed about him. A special train was telegraphed for to take him back to Belleville but he cannot possibly survive the accident.

The young man was about 24 years of age, and a general favourite in Belleville.

Later—Mr. Moore died at North Hastings Junction, at 12 o'clock.

A SMASHUP ON CHARLOTTE STREET THIS MORNING.

A Street Car Runs Into Mr. John Kennedy's Wagan.

This morning at about a quarter to twelve as Mr. John Kennedy was carting cheese along Charlotte street an electric car ran into his wagon just in front of Dr. Pigeon's residence.

Both the wagon and car were travelling east and the car came up behind Mr. Kennedy just as his horse closed in nearer the track, and took off one of the rear wheels.

Mr. Kennedy states that the collision was not the fault of the motor man, as his horse has a habit of suddenly lurching across the street and the accident, therefore was unavoidable. The car was not damaged to any extent by the mishap.

Quite Unusual.

The attention, especially of the ladies, is directed to Mr. Robert Hall's advertisement in this page of the EXAMINER, announcing the first summer clearing sale he has ever held. It is quite unusual to find this store printing its reduced quotations, as appears in this issue, but the genuineness of the reductions will be none the less welcome to shoppers. It has been the persistent policy of this store to make values relating better than the average, without setting up much of a hue and cry about it. That very principle has led to necessary reductions just now in summer dress goods and everything that belongs to summer, when the season is so well advanced, in order, to prepare the way for early fall goods. This determination to sell at the bare original cost for thirty days means undoubtedly a loss to Mr. Hall. It ought, however, to clear the shelves; and it is much better to sell at cost now than carry goods over, which Mr. Hall will not do if he can help it. This will be a bona fide clearing sale. 2d1w

Consumption Was Feared.

DEAR SIRS,—Over three years ago I was troubled with a nasty cough and really thought I would go into consumption. A friend advised me to try Haggyard's Pectoral Balsam, and one bottle gave me great relief. After taking four bottles I can truthfully say I have never had a cough since. IN LOVING MEMORY OF THE DEPARTED DEAD.

ODDFELLOWS DECORATE THE GRAVES OF DECEASED BRETHREN

A Large Turn Out of the Order—An Imposing Procession — Thousands Throng the Cemetery—The Ceremony Duly Performed—Eloquent Addresses.

The Oddfellows of Peterborough decorated the graves of their departed brethren yesterday afternoon, and the ceremony was carried out with the same solemnity and success that has characterized their observance of this occasion in former years.

At two o'clock fully a hundred and fifty members of Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges assembled in Central Park, together with a score or more of visiting brethren from Claremont and Pontypool. Each member carried a bouquet or floral emblem to deposit upon the grave of some deceased brother. All formed into procession at half past two, and headed by the band marched to Little Lake cemetery, whither they had been preceded by several thousand citizens.

The streets on the way to the cemetery were who were greatly pleased with the appearance presented by the members of the different lodges as they marched past, all bearing the different emblematic floral tributes mentioned before.

On arriving at the cemetery the brethren were drawn up in front of the chapel where Bro. Dr. Bell, P.G.M., welcomed the gathering and announced that before proceeding with the ceremony of decorating the graves, the blessing of a divine providence would be asked on the work.

Bro. Rev. J. J. Rae, chaplain, then offered a brief prayer, after which the band led in the hymn, "Nearer my God to Thee."

The members then separated into four sections, each led by a Noble and Past Grand, and the simple and unostentatious ceremony of decorating was begun. As each party reached the grave of some deceased brother the words "Here lies our Brother ———; let us emulate his virtues and remember not his faults." A floral tribute was then affectionately placed on the mound and the party passed on to the next grave.

A NOBLE GRAND RECITED

Many graves other than those of the Oddfellows were decorated during the day, and the cemetery was almost carpeted with flowers.

The beautiful ceremony occupied about an hour, during which time the band, which was stationed near the chapel, rendered a number of appropriate selections. The members and those present assembled again in front of the chapel, at the call of the bugle, to hear speeches suitable for the occasion delivered by the clergy of the town.

Bro. Dr. Bell, P.G.M., occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks he welcomed, on behalf of the order, those present to assist in the ceremony of decorating the graves of those who had gone before. It was a ceremony in which all could join heartily to carry out the family idea of friendship and love and to recall the virtues of those whose graves they were strewing that day. The Oddfellows of Canada take a pride in this ceremony, and wherever Oddfellows were found the practice had taken root. In the United States the day was known as Memorial Day, when the Oddfellows met at some suitable place and where a meeting was held, addresses being delivered by prominent members of the order. The idea of Canadian Oddfellows was, he said, in advance of their practice, and our sister town of Port Hope could lay claim to the honour of first instituting this practice in Canada.

WITH FLORAL TRIBUTES

Concerning the charge that the I.O.O.F. was a secret society, the doctor stated that it was only secret just as far as necessary to protect it from imposition. The Order was growing at astonishing rate. It was inaugurated in 1819 and now had over a million members, and paid out over four million dollars per annum to members and others for charitable objects. The revenue of the society, of course, was much larger then that sum. In Ontario there were and $80,000 has been paid out last year for relief. The Order was not a purely beneficial one as the objects were far more reaching than that. The fraternal objects were stronger than the financial. The very fact of the presence of Oddfellows in the cemetery to-day was indicative of the fact, that there were other objects in the Order than that of helping brethren in distress. Many graves had been decorated during the day of brethren who had died before some of those decorating were born. This was a sign that Oddfellowship was far reaching and even in death the links were extant which bound the brethren together and forbade the thought of their being forgotten. Dr. Bell then introduced Rev. J. J. Rae, of the Charlotte street Methodist church.

Mr. Rae stated that he was

AN ODDFELLOW HIMSELF,

Not one by birth, as some of his friends, who would follow him in speaking, were, but an Oddfellow by adoption, and as an Independent Oddfellow he was glad to look into the faces of those about him. He was glad to recognize the governing principle of an order which drew the present assemblage together to-day. Oddfellowship found its existence in the deep-seated needs of human life. All these orders that laboured for the common weal were honoured of man and beloved of God. As Oddfellowship sprang out of the deep-seated needs of humanity, so Decoration Day sprang out of the deep-seated needs of Oddfellowship. It was illustrated that even in death the strong bonds of the three links were not sundered but still held firmly together. He was glad to be able to recognise that Oddfellowship led us not only to lead a good life in this world but prepared us as well for the life to come and helped us in all that pertained to the highest standard of manhood.

Rev. A. MacWilliams, of St. Andrew's church, was then introduced and in opening his address stated that he had the on Decoration Day two years ago, but had been prevented from making an address by the rain. On that occasion a thought had occurred to him concerning the advantages to be derived from the celebration of such an event. Was there not, he queried, a great deal of sentiment in this decorating? Did not many participate in the ceremonies without aught else in their hearts? Yet although this might be the case with some, he felt positive that the majority of those present were animated by intelligence and reason in their action.

There were three parties to be considered on this day, namely, the departed dead, the living and the God of the living and dead. The question naturally arose, did the dead know anything of these ceremonies?

SPIRITUALISTS AND OTHERS

too, held that the "cloud of witnesses" mentioned in Hebrews xii, 1 was corroboration of the fact that the dead were with us always. His own belief was that the spirits knew nothing of what was going on in the world unless messenger angels communicated with them. But if they did know, the ceremonies performed would cause them, he felt, to rejoice in the depth of their hearts, as all loved to be remembered by their loved ones. Concerning the living, he was sure that the influence of the day would benediction and a blessing. It would rekindle the old love for friends. As we stood by the graves of our lost loved ones, new resolves would be made—such resolves as were registered at death beds, and all too frequently forgotten. Then again it was an empty thing to have your grave decorated, if you were not worthy. Lead a life, said he, which will cause your grave to be decorated with

THE KINDEST REMEMBERANCES.

He considered that the Almighty was glorified by the observence of the day, inasmuch as the thoughts of all reverted to Him—the Great Giver of Life.

Dr. Bell announced that both Rev. J. C. Davidson and Rev. H. Symonds were unable to be present, as both had to be in Toronto. Mr. Davidson had been present on the grounds a portion of the afternoon but had to leave to take the train. Both gentlemen had expressed their sympathies with the object of the day's ceremonies.

Rev. Mr. Trotter, of the Murray street Baptist church, stated in his address that he was most heartily in sympathy with the objects of the day, which ought to result in some advantage to all. His first thought on entering the cemetery was of the sorrow occasioned. How many went from grave to grave with tearful hearts sorrowing over the loss of their loved ones? Was there any place where refuge from sorrow might be taken, was the next thought, and then the objects of the day became more clear to him and he saw that the minds of all must turn who came into the world to bear our sorrows. If we thought of Christ as we thought of our sorrow our faith in God would be renewed. Some were filled with regret when their loved ones were called away. They remembered all the unkind words and deeds. Should not this thought awake in us kinder thoughts towards one another, as many might be gone to-morrow. We ought to be led by this service to remember that we, too, must take our place with those others under the sod, and the way to be prepared was trust in the Lord.

TO OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST,

Rev. Mr. Young, of the George street Methodist church, in the course of his remarks, stated he was an oddfellow, too. Neither by birth or adoption, but by force, as he was at present all alone at the parsonage, Mrs. Young being away for a few weeks. He recognized the fact that there was nothing in the world so desirable as society for mutual help. Many were richly endowed with intellect, fortune, fine equipages etc., yet without society to all those things lost half their value. He was glad therefore to stand on a platform identified with a society, whose object was to make better men and better Christians. He was greatly impressed to-day, as he supposed were all others with the thought of the resurrection. The thought arose "What is the resurrection, what will this graveyard look like on that great day when the trumpet of the Archangel sounds and the graves give up their dead clothed with immortality and eternal life?" Since his residence in town for two years he had visited the cemetery, on the occasion of burials, just sixty-six times, and the thought was pressed home that all were fast hastening to the narrow house of clay and to the morn of resurrection. The day caused him to wonder how all would rise. Should the Judge be met or should they be dragged away to eternal darkness. It was appointed unto man once to die, concluded he, then let us so live that it may be said "He is not, for God has taken him to Himself."

WITH JOY AND GLADNESS

Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's church, in his address expressed the opinion that the origin of Decoration Day might have begun at the terminus of the American civil war, when the wives and daughters of those killed in the great battle of Gettysburg visited the graves and decorated them with flowers. He did not agree with Rev. Mr. MacWilliams regarding the spirits of the dead. He thought the connection between the dead and the living, the seen and the unseen was very much closer than many thought. If it was true that the dead could witness what we do decorating the graves, Dr. Torrance thought that we might believe that they were greatly gratified thereby. The benefit however, was primarily our own. When the life of a dear one was seen ebbing away we sometimes think all the sunshine of our own life is ebbing away with it, but forgetfulness comes with time, although the death almost broke our hearts. Upon Decoration Day these sad thoughts were revived in our hearts as we stood over the graves and our beloved are with us again creating the resolve to meet the mother or sister in heaven, as resolved upon at the deathbed. The day, therefore, was far-reaching in its effects, and the benefit humanity derived from it would be hard to estimate.

A closing hymn was then sung and upon the benediction being pronounced, the Oddfellows formed in line and marched back to their lodge rooms.

Mrs. Cooney, of Ashburnham, who always provides flowers for the graves of those buried in the Oddfellows plot in the cemetery on Decoration Day, sent over two of the handsomest tributes of the day yesterday afternoon for this purpose.

THE RESULT OF A BAILIFF'S SALE.

The Struggle for a First-class Clothing Stock—Peterborough Hustlers Capture the Prize—A Peremptory Sacrifice the Outcome.

The mammoth clothing stock of T. Dolan & Co's. was sold by the bailiff at the Morgan House on Tuesday last, and knocked down at 60c on the dollar to Gough Bros. Always ahead, always pushing, this undaunted firm of clothing hustlers never let slip an opportunity to catch every passing windfall, to maintain their claim to being "The Wonderful Cheap Men." From your collar button to a complete outfit—from your socks to your head gear—Gough Bros. insist in keeping their lead in the race for supremacy in the clothing business. Briefly told, the result of this new purchase, will be that this well-known, clean, well-kept, strictly seasonable stock of T. Dolan & Co's. is doomed to slaughter.

PRINTER'S INK IS POWERLESS to portray an adequate idea of the splendid assortment of men's suits—suits for business, suits for dress; boys' and youths' suits—suits for every day and suits for better days; trousers, vests, hats, shirts, neckwear, underwear, hosiery, cloths, etc. Impossible to give more than a general idea. You will have to come in to appreciate the stock.

The cloud-burst of bargains opens in Dolan's corner store, on Saturday, June 29th, when the stock will be opened out, the prices shattered, and a red-hot summer sensation begun, which will bury all sales "out of sight."

It is well known that this stock of Dolan & Co. had a reputation among clothing dealers for being stylish, strongly made and durable, many of the suits having been cut and made on the premises. The cloths were good, the linings substantial, and making done by tailors used to making up the finest suit. So that it was not to be wondered at that other dealers were dickering to get a pull on it, and that even wholesale manufacturers came a long distance to angle for it. But Gough Bros., as usual, the tireless, sleepless, wide-awake clothiers, ever watchful for the best interests of their constituents, made an honest bid and captured the snap in a canter.

And now the citizens of Peterborough will reap the benefit of a solid, straight-out, peremptory sacrifice for the next thirty days. Wide-awake citizens will, therefore, make a note of these pointers and be sure to attend this biggest of big sales, commencing Saturday, June 29th, in Dolan & Co.'s corner store.

PERSONAL

Mr. P. M. Hood, of Montreal, is spending a few days in town visiting his numerous friends.

The Belleville Sun of Tuesday says: Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., of the Peterborough EXAMINER, was in the city to-day and gave the Sun a call.

Miss Nethercutt, of the Post Office department, will leave at the end of the week for a visit of several months duration with friends in New York State.

Mr. J. J. Grafton, of the well known firm of Grafton & Co., clothing manufacturers of Dundas, is visiting the branch here. He reports that they are doing a rushing business in Peterborough and is well pleased with the business here.

Mr. David Elliott, recently a foreman at the Canadian General Electric Works, has accepted a position to travel for the Ottawa Porcelain and Carbon Co. Mr. Elliott was most popular with his many friends in Peterborough, and will be greatly missed by the many friends whom he made during his residence in Peterborough.

Held in high esteem—Grafton & Co's Men's Summer Coats and Vests and lightweight clothing—best value in Canada. At Grafton & Co's.

A Needed Improvement.

Mr. Legendre, of the People's Store, 323 George street, is petitioning the council to have the walk raised in front of his premises—from the City Hotel south. The step is altogether too large and makes access to his shop more difficult than at other points on the street. Citizens who invest their money in business to help the town should be helped themselves.

10,000 BARGAINS in Clothing, Cloths, Caps, Furnishings, at the stashing sale of T. Dolan & Co's stock, commencing Saturday, June 29, in Dolan's corner Store, all of which must be closed out in 30 days to settle with the Bailiff.

—Mr. John Best, Downey street, has a pear tree in bloom to-day, though it had a plentiful show of blossoms at the proper time in the spring.

—The street inspector should give his attention to the weeds that begin to make vigorous appearance on some of the streets. The western end of Homewood avenue is a veritable forest of giant burdocks and other rampant weeds.

—A gold watch which was lost at the cemetery yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Wm. Cowle was found by Miss Tottie Hartley, by whom it was returned to its rightful owner. It was fortunate indeed for Mrs. Cowle that the watch fell into such hands as Miss Hartley's.

—This morning the magistrate announced that hereafter the cases brought before him of citizens neglecting to take out dog tags, he would impose a fine as well as costs. The tag will also have to be purchased and, on the whole, it will be very expensive to any upon whom summonses are served.

—Mr. George Ward has had the excavation made for a tenement terrace on the corner of Bethune and Charlotte streets. This seems to be a self building site; the excavation furnished more than enough sand, a large part of the stone for the foundation and a well in the cellar gives sufficient water.

INDECENT ASSAULT.

It Stands for Judgment Until Saturday Morning Next.

The case of W. J. Lundy, charged with indecent assault on two little south ward girls under nine years of age, was up before the magistrate this morning, and the trial (accused having elected to be tried by the magistrate) was conducted with closed doors.

The story of the children was pitiful as to themselves and revolting as to the details given. The first witness stated how Lundy had tried to induce them to come into an empty house on Chamberlen street by saying that there was a ghost inside. She then stated that he offered them money and finally coaxed them into the house, where the assault is alleged to have taken place. The details of what followed are of a nature which forbids publication.

The defence relied mainly on the fact that Lundy was under the influence of liquor at the time, and in showing that no positive harm had been done the children.

The magistrate has reserved judgment in the case until Saturday next.

COUGH BROS.

The Professional and Victorious Leaders in Clothing, secured the T. Dolan & Co's stock of Clothing, Cloths, Gent's Furnishings, Hats and Caps, &c, at 60c on the Dollar, and will flood the town and county with trumpet-tongued bargains to all the people, commencing Saturday morning, June 29th.

CONVERTIBLE OUTING RIG.

A Novel Costume That is Especially Adapted to the Needs of Cycling Tourists.

The accompanying illustrations give a good idea of a new "convertible" costume just brought out in England. The construction of the costume, says the Lady's Pictorial, is simplicity itself, and one of the greatest charms about it lies in the fact that it can be used equally well for walking in town or country, cycling, climbing, mountaineering, golf, or any other athletic exercise, while it is light in weight, undeniably graceful in appearance and wonderfullyy moderate in price. It is arranged with a smartly-cut, well-fitting bodice, a full plain skirt, buttoning at the sides, and knickerbockers made in the newest and most approved fashion. In less than a minute, by simply unfastening the buttons at the sides ofthe skirt and securing the skirt in an equally easy manner to the shoulders, the lower limbs are left perfectly free, and a graceful drapery is all that remains, apparently, of the skirt, reaching a short distance below the knee, and clearing quite easily the wheel of a bicycle.

How the Chinese Gamble.

A Chinaman, when his heart is in the business, makes an ideal gambler. He never gets excited or loses his nerve and no expression of feeling ever shows itself in his face. He wins or he loses with apparent indifference. Some of the ways in which he risks his money are novel and amusing. The other day a Gleaner representative happened to be in th Chinese club in this city and was introduced to a form of gambling which was exceedingly simple, yet one in which the participants seemed to take a great deal of interest. The reporter was given permission to write about what he saw. To commence with, those who wish to enter the game pay two or three shillings and write their names on separate slips of paper. These slips are shaken up in a hat and one is selected and placed in a small basket. This basket is suspended from the ceiling and the Chinaman make their bets as to whose name is in the basket. The basket remains suspended for a fixed length of time. The lucky man whose name fate has selected, wins the pool.—Kingston, Jamaica Gleaner.

TARTAR ON THE TEETH.

A Peculiar Disease That Makes Trouble to Many.

"People are losing their teeth from a new cause nowadays," said a dental surgeon to a Washington Star reporter. "It is a complaint which seems to have become common only within the last fifteen years or so. 'Recession of the gums,' it is called. Tartar is deposited at an abnormal rate, and this carbonate of lime secreted from the saliva pushes the gums back from the teeth.

"It is a very peculiar disease. In cases far advanced it can hardly be cured. That is to say, the tendency to an accumulation of tartar cannot be stopped. All that can be done is to prevent it from accumulating by scraping it away at intervals and by medicinal applications to the gums. In an early stage, however, the complaint is perfectly curable, and the tenuency in most cases can be overcome. But much care and continual attention are required. Otherwise the person will have lost some of his teeth by the time he is forty years old, and after that the rest of them will go rapidly.

"hTe making of false teeth has arrived at great perfection, but at best they are poor substitutes. As I have said, this may be regarded as a new disease. At all events, it is only in recent years that it has become prevalent. It is important that people's attention should be called to it. From 7 years to 20 care must be taken of the teeth lest they decay. There is little danger of that after the 20th year is passed. But from that time on one should look out for tartar. A mouth affected in the way I speak of is almost worse than a badly decayed mouth. The trouble means certain loss of the teeth unless looked out for and treated.

THE PICNIC HAMPER.

Things That Seem Good to an Ozone Whetted Appetite.

In packing the picnic hamper remember that there should be a large supply of sandwiches, which are always the piece de resistance of an out-door lunch. Cheese sandwiches, by way of variety are excellent. Thin slices of the cheese should be placed between very thin slices of bread, and if the cheese is toasted first the sandwiches will taste even better. Everyone knows how delicious are the sandwiches of pate de foie gras, caviare, and the various potted meats, but comparatively few are aware that the most delicious sandwiches can be made by spreading thin slices of Vienna or home-made bread with mayonnaise and then with chopped lettuce or watercress. Chopped ham, chicken and hard-boiled eggs are desirable for these luncheon goodies. After being made the sandwiches should be daintily wrapped in buttered paper, which keeps them fresh and cool.

* * * *

The usually monotonous picnic menu is given an agreeable change by adding devilled eggs. To make this dish, first boil the eggs hard, afterwards removing the shells. Cut carefully in halves with a silver knife and take out the yolks; mash these fine with a silver spoon, and add enough mayonnaise dressing to form a smooth paste. With this fill the empty halves, put them evenly together and fasten with toothpicks. Wrap each egg in white tissue paper and keep on ice until you are ready to pack the hamper.

* * * *

Cauliflower prepared as a salad is an excellent dish for a picnic, and is easily prepared. Olives and pickles should find a place in the hamper, so should plenty of salt and pepper. Only very necessary dishes—such as cups—should be taken, and few knives, forks and spoons. The round or oval wooden dishes that grocers use for butter, lard, etc., will be found to be a very good substitute for china. The camping-out sensation will be increased and the enjoyment and hilarity of the party will be greater if most of the table paraphernalia be left at home.

* * * *

Pineapple or lemon sherbet is always a welcome at these Bohemian parties, and is far preferable to the vile liquid usually furnished at picnics and dignified by the name of coffee. Bouilion will be found quite invaluable. It is now put up in small capsules, which, when dissolved in boiling water, makes a very refreshing drink. Take along a generous supply of Japanese paper napkins, and above all things, don't forget a corkscrew.

Explanation of the Company's System of Profit Distribution.

The method of profit distribution of most companies is to give a bonus or profit on the sum assured, irrespective of the premiums paid. The Sun Life of Canada allots its profits to policies in proportion to the premiums paid, which is considered to be the more equitable system. This accounts for the variations in the percentages of the accompanying results. The lower rates given below are, in most cases, on young lives. SALISBURY SAYS NO

Unless There is No Opposition to Winding Up Business.

ANNOUNCEMENT IN BOTH HOUSES.

The Behring Sea Bill Passed After Sir William Harcourt and the Premier Had Formally Announced the Government's Resignation — Conference With the C.O.M.

London, June 24.—The House of Commons was crowded with members and visitors at the opening of to-day's sitting. Upon the appearance of H. Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War, the Liberals gave him an ovation, rising to their feet and cheering, waving their hats, etc. The Irish members sat silent. The Peers' gallery was filled with members of the Upper House.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt made a brief statement, saying that as the adverse vote on Friday was in effect a vote of want of confidence in the Secretary of State for War, with whom the Government had associated themselves, they had heretofore placed their resignations in the hands of the Queen, who had accepted them.

Referring to Mr. Campbell-Bannerman, Sir William said he would take it upon himself to say that no abler, more respected or popular minister—(cheers from both sides)—had ever filled the office. The course of the Opposition, he declared, had disabled the War Minister from proceeding with the army estimates and had made it impossible for the Government to obtain votes of supply absolutely necessary to the service of the country. The Government, he said, would hold office only until their successors had been appointed and he, therefore, would move that the House adjourn; but it was indispensable before this was done that the Behring Sea bill be passed, in order that it might receive the royal assent.

In quitting office Sir William Vernon Harcourt said he relinquished a post which he had always regarded as a great responsibility, as carrying with it higher obligations than that of any other position under the Crown, and he had always desired to maintain the ancient dignity of this famous assembly in the performance of the duties of that arduous office under circumstances of no ordinary difficulty. He had had great assistance and he desired to tender to the gentlemen with whom he had had the honor of acting his grateful thanks for their constant and unfailing support. He also desired to acknowledge the courtesy which had invariably been shown to him by his political opponents, and if it were not regarded as too presumptuous in him to adopt the words of his predecessor he would say that, for every man who had taken part in the noble conflicts of Parliamentary life, the chiefest of all his ambitions had been to stand well with the House.

Mr. Balfour said that everybody in the House had heard with sympathy and emotion the touching words with which Sir William Harcourt had concluded. All must feel, he said, in a retrospect of the labors of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, that the work he had done in the House had not been in vain. Mr. Balfour then appealed to the members of the Opposition for an expression of their sympathy with what had been said. Whatever they might think of the policy which had been pursued by the Government, all of their political opponents recognised the Chancellor as one of the greatest ornaments of the House, and who ever kept the dignity of the Assembly in view. While he, Mr. Balfour, recognised the fact that the members of the Government were the best judges of the question whether to continue to be responsible for the conduct of public affairs, he thought himself that the proper constitutional course to adopt would have been to dissolve Parliament. For a Government in the position of the present one to resign it was practically equivalent to a determination on their part to put the burden of office upon the Opposition. It was not in accordance with the best traditions of the House.

At the conclusion of the remarks of Mr. Balfour, the Behring Sea bill passed its third reading, Dr. Tanner, member for Mid-Cork, alone objecting on the ground that he would object to the passage of any bill in the House while the Irish Land bill was dormant.

The House then adjourned until to-morrow.

In the House of Lords, Lord Rosebery said that after the vote in the House of Commons on Friday, practically censuring H. Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War, upon the question of national defence, after he had foreshadowed the Government's great scheme of military re-organisation, the Ministry felt it to be their duty to resign. They would, therefore, only hold office until their successors were appointed.

The House then adjourned after passing the Behring Sea bill.

Lord Salisbury went to Windsor in the forenoon.

The Central News has issued a bulletin stating that it is difficult to obtain official information as to what took place between the Queen and Lord Salisbury at Windsor, but there is reason to believe that Lord Salisbury declined to form a ministry, and recommended the immediate dissolution of Parliament.

The representative of the United Press in London learns that Lord Salisbury will accept the Premiership only on condition that the Liberal leaders agree not to oppose his Government's getting the necessary estimates before the dissolution of Parliament and also that no member of the Cabinet which he forms shall be opposed for re-election upon taking office. Lord Rosebery, upon consultation with his colleagues, found that several of them were unwilling to make these concessions, but negotiations are in progress which it is believed will tend to an agreement upon the part of the Liberals.

Mr. Gladstone arrived in London to-day.

Immediately on his arrival in London to-day from the cruise to Kiel and elsewhere, Mr. Gladstone communicated with Lord Rosebery and accepted the latter's invitation to dine with him in Downing-street. During the evening Herbert Asquith, the Home Secretary, was summoned to a conference. Mr. Gladstone remained with Lord Rosebery until after 11 o'clock, breaking his physician's orders and his own rules. He then walked with Lord Tweedmouth, Lord Privy Seal, to the residence of Lord Rendel in Carlton-Gardens, where he is staying.

The political clubs were thronged until a late hour with members and their friends discussing the situation.

The officers of the Conservative and Liberal whips were busy until midnight.

A meeting of the anti-Parnellite members of the House of Commons was held this evening, Justin McCarthy presiding. It was resolved to appeal to the Irish people for an election fund. A manifesto will be issued to-morrow. An appeal will also be made to the Irish in Canada, the United States and Australia.

The Court Circular barely announces that Lord Salisbury arrived at Windsor Castle Monday and had an audience with the Queen.

The Standard, Conservative, says: We understand that Lord Salisbury has conditionally consented to take office and will proceed at once to form a Ministry. The official announcement of his acceptance will be delayed, pending negotiations between the party leaders on both sides in regard to the winding-up of business in the House of Commons previous to dissolution. Assurances have been asked from the Liberal leaders that they will discourage obstruction to the appropriation bill, which it is absolutely necessary should be passed before the dissolution of the House.

The Liberal leaders have also been asked to assist generally in winding up the business of the House. We understand that while the Liberals are willing to assist in obtaining the necessary supply they will not give any assurance as regards the future business of Parliament.

IRISH OPINION.

"The Meanest of Governments Ought to Have Resigned Long Ago."

Dublin, June 25.—The Independent, commenting on the fall of the Rosebery Ministry, says: "This Government was returned to pass Home Rule, which had failed, owing to the action of the House of Lords, and then raised the cry that they would either end or mend the House of Lords, but they attempted neither. It was the meanest of Governments, and ought to have resigned long ago. Mr. Morley will leave Ireland, an example of absolute incapacity as a statesman, having effected nothing, and leaving the people more discontented than ever."

The Freeman's Journal says: "The Irish supporters of the Ministry are keenly disappointed at the abandonment of power by the ministers. The Ministry were reduced and destroyed by a band of Irish posing as genuine exponents of national feeling. They may well be wearied of trying to serve the Irish people in the face of the treachery of the Redmondites."

Emperor William on a U.S Warship.

Hamburg, June 24.—Emperor William, wearing the uniform of a German admiral, yesterday afternoon visited the warship New York, the flagship of the American squadron at Kiel. He was accompanied by Admiral Knorr, chief of the Baltic Sea (Kiel) naval station.

GRATIFYING INTELLIGENCE.

Word Received of the Complete Recovery of Mrs. John Dowly.

OWEN SOUND, June 24—Word has been received here of the complete restoration to health of Mrs. John Dowly, wife of a former well known and esteemed resident of the town. The intelligence has been very gladly received as Mrs. Dowly has many friends here who are well aware of the lamentable condition of her health during the past six or seven years. Her illness has been found to result from a severe kidney complaint and she has been restored to health by a judicious use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which is now well known to most of the residents in this locality as having previously affected some extraordinary cures.

A Boon and a Blessing.

A boon and a blessing to mankind is Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the great pain destroyer and and healing remedy for external and internal use. Yellow Oil cures all aches and pains, rheumatism, lame back, sore throat, croup, deafness, cramps, contracted cords and lameness.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer saved my life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, Liver, or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George street.

Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure The Wonderful Little Book Called

"COMPLETE MANHOOD And How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

STRICKEN WITH A PARTIAL PARALYSIS

This Was the Case with Miss Minnie Stevens, of London, Ont.

The Parents Had Lost Hope of Her Recovery, But Even After Her Arm, Side and Leg Had Become Powerless South American Nervine Effected a Cure—To-day This Young Lady, Daughter of F. A. Stevens, of the Stevens Manufacturing Company, Enjoys Perfect Health.

MISS MINNIE STEVENS, LONDON, ONT.

Men and women in the exercise of physical or mental power can usually go a certain length, but a step beyond this proves too severe a test. It is the same in the field of medicine. If the case is not a trying one some simple remedy will cure, but it is when a medicine proves effective in an aggravated and extraordinary case that its real power is tested. South American Nervine has made some wonderful cures in cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, debility and nervous prostration, not to name other troubles. When nervousness, however, takes hold of the system to that extent that it becomes paralyzed and the limbs lose their natural power, then it is that the patient and her friends may indeed commence to lose heart. Miss Minnie Stevens, a fair daughter of London, Ont., had undergone this trying experience. She had been troubled with nervousness. The trouble grew and after a time assumed such shape that she could not lift or even hold anything in her hand. This member, in fact, was useless to her. The trouble spread down the side and partially into one leg. Her face began to twitch. In truth, all the indications of paralysis creeping over the system were manifest. Do we wonder that her parents lost hope of her recovery? They saw the fatal disease rapidly twining itself around their beautiful child. Surrounded with every comfort and possessing the means as well as the will to do everything that was in their power to provide relief, yet, apparently, this could not be obtained, until influenced by the statements of the wonderful cures effected by South American Nervine in cases of nervous prostration, the parents finally decided to try this medicine. After using twelve bottles their daughter became perfectly well, and to-day in the Forest City there is no young girl more healthy than Minnie Stevens, and her father, Mr. F. A. Stevens, of the Stevens Manufacturing Company, is indeed a happy man. The statement cannot be made in too positive and distinct terms that this great discovery is capable of marvelous demonstration in all nervous troubles.

The testimony that comes to the proprietor of Nervine shows that it has absolutely cured in the case of the young, as here cited, and those who have nearly reached, or gone beyond, the three score years and ten have likewise found a cure in this medicine.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mrs. Hamilton, Peterborough, was in Norwood this week.

Miss Gillis Carmichael is a guest of the family of Reeve Pearce.

Miss L. McClelland visited Peterborough last week.

Court will be held here on Wednesday.

The wife of Mr. Wm. Pegg died at her late residence on the Belmont road last Thursday. The remains were conveyed to the C.P.R. station, followed by a number of friends, on Saturday. The funeral took place at Cavanville.

Last week Mr. Jas. Metcalfe trapped a large crane at his farm on the Hastings road. It measured six feet from tip to tip of the wings.

The storehouse attached to the flour mill received a new coat of paint this week and was much improved in appearance thereby.

The Norwood junior lacrosse team drove to Hastings on Saturday and played a friendly match with the Hastings team. The result was four goals to one in favour of Hastings. Our boys were very light and claim that there were several seniors on the oppos ing team. It is expected that a return match will be played shortly.

Our local sportsmen were much surprised to learn that a fine speckled trout was caught in the Ouse here. While fishing on Tuesday, Master James Anderson, son of Mr. R. A. Anderson, drew out a fine trout, which weighed nearly 2 pounds. This is the first of this species caught in Norwood for a number of years.

The merchants on Colborne street are asking each other if our village fathers are dead or only sleeping through the hot weather. They would like to have their new sidewalk built before the snow begins to fall. In many places on this street and in other parts of the village the sidewalks are in a very dangerous condition, and it behooves our council to get a move on. We understand that there is plenty of money in the treasury now, but even if there is not, it pays better to borrow money than to leave the corporation liable for heavy damages in case of accident. And again, there are many places where repairing can be done easily now, in a short time it will be found that the lumber will have disappeared and new planks will be required.

An Encampment of Oddfellows will be organized by Grand Patriarch S. S. Merrick of Carleton Place in the Oddfellows Hall, on Friday evening. It is expected that members will join from Norwood, Havelock and Hastings lodges.

Jennia, the eldest daughter of the late Daniel Stinson, died on Monday after a very short illness. Deceased was ill, but death was not thought of until the last day, and the villagers were much shocked to hear of her sudden death. The funeral took place on Wednesday.

The following officers were elected by Court Rob Roy, C. O. F., last week:

A CLOSE CALL.

Watson McAdams Saved by Douglas' Egyptian Liniment.

Mr. McAdams writes:—"Have doctored for two years with four different doctors for pain in my right lung, which prevented my doing anything. Had a bad cough night and day, also suffered great pain. I grew very thin and was getting worse; the pain and suffering increased; hearing of such remarkable cures made by Douglas' Egyptian Liniment I determined to try it to remove the pain. I received immediate relief. I followed directions, pain decreased, cough loosened, and before six bottles were used I felt a sound man. It is now exactly three years this spring and I have had no relapse. As soon as I began to use the Liniment I stopped taking any other medicine what ever, and I do believe that Douglas' Egyptian Liniment has prolonged my life. People said I was dying from consumption. I am firm in my statement and trust that other people when first taken with heavy cold on lungs will immediately do as I did as last resort, and save dollars.

Yours truly,
WATSON McADAM.

Tamworth, May 23rd, 1894.

THE "BEE" STILL EXTANT.

A remarkable achievement in barn-raising is recorded in the Berlin News. A large barn belonging to Mr. Knarr, who lives near Roseville, was destroyed by fire a short time ago. On the 10th inst. about 40 neighbours went into the woods and swamps to get out timber to rebuild. On the 14th the timber was on the ground, and on the 19th the barn was roofed and entirely enclosed. This is a record of quick work which will be hard to break. It also shows that the generous and neighbourly old institution the "bee" has not become obsolete.

The Weather.

Chamberlain, S.D., June 25.—A heavy hailstorm and cloudburst passed through Red Lake Township Saturday night, destroying all crops in its pathway. A dry lake bed, containing 3500 acres, was filled with water to the depth of eight inches during the storm.

Topeka, Kas., June 25.—Unusual heat prevailed in Kansas yesterday, the mercury indicating a temperature of 99 in the city.

Lenz's Murderers to Be Punished.

Constantinople, June 26.— United States Minister Terrell having received trustworthy information that the bicyclist Lenz was murdered near Bahar by six Kurds whose names are known demanded their immediate arrest and punishment. The Porte has promised to comply. In the meantime the United States having no consul at Erzeroum, Sir Philip Currie, British Ambassador, has permitted Mr. Graves, British Consul, to take the matter up.

Franco-Chinese Treaty Signed.

Paris, June 26.—M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, informed the Cabinet to-day that the French Minister at Pekin has signed the convention fixing the delimitation of the southern frontier of China, and also regulating the commercial relations of the French colonies with China, including the railway and telegraphic communication with Tonquin.

Unvarying Popularity.

With each recuring heated term the verdict is the same. Straw Hats have the palm for popularity. Why perspire, when you can get a first-class Straw for 75c and a good one for 50c, at Fairweather's. But there are many who prefer the neat, soft drab and pearl Hats with wide, slouch brims. They are the favourite wear with tourists and for all outdoor sports and functions. They will be much in evidence on Dominion Day. They not only look cool but are of lightweight Felt and very comfortable for hot weather. Fairweather's prices for these standard Soft Felts of newest shades are $2.00 $2.50 and $3.00. Only, at Fairweathers. Can these goods be had at these prices.

And Abuses Mr. Martin For Writing That Letter.

ACCEPTING HIS SCHOOL PROPOSAL

Mr. Ouimet Describes Mr. Martin's Letter As a Clumsy Attempt to Defeat Remedial Legislation—Bull Day in the House But Lively in Committee.

Ottawa, June 26.—A good many Conservatives do not place much faith in the sincerity of the professions put forward by Mr. Martin in his letter on the Manitoba school question, and they do not hesitate to say that his object is to make the situation more difficult than ever for the Government to solve.

Hon. Mr. Ouimet takes this view, and in the course of an interview this evening said that he had no faith in Mr. Martin's offer. The member for Winnipeg had no warrant or authority to speak for the Manitoba Government, his suggestion of a compromise being totally at variance with the recent statement of Mr. Greenway in the Manitoba Legislature, that no concessions could be allowed to the Catholics, otherwise there would be a like demand from the Icelanders and Mennonites. He added: "It is nothing but a clumsy attempt in the interest of the Opposition to stave off Remedial Legislation."

Mr. Lariviere, M.P., who all along has been an active champion of the rights of the Catholics, commenting on Mr. Martin's letter, said: "Under the present system we have no power to organize Separate Schools in places where we are in a minority. As regards inspection, we were never opposed to it, because it existed under the old law. As to the examining of teachers, we only wish that the Normal Schools, which existed for Roman Catholics, under the old law, be re-established so that our teachers may be trained in accordance with our religious convictions in matters affecting religion. I agree with Mr. Martin when he says that everybody wishes that a solution of the question may be found without coercion on the part of the Dominion Parliament, but I must say that a proposition in that direction should come from Mr. Greenway himself. Up to this moment the Local Government has never shown any disposition to satisfy the minority that they were willing to so amend this law as to meet the requirements of the case. If no acceptable concession be made by the Local Government forthwith, I shall insist on Remedial Legislation being passed during the present session. We have been waiting for five years. Our Roman Catholic school system is almost demoralised. We have to subscribe liberally for their maintenance, while we are, at the same time compelled to pay for the support of so-called Public Schools, which are, according to Mr. Martin himself, Protestant schools in reality.

"The publication of Bishop Gravel's letter," said Mr. Lariviere, "reminds me of a statement once made by Rev. Dr. Bryce, one of the professors of the Manitoba Presbyterian College, Winnipeg. After the delivery of the first judgment by the Privy Council on the school question, the rev. divine boasted that it was through his instrumentality that the decision against the Roman Catholics had been obtained. It appears that he had, according to his own admission, sent to all the members of the Privy Council copies of the resolutions of synod and church gatherings in favor of the abolition of Separate schools. To my mind the members of the Privy Council are not influenced in their decisions by any other consideration but that of justice and equity, no matter whether communications are sent to them by a bishop or by Prof. Bryce of Winnipeg."

There is some talk of one of the Conservative members from the Maritime Provinces introducing a Remedial law for Manitoba. His proposal is the least drastic of any yet suggested. He proposes, under the law providing for remedying the grievances of the minority, that Parliament has power to pass a law which shall declare that these portions of the Manitoba School Act of 1890 which deprive Roman Catholics of any rights they had prior to that time be declared inoperative. But it is also expressly declared that the said Remedial law shall not interfere or deprive the Provincial Legislature of Manitoba of the right to prescribe text books, examine teachers and provide for inspection of all schools or any other powers that the Federal Legislature may reserve to it. The effect of this would be to practically use the Remedial provision as a veto on such portions of the school law as are objectionable to Roman Catholics, and which the Federal power here think ought to be rectified. It would empower a Catholic ratepayer to legally resist Public School taxation, and would throw the question into the Manitoba courts to determine what the rights were of which he was deprived. The fight would then be transferred from Ottawa to Manitoba, where it properly belongs, and even this Remedial law would only come into force on proclamation by the Governor-General-in-Council.

The South Shore Railway dispute, which caused so much wrangling in the Railway Committee this morning, was transferred to the House this afternoon, but previous to this matter coming up some interesting questions were discussed.

Mr. Davies and Sir Richard Cartwright asked for information in regard to the Behring Sea question, and Col. Prior made a strong plea for a British man-of-war to be sent to Behring Sea this year to protect Canadian sealers.

The Minister of Justice agreed that Great Britain ought to furnish a patrol for the protection of sealers in the Behring Sea.

Mr. Dickey, in reply to Mr. Mills (Bothwell) said Lt.-Col. John Gray was appointed Inspector of Stores on Jan. 31 this year at a salary of $1200 a year.

Mr. Daly informed Mr. Grieve that Sugar Island, on the St. Lawrence, had been sold to Alex Ferguson for $900.

To the questions asked by Major Hughes, viz.: Whether the attention of the Government had been drawn to Bishop Gravel's recent communications on the school question? (2.) Is it the intention of the Government to direct the attention of the Government of Great Britain and Ireland to the foregoing article? (3.) Is it the intention of the Government to endeavor to ascertain how far Bishop Gravel, "The sacred congregation for the propagation of the faith," and Cardinal Vaughan were successful in the endeavor improperly to influence the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council of Great Britain and Ireland?

Mr. Foster replied in the negative in each case.

Mr. McCarthy asked if the reply of Manitoba to the Remedial Order had been received by the Government, and Mr. Foster replied in the negative.

Mr. Davies called attention to the delay in payment of compensation to the Carmelite and the William McGowan, two Canadian sealers seized by Russian vessels in 1892 40 miles off shore on a charge of sealing within the three-mile limit. The owners had suffered a loss of $50,000, and were without information as to what action the Imperial Government were taking.

Sir Charles H. Tupper agreed with the hon. member for Queen's that it was a great hardship that people who had done no wrong and had contravened no national or international law should suffer loss. The Canadian Government had forwarded the papers to Great Britain without delay, and had learned that a Russian commission which investigated these and other claims cleared four vessels of suspicion. The British Government were pressed to expedite an adjustment of the claims, and recently finding that the Government was dealing with the Seal Fisheries bill, the Canadian Government again pressed that no concession ought to be made to Russia unless a settlement of these claims could be reached. From recent advices the Minister of Justice believed a settlement would be made, but he agreed that the hands of the Government would be strengthened if Mr. Davies brought the question formally before Parliament. This will be done in a few days.

The discussion on the South Shore (N.S.) Railway matter, which occupied the attention of the House the other day, was again taken up and continued until 6 o'clock.

After recess the House went into committee on the Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Railway bill. Mr. Fraser moved his amendment to compel the company to pay outstanding claims of workmen.

Mr. Coatsworth, who has charge of the bill, read the following telegram which he had received from Carscallen & Cahill: "Have always been desirous of paying workmen and boarding-house keepers, and wished to do so even three months ago, but assignees of Bracy Bros., and creditors holding orders upon us, payable out of final estimates objected and would not consent to or doing so. Bank of Hamilton holds signment from Bracy Bros. of th contracts and all moneys payable under it as security for about $13,000 advanced by the bank. We wish to pay the workmen and boarding house keepers, now if we can be protected, or will pay the whole amount, payable to contractors, into court. Think, however, the workmen will fare better if money is left in our hands, as we shall contend that they are entitled to be paid in full. Our clients have already paid over $21,000 directly to laborers on progress estimates of Bracy Bros., and have also paid over $54,000 on their own pay rolls for labor on the line between Brantford and Hamilton.

Mr. Coatsworth moved an amendment providing for the payment of the men and boarding house keepers.

Mr. McKay strongly urged that Parliament should enact a provision protecting the rights of the workmen. He read a letter from the assignee stating that he hoped to realize enough from the estate of Bracy Bros. to pay their liabilities. To guard against any failure, however, he (Mr. McKay) wanted the provision so amended that the work people and boarding house keepers receive their just dues.

In the subsequent discussion Messrs. Mulock, Coatsworth, Bain, Somerville and others spoke. Eventually it was decided to refer the clause back to the committee to draft a clause in harmony with the views of the different members.

Mr. Maclean rose to move his amendment re two-cent-a-mile passenger rate. Several members were prepared to speak in support of the provision, but as the time for considering private bills was up, the discussion was postponed until Friday.

Old Parliamentarians like Dr. Sproule say they have never seen such an unruly session of the Railway Committee of the House as was held to-day. The sitting lasted for over four hours, and was only cut short by the ringing of the bells announcing that Mr. Speaker was in the chair. The latter half of the meeting was of a most turbulent character, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the Chairman could maintain order. The cause of the prolonged session was a bill respecting the South Shore Railway Company, which seeks to confer a charter to build a line through the Counties of Yarmouth, Queen's and Shelburne. Another company, the Coast Line Railway, has a local charter from the Legislature of Nova Scotia. They are already building the road, and it was the rival claims of these two roads which was the cause of the racket. A conclusion on the measure could not be reached owing to the undue prolongation of Mr. Casey's remarks upon it, and no committee can sit while the House is in session without special permission of the House.

At the Railway Committee this morning Mr. Maclean gave notice that he would move to insert the two-cent-a mile clause in the Hamilton Radial Road, and he and Mr. Boyle of Welland had the time for its completion reduced from seven to five years, as it seemed by the powers asked that they were covering the greater part of Southern Ontario.

Mr. Maclean's amendment also provides that if the International Radial Railway acquires the Hamilton and Dundas Railway or the Galt and Preston Railway, or the Berlin and Waterloo Street Railway, the passenger rates thereof shall not exceed what they were on June 1, 1895.

Lost Both Legs and His Life.

Sterling, Ont., June 26.—As the I.O.O. F. excursion train was leaving Madoc Junction station to-day Lyman Moore, in attempting to board the last car, fell off the platform, and the car passed over him, cutting both legs nearly off. He was sent to Belleville, but died shortly after reaching there.

TOASTED HIS FEET.

Whalen Endured Torture by Burglars for Two Hours.

Toledo, Ohio, June 26.—John Whalen, who lives alone near the Tuckey lime kilns, was awakened Monday night by three burglars, who demanded money. Whalen told them his money was all in the bank at Toledo. The burglars did not believe him, but bound him hand and foot. Lighted matches were then applied to his naked feet, and this was repeated until his feet were terribly burned. They kept this torture up for two hours or more, but he refused to disclose the hiding place of any money. He was found in the morning by neighbors still bound, and in a critical condition.

Explosion on the Lucania.

Liverpool, June 27.—An explosion occurred in the coal bunkers of the Cunard steamer Lucania to-day. Four men were injured. The vessel was not damaged.

Toronto Markets.

Toronto, June 27—Flour—Prices nominal at $4.50, Toronto freights, for straight rollers.

Bran—Market steady for bran at $12.50 for car lots, Toronto freights. Shorts are quoted at $16 to $16.50.

Wheat—The feeling is a little firmer to-day, with more enquiry owing to better tone of outside markets. A sale of white is reported west at 85c, and 85c is freely bid, but holders are asking 90c as a rule. No. 1 Manitoba hard is quoted at 98c to 99c, Toronto freights.

Peas—Trade is very dull and prices easy at 59c to 60c, outside.

Barley—Trade dull and prices nominal at 53c to 55c for feeding qualities.

Oats—The market is quiet, with prices unchanged. Car lots of white are quoted at 35c, west, and 39c to 40c on track.

Rye—Trade dull, with prices nominal at 60c, outside.

Oatmeal—Market is dull, with prices unchanged at $4.10 to $4.20 on track for Hungry qualities.

A Good Story.

A story is going the rounds at the expense of one of the best known men of this place. We shall not mention his name, but you know him. Of rather determined mien, he has of late been showing signs of mental agitation. He wears a full beard, but a few days since, his wife, much to her alarm, found him sharpening a razor. She thought his mind was unhinged and went into hysterics. Explanations followed and it was found that life had for him still some charm. He intended to use the razor upon painful corns. A friend who had used Putnam's Corn Extractor with success, advised its use, with the following results: Man quite happy, wife quite, razor sent away. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1895.

AT SIXES AND SEVENS.

Popular incredulity as to the existence of any grave crisis at Ottawa was based on the utter inability of the people to believe that anything could induce any member of the present Cabinet to resign his little eight thousand. The government has made a toy of the Manitoba School question till it has developed into a boomerang which threatens to knock their heads off. There is the gravest kind of dissension in the Cabinet. Members are at sixes and sevens. The Cabinet has as many factions as the French Chamber of Deputies—in fact there are as many factions as members almost. Every one seems to be looking out for his own little number one. At a time when a critical question demands strong action and unanimity, we have general dissension and log-rolling. The Government by its dallying with a grave national question has got itself into a terrible mess. Mr. Laurier has been beated for keeping silence, but Mr. Laurier had the wisdom to forsee that "silence is golden" and has lived to see the justification of his attitude from a tactical standpoint. He has given the Dominion Cabinet Ministers sufficient rope and they will, figuratively speaking, hang themselves, or judging from the feeling that seems to prevail in the Cabinet, we may have the fable of the Kilkenny cats repeated. The Government has got itself into the inexorable clutches of a dilemma, and it must work out its own salvation or suffer its own bouleversement. It may, the Montreal Herald suggests, postpone action for another six months by the Royal Commission device, but it has got to deal with the issue one way or the other, either leaving it alone or taking it up before it goes to the people; if it has expectations of holding even a fraction of the Parliamentary seats it now has.

ONE by one the rather ricketty props that hold up the policy of high taxation are being knocked out. The Montreal Witness calls attention to the fact that the return of prosperity to the United States is threatening Mr. McKinley's chances for the Republican nomination for president. So long as the depression lasted it was blamed upon the reduced tariff, and the protectionists all shouted for McKinley and his tariff. Now that the depression is departing, they find that the McKinley tariff is not wanted, and it is doubtful whether they themselves now want McKinley. The worst of it is that the increases in wages were never so great and general and willingly given as now, and that the reformed tariff has therefore become popular with the workingmen.

NORTH SMITH.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Last Sunday, June 23rd, Rev. Mr. Green preached his farewell sermon at Wesley Appointment to a large congregation. The text was taken from Zechariah, fourteenth chapter and last clause of seventh verse, "But it shall come to pass that at evening time it shall be light." The Rev. gentleman dealt with the above text in a very suitable manner, explaining many historic events down through the Christian era, and lastly he showed the blessings which the aged servants of God enjoyed in their declining days if they walked in those paths which God had laid down for them to walk in, stating that in their evening time of life there would be light. The speaker was listened to throughout his entire sermon with marked attention. The sermon was brought to a close by singing the 758th hymn.

Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love;
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above.

After the benediction was pronounced all joined in singing "God be with you till we meet again."

Rev. Mr. Green during the last Conference year on this appointment won for himself many friends, and also carries away with him the best wishes for his future prosperity and happiness in life.

The Methodist church here has been thoroughly overhauled inside, the ceiling has been whitened, the walls calcimined and the woodwork repainted, grained and varnished, also new pulpit and carpet. The work was done by C. J. Burgess & Son, of Lakefield. The work done reflects credit on their part as painters.

Next Sunday, June 30th, the church will be re-opened, when a sermon suitable for the occasion will be preached by the Rev. G. R. Clare.

AN ILLINOIS SENSATION.

A Lady of Union County Recovers Her Health in a Marvellous Manner.

Anna, Illinois, June 17—A very interesting case of recovery from a very complicated form of kidney trouble has taken place here, and the details are gradually being made public. The sufferer was Miss M. T. Loomis, who for a long time has been a victim of severe pains in all parts of the body. She consulted a number of doctors and was treated for a great variety of complaints, the diagnosis all proving faulty. At length she determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, having read and heard much of their efficacy and found her expectations justified in a complete cure.

THE MORPHINE ROUTE.

A Commercial Traveler Commits Suicide at Berlin.

Berlin, Ont., June 21.—A man named Patterson, commercial traveler of Moorefield, committed suicide at the Grand Central Hotel here this afternoon by taking morphine. He arrived in town yesterday afternoon and put up at the Walker House. It was noticed that he was drinking heavily. He retired to his room late in the evening and got up about 5 a.m., paid his bill and went to the Grand Central, where he engaged a room about 7 a.m. and remained there till 10. He made his appearance around the hotel more or less till this afternoon, when he went to his room again. The landlord, thinking something might go wrong, visited his room this evening about 5 o'clock and found him dead.

NO GENERAL GALLOWS

But a Noose and Scaffold in Every County.

AN IDEA THE GOV'MENT FROWNS ON

Murderers Will Continue to Be Hanged in the Jail Yards of the County Where They Commit Their Crime—To Transfer Them to One Gallows Would Be Too Risky.

Toronto, June 27. — A report has been in circulation that Dr. Chamberlain, Government inspector of Prisons, will propose to the Ontario Government that it provide some lonely but central place where all capital executions in Ontario may be carried out. The desire is to prevent such unseemly competition among the general public to get a glimpse of a hanging as occurred at Windsor and at St. Thomas recently.

Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright, when interviewed on the matter yesterday, stated that while such a scheme had its advantages he did not consider the present state of affairs so serious as to demand such a step. The only complaint that had reached his ears was from Windsor, and he thought that it would be difficult to find a location more secluded than the average county jail. The best way to deal with the question was to allow sheriffs to exercise stringent measures to shut out the public. In cases where positions could be secured overlooking the jail yard, it is only necessary to hold the execution within the walls of the prison itself.

The positive disadvantage of having one place of public execution was the necessity it would create for dragging the condemned criminal about the country, from the place of trial to the place of death. The chances of escape would be immeasurably increased, and the chances for suicide or even of armed interference by the friends of the condemned one likewise multiplied.

The occasion might arise as well where the public might desire to take the law into its own hands and cheat the gallows of its prey by lynching the murderer.

KERNGOOD WAS MURDERED.

The Dead Man's Neck Was Broken and His Right Arm Was Fractured. Probably With a Club.

Baltimore, June 26.—Dr. A. Arohnson, who assisted at the autopsy made on the body of the late Jacob S. Kerngood, whose corpse was exhumed at the instance of the insurance companies asserts positively that the man was murdered.

Dr. Arohnson, who was intimately acquainted with the deceased, is equally as positive that the corpse was that of Kerngood. The physician represented the relatives of Kerngood when the examination was made, Drs. Keirle and Geer doing the work for the insurance companies.

Before the autopsy proceeded far Dr. Arohnson noticed a stab wound back of one of the ears. This he probed and found it to be two and a half inches deep. It was made probably with a stiletto or sharp knife. Deeply interested, the doctors prepared for a closer examination, and next discovered that the man's right arm had been fractured, probably by a blow from a club while Kerngood was defending himself. The left arm was also badly lacerated, and what went further to induce the doctors to advance the theory of murder was the fact that Kerngood's neck had been broken. The body was thrown into the river, the physician thinks, after it had been stripped of its valuables.

Dr. Arohnson said that he recognised the features as those of Jacob S. Kerngood the moment he laid eyes on them. The shape of the face and beard, he said, was of such a peculiar nature as to leave no room for doubt as to the identity of the corpse.

The other physicians who acted for the insurance companies are reticent as to the result of their examination, but it is generally believed that they also believe the body to be that of Jacob S. Kerngood, who disappeared last October while on a train of the Michigan Central between New York and Chicago.

KIEL'S HEAVY BILL.

The Canal's Opening Too Expensive As Well As Premature.

Berlin, June 26.—A large section of the press severely criticises the heavy expenditure incurred in connection with the Kiel festivities, amounting to no less than 8,000,000 marks.

The haste with which the canal was opened, contrary to the advice of experts, is also censured, and the incomplete condition of the canal deplored.

Herr Eugen Richter, in The Freisinnige Zeitung, has accused the journalists present at the inauguration of having exaggerated the whole affair under the influence of the champagne liberally dealt out to them.

The Emperor is preparing a brilliant patriotic celebration for the inauguration of the monument commemorating the battle of Woerth, during the Franco-German war.

O'BRIEN SKUES WHITEWAY.

Justice Carter May Resign and Be Succeeded by Whiteway.

St. John's, Nfld., June 26.—Governor O'Brien would not invite any members of the Whiteway Ministry who were convicted of corrupt practices to meet the French Admiral at the National dinner last night. This direct snub causes much comment.

The Assembly passed the Supply bill to-day. It is presumed that the British Government assents to the reduction in the Governor's salary. A number of other measures were also passed.

Indignation grows more pronounced over the secret attempt to borrow money from Canada. It is reported that Chief Justice Carter resigns as a protest against the reduction of salaries. Premier Whiteway will probably succeed him.

Deficiency in the Brotherhood of Trainmen

New York, June 26.—A Chicago special says: A serious deficiency exists in the treasury of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. It is claimed that examination of the books and records shows a deficiency of $75,883. Of this deficiency, $28,215 was incurred previous to September 1, 1893, and $47,647 represents the deficiency incurred from September 1 to December 31, 1894.

INTERNATIONAL RAILWAY CONGRESS.

Opened by the Prince of Wales—Sir Charles Tupper to Read a Paper on Canadian Railways.

London, June 27.—The Prince of Wales, shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday, formally opened the International Railway Congress in the Imperial Institute, Kensington. There were present 800 delegates from all parts of the world. Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner in London, occupied a reserved seat near the front of the hall.

His Royal Highness welcomed to England the delegates from the continental states and from both continents of America, and continued: "It is now nearly 60 years since the opening of the first railway. We have fitly met to-day to show our interest in an industry which probably more than any other has enhanced the wealth, prosperity and commerce of the world, and has tended to promote international friendship and universal good will."

The last Congress, which was held in St. Petersburg in 1892, was made memorable by the splendid hospitality and ardent encouragement which was given to the delegates and the objects they represented by the late lamented Emperor Alexander III. of Russia. His Royal Highness said he would venture to say that even to his friends from the United States, a country owning nearly half the railway mileage of the world, and also the delegates from India and the British colonies, whose rapid and successful railway developments deserved the utmost commendation. He reviewed the program of the Congress, praising in the highest terms its practical utility, and concluded his remarks by expressing hope that he would be able through the proceedings and association of the Congress to extend his scientific and technical knowledge, and also to establish the foundation of many pleasant and educating friendships.

In the course of the sittings of the Congress, Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner, will read a paper on the development of railways in Canada, and tracing their influence upon the country's economic progress, especially in the provinces west of Lake Superior.

EDWARD BLAKE GIVES $5000.

Reported That He Will Leave South Longford and Contest Derry City in the Next Election.

Ballard Smith cables The New York World as follows: According to the latest information to-night, dissolution will take place next week. The members of the McCarthy party have nearly all returned to Ireland to make preparations for the struggle. Mr. McCarthy to-night issued an appeal to Ireland to start a special election fund, and I hear that Edward Blake, M.P., formerly of Canada, has opened it with a personal subscription of $5000. Blake will probably be asked to contest Derry City, which the Nationalists hope to win from the Tories.

Belgians Will Buy Canadian Horses.

Brussels, June 26.—The Government will send an officer to Canada this year to buy horses for remounts and the artillery.

Our Cider Attracted Attention.

Bristol, Eng., June 26.—Samples of Canadian cider have attracted attention here. The samples are of good quality. A demand is likely to be developed.

Welsbach Lamps in the Ballroom.

After a satisfactory experimental trial Welsbach lamps have been definitely adopted in the Sophienbad ball rooms, the most fashionable assembly rooms of Vienna. This would seem to dispose of the idea that ladies do not like this form of gas lighting any more than they like the electric light, because it makes their faces appear too pale. The first theatre in Germany to introduce the Welsbach lamp was one in Hamburg.

Many a man, who has been sent to an early and even suicidal grave by the tortures of dyspepsia, would be alive and well to-day, had he tested the virtues of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This is no temporary appetizer, but a radical, scientific remedy. It makes life worth living.

PLEASE LET US SEE IT

A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

GENERAL MANAGER McGILL.

APPOINTED MANAGING HEAD OF THE ONTARIO BANK.

An Excellent Appointment—A Well Deserved Promotion — Yet a Distinct Loss to Peterborough—Reference to Mr. McGill's Career.

The expected has happened. At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Ontario Bank held in Toronto yesterday, Mr. Charles McGill, manager of the local branch, was unanimously appointed to the responsible and honourable position of General Manager. All who know Mr. McGill, will heartily agree in the statement that a most excellent selection has been made. This appointment cannot but be regarded as a fitting recognition of exceptional business ability, tact, shrewdness, energy, intelligent zeal, and above all, conspicuous success in the management of the local branch for the past fourteen years.

The training which Mr. McGill has received has been thorough and his natural aptitude has largely accentuated its value. He has been in the employment of the Ontario Bank for the long period of twenty-seven years, and has acceptably filled every position from junior to—general manager, a flattering and apt alliteration upon which his hosts of friends will heartily congratulate him. He has been fourteen years in charge of the local branch of the Ontario Bank. He came here from Guelph where he occupied the position of accountant. During his occupancy of the position of manager of the local branch, the business of it has enjoyed a very large increase, a great proportion of which is due to the energy and wisdom of Mr. McGill's administration. From all points of view and from the knowledge we possess of the new general manager's successful record and financial ability, the facts amply justify the selection the board of directors has made. The appointment is no surprise; the circumstances demand the best available man, and action was taken accordingly.

While the citizens of Peterborough, generally warmly congratulate Mr. McGill upon his well-deserved promotion, they cannot but feel that his good fortune is a distinct loss to the town. He will be missed as a citizen generally; he will be missed in the civic and business circles, in which his influence has been of the most beneficial character. His popularity and success as manager of the local bank have been due to a variety of causes. His prompt judgment and prompt appraisement of the value of matters that came under his notice, his bold conservatism and energetic caution have protected and promoted the interests of the bank and extended and solidified its business. His attitude towards the customers of the bank has made him exceedingly popular. His after-hours intercourse with business men and his kindly personal interest in their success have marked him as a manager with whom it was a pleasure to do business. He possessed the happy quality of efficiently guarding the material interests of the bank and, at the same time winning the favour of its customers. Business circles in Peterborough will miss Mr. McGill, though his promotion will make no change in the manner of management or business policy of the local branch. Mr. Parker will take up Mr. McGill's work, and carry it out, no doubt, in the same spirit of thoroughness, efficiency and courtesy with which the directors and the customers, respectively, are familiar.

Mr. McGill's energies have not been confined to his official relations to the bank. For some years he has been town treasurer, and has rendered excellent service in that capacity. As co-trustee with Mr. Hall, of the Nicholls Estate, the public have much to thank Mr. McGill for in connection with the series of beautiful public parks, in which the late Mrs. Nicholls' munificence has, thanks to her trustees, found such splendid expression. Mr. McGill is a life trustee of the Nicholls Hospital, and in this connection he has been beneficial to it in a high degree.

Business habits are so firmly fixed in Mr. McGill's case that he made a business of pleasure. He was an enthusiastic member of the Curling Club, and on many an occasion did his full share in winning victory for the local rinks; but he did more. In the darker financial days of the club Mr. McGill's hand took the helm, the difficulties were overcome, the rink was swept clean, making keen ice for the financial "stane," and he leaves this concern, which was at one time in rather a languishing financial condition standing firmly on both feet.

As before intimated the business of the bank will go on as usual. Mr. Parker, accountant will be in charge, and Mr. John Crane, assistant accountant, will be promoted to the position vacated by Mr. Parker. Both are well known to the patrons of the bank and the general public, and it is safe to say that both will continue to merit the popularity they have so long enjoyed.

It will be a pleasure to learn that Mr McGill will not sever his connection with the town. His home will be here, and his family remain for a year at least. He will still retain an active interest in the local branch, over which he has so long presided, and we may count on his being a frequent visitor to Peterborough; and he will continue to retain his connection with several of the local interests with which he has been identified. He leaves to enter upon his new duties next week, followed by the congratulations and best wishes of the citizens generally. The EXAMINER wishes Mr. McGill the success and prosperity in his new position which has attended his career in Peterborough.

PRESS COMMENT ON THE CHANGE.

The Globe thus refers editorially to Mr. McGill's appointment:

An important change in the management of the Ontario Bank is announced. Mr. Holland, for some years the General Manager, has resigned, and Mr. C. McGill has been appointed the General Manager of the institution. Mr. McGill, who assumes the duties of his new office on July 1st, is well known as one of the most successful Managers in the bank's service. He has had charge of the Peterborough branch for fourteen years, during which time he has built up a very large local business in competition with the Bank of Montreal, the Bank of Commerce and the Bank of Toronto. He has an intimate knowledge of the affairs of the bank, and comes here with the reputation of a shrewd capable Manager. His presence at the helm will no doubt, still further popularize and build up the business of the Ontario Bank, and generally strengthen its position not only in this city but throughout the country.

The World says:

"Mr. McGill is well known in banking circles. He was transferred from Guelph to Peterborough 14 years ago. The promotion of Mr. McGill will lose to Peterborough one of its best and most valued citizens. He has been treasurer of the town for years, and has held the same position in several organizations. He is a far seeing, shrewd business man, who possesses the qualifications necessary to successful management, and he will bring his experience, business acumen and wise judgment to bear with good advantage.

C. P. R. EMPLOYEES' ANNUAL PICNIC.

THOUSANDS OF EXCURSIONISTS IN TOWN TO-DAY.

The Engines Bringing in the Picnicers were all Gaily Decorated for the Occasion and Looked Most Beautiful.

Although the weather looked threatening last night, the day dawned bright and sunny, and an ideal one for the great C. P. R. employees' annual picnic.

Since early morning the farmers and their families began to arrive in town, and before noon hundreds from the neighbouring townships had stabled their steeds and were prepared for the day's outing.

The first excursion train to pull in was from Toronto. It arrived at 10.45, being brought in by engine No. 628, in charge of Driver John Bunning, with Ed. Tregaskin firing for him. The train was in charge of Conductor P. J. Hogan of Havelock. The brakemen were W. Herrington and James Beatty, both of Havelock.

No. 628

WAS PRETTILY DECORATED.

Long streamers of red and blue bunting adorned the sides, wreaths and festoons of evergreens, relieved with gay ribbons of brilliant colours, were artistically draped around the smoke stacks and almost hid the front of the engine. The boiler, too, was almost invisable by reason of the profusion of evergreens and flowers with which it was literally loaded. No. 628 brought in eight coaches crowded to the doors.

Engine No. 630 came steaming in from the same direction at 11.05 o'clock, bringing with it ten

COACHES OF EXCURSIONISTS.

The engine was a sight to behold, and a glance at it spoke volumes for the care and time which has been expended in its decoration. Large linked chains of bright material resembling silver were strung along the sides in graceful loops. The boiler was a bed of evergreens, and upon it glittered resplendent huge silver stars. Rosettes of bright ribbon relieved the green, and bouquets of flowers were jutting out of every convenient spot. The tender too, was beatifully decorated, and across the front of old 630 was a streamer bearing the legend "We're out for fun." On the roof of the cab pranced gay with a harness of ribbon. He had evidently been trained for the job, as the antics of the little animal as he ran around on his very insecure platform were most amusing. His frantic barks could be heard ringing out long before the train stopped, and how he ever clung to his perch all the way from Toronto passes comprehension. The crew of the train was composed as follows:—Conductor, T. Baker; baggageman, D. G. Bomes; brakemen, P. J. Scanlan and Harry Holmes; driver, J. Dunn; fireman, J. Douglas.

A TERRIER DOG,

The train from Smith's Falls and the East steamed into the station at 12:30, drawn by Mogul, No. 471 and it too, as there were fifteen coaches attached. On a huge design on the front of the engine were printed the words, "We are the people!" and "Hurrah for Peterborough." An evergreen shrub of a size sufficient for a Christmas tree was fastened to the extreme point of the cowcatcher which was prettily draped with green. Flags and gay bunting abounded profusely in the decorations and altogether No. 471 presented a very holiday appearance indeed. The trainmen were W. H. Chapman, conductor; Angus Carmichael and Geo. Young, brakemen; Alex. Rose, engineer, and James McCutcheon, fireman. All hailed from Havelock.

HAD TO BE A MOGUL,

The Fire Brigade Band met all the trains and up into the town.

The sports began in the Driving Park at two o'clock, with fully five thousand people in attendance. The Managing Committee was composed as follows:—J. Drinkwater, W. C. King, T. Milne, E. J. Salisbury, D. Montgomery, T. Batter, W. Code, W. B. Bamford, A. McAuley, C. Fanning, J. Malloy, D. Hunt, J. Carey, J. Scott, B. McAllister, D. J. McDonald, Geo. Spencer, A. Gordon, L. L. Ross, J. F. Rouleau, T. Kimberley, A. McGuire, H. J. White, W. S. Dodd, W. Taylor, D. R. Bell, R. Preston, J. S. Pearson, W. H. Kirkby, P. Cavanagh, E. Purcell, T. E. Boddy, G. Johnston, A. K. Kirpatrick, Chairman; R. A. Bennett, Treasurer; G. W. Thornton, Secretary; Geo. Weeks, Asst. Secretary; J. Fogg, Official Starter.

Special judges for tug of war contest—J. Stevenson, M.P., and J. R. Stratton, M.P.P.

Referee for bicycle races—James Kendry, Mayor of Peterborough.

During the afternoon the band played the following selections

NOTES ON DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION.

Great Preparations—All in Readiness for a Gala Day.

The committee who have in hand the demonstration to be held on Dominion Day met last night and made final arrangements for the grand celebration. It is expected that a large number of Sons of England will be in town on that day. The programme has been published, and every detail is complete. The attractions are many. Lacrosse and baseball matches will be played on the grounds, and the programme of sports to be presented has not been equalled in this town for many years. Geo. W. Clotworthy, Esq., the Supreme Grand President of the order, will be present and give an address at the Central Park, while the Mayor and Town Council will be requested to give an address of welcome to the visitors. A committee will call upon the merchants of the town, requesting them to decorate their places of business on that day. A special meeting of Lansdowne Lodge will be held to-night, when arrangements to welcome the Grand President and to also receive the visiting brethren will be made. The Geo. Matthews Co. are supplying the pig for the greasy pig event. This promises to be lively, and there is much speculation as to who is going to indulge in cheap pork this winter. The rivalry between the Sons of England and Oddfellows of Toronto, will not cease in the cutting of rates and offering special inducements to excursionists, as a cup will be presented by Mayor Kendry for competition at tug of war between these two bodies. An exciting time may be expected. While this portion of the programme is being enacted. The Sons of England are under considerable expense in getting up this demonstration, and the people of the town should assist them in every way. The cry generally is, Why don't you have something in town and not let everyone go out? This society is not only working in its own interests but in the interests of the town as well. The residents should encourage such enterprise by co-operating with the Sons of England, so that they, or other societies, will be encouraged to get up demonstrations on all public holidays, and not only keep money in the town but also attract others to our town to spend money.

THE ROSA'S BRIDGE CONTRACT

An Agreement the Contractors Cannot Entertain.

The contractors to whom has been awarded the contract for the erection of the bridge across the Otonabee at Rosa's (Mr. J. Hayes for the stone work and the Central Bridge Works for superstructure), have declined to sign the agreement drawn up on behalf of the Committee of South Monaghan, by Messrs. Edwards & Murray.

The reason for declining to sign the agreement is that it relieves the committee of any responsibility in respect of the collection of the several amounts promised and appropriated for the construction of the bridge, a matter which they (the contractors) think should be looked after by the committee. The contractors are willing to perform the work according to plans and specifications, and wish the committee to guarantee the payment.

My Wife is Nervous,

Says many a man, and too often he is inclined to blame the poor tired woman who cannot eat or sleep, whole life is filled with misery, because her blood has become impoverished and her nervous system exhausted. She needs a building up medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles will enrich and vitalize her blood, tone and strengthen her digestive organs, give her a good appetite, enable her to sleep soundly, banish her nervousness and bring back her smiles. Mr. J. W. Robertson, of Greenfield, Tenn., says: "My wife began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla about three months ago and she is now taking her third bottle. She has been in poor health for fifteen years. Hood's Sarsaparilla is doing her more good than any other medicine she has ever taken. Her appetite is better, she looks better and there has been improvement in every way.

Ladies, you may have your choice on Saturday of 10 dos. Parasols, worth from $1.25 to $2 50, for only $1.00, at James McComb's Glove Store, Hunter Street. This is a real snap.

Bought from the manufacturers at our own prices, and will be sold at less than prices at the mill. Nothing false about this statement. The prices vary in proportion to the quality of the goods, and we give each customer his pick of the whole lot. The odd lengths are from 1 to 8 yards each.

These Cloths are the products of some of the best Mills, and consist of many of the best selling patterns ever put upon the market.

Just the thing for Boys, 2 and 3 piece Suits, short or long pants, Gentlemen's Trousers or Suits, etc. Any person wanting an odd pair or two of Trousers, or a Vest or a Coat, will never get a better chance.

Customers will also get the additional advantage of having the cloth cut free of charge, or they can have them made up to order at the lowest possible figures.

Take a look at a heap of the samples piled in our window.

What is a "Quick Meal" Gas Stove?

It is a solid, but light, pretty contrivance, fed with gas instead of coal or wood, and is especially invented for ladies who want to do their cooking comfortably in summer time in a cool kitchen. They are made of cast iron and wrought steel; nicely japanned and handsomely ornamented with fine nickel-plate and tile. The price of a small "Quick Meal" is small and the cost of gas is but little. All expense ends with extinguishing the flames. We would like to have it understood "RIGHT HERE," that on a "Quick Meal" you can accomplish the same as on the best wood or coal stove, baking, roasting, broiling, cooking, washing, ironing and everything else. BRITISH POLITICS.

Balfour and Chamberlain Issue Their Addresses.

NO DETAILS OF POLICY DECIDED ON

New Measures Not to Be Introduced Until After the Dissolution—Lord Dufferin May Join the New Government—Praise for Mr Chamberlain.

London, June 27.—A. J. Balfour has issued an address to his constituents in East Manchester, asking for re-election, upon the occasion of his accepting office in the new Cabinet. Mr. Balfour writes: "The late Government have declared their inability to further conduct the business of the country. Practice and public convenience required them to dissolve Parliament, but this duty they have cast upon Lord Salisbury, who has accepted office in order to appeal to the electors at the earliest moment."

Mr. Balfour proceeds to say: "This is not the occasion to explain in detail the policy which, if a Unionist majority is returned to the next Parliament, the Unionist Government will pursue. Such a policy should not be attempted with credit and honor in the present position of the parties in the House of Commons. It must, therefore, be left to a happier period to illustrate the principles we have always maintained, that it is not by destroying ancient institutions or by restless manipulation of the constitutional machinery that imperils securities that domestic progress can be most surely attained."

Mr. Chamberlain has issued an address to his constituents in West Birmingham. Its tenor is similar to that of Mr. Balfour's address. Thee new Colonial Secretary emphasizes the necessity of dissolving Parliament at the earliest time possible. He blames the Liberals for not dissolving Parliament. He adds that the policy of the new Government cannot be suitably discussed until after the dissolution, but he declares that the Unionists are absolutely agreed if the elections place them in power to lay aside the wild projects of constitutional change and destructive legislation forming the staple proposals of the last Government, and to devote their principal attention to constructive measures and social reforms. At the same time they will be prepared to maintain the defensive resources of the empire, and to seek by all legitimate means to extend British influence and commerce in the vast regions under the British flag.

Mr. Chamberlain will make no further address to the electors previous to his nomination.

Speaking at Ardwick to-day, Mr. Balfour declared that the only policy of the new Government now was to dissolve Parliament. He added that for no other policy or purpose would the Unionists have accepted office.

Enquiries show that the appointment of the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain as Secretary of State for the Colonies is met with great satisfaction in colonial circles. Mr. Chamberlain has always been favorably disposed toward the colonies and recognizes the importance of strengthening and developing their resources.

The various Colonial agents in London are making arrangements to visit and take leave of the Marquis of Ripon, retiring Colonial Secretary. They will afterward visit Mr. Chamberlain.

London, June 26.—The Canadian Gazette, treating of the composition of the new Ministry as far as is known, says: "Apart from the politics we hope that onial Office will be prolonged. There is smoething piquant in this most interesting figure in English public life being placed in control of the Colonial Empire. We can hardly imagine that Mr. Chamberlain would hesitate to grant to Canada self government, and in the matter of the Copyright we are sure that he will keep a close watch upon colonial interests in which the United States are concerned. His strong personality should enable him to cast aside the traditional policy if it should be found to stand in the way of a vigorous administration of colonial affairs."

The National Liberal Federation will issue a manifesto, declaring that the Government was compelled to resign upon a snatch vote, following an unprecedented attack upon the honor of one of the most able and most popular of ministers.

The Liberal Ministry, it adds, by its series of legislative and administrative triumphs, justified its title to be considered one of the most energetic Governments yet seen. The great reforms it carried through the House of Commons would have been law if they had not been thwarted by an irresponsible oligarchy. The House of Lords rejected the Home Rule and Employers' Liability bills. These, with the Welsh Disestablishment, the Irish Land, the Abolition of Plural Voting and the Local Veto bills are to-day demanded in the interests of the whole nation, but the most important matter is the Leeds Resolution, declaring that when the two Houses of Parliament come into conflict, the will of the representative chamber shall prevail.

Lord Dufferin to Enter Salisbury's Cabinet

Paris, June 26.—The Marquis of Dufferin, British Ambassador to France, started for England to-day to confer with Lord Salisbury regarding the latter's offer to him of the Foreign Portfolio in the new Cabinet.

THUNDERSTORMS IN BRITAIN

A Number of Deaths and Considerable Damage Reported.

London, June 26.—Violent thunderstorms prevailed to-day in England and Ireland. A tramway depot at Hull was struck by lightning, set on fire and destroyed. Lightning also struck a tree adjacent to the Royal Pavilion at the Agricultural Show at Darlington. A number of persons had sought refuge under the tree from the rain. Two of them were killed and three were injured. The Duke and Duchess of York had just departed from the Pavilion when the bolt fell. A number of deaths caused by the storm are reported from other places.

The Bank Cashier Accused.

Duluth, Minn., June 26.—Another sensation has been sprung in the Rainy Lake bank robbery case. W. W. Butler, the cashier, who was held up and robbed, is openly charged with having put up the job to defraud the depositors. This afternoon F. Ford and Thomas Adams, depositors in the bank, retained counsel to begin proceedings against Butler. The latter, who is still in the city, declares the charge is spite work.

THE MANAGER SKIPPED.

A Theatrical Company Left Stranded in Montreal.

Montreal, June 25.—Things were lively here to-day in theatrical circles, when it was learned that Teddie Emery, a well-known actor who brought a company of 14 here for a season in the Queen's had disappeared. The missing man played on Saturday afternoon, and it has since transpired that he left for Quebec that evening, with the probable intention of taking the Parisian the next day for England. In the meantime the members of the deserted company are completely stranded.

SUICIDE OF HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Dramatic End of a Dramatic Author and His Wife.

Paris, June 26.—A sensation has been created here by the suicide of Fabrice Carre, a noted barrister and dramatic author, and his wife by shooting themselves with a revolver. M. Carre was well known in political and literary circles. Mme. Carre was recently divorced from her former husband, M. Pallis.

Tilton, Iowa, June 25.—At a family reunion near here yesterday 14 persons were poisoned. Jacob Trout died, but the others will recover. Poison is supposed to have been in water taken from an unused well.

Exploded a Bomb in His Ear.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 25.—Anton Metzgar, a reputed Anarchist of Allegheny, committed suicide by placing a bomb in his ear and then touching it off. The whole side of his head was blown off. He was 81 years of age.

Ten Fatherless by Laudanum.

Montreal, June 25.—W. S. Brown, a commercial traveler, arrived here Friday last from New York, and his dead body lies at the Notre Dame Hospital, death having been caused by taking poison. Last evening Brown, at the Springfield House, Chaboilles-square, was found suffering from the effects of a dose of laudanum. It was to late to save his life. Deceased leaves a widow and ten children in Boston.

'I was troubled a long time with sick headache. It was usually accompanied with severe pains in the temples, a sense of fullness and tenderness in one eye, a bad taste in my mouth, tongue coated, hands and feet cold, and sickness at the stomach. I tried a good many remedies recommended for this complaint; but it was not until I

TRIAL SPINS AT HENLEY.

A Practice Race Between Cornell and Argonaut Crews—Canadian Four Beaten by the Eight.

London, June 25.—The oarsmen who are to compete in the coming Henley regatta are now arriving at Henley daily with their coaches and friends, and the available quarters in the vicinity are filling up rapidly.

The weather was clear and the wind blowing moderately from the north when the Cornell crew, at the usual hour, got their boat afloat. They worked very steadily, going to Fawley Court and back at a 45 stroke. Afterwards they went to the end of the course and came back to Fawley, where they turned, doing the entire distance without stopping, and rowing at the rate of 40 strokes to the minute. At this stroke they did not put clear water between their boat and the clinker-built boat with gliding seats and fixed rowlocks, in which the spare men rowed, though the latter rowed a much slower stroke. Hastings and Cox rowed a longer stroke than the others, a great deal after the English style.

E. A. Thompson of the Argonauts, Toronto, sculled over the course at a steady gait, and then the Argonaut four went to Hambledon and returned without stopping. They rowed at a 38-stroke, but did not travel very fast.

The Cornell crew rowed over the full Henley course this afternoon. The Canadian crew raced over the course with the Cornell men. The Canadians were beaten by two lengths, although they had a lead of several lengths at the start. The Cornell crew rowed a 44-stroke all the way. They reached Fawley Court in 8 minutes 48 seconds and finished in 7 minutes and 4 seconds. The conditions were favorable. There was a slight current and a light wind was blowing behind the racers. The Canadians had a start of 80 seconds and their time over the course was 7 minutes and 42 secs.

The Trinity Hall eight rowed over the course at a 36-stroke. It took them 8 minutes and 30 seconds to reach Fawley Court, and they covered the course in 7 minutes and 14 secs.

Racing at Detroit.

Detroit, June 25.—The inaugural running meeting of the Detroit Driving Club opened at Grosse Point track this afternoon with fine weather, a fast track and a large crowd present. The racing was excellent, the finishes being close in most of the events. The betting was heavy, but only two favorites won. The event of the afternoon was the International Derby for 3-year-olds, a $5000 purse being guaranteed for the event. Seven horses showed at the post for this event, Lissak, with Isom up, being an odds on favorite. Little time was wasted by the field in getting off. When the flag dropped Suma showed in front, Maurice second by a head. Isom immediately cut through the bunch and took the lead with Lissak before a furlong had been traveled. As the horses came past the stand, Lissak was a length and a half in front of Maurice, who had moved into second place.

The mile was reached in 1.43 1-2, Lissak having increased his lead to two lengths, Maurice and Diggs fighting for second place. Suma was two lengths behind Frank K., and Havre hopelessly in the rear. Lissak was not much more than galloping when the horses turned into the stretch for the finish. Maurice came very fast, but could not reach Lissak, who passed under the wire a winner by half a length, in 2.35 1-2. Maurice was four lengths ahead of Diggs, who was five lengths in advance of Frank K., Havre, Suma and Halfling finishing in the order named. Summary:

First race, Inaugural Rush, purse $500, for all ages, 6 furlongs—Shuttle, 112, Knight, 30 to 1, 1; May Thompson, 112, Bergen, 40 to 1, 2; Morpheus, 124, Horton, 6 to 5, 3. Time 1.04. Capt. Brown, Tartarian, Imp. Somersault and Tutuila also ran.

Second race, purse $500, for maidens, 3-year-olds, 5 furlongs—Mobalask, 107, Bergen, 3 to 1, 1; Loram, 110, Knapp, 6 to 1, 2; Musulman, 113, Horton, 3. Time 58 3-4. Disturbance, Fondest, Subito, Francis R., Dr. Kellogg, Belle of Oakgrove, Doubtful, Hex, Serena and Nicholas also ran.

Third race, 1 1-2 miles—Lissak, 116, Isom, 4 to 1, 1; Maurice, 122, Carr, 6 to 1, 2; Diggs, 107, Irving, 3 to 1, 3. Time 2.35 1-2.

Fourth race, mile—Evanatus, 112, Irving, 4 to 1, 1; Boisee, 105, Bergen, 8 to 5, 2; Midstar, 105, Clerico, 10 to 1, 3. Time 1.41 3-4.

Fifth race, 1 1-4 miles, over 8 hurdles—Miles Standish, 164, Blakeley, even, 1; My Luck, 161, Burgess, 6 to 1, 2; Silverado, 144, Graves, 6 to 1, 3. Time 2.19 3-4.

British-Nicaraguan Commission.

Washington, June 26.—Late despatches from Panama state that Gen. Francisco Volladores Bone, Secretary to the Nicaraguan Minister of War, is now en route to Europe on business connected with Nicaragua's recent trouble with Great Britain. It is thought he is carrying instructions to Gen. Medina, the Honduran Minister at London, who bore a conspicuous part in bringing to a close the British occupation of Corinto with reference to the remaining terms of the British ultimatum to Nicaragua. These relate to the formation of a commission to assess the damages to several British subjects who were exiled from Nicaragua in company with Pro-Consul Hatch as a result of the Mosquito coast trouble in August last. It is likely that the sessions of the commission will be held in some strictly neutral country, presumably France or Switzerland.

Crispi Has a Majority of 232

Rome, June 26.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day the Radicals introduced a motion declaring want of confidence in the Crispi Government. This was rejected by a vote of 383 to 151. When the result of the vote was declared there was a scene of considerable excitement, the Radicals shouting "Vive Cavalotti!" and the Government supporters responding with cries of "Vive Crispi!"

Crops in the United States.

Washington, June 26.—The weekly crop report of the Weather Bureau states: The past week has been generall favorable, though somewhat too cool in the Dakotas and Minnesota for corn, while excessive rains have proved injurious over the central and western portion of the cotton region. Drought has been relieved over the greater part of the Ohio Valley, but continues in Central Wisconsin, Southern Michigan, and in portions of Tennessee, Pennsylvania and New York.

Americans Married in London.

Loudon, June 25.—Truman Jerome Martin of Buffalo, N.Y., was married in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, to-day to Miss Charlotte Jones of New York. The bride wore a gown of mother-of-pearl, mirror moire, the bodice trimmed with chiffon and a shoulder cape of chiffon filled lace. Her head dress was a large white picture hat trimmed with ostrich plumes.

Spain Will Retain the Grain Export Tax.

Madrid, June 25.—The Chamber of Deputies has rejected by a vote of 69 to 53 a proposal to abolish the export duty on grain.

GRATIFYING INTELLIGENCE.

Word Received of the Complete Recovery of Mrs. John Dowly.

OWEN SOUND, June 24—Word has been received here of the complete restoration to health of Mrs. John Dowly, wife of a former well known and esteemed resident of the town. The intelligence has been very gladly received as Mrs. Dowly has many friends here who are well aware of the lamentable condition of her health during the past six or seven years. Her illness has been found to result from a severe kidney complaint and she has been restored to health by a judicious use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which is now well known to most of the residents in this locality as having previously affected some extraordinary cures.

"The Triumph of Love is Happy, Fruitful Marriage."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truth.

The Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Appplied to Married Life.

Who Would Atone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls, Should Secure The Wonderful Little Book Called

"COMPLETE MANHOOD And How to Attain It."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self-control, despondency, etc,

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, development and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier. Failure impossible. 2,000 references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man, who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a cartload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N. Y., and asked for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

BASEBALL.

A splendid game of baseball was played at the Driving Park yesterday between a nine from Belleville, which came up with the Oddfellow excursion, and the local team. The match resulted in a score of five to four in favour of Peterborough.

The attendance was small, very small, owing, perhaps, to the fact that it was not definitely understood that the Belleville men were coming up until yesterday and consequently the time for advertising the game was very limited. Those who witnessed the game were greatly pleased with the work of the local nine, which played in beautiful form yesterday. None of those costly errors in the way of wild overthrows, etc., were made by either of the two teams, and the runs scored had consequently to be worked for. Only five innings were played.

The score was as follows :—

Peterborough.		Belleville.
McCabe	pitcher	Canning
Lytle	catcher	Thompson
Horkins	right field	Gibson
King	1st base	Thompson
McGill	3rd base	Trualsch
Paxman	short stop	Harris
Moore	centre field	Fortune
Thorne	left field	Canning
Melrose	2nd base	Draycott

By Innings—	R.	H.	E.
Belleville.....2 0 2 0 0 0—4	4	3
Peterborough.....2 3 0 0 0 0—5	6	1

McCabe went to bat and was given his base on balls. Lytle followed and sent a hot liner out between first and second. He got his base and McCabe never rested till he was on third. Horkins, after knocking foul balls all over the territory in the rear, hit a ball to the pitcher and was put out on first. McCabe and Lytle had scored on passed balls by the catcher. King struck out, and a hard hit to right field by McGill was gathered in by Gibson, who played a star game in that position. Score—2 runs.

C. Thompson was the first man to bat for Belleville, and was struck out by McCabe. Cronkwright by misjudging one of McCabe's tremendous curves, threw himself directly in front of the ball, which, as he turned, struck him behind the ear, but fortunately did not injure him to as great an extent as was feared, though he was forced to lie down in the shade for the rest of the innings. A substitute was allowed to take first, and Canning by a heavy hit sent him around home, but was caught in trying to take second by a hit from Fortune to McCabe. Harris made a clean hit, and Fortune came home. J. Thompson was struck out.

In the second innings Thompson went in to pitch for the visitors, and Paxman got first on balls but was caught on leading off two far. Moore got his base in the same manner, as did Thorne. Melrose struck out, McCabe made the hardest hit of the day, getting to second base and sending Moore home. Thorne could also have come in, but through lack of coaching had to anchor on third. Lytle's rap out into the field brought Thorne and McCabe both in. Horkins hit to right field, where the ball was admirably judged and caught, retiring the side.

Gibson sent up a high fly, which the wind carried almost over first base. Melrose ran from second and secured it. Trualsch struck out as did Draycott.

King for the Peterboroughs batted to third and was caught before he reached first. McGill was given a base on balls. Paxman found the ball, but a neat double play retired both him and McGill.

For Belleville Thompson was caught before he reached first. Cronkwright who was again able to play, got his base on balls and Canning's hit sent him to third. Fortune struck out and Cronkwright scored on a pass ball. Thompson hit a hard one to the field, and scored Canning, but was caught in trying to make third.

For Peterborough, Moore struck out and Thorne made a rattling two base hit. Melrose struck out and McCabe sent a fly to third retiring the side.

Gibson made a good hit to centre and Trualsch struck out. Draycott reached the ball, but by a neat double play both he and Gibson were retired.

Lytle and Horkins both batted to the pitcher and died on first and King was caught out on a foul.

Thompson struck out. Cronkwright received his base on balls. Canning hit to McCabe, who threw to second and headed off Cronkwright. Melrose sent the ball to King on first, but it escaped him, and Canning made his base. Fortune and Harris both struck out and the match was over.

Special mention should be made of McCabe's pitching. He was in great form yesterday and struck out eight men in the five innings. Lytle held him well. Melrose held down second well and in fact the whole team played a strong game, only two errors being made during the afternoon. As the teams are so evenly matched both nines are looking for another match.

IN BRIGADE CAMP AT KINGSTON.

Latest News From the Seat of War—The Doings in Camp—A Few Slight Accidents—No. 5 Company, Springville, the Crack Infantry Company of the Brigade.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BRIGADE CAMP,
Kingston, June 24th, 1895.

After one week under canvass the boys in camp have made very rapid advancement in drill. Notwithstanding the extreme hot weather squad and arm drill are about completed and we are now at battalion movements in the Infantry. There are 8 troops of cavalry comprising about 250 men and horses. Three accidents, not of a very serious character, have occurred amongst the cavalry from men being thrown from their horses, and one from a kick of a horse. A number of cases of illness exist among the different corps being from the effects of the sun. There is a strong desire amongst officers and men to have the Glengarry cap changed. It is a terrible punishment on men who have been accustomed to wear straw hats at home. The rations are not complained of nor nearly so hard to put with as on other occasions. The attendance at Divine service on Sunday was large as well as at the Y. M. C. A. tent, which was also largely attended from four battalions of infantry and eight troops of cavalry. Never was their known to be such a quiet, orderly camp, owing a great deal to there being no canteens or sale of intoxicating liquor on the grounds. Col. Cotton, commandant, is very strict, without being unpleasantly so. Every officer as well as man has to give good and sufficient reason for being absent from parade.

At inspection on Wednesday, Capt Johnston, of No. 5 Company, 46th Battalion, and Lieut. J. D. Thornton won laurels from the commandmant for the very fine appearance and efficiency of their company which is not second to any in the Brigade. The Hon. A. R. Dickey, Minister of Militia, is expected here to-morrow. Friday is pay day, one of the most important days. The camp will break up on Saturday morning and Peterborough soldiers will arrive home by special train at 4 p.m. via Grand Junction.

HELD FOR RANSOM.

A Buffalo Lawyer Kidnapped and Tortured.

TRICED UP IN AN EMPTY CELLAR

Lured From His Office by a Decoy Letter Sent by a Man From Whom He Had Obtained $17000—The Kidnappers Escape to Canada.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 27.—Octavius O. Cottle, the well-known lawyer of this city, was kidnapped on Monday morning. He was lured to a vacant house at 30 Baynes-street, where he was overpowered by 2 men, who bound and gagged him, and, at the points of revolvers and daggers, compelled him to write a letter to his wife directing her to deliver over $2500 to a messenger to secure his liberation. As Mrs. Cottle was arranging to carry out instructions, she was advised not to do so. Meanwhile the captive was kept chained in the cellar, with one of the daring crooks on guard over him. The fellow went away on Tuesday afternoon, and after several hours of persistent, desperate labor, the lawyer managed to break his chain.

Early yesterday morning he succeeded in attracting the attention of a policeman. Then, after 40 hours' imprisonment in a dingy, underground room, without food or sleep, he regained his liberty.

Mr. Cottle told the police how he was lured away. He said that at 10 o'clock on Monday morning a young and not very well-dressed man drove to Mr. Cottle's office in the building at Main and Court-streets and handed him a note purporting to come from a resident of Chenango-street, who wanted to negotiate with Mr. Cottle for some real estate. The note told that if Mr. Cottle would be kind enough to accompany its bearer, he would be conducted to the home of the subscriber, whose name the attorney did not recognise.

Mr. Cottle was quite willing to do business, and told the man that he would go with him at once. They entered the buggy, and started, apparently in the direction of Chenango-street. The driver had the bearing of a family coachman. In Baynes-street, about halfway between West Ferry and Breckenridge-sts., he stopped and told Mr. Cottle that they had arrived at the place where the gentleman who wrote the note lived.

The cottage seemed vacant, but Mr. Cottle did not comment on it. The driver stepped briskly ahead of him and rang the door-bell. The ring was answered by a tall, stout man, weighing about 240 pounds. No sooner was he inside than the driver slammed the door. Both men pounced on Cottle, and one roughly tied a handkerchief over his mouth so quickly that he was unable to utter a scream. Handcuffs, new, bright ones, of the most approved pattern, were slipped on his hands. With a kick, one of his captors sent the cellar-door flying open. Cottle was hurried down the steps in the dark cellar.

In one corner of the cellar was driven a high stout post, with a ring in the top. In front of it was a chair. The men, who had not spoken a word during the entire performance, thrust their captive into the chair. One of them took from his pocket a pair of shackles and slipped them on Cottle's ankles. He then produced a chain, which he fastened from cuffs to shackles.

But that was not all. The man ran upstairs and soon returned with a great leather collar, such as is worn by dogs. To this was attached a chain. The collar was slipped around Cottle's neck and fastened unfortunately tight. The chain was brought down before him and tied to the handcuffs. A more complete tricing-up could not be imagined. With the gag on he was incapable of speech or action. The pair of fiends surveyed their work for a moment and then went above, leaving the abducted lawyer to his own unpleasant thoughts.

Soon they returned, one bringing pen, ink and paper. The other brought a barrel from the far end of the cellar and stood it before Cottle. The gag was presently removed from his mouth. He might now have cried out, but in the right hand of the man was a revolver. Mr. Cottle kept still. The cuffs were slipped from his wrists, and he was told to sit up to the barrel and do as he was bid.

The paper was set before him and the pen placed in his hand. The florid man took from his pocket a paper on which something was written, placed it before the lawyer and ordered him to copy it in his natural handwriting and sign his name or lose his life. It was a note to Mrs. Cottle, telling her that he was a prisoner in Niagara Falls on a petty charge, and that he had given the police an assumed name; that he could get out for $2500 and that she must send that amount by the bearer.

The lawyer, with foul play staring him in the face, wrote the letter with trembling hand and signed it.

"If this don't work," said the big man, "you starve to death. See?"

The conspirators held a whispered conference in a corner of the cellar. Then the big man took the letter and started off with it, while the man who had driven Mr. Cottle to the house remained on guard. He did not replace the gag, but snapped the handcuffs back on again. He to silence, he said simply:

"If you try to yell I will shoot you."

The big man took the note and drove with it to Mr. Cottle's house at No. 187 North-street. Mrs. Cottle answered the bell. He was very respectful, and told her that he had received the note from Mr. Cottle at the prison in Niagara Falls and that he would be very careful of whatever she gave him. He said that he had understood from Mr. Cottle that if she did not have $2500 in the house it would be well to send all she could command, as it might be possible to effect his release on a smaller amount. Mrs. Cottle considered the letter bona fide, and was very much flustered at the thought of hunting up so much cash at a moment's notice. She was about to go for all the money in the house, however, when her son came in, and asked what was the cause of her consternation. She showed him the note, and he smelled a rat at once. He told the fellow that he would return with him to Niagara Falls and attend to his father's wants.

"All right," was the reply. The man ran out to the buggy, jumped in and drove off. He was beaten, but he would at least have revenge. Cottle should suffer. He and the other man had another conference in the cellar.

It was afternoon, now, and Mr. Cottle, despite his terror, began to get hungry. His captors seemed to appreciate the fact, and about 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon brought to him a box of soda crackers and a pail of water, with a cup. He made a lunch of them. Toward evening the big man went away, and he has not since been seen. The younger man stayed patiently on guard, hour after hour. Monday night came with additional qualms for the imprisoned lawyer. He saw that the man had not received the money, and feared that in anger they would kill him or leave him to starve to death. He slept none Monday night.

In the morning his guard brought him a fresh pail of water. By stooping painfully he was able to eat and drink. His position kept him in terrible pain. All day Tuesday in the dark, damp cellar he sat in his irons, with the silent man across the room watching his every move.

He got nothing to eat but the crackers and the water. Late on Tuesday night the driver got up, examined Cottle's pinions, looked about the cellar to see if any incriminating traces of him and his companion were about and went away. Cottle was alone, hungry and sick. He waited two hours for the return of the young man and then essayed a shout. The house at the south was but 20 feet away, but his cries were unheard. The dog collar was galling his neck and almost breaking his spine, it seemed. By a gymnastic effort Cottle was able to reach his vest pocket, where his knife was. He opened it. By bending over he could cut at the collar. After an hour it was sawed through, and he had a little rest.

Besides, he was no longer fastened to the post. He crept along through the cellar and up the stairs. The door was ajar and he was soon in the kitchen. He found all the doors and windows leading to freedom locked. He sat down and began his cries and moans. And so it went until the policeman heard him.

From one of the officials, who has been investigating the crime, it is learned that the leader in the plot is John C. Emery, once a prominent citizen of Buffalo. Some years ago Emery, who was living in Cincinnati, was arrested for violation of the postal laws. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to a long term of imprisonment, but escaped, and made his way to Canada. After a time he opened negotiations with Mr. Cottle, who was an old friend, for securing a pardon from the Governor of Ohio, and offered to spend money liberally to secure it.

Mr. Cottle promised to do what he could for him, and Emery paid over a large sum of money, said to be between $15,000 and $17,000. Whatever Mr. Cottle may have done for his client, he did not get him a pardon, and Emery demanded the return of the money, which was refused. Emery then wrote that he could not come to the United States to sue for the money, but he would take other means to get it. It appears he then chartered a confederate and planned this job. It is also learned that ever since Monday noon Edward P. Cottle, the lawyer's son, was in Fort Erie negotiating with Emery for the return of his father. Emery holding out for a larger sum than the Cottles were willing to pay. The man who drove Mr. Cottle to the Baynes-street house is George Allan, also an escaped convict. The police are trying to find Emery, but so far have been unsuccessful.

Assistant-Superintendant Cusack and two detectives returned this afternoon from Canada whither they went in search of the kidnappers, without having found the slightest clue to their whereabouts. The police say Emery and his confederates have had ample time to get out of reach, and the only way to capture them now is to send descriptions of them throughout Canada, which will be done.

A police official, who is in a position to know, is authority for the statement that Emery and Allen got a large portion of the ransom they demanded.

POLITICIANS AND THE HIERARCHY.

Mgr. Lafleche on the Views of the Leaders on the Schools.

Montreal, June 28.—The views of Mgr. Lafleche, the Dean of the Hierarchy of Canada, are given by L'Echo De Louiseville, in a report of a meeting of the churchwardens of the Parish of Louiseville, Maskinonge County. In addressing those present, Mgr. Lafleche spoke of the persecution of the Manitoba Catholics by the Liberal majority, when Mr. Legris, Liberal M.P. for the county, put the following question to His Lordship: "Was the Federal Government to blame for not having exercised its power of veto?" To this question Mgr. Lafleche replied as follows: "Mr. Legris, I am not a politician, and I do not intend meddling in politics, but since you ask me for my opinion on this grave question of the Manitoba schools, I will give it to you immediately. If the Government had exercised its right of veto this most important question would never have been settled. The Conservative party took the only means which the law offered to render full and entire justice to the Catholics. Far from blaming the Government we ought to thank it."

Mr. Laurier, the leader of the Liberal party, declared to me personally, that he preferred neutral schools to free schools. This is a grave error. Neutral schools are worse than free schools. I have seen Sir Mackenzie Bowell, and he is altogether in favor of Separate Schools. The leader of the Conservative party has revealed himself the friend of justice and equity. The Liberals were greatly in the wrong in making a political question out of the school question.

Judge Dugas left this afternoon for Beauharnois for the purpose of being sworn in as the Commissioner in the Shortiss case. This morning the learned judge received his commission and to-night it will be properly attested by Mr. Justice Belanger, the presiding judge at Beauharnois. He will leave for Ireland in company with the lawyers for the defence by the SS. Mongolian on Saturday.

Trial Spins at Henley.

London, June 27.—The weather was cooler at Henley this morning and a strong south wind blew down the course. The Cornell men took short spins, all of the 12 men sitting in the boat in turns to make up the crew of eight.

The Argonauts took a long pull, and afterwards the four of the London Rowing Club, who are to meet the Argonauts in the race for the Stewards' Cup, went out in their new boat and rowed very fast.

A Good Story.

A story is going the rounds at the expense of one of the best known men of this place. We shall not mention his name, but you know him. Of rather determined mien, he has of late been showing signs of mental agitation. He wears a full beard, but a few days since, his wife, much to her alarm, found him sharpening a razor. She thought his mind was unhinged and went into hysterics. Explanations followed and it was found that life had for him still some charm. He intended to use the razor upon painful corns. A friend who had used Putnam's Corn Extractor with success, advised its use, with the following results: Man quite happy, wife cries, razor sent away. Use Putnam's Corn Extractor.

A PRETTY KETTLE OF FISH.

"Birds on their little nests again" can by any means be quoted in regard to the ministers of the Dominion Cabinet. They may keep a smug exterior in public, but within the council chamber and within their individual bosoms decidedly unbrotherly feelings rage:—The vigilant and well-informed Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Telegram writes: "Bowell's faith is in Quebec. His friends would be slow to acknowledge the fact, but it is easily demonstrable. When his Cabinet was formed who were Mackenzie Bowell's firmest friends? Who were his most bitter enemies? Did not Patterson and Haggart, Wallace and Montague, do their best to keep him in the obscurity of an ornamental department? Were not Ouimet, Angers, Curran and Caron his constant adherents? There is no reason to think that the feelings of these men have changed any more than it would be reasonable to believe that the Frenchmen stood by Bowell without exacting a promise in respect of the schools. The opposition to Sir Mackenzie was wholly personal. Haggart would have taken the place of head of the Government had he had the offer. Montague, when only a private member, became embroiled with Bowell. Patterson is out of politics, but Wallace's antipathy still exists. Haggart, who hates Ouimet, has another cause for disliking Bowell in the support which the Minister of Public Works has given the Premier. When St. Louis and the Curran bridge were the topics of discussion here, it gravelled Haggart to have to acknowledge that his carelessness and inefficiency had been the means of adding $164,000 to the assets of Emanuel St. Louis, cousin of his detested enemy, Joseph Alderic Ouimet. Though within the walls of the Council chamber there is bitter strife, there is not a member of the Government who is anything but urbane and composed to the public view. None of them wants to injure the cause for which he and his own particular friends are fighting. Both cliques have their ammunition ready. Some of it has been used. Ouimet has reminded his colleagues that Tupper in Antigonish, he himself in Vercheres and the Premier in the Senate made announcement that the Catholics in Manitoba would be given redress. How, then, says he, may we give them the stone of an investigation when they have asked for the bread of legislation?"

THERE is active demand for offices among the supporters of the Dominion Government. The applications range from a judgeship to a petty clerkship—rather than nothing. There is a feeling in the air that the present government will not be long in a position to dispense official favours—after the next election anyway.

THE Mail and Empire referring to the suggestion that it has not the courage to appoint Liberals to the Senate, says the Government doesn't lack courage but material of the kind suggested. This is an unconscious compliment to the Liberals. It does not contain any political fossils to worn out consideration of the claims of its members to interment in the national morgue.

THE seal of Mr. W. F. McLean, the member for East York in the House of Commons, in a good cause is not always tempered by descretion. His attempt to incorporate a clause in the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway bill, now before the House, requiring the new line to adopt a 2-cent a mile rate is all right in the abstract, but it would seriously handicap the new line to be forced to give a two-cent rate, while its competitors charge a rate of three cents a mile. If Mr. McLean would bring about a two-cent rate on all railways his attempt would win popular favour, though it might reduce the travelling facilities by legislating some roads into non-existence. Unless the reduced rate would vastly increase travel, those lines which now have difficulty in making ends meet on their three-cent rate would soon have the sheriff for general manager.

OTONABEE S. S. CONVENTION.

Proceedings at the Second Annual Convention.

The annual convention of the Otonabee Sunday School Association was held in Stewart's Sunday School Hall, on Wednesday, June 26th. There was a good attendance. The afternoon session was opened at 2.30, with devotional exercises led by Rev. W. C. Beer, after which a nominating committee was appointed. Then followed the secretary's report and the reports of the various schools, which were very encouraging. Mrs. Duncan, Provincial Primary Secretary, gave a very interesting and able address on "Primary Work," which was followed by a good discussion. Then came an address on "Normal Work," by Rev. J. J. Rae. This was also followed by discussion. A short conference of the primary teachers led by Miss L. Kennedy, closed the afternoon session.

A heavy rain came on about seven o'clock. It did a great amount of good to the crops, but it prevented several from being at the evening session. However, there was an excellent attendance in spite of the rain, and those who went were well repaid by what they heard.

The report of the Nominating Committee was first presented. The new officers are:

President,—Mr. H. P. Kennedy.

First Vice-President,—Mr. John Lancaster.

Second Vice-President,—Miss E. McCamus.

Secretary-Treasurer,—Miss L. Bennett.

Secretary of Normal work,—Dr. Harrison.

Primary Secretary,—Miss L. Kennedy.

There is also an Executive Committee.

After the adoption of the report, Mrs. Duncan gave an excellent address on "Illustrative Teaching," followed by short addresses by Mr. H. D. Kennedy and Dr. Harrison.

The benediction by Mr. H. D. Kennedy brought to a close this very successful convention. Sunday school work in Otonabee is in a prosperous condition.

DUMMER SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

A Successful Mass Meeting—Great Interest in the Proceedings—Able Addresses—Evidences of Good Work being Done.

A very successful mass meeting of all the Sunday schools in the township of Dummer, was held in the Methodist church, Warsaw, on Sunday and Monday, June 23 and 24, when addresses were delivered by Mrs. Duncan, Toronto, Provincial Primary Secretary, and Dr. Harrison, Keene, County Normal Secretary.

The meetings were fairly well attended, and a lively interest taken by all in the proceeding. Mrs. Duncan in her address showed how she conducted her primary class work by teaching the current International lessons by the use of a chart, the blackboard and objects exhibited to the class in a manner which riveted the attention of the children and won admiration of all present. The ready responses of the children to questions asked were a good indication of the work that is being done in the Sunday schools of the township.

Mrs. Duncan is a clear forcible speaker on the platform, and presented truths in her various addresses on primary work which will and should she in her work as a primary instructor visit us again, a warm welcome will be extended by the Dummer Sunday School Association.

Dr. Harrison's address was more particularly for the adult portion of the gathering. He took up the Normal training lesson, using a blackboard, showing the benefits to be derived from a course of normal training, its aims, methods and needs, which was encouraging to the few who have pursued these studies among us. He solicited others to take hold of this grand work and become more aquainted with the Bible. A grand feature of Sunday School work, as shown by the doctor, was the "Home Class Work" as practiced by the Keene Sunday School. Cards were left for distribution, showing the way to conduct the same which the will no doubt be acted upon.

We heartily thank the doctor for the interest he has taken in all our Sunday School Conventions in the township in the past, the success of which is largely due to him in his zeal for the work.

Cholera Infantum
Has no Terrors where Lactated Food is Used.

When mothers are unable to properly nurse and nourish their babes from nature's fount, it should be known to all that Lactated Food is the only safe and perfect substitute for mother's milk.

Cholera Infantum has no terrors where Lactated Food is used. With this best of all prepared foods the little one gains strength from day to day, rests well and sleeps well at night, and every member of the family is assured that the darling baby will pass with safety all the dangers that come so fast and thickly in the heat of summer.

The baby that is daily fed on Lactated Food has no trouble or sickness when passing through the teething period. Instead of crossness and fretting, baby is hearty and happy all day long. Lactated Food alone does this great work.

Ran Into the Canal Gate.

ADMIRAL DA GAMA DEAD.

Said to Have Committed Suicide to Escape Torture.

Rio Janeiro, June 27.—The report of the death of Admiral Saldanha Da Gama is confirmed. After the defeat of the rebel forces near Santa Ana, Rio Grande Do Sul, by the Government troops, Da Gama committed suicide to escape Gen. Castilhisto, who, he feared, would torture him.

Montevideo sends word that members of the Brazilian revolutionary party confirm the news of Da Gama's death, but say the manner of it is a mystery. Some of the fugitive insurgents who escaped across the frontier told Uruguayan officers that the Admiral was taken prisoner by the Government soldiers, put to death and his body horribly mutilated, while others are that Da Gama ended his own life.

Unvarying Popularity.

With each recuring heated term the verdict is the same. Straw Hats have the palm for popularity. Why perspire, when you can get a first-class Straw for 75c and a good one for 50c, at Fairweather's. But there are many who prefer the neat, soft drab and pearl Hats with wide, slouch brims. They are the favourite wear with tourists and for all outdoor sports and functions. They will be much in evidence on Dominion Day. They not only look cool but are of lightweight Felt and very comfortable for hot weather. Fairweather's prices for these standard Soft Felts of newest shades are $2.00 $2.50 and $3.00. Only, at Fairweathers. Can these goods be had at these prices.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Peculiarities Brought Out in the House Yesterday.

A P.O. FOR MR. FOSTER'S RIDING

In a Town of 2000, But None for Woodstock With a Population of 10,000—Halifax Drill Hall—Harbor Dredging at $6 an Hour Without Tender.

Ottawa, June 28.—It was decided yesterday that the House would not sit on Monday, Dominion Day.

Mr. Foster, replying to a question, said that the amount guaranteed by Mr. Ogilvie on account of the Exchange Bank was $100,000, the portion of which had been paid by Mr. Ogilvie. The amount remaining unpaid, exclusive of interest, is $33,625. The correspondence had been placed in the hands of the Minister of Justice, but it was only fair to state on Mr. Ogilvie's behalf that he entered an objection to the payment of the money on account of a question connected with the general distribution of the receipts.

Mr. Edgar asked what was being done to meet the commissioners appointed by the United States Congress to confer with a similar number on behalf of Great Britain or Canada on the subject of waterways from the Great Lakes to the ocean.

Mr. Haggart replied that it was difficult to get commissioners to act as the United States representatives were to act without pay, but Canada would appoint three commissioners also without pay, two of them from the department and one associated with them.

Mr. McMullen enquired why the civil suit against St. Louis was to be postponed until Oct 15. Sir Hibbert Tupper stated that it was to allow the judge to keep his other engagements, and was not done at the request of the Crown.

Mr. Brodeur inquired of the Postmaster-General when the celebrated Loiselle report was to be brought down.

Sir Adolphe Caron, with a very embarrassed countenance, said the report was being sent to the Secreary of State to be brought down to the House and then he would make a statement.

The House went into Committee of Supply and spent an hour on an item of $10,000 additional for dredging the Harbor of Kaministiquia, Ont.

Mr. Gibson of Lincoln came out strong in the debate, and elicited the fact that no tenders had been called for the work already done. It had been let to Marks & McDonald at the rate of $8 an hour, irrespective of the amount taken out.

Sir Richard Cartwright reminded the House that the experience at the Curran bridge of Mr. St. Louis did not encourage them to do work by day labor. This incensed Mr. Ouimet, who replied hotly: I am not ashamed of Mr. St. Louis, and if he has not been punished, it is not my fault. He is able to defend himself before the courts or elsewhere. He has been carrying on business honestly in Montreal for years, and his name is well known. (Ironical cheers from Opposition.)

Mr. McMullen: The suspicion that St. Louis had a friend at court is now confirmed.

Mr. Ouimet: I won't allow any one to insult me through a cousin of mine.

During the course of the discussion Mr. Macdonnell of Algoma, who defended the Government, disposed of all the arguments of the Opposition by declaring that the critics were "dense" and "ignorant." Finally, Mr. Fraser got up and told Mr. Macdonnell that he was impertinent.

Before the item passed Mr. Ouimet candidly laid down good free trade doctrine in answer to a question why they had abandoned dredging the harbor of Port Arthur and commence at Kaministiquia, a place chosen by Mr. Mackenzie for improvement." "Because," said Mr. Ouimet, "the trade has moved in that direction, and we cannot control the natural movement of trade." Whereat Sir R. Cartwright grimly smiled and Mr. Davies said, "Hear, hear," The item was passed.

Experience has taught the Opposition to watch closely the estimates for Public Works, something wholly neglected by them in Sir Hector Langevin's time. When, therefore, the item was called, "$20,000 for Halifax drill hall," Sir Richard Cartwright wanted to know why such a small vote was taken when the total expenditure was $200,000. He suspected that there was a political object to keep this work dangling over several elections. It was not a businesslike proposition, and the people of Halifax would not think so. If this (was the way the estimates had been cut down the boasted reductions were illusory.

Mr. Ouimet said the contract had been let to John Ashworth of Ottawa, but not yet signed.

Messrs. Gibson and Fraser took the ground that it was showing favoritism to the Ottawa contractor, because it was giving him a year to go on, and if the Halifax contractors had known this they might have tendered a little lower.

Mr. Ouimet said the contract required completion by June 30, 1897, and it would be provided in the contract that it would only be built according to the sums voted from time to time by Parliament.

Mr. Fraser asked why, if the contract was awarded the department retained the deposits of the other tenderers.

Mr. Ouimet said they had retained Mr. Keefe's cheque because it was the second lowest, but it had been returned to him yesterday. The item was carried.

An interesting discussion arose over an item of $5000 to build a new postoffice in Marysville, York County, N.B. This is the county in which the Finance Minister is going to be a candidate, and Marysville is a place of 2000 inhabitants. The building will doubtless, when finished, cost $10,000, although Mr. Foster put it at $7000 Mr. Gibson had given the site for it.

The Opposition, while not attacking the item, used it and others to expose the extraordinary works policy of the Government. Here they were putting up a postoffice in a place with 2000 population, and no postoffice revenue to speak of. Yet Woodstock, Ont., with a population of 10,000 and a public revenue of $15,000, could not get a public building. The Government refused to erect a postoffice or any other public building in the city of Woodstock, the centre of the great cheese industry of Ontario, because it was in the constituency represented by a Liberal whip. There were many other thriving large towns for which no public buildings could be provided.

There was another item of $15,000 for a new public building at Rimouski, which was justified on the ground that visitors from abroad got their first letters there. Mr. McMullen said that Rimouski got this expenditure because it was represented by Sir Adolphe Caron.

Mr. Bowers put in a claim for a public building in Digby on the same ground, as it was the resort for many American visitors.

Mr. Ouimet told him to be satisfied with the fine wharf built there.

Mr. Laurier took occasion to denounce a job in the town of St. Lin, where a building was rented for the postoffice at $300 a year which had never before been rented for more than $36 a year. The total revenue received was only $780 a year.

Mr. Ouimet was surprised at Mr. Laurier finding fault with the renting of the building at St. Lin, which was the Liberal leader's birthplace. "Yes, it is," retorted Mr. Laurier, "and for that reason I don't want a stigma of a job attached to it." The vote passed.

On a vote of $20,000 for a Juvenile Reformatory at Alexandria, Mr. Ouimet said it would cost about $100,000.

Mr. McMullen suggested that Rideau Hall be utilised for a reformatory and one-half of this $100,000 used to provide another residence for the Governor-General. The item was adopted.

On the vote for wharves and breakwaters in Nova Scotia, Mr. McIsaac made a strong plea for some very necessary expenditures.

The House adjourned at midnight.

IS IT BIG JOHN EVANS' BODY.

A Badly Decomposed Body Found in the Niagara River—The Teeth the Only Means of Identification.

Lewiston, N.Y., June 27.—This afternoon the body of a man was found floating in the Niagara River near here. It was that of a large man and must have been in the water a long time. Part of his head, both arms from the elbows down and both legs from the knees down are entirely gone. The only means of identification that remain are his teeth. The body is thought to be that of John W. Evans of Toronto, who is supposed to have been drowned in this vicinity in September of last year.

John W. Evans, "Big John," as he was familiarly called, left Toronto on Sept. 16, on a canoeing trip. Two days later, his canoe, half filled with water, and containing three paddles and some clothing, was found drifting near the shore at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Big John Evans was a well-known all-round athlete, his striking figure, six feet in height, and his fine proportions, being the admiration of all the young sports. He was a member of the Argonaut Rowing Club and one of the racing fours.

TO OPPOSE SIR RICHARD.

A Patron-Prohibitionist Nominated in South Oxford.

Norwich, Ont., June 27.—At a convention of the prohibitionists and Patrons of South Oxford to-day, T. B. Mayberry, formerly reeve of South Oxford, was nominated to contest the riding for the Commons in opposition to Sir Richard Cartwright, Reform. W. F. Buchanan of Hamilton was nominated by the Prohibitionists at Woodstock some time ago, but declined to run.

HULL'S MAYOR UNSEATED.

For "Working" Civic Contractors by Note Shaving.

Ottawa, June 27.—Mayor Aubry of Hull was unseated and disqualified this morning on complaint of Ex-Chief of Police Genest. The charges consisted principally of getting notes shaved by civic contractors and not paying them. Judgment went against him on these for $983.

AN ILLINOIS SENSATION.

A Lady of Union County Recovers Her Health in a Marvellous Manner.

Anna, Illinois, June 17—A very interesting case of recovery from a very complicated form of kidney trouble has taken place here, and the details are gradually being made public. The sufferer was Miss M. T. Loomis, who for a long time has been a victim of severe pains in all parts of the body. She consulted a number of doctors and was treated for a great variety of complaints, the diagnosis all proving faulty. At length she determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, having read and heard much of their efficacy and found her expectations justified in a complete cure.

Consumption Was Feared.

DEAR SIRS,—Over three years ago I was troubled with a nasty cough and really thought I would go into consumption. A friend advised me to try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and one bottle gave me great relief. After taking four bottles I can truthfully say I have never had a cough since. A Marvellous Result.

Mr. A. R. took out ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy No. 6332 in Canada Life Co. for Five Thousand Dollars in the year 1868. He was then 25 years of age.

The Premium paid was $181 a year for 10 years.....$1,810.

Notice the Result.

The total profits added to the Policy to end of 1894 and for which he holds a certificate amounts to the enormous sum of.....$3,281

The holder therefore has been credited not only with every cent paid for premiums, but also Fourteen Hundred and Seventy One Dollars in addition, besides receiving a fully paid up policy for the original Five Thousand Dollars, which still participates in profits.

Now This is What we Want to Know!

This is a Peterborough Policy! Is there any citizen of Peterborough with an ordinary 10 Pay Life Policy either in Canadian, British or American Co, which shows anything like as large profits as this one?

If there is, we should esteem it a great favour if we are allowed to see it, as we have been looking for such a one for years and so far have not been able to find it.

Mark Street Y.P.S.C.E.

Held a special missionary meetting on Monday evening, the president in the chair. An excellent programme was prepared. Addresses were delivered by Rev. W. C. Beer on "Our Denominational Missionary Work," by Miss Fennimore on "India," by Miss E. Smith on "China," by Mr. S. Taylor on "What Missionary Work can we do at Home?" Solos, Duets and Readings were given which made the meeting lively and interesting. There was a large attendance, about eighty being present.

To Finish Up.

In about another week we expect to desert our present store to occupy our new and most commodious premises, now nearing completion in Burnham's block. In the meantime we will have plenty of excellent bargains every day before removing. A lot of new and desirable lines not intended for sacrifice have been turned out on our bargain table, such as waterproof coats, umbrellas, etc. These, together with a large quantity of gentlemen's furnishings, shirts, underwear, gloves, suspenders and short lengths of splendid cloths, will be cleared out at prices to save removal.
